ABOUT BAPUJI

Bapuji (full name: Bapuji Dashrathbhai Patel, also lovingly called “Dadaji” by the younger generation) was born in 1956 in the small village of Akhaj in the Mehsana district of Gujarat. However, he spent his childhood in another village named Ambasan, also located in the Mehsana district.

In the early part of his life, he was a highly successful lawyer. Later, he devoted his life to realizing the supreme spiritual truth and bringing this divine knowledge forward for the welfare of humanity. Today, this supreme knowledge serves as a guiding light for true seekers to realize their ultimate destiny. It is a blessing of the highest divinity that the present time is witnessing the rise of this supreme spiritual knowledge, guiding souls on Earth to return to their original source.

Despite being raised in a very poor family and facing challenging circumstances, Bapuji had a deep desire to transform this sorrowful and suffering world into a better place. At the young age of six, he questioned God repeatedly, asking why God remained silent about the suffering of humanity. This intense longing to end human suffering eventually led him to attain the highest level of spirituality later in life.

Even as a child, Bapuji would spend hours alone in the fields, often neglecting his own comfort. Due to poverty, he would walk barefoot without shoes or sandals, frequently getting pricked by thorns. Many times, he would stay late in the fields and, on his way back home, encounter subtle world entities. These experiences sparked his interest in communicating with subtle world souls.

Bapuji was courageous from a young age, which helped him overcome many obstacles. Alongside his studies in chartered accountancy (CA), he gave tuition classes to support himself financially. Later, he completed his Bachelor of Law (LLB) degree and became a well-known lawyer in Ahmedabad.

In 1997, he established a spiritual institution called “Vishwa Parivartak Ishwariya Vidhyalay” in Chenpur, Ahmedabad, with the mission of transforming this mortal world, filled with suffering and disorder, into an eternal divine world of immortality. Smt. Sushma Tandon, lovingly known as “Maa,” worked alongside Bapuji in this grand divine mission.

To accomplish this mission, Bapuji worked tirelessly, dedicating all his resources to this divine purpose. During that time, he would deliver continuous spiritual discourses for up to 18 hours without rest. In these discourses, he explained the highest dimensions of divine knowledge, which he realized through deep meditation and divine vision in a state of superconsciousness. This knowledge goes beyond the imagination of the ordinary human mind.

Bapuji’s teachings cover a vast range of topics, including the types of celestial creators across different dimensions, the creation of our solar system, galaxy, and universe, and most importantly, the transcendental knowledge of the multiverse and realities beyond it. His knowledge is supremely profound and is intended for highly evolved seekers, referred to as “behad souls.” According to Bapuji, these “behad souls” will play a key role in transforming this mortal world into an eternal divine realm.

At present, Bapuji remains deeply engaged in intense meditation and samadhi for long hours. He does not meet anyone, as he is continuously immersed in his transcendental mission in a superconscious state.

— by Bapuji Dashrathbhai Patel

For as long as human beings have looked up at the night sky, a quiet question has lived within them. Is the soul bound forever to this body, or can it rise, leave, and travel to worlds far beyond the reach of the eyes? Across every land and every faith, seekers have spoken of a journey of the soul — a movement beyond the body that the modern world calls astral travel, or astral projection.

In this book, Bapuji gently opens this hidden subject. He explains what astral travel truly is, who can do it, and why it is far more than wandering through empty space. He shows that the real journey of the soul is not outward into the stars, but upward and inward — back towards its original home. Travel across worlds, galaxies and universes, he reminds us, is only secondary. The highest goal is to know the Supreme and to return to the place from which the soul first came.

Every word in these pages is drawn from Bapuji’s own spoken discourse. Nothing has been added, and nothing has been changed in meaning. The language has only been gently refined so that a complete newcomer can read it in peace, without strain. May this knowledge reach every sincere soul, and may it guide each reader a little closer to Supreme Peace — Paramshanti.

CHAPTER ONE

What Is Astral Travel?

Astral travel is the movement of the soul beyond the physical body. In the wider world it is also known by another name — astral projection — and under this name it has become very famous. It describes a state in which the soul, or a subtle body of the soul, separates from the gross physical body and moves through space, while the physical body remains where it is.

This is not the belief of a single tradition or a single country. Around the world, on the widest information platforms, a great many people from many different faiths and many different lands have written about it. Special souls from across the world have recorded their accounts, with dozens of references gathered in one place. From the West to the East, from ancient Egypt to China, from India to Japan — in almost every country, books have been written saying that such travel is possible.

So a natural question arises. If astral travel was spoken of by realised beings in ancient times, is it still possible today — in this present age, in Kaliyuga, the age of darkness and decline?

♦ Bapuji Insight: “Astral travel maane aatma ka shareer se bahar nikal kar travel karna.”

“Astral travel means the soul moving and travelling outside the body.”

To understand the answer, Bapuji says, we must first understand where Kaliyuga reigns and where it does not. We must understand the worlds that lie above this Earth, the souls who have crossed beyond birth and death, and the inner state in which such travel becomes possible. Only then does the true meaning of astral travel become clear.

Ancient Knowledge, Modern Science

Until very recently, Bapuji observes, no one in the modern world spoke of infinite galaxies or of an infinite number of parallel universes. Science has only begun to say such things within the last few years. And now that the idea has entered the mind, people begin to imagine: perhaps we too can go there.

But where is this rapid development of science coming from? In merely fifty or a hundred years, knowledge has grown as never before in all of history. Bapuji explains the hidden reason. The Almighty Authority sends spiritual scientists down to the Earth and inspires them from above. Working through such inspired minds, the higher power has science carried forward. This he has explained in earlier discourses as well.

♦ Bapuji Insight: “Almighty Authority upar se spiritual scientist ko utaar kar, inspiration dekar kaam karwa rahe hain.”

“The Almighty Authority sends spiritual scientists down and works through them by inspiration.”

