This book is based on the divine knowledge imparted by Bapuji, Dashrathbhai Patel Ji, who has been sharing this wisdom for over 30 years. The teachings presented here are not generated by artificial intelligence; they originate from Bapuji's own direct spiritual experiences and insights, which he has perceived through divine vision. The content of this book has been carefully compiled from Bapuji's discourses and videos, reflecting his authentic spiritual teachings. While we have used AI tools solely for assistance in formatting, structuring, and refining the language for clarity and presentation, the knowledge itself remains purely and entirely that which has been given by Bapuji. We respectfully present this work as a sincere effort to preserve and share his divine teachings in an accessible form.

About Bapuji Dashrathbhai Patel

Bapuji Dashrathbhai Patel — lovingly called ‘Dadaji’ by younger followers — was born in 1956 in the small village of Akhaj, Mehsana district, Gujarat, India. He grew up in a nearby village called Ambasan.

Even as a six-year-old boy, Bapuji asked a question that shaped his entire life: “Why does God stay silent while people suffer?” This burning desire to end human suffering led him on an extraordinary spiritual journey.

Growing up in a poor family, young Bapuji would walk barefoot through the fields, often getting hurt by thorns. During those long, quiet evenings alone in the fields, he began to sense subtle spiritual presences — beings from dimensions beyond normal human perception. Instead of being afraid, these experiences made him deeply curious about the hidden layers of existence.

Despite these hardships, Bapuji was determined and courageous. He supported himself through tuition classes while studying Chartered Accountancy (CA), and later completed his Bachelor of Law (LLB) degree. He became a well-known and respected lawyer in Ahmedabad.

But worldly success could not satisfy the deep spiritual longing that had been with him since childhood. He made the rare and bold decision to leave his successful legal career and dedicate his life fully to spiritual realization.

Through deep meditation and states of super-consciousness (samadhi), Bapuji began to receive divine knowledge of extraordinary depth — knowledge not learned from any book, but realized directly from the source of creation itself.

In 1997, he established the Vishwa Parivartak Ishwariya Vidhyalay (“World-Transforming Divine Academy”) in Chenpur, Ahmedabad. The mission was clear: to transform this world of suffering into an eternal, divine reality. Working alongside him was Smt. Sushma Tandon, lovingly known as “Maa,” who brought grace and compassion to this sacred mission.

During the most intense phase of his teaching, Bapuji would deliver spiritual discourses for up to 18 hours a day without rest. His teachings cover an extraordinary range: the structure of celestial dimensions, the creation of solar systems and galaxies, the reality of multiple universes, and the transcendental knowledge of what lies beyond even the multiverse.

Central to Bapuji’s vision are what he calls “Behad Souls” — highly evolved souls who have taken birth in this critical time to help transform the world. The word ‘Behad’ means ‘boundless’ or ‘beyond all limits.’

At present, Bapuji remains deeply immersed in extended states of meditation and samadhi. He does not meet the public, as he is continuously engaged in his transcendental mission in a super-conscious state. His silence is not the absence of work — it is its deepest form.

Preface

“Gyan Daan Maha Daan” (Sharing Knowledge is the highest charity — share to the maximum extent with all.) — by Bapuji Dashrathbhai Patel

There is a question that lives in the heart of every human being. Not about money, status, or comfort — but something much deeper:

| “Who am I, really? And why am I here?”

Most of us are too busy to ask this question seriously. We keep looking for answers outside — in achievements, relationships, and experiences. But the greatest teachers of humanity have always pointed in the opposite direction: inward.

This book is an invitation to that inner journey. It is based on the sacred teachings of Bapuji Dashrathbhai Patel — a rare spiritual master who has spent decades guiding thousands of souls toward knowing their true nature.

The teachings here draw from the “Vedas”, “Upanishads”, “Bhagavad Gita”, and the “Puranas”, along with the living wisdom that Bapuji carries in his heart. These are not abstract philosophies. They are practical maps for inner change.

Whether you are completely new to spirituality or have been seeking for years, this book will help to meet your true self. Every chapter is written in simple, clear language — because truth, when truly understood, is always simple.

Read slowly. Pause. Reflect. And allow these words to awaken your inner light being to who you have always been.

Chapter 1: What Is Reality?

The World You See Is Not the Whole Story

Look around you. You see walls, furniture, people, sky — a whole world of solid, visible things. It feels real. It feels permanent.

But think about this: When you are inside a dream, doesn't the dream feel completely real? The fear, the joy, the people — everything feels real. But the moment you wake up, that entire world disappears.

“Could our waking life be a dream we have not yet woken up from?”

This is the starting point of genuine spiritual enquiry. The Vedas and the Upanishads say clearly: what you call the waking world is not the ultimate reality. It is like a wave on the ocean — real in its own way, but not the deepest permanent truth.

