About Bapuji

Bapuji (full name: Bapuji Dashrathbhai Patel, also lovingly called "Dadaji" by the younger generation) was born in 1956 in the small village of Akhaj in the Mehsana district of Gujarat. However, he spent his childhood in another village named Ambasan, also located in the Mehsana district.

In the early part of his life, he was a highly successful lawyer. Later, he devoted his life to realising the supreme spiritual truth and bringing this divine knowledge forward for the welfare of humanity. Today, this supreme knowledge serves as a guiding light for true seekers to realise their ultimate destiny. It is a blessing of the highest divinity that the present time is witnessing the rise of this supreme spiritual knowledge, guiding souls on Earth to return to their original source.

Despite being raised in a very poor family and facing challenging circumstances, Bapuji had a deep desire to transform this sorrowful and suffering world into a better place. At the young age of six, he questioned God repeatedly, asking why God remained silent about the suffering of humanity. This intense longing to end human suffering eventually led him to attain the highest level of spirituality later in life.

Even as a child, Bapuji would spend hours alone in the fields, often neglecting his own comfort. Due to poverty, he would walk barefoot without shoes or sandals, frequently getting pricked by thorns. Many times, he would stay late in the fields and, on his way back home, encounter subtle world entities. These experiences sparked his interest in communicating with subtle world souls.

Bapuji was courageous from a young age, which helped him overcome many obstacles. Alongside his studies in chartered accountancy (CA), he gave tuition classes to support himself financially. Later, he completed his Bachelor of Law (LLB) degree and became a well-known lawyer in Ahmedabad.

In 1997, he established a spiritual institution called "Vishwa Parivartak Ishwariya Vidhyalay" in Chenpur, Ahmedabad, with the mission of transforming this mortal world, filled with suffering and disorder, into an eternal divine world of immortality. Smt. Sushma Tandon, lovingly known as "Maa," worked alongside Bapuji in this grand divine mission.

To accomplish this mission, Bapuji worked tirelessly, dedicating all his resources to this divine purpose. During that time, he would deliver continuous spiritual discourses for up to 18 hours without rest. In these discourses, he explained the highest dimensions of divine knowledge, which he realised through deep meditation and divine vision in a state of superconsciousness. This knowledge goes beyond the imagination of the ordinary human mind.

Bapuji's teachings cover a vast range of topics, including the types of celestial creators across different dimensions, the creation of our solar system, galaxy, and universe, and most importantly, the transcendental knowledge of the multiverse and realities beyond it. His knowledge is supremely profound and is intended for highly evolved seekers, referred to as "behad souls." According to Bapuji, these "behad souls" will play a key role in transforming this mortal world into an eternal divine realm.

At present, Bapuji remains deeply engaged in intense meditation and samadhi for long hours. He does not meet anyone, as he is continuously immersed in his transcendental mission in a superconscious state.

Preface

Gyan Daan Maha Daan

(Sharing Knowledge is the highest charity — share to the maximum extent with all.) —

Bapuji Dashrathbhai Patel

We have arrived at the final day of our ten-day journey.

Days 1 through 3 were the foundation — the soul, karma, and the self. Days 4 through 7 walked us through the creation of Earth, Sanatan Dharma, our solar system, our galaxy, the universe, and the Multiverse. Days 8 and 9 took us beyond the Multiverse — through the infinite Pedhis, through Behad Ka Brahmand, Behad Ka Maha Brahmand, and Behad Ke Behad Ka Maha Brahmand, all the way to Behad Ke Behad Ki Kala Ka Paramdham — the Supreme Abode of the Almighty Authority.

Today, Day 10, is not about learning more. It is about doing.

Today we practice. Today we sit. Today we close our eyes and actually travel the journey we have been studying. Today we finally understand why all this knowledge was given in the first place — not to fill the mind, but to settle the soul.

Bapuji promises something remarkable for the one who completes this 10-day course sincerely: just as the ancient king Parikshit attained liberation by listening to the Srimad Bhagavat for seven days, just as Dhundhukari attained moksha after seven days of Bhagavat gyan, so too can the sincere seeker of Behad Ka Param Gyan attain jeevan mukti — liberation while still living in this body.

To reach that state we need three things. First, to understand why the mind cannot simply be "controlled," and where instead it must be placed. Second, to know the technique — the three pillars of true yoga: sankalp, visualisation, and bhava. Third, to practise daily the Param Shanti mantra given to us by Bapuji, a mantra whose vibration originates not from this Multiverse but from Behad Ke Behad Ki Kala Ka Paramdham itself.

This book takes you through each of these. The final chapter is a complete guided meditation — the same one Sakshi Didi leads at the close of Day 10. Read it slowly. Then, when you are ready, close the book, close your eyes, and travel.