And in truth, Bapuji says, there is nothing new in this. All of it is already present in our ancient scriptures. Long before modern science, the scriptures spoke of travel across the cosmos — of beings who could move from one universe to another universe. What science announces today as discovery, the seers described in ages past.

Bapuji says astral travelling is possible under certain spiritual conditions. However, genuine astral travel is not entertainment or fantasy. It depends upon purity of consciousness, freedom from attachment, spiritual power, divine grace, karmic bondage, soul-consciousness and connection with the Almighty Authority.

He says higher beings, incarnations, Maha Avatars, saints, yogis, and spiritually evolved souls can travel across subtle worlds, universes, and galaxies.

A great transformational period is occurring across creation, and spiritual awakening is essential.

CHAPTER TWO

Understanding Time

Bapuji explains that astral travel is not merely imagination or fantasy, but a spiritual process connected with the soul, subtle body, consciousness, higher lokas, divine dimensions, and the evolution of the soul itself. Time does not flow equally in every world, dimension, galaxy, or spiritual realm. Different lokas, subtle worlds, and higher cosmic regions operate under different laws of time, energy, consciousness, and vibration.

Bapuji further insists that one needs to understand the concept of time in relation to Earth and other realms to understand astral travel. He begins by saying that there are four yugas: Satyug, Treta, Dwapar and Kaliyug. But these four ages belong only to the Earth. They repeat here, in this mortal realm. They do not exist everywhere. Above the Earth lie higher realms, and in those worlds there is no Kaliyug at all. Rise above Earth (Bhulok), and you come to Bhuvarlok, then Swarglok — the realm of the deities. Higher still are Maharlok, Janlok and Taplok. And beyond these are the divine abodes — Brahmapuri, Vishnupuri, Shivpuri, and the supreme abode, Paramdham. In none of these higher realms does any Kaliyuga exist.

In the realm of the subtle higher beings there is no age of decline. In the heavenly world there is no Kaliyuga. Bapuji explains that the celestial power changes as one descends toward Earth.

◆ Bapuji Insight: “Char yug to dharti par hote hain. Bhulok se upar koi kaliyug nahi hota.”

“The four ages exist only on Earth. Above Bhulok, there is no Kaliyuga.”

Why Time Differs in Each World

Bapuji explains that time itself is not the same in every world. As one rises higher, the very measure of time changes, and the span of life lengthens. What is a vast stretch of ages here may be only a small measure there. As creation becomes very old, the lower worlds disappear, while the higher worlds stay unaffected by the cycles and changes of Earth.

This is why the question of Kaliyuga only applies down here. The moment the soul rises above the earthly plane, it has already moved beyond the reach of the age of darkness. The higher worlds run by a different law of time altogether.

Time Dilation

Bapuji explains that when a soul or being enters higher cosmic worlds such as Brahmapuri, the flow of time changes completely. Earth, subtle world, Devlok, Brahmapuri and the higher realms operate on ever more subtle cosmic time systems. What may feel like a few minutes, hours or days in higher dimensions may equal years, centuries, or even Yugas on Earth. This concept is often called time dilation in modern language, but Bapuji explains it spiritually through consciousness and dimensional vibration rather than only physics.

Bapuji refers to an ancient story connected with Brahmapuri.

He explains that a king and his daughter once travelled to Brahmapuri to seek guidance from Brahmaji regarding finding a suitable husband or making an important decision. They remained there only for a short duration according to their own experience. However, when they returned to Earth, they discovered that vast ages had already passed. Entire generations had disappeared. Civilizations had changed. People they once knew no longer existed. The Earth they returned to was not the same Earth they had left.

According to Bapuji, this happened because time in Brahmapuri flows differently from time on Earth.

Parallel Universes and Different Timelines

Another important aspect one should understand is whether beings from parallel universes or alternate timelines can enter Earth.

Bapuji explains that modern stories sometimes describe people suddenly appearing confused, as though they came from another reality where time, society, or civilization functioned differently. Bapuji says such things are possible because existence contains infinite universes, galaxies, cosmic systems, and multiple subtle and causal worlds.

All these different creations will have different elemental realities and definitely different time structures. Bapuji has repeatedly mentioned in many discourses that every solar system contains its own Earth (Bhulok), subtle worlds, causal worlds, divine realms, and spiritual laws.

Therefore, souls and beings moving between these realms may experience completely different timelines and realities.

CHAPTER THREE

The Soul's Goal — Why We Travel

Astral travel, Bapuji explains, is not the same as simply floating through a vacuum, drifting through the open sky or wandering through outer space. The true journey of the soul begins with a goal. It begins the moment a living person forms a firm inner sankalp.

When a human soul leaves the body, what carries it upward is the resolve (sankalp) it held while still alive: “I do not wish to take birth on this Earth again. I do not wish to return in a human form. I wish to go to the higher worlds.” One soul longs for Shivpuri; another, who worships Vishnu, longs to rise to Vishnupuri; another aims for Vaikunth or for Paramdham. The highest aim a soul can hold is to reach the supreme abode.

But how many souls truly hold such an aim? Bapuji says it plainly: out of millions, out of tens of millions, only a rare soul actually thinks in this way. The words “I wish to go to Paramdham” have become common on the path of knowledge — easy to say, easy to repeat. Yet to sincerely desire it, with the whole being, is rare beyond measure.

“Only one soul in millions truly thinks: I must reach Paramdham.”

Soul's Memory

Bapuji has spoken in depth about the soul's journey across multiple solar systems, galaxies, universes and multiverses. Souls not only experience multiple births on the Earth plane, but also travel cosmic lengths. The origin of a soul could be a galaxy, a universe, or beyond our multiverse. Bapuji has confirmed that a soul will always have a memory of its origin. Due to cosmic travel, the soul's accumulated coverings make it forget its origin. However, a deep longing to know its creators, to be one with its creator, always remains.

When spiritual seekers experience soul-consciousness through deep yog, soul memory starts emerging. If every soul experiences soul-consciousness, then everything stored within the soul can emerge — where the soul came from, from which galaxy, which universe, what category of soul it belongs to — all this can become known. Therefore, through the experience of the soul-form, everything can be revealed.