Two Kinds of Reality

1. Maya — The changing, temporary world of forms, names, objects, and experiences. It appears to be everything, but it is not the final truth.
2. Param Brahm — The unchanging, eternal awareness that is the foundation of all experience. It has no beginning, no end, no form, and no limitation.

You live in both at the same time. You live in the world of Maya — going to work, raising children, buying groceries. But underneath all that activity, you are also the eternal awareness — watching, knowing, being.

The problem is that most people are so focused on the outer layer that they forget the inner one, i.e. the root cause of all experiences. And that forgetfulness is where all suffering begins.

Why Does This Matter?

When you believe the changing world is all there is, your happiness depends entirely on what happens outside you. You become like a boat without an anchor — tossed around by every wave.

But when you begin to know the deeper reality, you find an anchor. A place of complete stillness inside you that nothing can disturb. This is what Bapuji calls Param Shanti — Supreme Eternal Peace.

The Starting Point

This journey begins with a simple but powerful question the Upanishads have been asking for thousands of years:

| “Who am I?”

Not your name, your job, or your nationality. But who are you at the very deepest level? That question is the door. And the next chapter begins to open it.

✦ Try This: How often is your peace disturbed by outside events? What would it feel like to have peace that does not depend on anything outside you?

Chapter 2: Who Am I? Atma vs. Body

The Most Important Question

Imagine a doctor says: ‘Before I can treat you, I need to know who you are.’ You say your name. ‘No,’ the doctor replies, ‘I know your name. But who are you?’

All you can offer are labels: job, nationality, religion, family role. But none of these are actually you. They are like clothes. Remove them all — and something still remains.

The Body Is Not You

Your body is always changing. But the same ‘I’ that was present in your childhood is present right now. Something has remained constant. The Upanishads answer clearly:

“You are the Atma/soul — the immortal, pure consciousness. The body is a vehicle you use. You are not the vehicle.”

The Driver and the Car

Think of a car driving down a road. One day it will break down. But the driver is not the car. The driver gets out and moves on. In exactly the same way:

- Your body is the car.

- You — the Atma/soul, the pure consciousness — are the driver.
- When the body is sick, the Atma is not sick. When the body dies, the Atma does not die.

The Five Layers of a Human Being

1. The Physical Body — what you can see and touch.
2. The Energy Body — the life force (Prana) that keeps the body alive.
3. The Mental Body — your thoughts, emotions, and desires.
4. The Wisdom Body — deeper intelligence and ability to understand truth.
5. The Bliss Body — a layer of deep, quiet joy.

At the very centre, beyond all these layers? Pure awareness. The Atma.

The Witness That Never Changes

Right now, you are aware of this page, the room around you, your own thoughts. That awareness — the pure knowing present before any thought appears — that is the Atma.

The Rig Veda describes this: Two birds sit on the same tree. One eats the fruit — tasting pleasure and pain. The other simply watches. The eating bird is the mind-body. The watching bird is the Atma.

Why We Forget

From birth, every signal points to the body. Over time we build Deh Bhav — body consciousness — the deep feeling that ‘I am this body.’ This false identification is the root of all suffering. But what has been forgotten can be remembered.

✨ Try This: For one minute today, try to be the ‘watching bird.’ watch your thoughts as clouds passing through a sky. You are the sky — not the clouds.

Chapter 3: Understanding Body Consciousness (Deh Bhav)

The Root of All Suffering

The ancient texts point to one single cause of all human suffering: Deh Bhav — the deep belief that ‘I am this body.’

What Is Deh Bhav?

‘Deh’ means body. ‘Bhav’ means feeling or state of being. It is a deep feeling that controls your whole life. When someone insults your appearance, you feel hurt. When the body is sick, you feel your whole self is sick.

How Deh Bhav Is Built

From birth, the world points to the body: ‘This is a boy. This child is beautiful.’ By adulthood, nearly our entire identity is based on the body. The Atma is buried so deep that most people never know it exists.

The Five Results of Body Consciousness

1. Moh (Attachment) — ‘My house. My children. My reputation.’
2. Ahankar (Ego) — ‘I am the doer’ , “I am better than that person.’
3. Kama (Desire) — Constantly chasing pleasure, never fully satisfied.

4. Krodha (Anger) — When the ego is threatened, anger arises.
5. Bhaya (Fear) — Constant background fear of loss and death.

The Good News: It Can Be Dissolved

Body consciousness is not the truth about you. It is a learned habit. And just as it was built up layer by layer, it can be dissolved layer by layer.

A Simple Daily Practice: The Hourly Reminder

1. Set a gentle reminder on your phone to go off every hour.
2. Pause for just five seconds.
3. Say: 'I am not this body. I am the Atma. I am pure consciousness, eternal awareness.'
4. Feel it — even briefly.
5. Return to your activity.