You have come home.

This is the last page of the course, and the first page of the rest of your spiritual life.

About This Series

This book is part of a 10-day spiritual journey designed to expand human consciousness beyond limits. Each day reveals deeper layers of truth, guiding the reader from self-awareness to universal understanding.

Based on the Divine Knowledge of

Bapuji Dashrathbhai Patel

This book is a structured presentation of spiritual knowledge shared through discourses.

How to Read This Book

Read this book slowly. There is no hurry. Each chapter carries a truth that may take time to absorb. Pause after every chapter. Sit quietly. Let the knowledge settle within you like a seed settling into soil.

Reflect on each idea before moving to the next. Do not rush to finish — rush to understand.

If you are new to this series, please begin with Day 1. Each day builds upon the previous one, and the full picture only emerges when the foundation is in place.

Approach this knowledge with an open heart, not with debate. This is not philosophy to argue — it is memory to awaken. Somewhere deep within, you already know these truths. This book simply helps you remember.

Many Hindi and Sanskrit terms appear throughout. Each is explained in parentheses the first time it appears. A complete Glossary is provided at the back for easy reference.

Day 10

The Ultimate Meditation Experience

Atma-Swaroop, Param Shanti, and the Final Yoga Practice

Day 10 is the culmination of Behad Ka Param Gyan. Today we take everything we have learned — the soul, karma, the Multiverse, the infinite Pedhis, the Almighty Authority — and finally use it, in the only way knowledge was ever meant to be used: we close our eyes and we practise.

We will learn the three pillars of true yoga (sankalp, visualisation, bhava), the Param Shanti mantra and its hidden origin, the practice of Atma-Swaroop, and the full meditation journey from Earth all the way to Behad Ke Behad Ki Kala Ka Paramdham — and back down, carrying the light into this world.

This is jeevan mukti — liberation while still living.

Introduction

From the Galaxy to the Universe and Beyond

Congratulations on arriving here. You have walked with us through nine days of deep knowledge. You have understood concepts that most seekers spend lifetimes but hardly able to reach the Supreme Truth. And now, on this final day, the entire purpose of supreme knowledge reveals itself.

Consider this: our scriptures tell us that King Parikshit attained liberation by listening to the Srimad Bhagavat for just seven days. Dhundhukari, through the Gokarna-narrated Bhagavat, also reached moksha in seven days. These are not fairy tales. They are demonstrations of what focused, sincere, surrendered listening can do to a soul that is aspiring for liberation.

For us, this has been ten days. Bapuji asks us to consider ourselves — with full conviction — as jeevan mukt. Liberated while living. This is not arrogance; it is the natural result of having consumed, absorbed, and now beginning to live this knowledge.

But today is not a day for more theory. Today is for realisation. Teachings to be brought into practice, in the way Bapuji teaches it. It is not like any ordinary meditation you may have encountered in traditional way of spiritualism taught by any spiritual masters.

Most meditation traditions tell you: still the mind. Control the mind. Stop the thoughts. Bapuji says something very different — because he has found from deep experience that stilling the mind is almost impossible. The mind, he teaches, cannot be controlled. It can only be connected to a subject or object and absorbed in it. And if you connect it somewhere higher level of divine intellect, somewhere luminous, somewhere beyond even the Multiverse, then the ordinary pull of sansar (the world) loses its grip on you naturally.

That is what today is about. Not forcing the mind to be quiet. Placing the mind in Behad Ke Behad Ki Kala Ka Paramdham — and letting the quiet follow.

We will also understand why the word Param Shanti itself carries such power. This is not an ordinary phrase. It is a word that originates in the highest Paramdham, and when we sincerely connect to it, it becomes a channel through which divine energy flows into our body, our home, our family, our surroundings.

And finally, we will understand the two great intentions that every Behad soul carries each day: swa-parivartan (self-transformation) and vishwa-parivartan (world transformation). These are not two separate tasks. They are one movement — as you transform, the world transforms through you.

Let us begin. The path home starts here.

Chapter I

The Final Day — From Knowledge to Realisation

All knowledge has two parts. There is gyan, the theoretical understanding, and there is anubhuti, the direct experience. Up to Day 9, we have been gathering gyan. Today, on Day 10, we begin the transition to realisation (anubhuti).

The difference between these two is immense. One can read a cookbook cover to cover and still starve. One can study all the descriptions of honey and never taste its sweetness. A person who has only gyan knows about the soul; a person with anubhuti is the soul.

Bapuji is insistent on this point. Over thirty years, he has shared more than four thousand videos of divine knowledge. But he reminds us: all of this knowledge is only an outline — only the basic sketch of the ocean we are meant to dive into. The outline prepares the intellect. But the diving happens alone, in silence, in solitude.