Bapuji explains that high-quality souls from distant galaxies or higher cosmic categories travel across galaxies and subtle systems. Some souls wander between galaxies for observation and exploration.

Souls move between 3-element and 5-element worlds, and from 3-element to Param Tattva worlds. When a soul enters dense physical existence, layers of matter cover the soul and suppress its awareness.

This is the foundation of everything that follows. The direction of the soul's travel is decided entirely by the soul's inner goal. Where the longing points, there the soul journeys. Without a true goal, there is no true journey — only drifting. With a true goal, even the highest abode becomes reachable.

CHAPTER FOUR

Who Can Truly Travel?

Not everyone can make this journey, Bapuji says clearly. When the great sages went alone into the forests and the caves, even there, not every rishi or muni could do it. Only the most highly advanced sages — those who held the complete spiritual knowledge — were able to travel in this way.

A soul must first gain the spiritual knowledge of the anant koti Brahmand — the infinite millions of creations. This is the wisdom of Shiv, Mahashiv, Param Mahashiv, the knowledge connected with the great dissolution of creation. One must learn cosmic timelines, the soul's journey via different realms, and how the theory of karma impacts souls. One must also understand the depth of effect of the subtle world on the gross physical world. It is called param gyan, the supreme knowledge that goes beyond even the Vedas and the Upanishads. Only a soul carrying such supreme wisdom can truly begin the journey across the universes.

According to Bapuji, when a soul leaves the physical body after death and no longer desires rebirth on Earth, that soul may aspire to travel toward Brahmapuri, Vishnupuri (Vaikunth), Shivpuri, or Paramdham (the Supreme Abode). Such souls are extremely rare. Among billions of souls, only a few possess such elevated goals and purity.

“Only one who holds the knowledge of the infinite millions of universes can make this journey.”

The Opening of the Third Eye

Bapuji explains how this knowledge dawns. When the soul becomes established in its atma-swaroop and the agya chakra — the third eye at the brow — opens, the soul turns towards the formless. Most who reach this stage worship Nirakar, the incorporeal Supreme, for they know that power lies with the formless, not with any form. Remembering the formless in the supreme abode — Paramdham — the soul's centre opens, the third eye awakens, and power flows down from above; a connection is made with the Powerhouse itself, and power enters the soul.

Bapuji also talks about experiencing this Nirakar stage — the formless stage — through deep yog with the Almighty Authority. It is the state where the soul begins to experience itself beyond the physical body, personality, name, emotions, and worldly identity. It is the feeling of existing as pure conscious light, pure awareness, without attachment to shape or matter. The deeper the yog becomes, the more the soul moves: from body-consciousness to soul-consciousness to cosmic-consciousness to Paramshanti — feeling like a point of consciousness, a point of divine light. Bapuji says that living in a physical body yet experiencing the Nirakari stage is a sign of higher kala (soul power) souls.

CHAPTER FIVE

The State of Samadhi

When we speak of astral travel, Bapuji explains, we must first ask what actually travels. Is it our thoughts that move? Is it the sukshma sharir — the subtle body? Is it the karan sharir — the causal body? Or is it the soul itself? To answer this, we must understand the state of the soul in deep meditation.

Sages first enter samadhi, the state of deep meditative absorption. Bapuji shares that in samadhi, the whole inner system of energy centres would open. Rising from the muladhara — the base centre — the sage would come to rest in his soul-consciousness (atma-swaroop), established in his true form as a soul.

Sitting there in deep stillness, the sage would remember his chosen deity, his ishta-dev. Through this remembrance, he would gradually merge inwardly into that divine form, becoming completely absorbed in love and devotion. The scriptures describe many stages of the soul during this journey. When consciousness rises beyond the agya chakra — the centre between the eyebrows — the highest spiritual centre begins to awaken, preparing the soul for its true upward ascent.

So the answer begins to take shape. Astral travel is not the wandering of stray thoughts. It is the journey of the soul, carried out in its finer bodies, made possible only when the soul withdraws inward and becomes established in its own true nature. The deeper structure of this ascent — through the inner centres up to the highest — is the subject of the next chapter.

CHAPTER SIX

Sahasrara Chakra: The Gateway to Infinite Universes

When the stage of the soul rises high in samadhi, Bapuji explains, the sahasrara — the crown centre — opens. Many sages have written of their own experience in the scriptures: when the sahasrara of any soul truly opens, an astonishing thing is revealed.

Within the sahasrara there are countless cells — and there are as many universes as there are cells. As the centre opens, each cell opens with it. And so the soul may travel, by itself, across the anant koti Brahmand — the infinite millions of universes.

“In the sahasrara there are as many cells as there are universes — and each one opens.”

When sages activated the sahasrara chakra, Bapuji says, their soul was above the dasham dwar — the tenth gate. Drawing the soul out through the tenth gate, they could roam through the infinite millions of universes and then return again into the body, keeping a living connection with all those universes. And when the soul descended once more, coming below the agya chakra into the lower centres, it returned again into the ordinary realm of the senses.

To pass beyond the realm of the senses — this is the true meaning of samadhi. The soul must rise above the lower centres and move upward into the higher dimensions. Without that ascent, there is no real travel. And such an ascent, Bapuji makes clear, cannot happen without spiritual power — power that must be gathered before any higher travel becomes possible. Years and many lifetimes of spiritual discipline are needed to reach this stage.

CHAPTER SEVEN

Bapuji's Own Experience

Bapuji speaks now of his own experience, while gently noting that few in the world would believe it. His samadhi, he says, is not like the meditation of ordinary sages and saints. When he enters that state, he becomes established in his atma-swaroop — his soul-form — and feels himself to be within a body of supreme light, a param prakash body.