The mind moves in the direction of what it thinks about most. Reminding yourself of the Atma even twenty times a day creates a new pattern that deepens over time.

✨ Try This: Notice how many times today an emotion arises from body identification. Pause and ask: 'Who is really feeling this?'

Chapter 4: What Is the Atma (Soul)?

The One Who Watches

Right now, as you read these words, there is something that is aware of them. Before you understand, before any thought arises — there is pure, open awareness. That is the Atma.

The Four Qualities of the Atma

1. Sat (Eternal Existence) — Never born, never dies. Beyond time.
2. Chit (Pure Consciousness) — Alive with awareness. This is why you can be aware of your own thoughts.
3. Ananda (Absolute Bliss) — Overflowing with quiet, unconditional joy.
4. Shiva (Pure and Auspicious) — No karma can touch it. Always pure, always whole.

“The Atma is not broken. It only appears that way through the fog of body consciousness.”

The Atma Is Not Personal

The Upanishads speak of one universal consciousness — one ocean of awareness — appearing as individual waves. Each wave looks separate, but it is still the ocean. The feeling of separation is the product of body consciousness i.e. “Deh Bhava”.

What the Scriptures Say

The Chandogya Upanishad teaches: ‘Tat tvam asi’ — ‘You are That.’ In the Bhagavad Gita, Lord Krishna tells Arjuna:

“Just as a person puts on new clothes after removing old ones, the Soul accepts new bodies, giving up old and worn-out ones.”

Meeting the Atma

Every human being has already touched it — in moments of deep silence, in the stillness just before sleep, in moments of pure beauty or profound peace. You have already been the Atma. You have simply not recognized it.

✦ Try This: Sit quietly for two minutes. Ask: ‘What in me is aware right now?’ The awareness that hears the question — that is your answer.

Chapter 5: The Journey of the Atma Across Births

Why Are We Here?

The Vedic wisdom offers a clear answer: the Atma is on a journey. This life is not the beginning, and death is not the end. This is rebirth - "Punar janma" .

Understanding Rebirth

When you fall asleep, consciousness continues in dreams and deep sleep. In the same way, physical death is like a deeper sleep. The inner being — carrying all its impressions, desires, and karmas — continues and takes on a new physical form.

What the Atma Carries Between Lives

1. The Causal Body — carries seeds of karma and deep tendencies.
2. The Subtle Body — shapes the personality of the new life.
3. The Atma Itself — the eternal witness, never born, never dies.

The Purpose of the Journey

Each life is a classroom where the Atma learns and moves closer to recognizing: 'I am Brahm. I am the infinite.'

“The Atma is not a sinner on a journey to redemption. It is a light on a journey to full illumination.”

Breaking the Cycle

The scriptures speak of “Moksha” — liberation — when the Atma no longer needs to return. This is a state of consciousness achieved while alive.

✦✦ Try This: Think of a quality in yourself that seems to come from nowhere — a talent, a deep interest. Could this be the Atma’s memory of another journey?

Chapter 6: The Law of Karma Explained Simply

The Cosmic Law of Cause and Effect

Karma means ‘action.’ Every action — through body, speech, or mind — creates an impression that eventually produces a result. As logical as physics: every action has a reaction.

Three Types of Karma

1. Sanchit Karma — Total accumulated karma from all past lives.
2. Prarabdha Karma — The portion of Sanchit currently bearing fruit in this lifetime.
3. Kriyamana Karma — The karma you are creating right now. This is your free will.

Intention Matters Most

An action done with ego and selfish desire creates binding karma. An action done with pure love and detachment creates none. This is Nishkama Karma — selfless action without attachment to results.

The Witness Is Free From Karma

“The Atma does not create karma. The mind and ego create karma. The Atma only witnesses.”

When you know yourself as the witnessing Atma, you are no longer the creator of new karma. You still act — but you are no longer entangled in it.

✨ Try This: Today, do one activity as a pure offering to the divine. Notice how it feels different.

Chapter 7: The Multiverse and Creation Beyond Our Universe

You Live in One of Infinite Creations

Modern science talks about the multiverse. The Vedic tradition has taught this for thousands of years. The Vedas describe countless Bramands (universes), each with their own laws and cycles.

Behad — The Boundless

“Behad” means ‘beyond all limits.’ Most of us live within tight limits — ‘my body, my family, my country.’ Spiritual growth means moving from “had” (limited) to “behad” (boundless).

The Vedic Understanding of Creation

- At the source is Param Brahm — pure consciousness, pure being, pure bliss.
- From this source, subtle realms (Lokas) emerge, each denser toward the physical.
- Even in our physical world, everything is made of the same original consciousness.

Creation as Divine Play

“Lila” is the divine play of creation. The universe is a living, conscious expression of the Supreme.

"You are not a drop lost in the ocean. You are the ocean, playing at being a drop."