From that state, he remembers the Almighty Authority, the Nirakar, in the highest Paramdham. And then, within the formless, its form-aspect becomes visible to him. The whole creation opens before his inner sight — the Brahmand, the galaxy, the universe, the great universe, and beyond, billions upon billions of multiverses. He sees them clearly, vividly. He says there are worlds even beyond the billions of multiverses — worlds the mind cannot even imagine.

◆ Bapuji Insight: “Mujhe khud dikhta hai — main to kharbon multiverse dekhta hoon.”

“I see it myself — I behold billions of multiverses.”

And in that state, Bapuji says, through his divine vision (divya drishti / agya chakra) he sees how many forms of the Almighty are at work between the galaxies and between the universes, transforming the entire multiverse. He sees vast vehicles carrying whole groups of souls — hundreds of thousands together — travelling from one universe to a greater universe, and onward to greater universes still. These are souls of the very highest quality, supreme souls whose bodies are made of supreme light, dwelling in the causal world.

He sees even the masters of the multiverses moving through space — the masters of what he calls the hundred-kala worlds, of which there are billions. And beyond them all stands the Almighty Authority, the maker and master of the behad — the limitless — the Father of the limitless world. With that supreme source Bapuji connects directly.

Bapuji says that many times this happens when he enters the Nirakari state — that he is standing among galaxies, observing entire galaxies, universes, or great universes. Physically he is not there. Rather, all these records are already stored within his soul as soul memory. Everything is recorded within his soul.

When the Nirakari stage becomes very deep and total, then all these things slowly emerge according to the thoughts and intentions moving within consciousness — such as “I want to see this.” But many times these experiences appear only partially in the unconscious or subconscious mind. Half-understood experiences come, incomplete understandings come, so it becomes difficult to fully understand them. Even I took many years to understand myself, to understand this knowledge, while continuously experiencing the soul-form and Nirakari state.

Bapuji shares a profound observation: what is seen in the Nirakari stage is extremely difficult to describe, because nothing of the higher creation exists here, and there are no proper words here for those realms. Therefore, it is not truly possible to explain the knowledge of higher worlds completely through earthly language, because the words here and the realities there are vastly different.

CHAPTER EIGHT

The Need for a True Guide

Because the experiences of astral travel differ so greatly from person to person, Bapuji gives a serious warning. This is not a practice to be attempted alone, from the pages of a book or from a video, without real guidance. To do so can be dangerous.

A seeker must first truly understand the method before attempting anything. Ordinary people, Bapuji cautions, should never casually try to push the sukshma sharir — the subtle body — out of the physical body. If the subtle body is not handled properly, the physical body itself may suffer harm.

The great rishis could draw the subtle body out and return to the body safely, because they had the power, the knowledge, and the inner stability to do so. For one who is still bound and unprepared, the same attempt is not safe. This is why a true spiritual guide is needed — one who can support and protect the seeker, or who can have the work done from a higher plane.

♦ Bapuji Insight: “Bina sahi margdarshan ke, kitaab ya video se aise prayog karna risky hai.”

“Without true guidance, attempting such practices from a book or a video is risky.”

Bapuji also cautions that positive souls from the subtle world always guide and assist true seekers. Many such powerful Siddha Gurus live in the Himalayas and perform tapasya. Such Siddha Gurus guide selected individuals. They sometimes temporarily assist through subtle influence. They gradually detach those individuals from worldly life. They pull them toward spiritual paths and Himalayan tapasya. Bapuji says that Siddha Gurus sometimes empower chosen individuals and work through them as instruments for good deeds in the world.

He explains that beyond the Himalayan Siddhas exist even higher-quality souls in greater subtle dimensions, located thousands or even lakhs of kilometres beyond Earth consciousness.

Bapuji shares an interesting episode from his childhood days in the next chapter — when a deity named Jogani Devi would visit Bapuji's mother and draw her soul out for a subtle journey. Jogani Devi would leave roughly 10% of the soul power in the physical body so that the body could be preserved and fall into a coma-like state. The original soul departs, carrying away the remaining 90% soul power. Only one who can arrange and protect such a process should ever undertake it.

CHAPTER NINE

Jogani Devi and the Divine Chariot

Astral travel, Bapuji says, is something he has seen since his very childhood. He tells the story of his own mother. There are great beings called Jogani — from the word Yogini — exalted souls who dwell far away in the karan jagat, the causal world, and who take birth on Earth to do noble work. Bapuji's grandmother, he came to know, was the incarnation of such a Jogani.

When he was very small, she would tell him things in advance — that on a certain holy night a lamp would light by itself in a tree at midnight — and he would sit and watch until midnight and see it happen. She showed him that he could see the spirits in their rented home, and gradually he realised that he too had a natural ability to perceive the souls of the subtle world. In the fields where spirits dwelt, he spoke with them, though he told no one, knowing he would not be believed.

Carried by the Divine Chariot

Bapuji's mother, too, was visited by the Jogani Maa. He recounts how the Jogani would come with a radiant, divine chariot — a rath that no one else could see — and his mother would announce that she was being taken away for two or three days. Her soul, together with her sukshma sharir, would be drawn out and carried across the whole universe, shown world after world, and then returned. While she travelled, her body lay like a lifeless form; the family would keep it covered and protected for those two or three days, knowing she had not died but had gone on a journey, and would surely return as promised.

When she came back, she would describe everything she had seen across the cosmos. So intense were these journeys that the family at last requested the Jogani not to take her so often, for there were small children to raise and much work to be done.

♦ Bapuji Insight: “Bachpan se hi maine astral travel ko dekha hai — maa ki aatma sukshma sharir ke saath nikal jaati thi.”

“Since childhood I have witnessed astral travel — my mother’s soul would leave together with her subtle body.”

These were not stories told to a child. They were Bapuji’s direct, lived witness, from his earliest years, of the soul’s power to leave the body, journey through the worlds, and return. They prepared him to understand, later, the full spiritual science of astral travel.

CHAPTER TEN

Astral Travel in the Scriptures

The travel of the soul across the cosmos is described in our most sacred texts. In the Devi Bhagavat Purana, Bapuji explains, it is told how Mahadev took Brahma and showed him many universes — revealing that there are countless universes like our own. He showed Brahma many Brahmas, many Vishnus, many Shivas; countless similar universes, one like another. This is travel from one Brahmand to another, recorded long ago in scripture.

The Story of Guru Drona

The Mahabharata too carries this truth, hidden within a famous story — the story of Guru Drona. Drona was almost impossible to defeat. He could not be slain by any direct means. So Krishna taught that, when destruction of evil is the aim, even a difficult path must sometimes be taken; for those fighting on the side of adharma fall into the camp of the asuras, and to aid them is itself counted among them. Krishna knew that to bring about the necessary end, the straight finger must sometimes be bent.

And so a word was spoken on the battlefield — that Ashwatthama had fallen. Hearing this, and unable to know whether it meant his son or merely an elephant of the same name, Guru Drona sank into deep despair. He laid down his weapons. Then, established in his own atma-swaroop — his true form as a soul — he drew his soul out of his body and travelled in the inner, subtle space to search the heavens for his son. He searched all of swarg, for if his son had died he would surely be there. But by the time his soul returned, there was no consciousness left in his body, and in that moment he was slain by the one who had been born to bring his end.

♦ Bapuji Insight: “Drona ne apni aatma ko bahar nikaal kar antariksh mein travel kiya — yeh astral travel hi tha.”

“Drona drew his soul out and travelled in inner space — this itself was astral travel.”

The deeper point, Bapuji says, is this: in that very moment, Guru Drona performed astral travel. While his body sat still upon the field, his soul rose out and journeyed through the subtle realms. It was not a myth, but a record of the soul’s power to leave the body and return.

The Saptarishis and the Souls Who Became Stars

At night, when we look up at the sky, we see seven bright stars (the Big Dipper). The people of India have always known them as the Saptarishi, the seven sages. Bapuji tells their story.

When this Brahmand was first being formed, Brahma, by the power of his sankalp, created the seven sages. Through these seven sages the organising and shaping of the solar system was carried out. They fashioned the seven lokas. Having completed their work upon the Earth, these saptarishis — seven sages — rose and went to become stars. This is why, even today, we know them as stars in the heavens. Astral travel is never a new concept. The Saptarishis could travel from one Brahmand to another because evolved souls can transcend ordinary limitations.

The Story of Dhruva

Bapuji gives another example — the story of Dhruva. Dhruva was the son of a king, and Lord Vishnu protected him and blessed him, telling him, “I have made you into a star.” So Dhruva too became a star — the fixed star. Before this he was not a star; he was made into one. And unlike the other stars that constantly move and turn, Dhruva remains fixed, always seen in one place. He is the steady, unmoving star.

A Star Is Never Alone

Here Bapuji reveals something important. A star is never merely a single point of light. Wherever there is a star, there is a whole system around it — planets, and a solar system of its own. So when the mind-born sons of Brahma completed their work on Earth and became stars, each became the centre of a system. And from such a station, they could travel from one galaxy to another galaxy.

♦ Bapuji Insight: “Brahma ke putra apna karya pura karke star ban kar gaye, aur ek galaxy se doosri galaxy travel kar sakte the.”

CHAPTER ELEVEN

Subtle World and Its Influence on the Physical World

Bapuji clearly states that one must understand the subtle world and its variations to understand the physical world. Astral travel / astral projection is closely associated with the subtle world. Let us understand the subtle world as explained by Bapuji for this subject. Bapuji explains the hidden and invisible worlds that exist beyond ordinary human perception by giving three important definitions that explain the structure of existence.

Lokik World — The Physical Material World

The Lokik world is the physical, visible world made from the five elements — earth, water, fire, air, and ether. This is the gross material universe in which human beings live. It is the mortal world, also called the physical or earthly realm, which can be seen through ordinary physical eyes.

Everything related to the body, matter, nature, planets, and physical life belongs to the Lokik world.

Alokik World — The Subtle Supernatural World

The Alokik world refers to invisible subtle dimensions that exist beyond normal physical vision. These are supernatural or mystical realms where subtle beings, energies, and souls exist. According to Bapuji, countless souls move within these subtle worlds around us, yet ordinary humans cannot perceive them because they exist in subtle forms rather than dense physical bodies.

He explains that even ancestors or departed souls may remain near homes, families, or familiar places, but humans usually cannot see them because they belong to the subtle dimension of existence. The Alokik world includes subtle beings, Siddha souls, spirits and entities, Devatas, energetic dimensions, and invisible supernatural realms.

Paralokik World — The Higher Transcendental Realms

Beyond the lower subtle worlds exist even higher spiritual dimensions known as Paralokik worlds.

These are elevated transcendental realms beyond ordinary subtle existence. According to Bapuji, these higher regions are associated with advanced spiritual consciousness, divine realities, and cosmic spiritual planes far beyond Earth-bound awareness. The Paralokik worlds belong to higher spiritual systems connected with divine lokas, causal realms, Maha-causal dimensions, Param Tattva realities, and higher cosmic consciousness.

These realms operate under deeper spiritual laws and exist far beyond the limitations of the physical world and lower subtle dimensions. Souls from higher Paralokik realms do not wish to return to Earth. Bapuji explains that higher liberated souls, especially those risen beyond Vishnupuri, do not wish to descend again because Earth consciousness creates karmic entanglement. They completely lose interest in Earth. Souls up to Satyalok may still return as saints or spiritual guides.

The Structure of the Subtle World

Bapuji explains that the subtle world is not empty or formless. Just like the physical world, the subtle world also contains mountains, rivers, structures, palaces, cities, and entire realms of existence. However, these are not made from dense physical matter like the earthly world. They exist in subtle energetic forms created from higher and finer elements. According to Bapuji, the subtle world operates behind the physical world and continuously influences the thoughts, energies, events, and movements occurring in the gross material universe.