Chapter 8: Different Dimensions and Realms (Lokas)

Beyond the Physical World

The Vedic tradition describes 14 primary Lokas (dimensions/layers) — seven above and seven below the physical realm.

The Main Realms

1. Bhu Loka — Physical Earth. The classroom of direct experience.
2. Bhuvar Loka — The astral realm. Light, peace, and presence.
3. Svarg Loka (Heaven) — Subtle beings and subtle worlds of enjoyment.
4. Mahar, Jana, Tapa Lokas — Progressively more refined realms.
5. Satya Loka — The realm of Brahman. Highest realm of form.

Beyond all Lokas is the formless, infinite Param Brahman — the ultimate destination of every Atma.

What This Means for You

Knowing reality has many dimensions loosens your grip on the physical world as the only reality. You are not a body with a temporary experience of consciousness.

You are consciousness having a temporary experience of a body.

✦✦ Try This: In nature — under an open sky, near a tree — pause and feel the living intelligence behind what you see.

Chapter 9: Death and What Comes After

The Great Teacher

The scriptures say death is the greatest teacher — it strips away every illusion. If we understand what death actually is, we can live more fully and freely.

What Actually Happens at Death

1. The senses shut down. The life force gathers.
2. The subtle body separates from the physical body.
3. The Atma moves toward the appropriate realm based on consciousness and karma.
4. In time, a new physical body is taken.

Why the Moment of Death Matters

The Bhagavad Gita says: ‘Whatever state of being you remember when leaving the body — that state you will reach.’ This is why daily practice is so important.

Death as Liberation

“For those who know the Self, death is nothing more than changing rooms in the same infinite house of consciousness.”

The goal: to know what you are, so that death becomes irrelevant.

✦ Try This: Spend five quiet minutes thinking about leaving this body one day — not with fear, but with curiosity.

Chapter 10: Meditation and Daily Practice

Knowledge Is the Map. Practice Is the Journey.

Bapuji offers five powerful, practical practices suitable for anyone:

Practice 1: The Param Shanti Mantra

1. Sit comfortably. Close your eyes.
2. Take three slow, deep breaths.
3. Repeat internally: ‘Param Shanti hai... Param Shanti hai...’
4. Feel the words settle like ripples of calm through still water.
5. Continue for 15–30 minutes.

Practice 2: Atma Smaran — Soul Remembrance

Throughout the day, especially in stress, pause and say:

“I am not this body. I am the Atma. I am pure, conscious, eternal awareness.”

Practice 3: Sakshi Bhav — The Witness Practice

In any situation, step back mentally. Watch thoughts and emotions without being swept away. You are the sky, not the clouds.

Practice 4: Satsang — The Company of Truth

Surround yourself with spiritual teachings. Bapuji's YouTube channels and daily live meditation sessions (10:00-11:00 PM) are available to all.

Practice 5: Seva — Selfless Service

Serve without expecting anything in return. Every act of genuine service weakens the ego and lets the Atma shine.

✨ Try This: Choose one practice and commit to it for seven days. Notice what changes.

Chapter 11: From Ignorance to Self-Realization

Stage 1: Shravana — Hearing

Hearing the truth for the first time — reading this book, watching Bapuji, attending satsang. The seed is planted.

Stage 2: Manana — Deep Thinking

Thinking deeply about what you heard. Testing it against experience. Conviction deepens. The seed sprouts.

Stage 3: Nididhyasana — Deep Meditation

Sustained meditation on the truth of the Self. Resting in awareness. This is where real transformation happens.

Stage 4: Anubhava — Direct Experience

A moment of complete silence — pure awareness with no object. Just knowing. Just being. Just light. Once tasted, nothing is ever the same.

What Self-Realization Looks Like

The realized person lives fully — works, loves, serves, laughs. But with freedom. Like a lamp in a windless place.

“Self-realization is not an achievement. It is a recognition. You are recognizing what you already are.”

✦✦ Try This: Think of someone with deep inner peace. What can you learn from how they handle difficulty?

Chapter 12: The Final State — Param Shanti

Coming Home

Param Shanti is your nature. It is what you already are, underneath all layers. The spiritual path is simply removing those layers.

What Param Shanti Is — and Is Not

It is NOT the absence of problems, a temporary feeling, numbness, or something forced.

It IS the natural state of the Atma, present beneath every experience, unconditional, and expansive.

The Mantra as a Doorway

Behad ki Param Param Param Maha Shanti hai...

Maha Shanti hai... Maha Shanti hai...

‘There is Boundless Supreme Supreme Supreme Great Peace...’

Living as the Atma

Every morning: ‘I am not this body. I am the Atma.’
Every night: review your day with kindness. Tomorrow, remember a little more.

“The day you know yourself as the Atma is the day you become truly free. And that day can be today.”