One of the most important teachings repeatedly emphasized by Bapuji is that karma exists everywhere throughout creation. Whether a soul lives in the physical world, subtle world, Alokik world, Paralokik world, causal realm, Maha-causal realm, or even higher Nirakari dimensions, no soul can escape karmic law. Every world and every dimension functions according to karmic accounting, energetic consequences, and spiritual laws. The form of existence may change from realm to realm, but the law of karma continues to operate universally across all levels of creation.

Subtle Souls Helping Humanity

Bapuji explains that many healers, saints, and spiritual figures receive help from subtle-world beings.

Some people temporarily gain powers for healing, mantra water, or helping others because Siddha Yogis or subtle beings from Alokik worlds assist them. However, these powers may disappear after several years if the subtle support withdraws. According to Bapuji, behind many spiritual movements, sects, ashrams, and saints are large collections of subtle-world souls helping invisibly.

Rules and Laws of Subtle Worlds

Bapuji briefly yet firmly mentions the rules and regulations governing the Alokik and Paralokik worlds. Bapuji explains that just as physical worlds have laws, subtle worlds also operate under strict rules. Subtle beings are not generally allowed to disturb humans. There are cosmic laws governing interference. Negative lower-category souls sometimes violate these laws.

Some lower negative entities enter humans to fulfill their desires or perform harmful actions.

Subtle Assistance and Telepathic Communication

Bapuji explains that subtle beings often help spiritual missions, saints, and organizations. They communicate through sankalp, telepathy, and rays or energetic transmissions, as well as temporary possession or inspiration. Such subtle beings can guide, help, warn, or influence people.

Both positive and negative subtle influences exist. With this understanding of the subtle world, it will be easier to understand the following chapters on mediums and spirits, parkaya pravesh, teleportation, scientific invention, and many other aspects.

CHAPTER TWELVE

Mediums, Possessions and Siddhis

Mediums and Possession

A medium, Bapuji explains, is different from astral travel. In the case of a medium, a soul enters into a human being and works through them, for good or for ill, using the human as a support. Good souls of the subtle world may work through a willing human medium, but they do not travel far; they remain in the subtle realm and act from there. The souls connected to a temple stay near that temple, fulfilling the prayers of devotees, travelling mostly from one temple to another but rarely rising higher — staying within that same range close to the Earth.

There is also the darker side. Impure souls, full of anger and craving, enter into a person and drive them to act strangely. One soul enters, then another, then another; as soul after soul takes hold, the person may even appear to lose their sanity, for many souls have crowded into one body. Bapuji compares it to cells in a body: a departed soul, shrinking from three elements into a single formless point, becomes like one cell, and many such cells may lodge within a person. From childhood Bapuji has witnessed these things directly.

♦ Bapuji Insight: “Vikaari aatma marne ke baad aur takatwar ho jaati hai — isiliye upar nahi ja sakti.”

“After death, an impure soul grows even stronger — and so it cannot rise upward.”

All of this, Bapuji says, is real — a hidden science that the world has not yet accepted. It happens within every faith, not one alone. One day, when science develops the instruments to detect these subtle realities, what is now called superstition will be recognised as truth, and ordinary science will at last become spiritual science.

Parkaya Pravesb — Entering Another Body

This power, Bapuji says, is not confined to the distant past. Even today, in our own Himalayas, there are great rishis and munis who do this. When such a sage sits sealed away in a cave, he can draw his subtle body out, travel through the sukshma jagat — the subtle world — circle the whole Earth, and then return once more into his own body.

There is also a related power, recorded in the scriptures of India — parakaya pravesb, the entry of the soul into another body. A realised being can leave his own body and enter into another.

The Example of Shankaracharya

Around fifteen hundred years ago, Bapuji recounts, Adi Shankaracharya performed exactly this. During a great debate on knowledge, a woman posed him a question about the experience of married, householder life — grihastha-asbham. As a renunciate, Shankaracharya had no such experience and could not readily answer. So he left his own body, entered through parakaya pravesb into the body of a king who had just died, and lived for some time within that body. Having gained the experience of householder life, he later returned and won the debate.

Such entry into another body, Bapuji says, is in fact a common ability among the truly advanced — so common that those who can do it do not even speak of it. It is simply accepted as part of the deeper science of the soul. Yet here a careful distinction must be drawn. There is travel in the physical world, and there is travel in the subtle world.

Siddha Gurus and Subtle Assistance

Bapuji explains that many miracles attributed to saints or Siddhas are actually performed through subtle beings working behind the scenes. According to him, humans themselves possess limited power to perform any miracle. Subtle Siddha Gurus work through human instruments. Spiritual healings often occur through subtle-world assistance.

Bapuji recalls hearing about a healer in a Gujarat village who energized water through mantra. People carried bottles of water to him, believing the energized water healed illnesses.

Another incident of Pilot Baba was mentioned. Pilot Baba was once an Air Force pilot flying MiG fighter aircraft. During one dangerous incident near the India-Nepal border, communication with the control base was lost, and he no longer knew how to land the aircraft. At that moment, according to the story, his Guru manifested physically inside the aircraft, took control of the plane, and safely landed it on Earth. After landing, the staff and officers also reportedly saw the Guru before he disappeared.

Later in Pilot Baba's life, the same Guru reportedly appeared again, including inside his vehicle. Eventually, when Pilot Baba decided to renounce worldly life and enter the forests and Himalayas, the Guru revealed: "I was the one guiding all these events in your life so that you would eventually take sanyas." Pilot Baba then reportedly spent many years in Himalayan tapasya and later shared many supernatural experiences with the world.

Bapuji explains that many powerful Siddha Gurus live in the Himalayas and perform tapasya. Such Siddha Gurus guide selected individuals, and they sometimes temporarily assist through subtle influence.

CHAPTER THIRTEEN

Astral Travel and Dreams

According to this understanding, dreams of astral travel do not arise randomly. They emerge either because a person has previously heard or thought deeply about astral travel, or because the soul itself carries ancient impressions from distant galaxies, universes, or higher realms experienced before taking human birth. These experiences remain stored as subtle recordings within the subconscious mind and soul-consciousness. During deep sleep, when the subconscious mind opens, those hidden impressions begin to surface as vivid dreams and inner experiences.

The teaching explains that in a semi-awakened state, these subconscious soul-records emerge symbolically. A person may dream of travelling through galaxies, visiting higher lokas, or coming from distant realms, and the experience can feel extremely real. However, it is clearly stated that this is not practical physical travel happening at that exact moment. The subtle body is not literally leaving the body and roaming solar systems or higher worlds. Rather, the dream is an inner subconscious projection, imagination, or symbolic replay of impressions already stored within the soul.

At the same time, the passage suggests that some souls carry deeper cosmic memories than others. Certain souls may have stronger impressions connected to higher dimensions, distant worlds, or spiritual journeys, which is why such dreams appear more powerfully in them. Through deep meditation, soul-consciousness, and the nirakari (formless) state, these hidden recordings can gradually emerge and help a person understand their own inner nature, spiritual journey, and subtle identity.

CHAPTER FOURTEEN

A Glimpse Inside the 3i Atlas

One of the clearest examples of astral travel in our own time, Bapuji says, came through a young girl. A video had reached him in which this child had performed astral travel and entered the 3i Atlas — the great vessel now passing through our cosmos. Studying her account with his divine sight, Bapuji gave the accurate explanation of what had happened.

The girl's physical body remained where it was. The subtle souls who assist such journeys drew out her sukshma sharir — her subtle body — and carried it into the vessel. With her subtle body she saw a great many beings seated within, each with an aura of different colours, each with a unique combination of light. When she had hurt her hand, they gave her a little of their energy and the injury was healed. Later she tried to enter again, but this time she could not. Many others were attempting to enter the same way through astral travel, yet none could pass inside.

Such a journey, Bapuji explains, is what we call a soul journey — the travel of the soul together with the subtle body. What the girl described was what she saw through her subtle body. When Bapuji himself observed the vessel, established in his own soul-form and looking with divine vision, he confirmed the deeper realities behind it.

sukshma sharir ke saath aatma andar gayi.”

“Such a journey we call a soul journey — the soul entered within, together with the subtle body.”

The full account of the 3i Atlas — what it truly is, where it has come from, the beings it carries, and the supreme elements that move it — is a vast subject in its own right, and Bapuji has explained it in complete detail elsewhere. Readers who wish to explore this wonder fully are warmly encouraged to read our dedicated book, Inside the 3i Atlas, part of the Paramshanti Series and available as both an audiobook and an ebook. Here, it is enough to see how clearly it confirms the truth of astral travel — the soul, leaving the body, journeying to a destination far beyond the reach of the eyes.

CHAPTER FIFTEEN

Souls Who Cannot Rise

Not every soul that leaves the body can rise. Bapuji turns now to the ordinary soul — the one who has no spiritual knowledge, who has lived only for the pleasures of this world. Such a soul, after death, cannot cross the universe. It cannot even reach the two hundred kilometres of the Earth’s subtle gravity; it cannot rise even a single step beyond, because its body of elements is too heavy, weighed down by the heaviness of the air-element.

Why is the soul so bound? Because it is full of impurities — moh, kaam, krodh, lobh — attachment, desire, anger, greed. And after death, Bapuji explains, these impurities actually grow stronger. In the living human being, five elements share the soul’s energy, and so its power is divided and weak. When the soul leaves the body, two of those elements fall away, and the remaining energy is multiplied. Whatever impurities the soul carried now grow stronger along with that energy. This is why such souls either sit attached within the home, or wander at most from one temple to another.

aatma upar nahi ja sakti.”

“Attachment is the greatest impurity — where there is attachment, the soul cannot rise.”

This is why the scriptures say: Nashto moh, smriti labdha — when attachment is destroyed, the true remembrance returns. The moment attachment ends, the soul’s own memory awakens: “I am a soul.” The bondage of the body falls away, and only then is the soul free to rise.

When Powers Become a Cage

There is a subtler trap still. Siddhis — occult powers — can themselves become a limitation when the soul remains tied to desire. A seeker who chases powers may travel only within a small range, lingering in the subtle zones close to the Earth. Such a soul cannot even cross the subtle gravity of the Earth, which extends some two hundred kilometres; it remains caught within that field.

To cross beyond this boundary requires intense tapasya — deep inner austerity. The soul must become utterly desireless to rise beyond both the physical and the subtle limits. Bapuji is firm on this point: the true path is not the gathering of powers, but liberation and connection with the Supreme. Even for the most advanced souls, the Supreme remains the highest destination of all. Powers are not the goal; the Supreme is the goal.

Spirits, Jinn, and Subtle Beings

Bapuji explains that almost every major religion acknowledges the existence of subtle beings and invisible entities beyond the physical world. According to him, Muslims speak about jinn, Christians speak about spirits, while Hindu traditions describe devas, pretas, pitru souls, and many kinds of subtle entities. However, Bapuji makes an important distinction between lower Earth-bound spirits and higher Alokik beings. He says that many lower-category souls remain within the subtle atmospheric layers surrounding Earth due to karmic bondage, desires, attachments, or incomplete experiences. These beings may remain close to homes, families, locations, or human environments. In contrast, true higher Alokik beings exist far beyond ordinary Earth consciousness in elevated subtle dimensions and transcendental realms. Above these worlds are even more refined spiritual regions connected with higher cosmic consciousness and divine realities.

Bapuji further explains that subtle beings often gather in temples, mosques, churches, ashrams, and other sacred places because spiritual vibrations attract souls from both visible and invisible worlds. According to him, even ghosts, wandering spirits, and subtle entities attend Ramayana recitations, Mahabharata discourses, prayers, bhajans, and spiritual gatherings in order to receive peace and positive vibrations. He says that many times there may be more subtle beings attending such gatherings than physical humans themselves. Wherever sincere devotion, mantra chanting, meditation, or remembrance of God takes place, peaceful vibrations spread not only in the physical atmosphere but also through the subtle worlds. These sacred vibrations help calm disturbed souls, attract higher spiritual entities, and create spiritual purification across both visible and invisible dimensions.

CHAPTER SIXTEEN

The Final Goal — Returning Home

At the close of this knowledge, Bapuji gently turns the seeker's gaze away from the wonders of travel and towards the one thing that matters most. World travel, galaxy travel, universe travel — all of these, he says, are secondary. They are not the purpose of the soul's existence.

The true goal is soul realisation, and beyond it, the realisation of the Supreme. The final aim is not to wander endlessly through the cosmos, however beautiful those journeys may be, but to return to the soul's original abode — the home from which it first came.

◆ Bapuji Insight: “World travel, galaxy travel, universe travel — sab gaun hai. Asli lakshya hai apne ghar lautna.”

“World travel, galaxy travel, universe travel — all are secondary. The real goal is to return to one's own home.”

Astral Travel After Death

Bapuji explains that ordinary individuals who deeply desire liberation and connect with God at the time of death may also begin travelling upward after death. He refers to teachings from the Bhagavad Gita that at the time of death, one's final thoughts determine the direction of the soul.

Bapuji reiterates that after death, though the gross body dissolves, the soul continues with a three-element subtle body. Karmic attachments hinder upward movement. Higher-realm souls, like Maharishi souls in higher lokas, guide travelling souls.

Bapuji quotes the spiritual principle: “Nasto Moha Smriti Labdha” — when attachment and fascination disappear, soul-consciousness awakens.

Many souls, Bapuji warns, remain stuck in the desire for powers instead of seeking spiritual completion. They are drawn by the marvels of the journey and forget the destination. But the highest knowledge of all is the knowledge of the Supreme and of the soul's final home. To know oneself as a soul, to connect with the Supreme, and to return home — this is the whole purpose, and the highest attainment.

Let the seeker remember, then, that astral travel is a doorway, not a destination. Beyond every world and every wonder waits the stillness of the original source — Paramshanti, Supreme Peace. That is where the soul's long journey finds its rest.

BAPUJI INSIGHTS

A gathering of the living words of Bapuji from this discourse — the Hinglish line as spoken, with its meaning in English below.

- ◆ Bapuji Insight: “Astral travel maane aatma ka shareer se bahar nikal kar travel karna.”

“Astral travel means the soul moving and travelling outside the body.”

- ◆ Bapuji Insight: “Char yug to dharti par hote hain. Bhulok se upar koi kaliyug nahi hota.”

“The four ages exist only on Earth. Above Bhulok, there is no Kaliyuga.”

- ◆ Bapuji Insight: “Brahma ke putra apna karya pura karke star ban kar gaye, aur ek galaxy se doosri galaxy travel kar sakte the.”

“Brahma’s sons, having completed their work, became stars — and could travel from one galaxy to another.”

- ◆ Bapuji Insight: “Koti mein koi, karodon mein koi aatma hi aisa sochti hai — mujhe Paramdham jana hai.”

“Only one soul in millions truly thinks: I must reach Paramdham.”

- ◆ Bapuji Insight: “Almighty Authority upar se spiritual scientist ko utaar kar, inspiration dekar kaam karwa rahe hain.”

“The Almighty Authority sends spiritual scientists down and works through them by inspiration.”

- ◆ Bapuji Insight: “Drona ne apni aatma ko bahar nikaal kar antariksh mein travel kiya — yeh astral travel hi tha.”

“Drona drew his soul out and travelled in inner space — this itself was astral travel.”

- ◆ Bapuji Insight: “Aatma swaroop mein sthit hokar, apne ishta-dev ko yaad karte-karte usi mein samaa jaate the.”

“Established in the soul-form, remembering the chosen deity, they would dissolve into that very form.”

- ◆ Bapuji Insight: “Sahasrara mein jitne cell hain, utne brahmand hain — har cell khul jaata hai.”

“In the sahasrara there are as many cells as there are universes — and each one opens.”

- ◆ Bapuji Insight: “Jisko anant koti brahmand ka gyan hoga, vahi travel kar sakta hai.”

“Only one who holds the knowledge of the infinite millions of universes can make this journey.”

- ◆ Bapuji Insight: “Bina sahi margdarshan ke, kitaab ya video se aise prayog karna risky hai.”

“Without true guidance, attempting such practices from a book or a video is risky.”

- ◆ Bapuji Insight: “Moh sabse bada vikaar hai — moh hoga to aatma upar nahi ja sakti.”

“Attachment is the greatest impurity — where there is attachment, the soul cannot rise.”

- ◆ Bapuji Insight: “Niraakari avastha mein baith kar jaate hain to jaldi pahunch jaate hain.”

“Travelling seated in the formless state, they arrive quickly.”

- ◆ Bapuji Insight: “Vikaari aatma marne ke baad aur takatwar ho jaati hai — isiliye upar nahi ja sakti.”

“After death, an impure soul grows even stronger — and so it cannot rise upward.”

◆ Bapuji Insight: “Mujhe khud dikhta hai — main to kharbon multiverse dekhta hoon.”

“I see it myself — I behold billions of multiverses.”

◆ Bapuji Insight: “Aise safar ko hum soul journey kehte hain — sukshma sharir ke saath aatma andar gayi.”

“Such a journey we call a soul journey — the soul entered within, together with the subtle body.”

“World travel, galaxy travel, universe travel — all are secondary. The real goal is to return to one’s own home.”

“Gyan Daan Maha Daan”

Sharing Knowledge is the Highest Charity

— Bapuji Dashrathbhai Patel

Beyond the body lies a hidden journey.

Across subtle worlds,
higher dimensions, and unseen realms, the soul discovers that the greatest destination is not another world...
but its own true home.

Astral travel is not the final goal.
Self-realization is.