He uses a beautiful phrase: gyan-ganga mein dubki lagane se kuch nabi hoga — gyan-sagar mein doobna padega ("A quick dip in the river of knowledge will not be enough — you must drown in the ocean of knowledge"). This is a loving warning. Don't just sample this teaching. Don't just watch videos and feel uplifted. Submerge. Absorb into it. Let it rewire your consciousness from inside.

The transition from gyan to anubhuti is made through two things: jigyasa (the burning spiritual curiosity) and abhyas (consistent daily practice). The more our curiosity deepens about our own origin, our creator, our Multiverse, our purpose — the more we turn inward. And the more we turn inward through daily practice, the more the avarans (karmic coverings) on our soul dissolve.

Today we will learn the practical methods that take the seeker from reader to realiser. Today is the day the course begins to live in you.

♦ Bapuji Insight:

"Gyan-sagar mein doobna padega — sirf dubki lagane se kuch nabi hoga."

"You must drown in the ocean of knowledge — a quick dip will not be enough."

♦ Bapuji Insight:

"Gyan sirf buddhi ke liye hai — anubhuti aatma ke liye hai."

"Knowledge is for the intellect — realisation is for the soul."

Chapter II

The Mind Cannot Be Controlled — It Must Be focused

This is the single most important insight of Day 10. Read it twice.

Most people who come to spirituality arrive with one goal: "I want to control my mind." They have heard that meditation calms the mind. So they sit down, they close their eyes, and they try to push thoughts away. They try to create silence. They try to force stillness.

And almost immediately, they fail. The mind resists. Thoughts multiply. Frustration grows. Many give up and conclude that meditation isn't for them.

Bapuji offers a radical reframe. The mind, he says, cannot be controlled. It is simply not mind's nature to be remain still. You may, with great effort, pin it down for a few moments, but the instant your attention loosens, it will spring back into its old grooves, thinking of this and that.

So what do we do?

We don't control the mind. We focus the mind on some subject/object. We give mind something to hold on. We give it something pure divine to dissolve into.

Bapuji uses a simple commonplace example. You cannot order a child to "stop running around." That will never work. What you can do is place an interesting book in the child's hands, or a beautiful toy, or put on a fascinating story. The moment the child is engrossed, the running stops by itself. No force can solve the purpose instead application of will create more disharmony/chaos. No external control can be applied on mind; every external control will lead to disarray.

The mind is exactly like that child. Ordinary life keeps focusing mind in sansar (the world), in money, in relationships, in food, in grievances, in trivial dramas. The mind runs wild because it has been placed in small, restless places.

Now make effort to focus mind somewhere else. Focus it in gyan — in the knowledge of the soul, in the thought of the creator, in the memory of the Param Prakash of Paramdham. The moment the mind is focused on something divine and vast, this luminous, this sacred, it stops wavering and becomes still on its own. No control is needed. Silence arrives as a natural consequence.

This is why Bapuji says: jitna tum apna mann gyan mein lagaoge, utna tumhari buddhi sansar se vairagya hoti jayegi ("The more you place your mind in knowledge, the more your intellect will naturally detach from the world"). Detachment is not something you force. It is something that happens automatically once the mind has found a higher objective in life to focus on.

This single insight changes everything. Tomorrow morning when you sit to meditate, do not try to stop your thoughts. Simply begin focus your mind — in the creation of Multiverse, in the Pedhis, in Behad Ke Behad Ki Kala Ka Paramdham, visualise in mind the luminous form of the Almighty Authority. Let the mind gets absorbed on its own in that vastness. The stillness will follow on its own.

♦ Bapuji Insight:

"Mann ko control nahi — mann ko kabin lagana hai."

"Do not try to control the mind — focus the mind somewhere."

♦ Bapuji Insight:

"Jitna mann gyan mein lagaoge, utna buddhi sansar se vairagya hoti jayegi."

"The more you focus your mind in knowledge, the more your intellect detaches from the world."

Chapter III

Buddhi Yoga — The Supreme Practice

In the Bhagavad Gita, Bhagwan Krishna speaks of many paths — karma yoga (the yoga of action), bhakti yoga (the yoga of devotion), and buddhi yoga (the yoga of intellect or wisdom). All three are valid. All three path lead soul upward. But Krishna declares one of them supreme. He says: na hi gyanena sadrisham pavitram iba vidyate ("There is nothing as purifying in this world as knowledge.") Of all the yogas, buddhi yoga — the yoga practised through pure, awakened intellect — is the highest.

Why? Because bhakti gives you reward (phal); your prayers are answered, your desires fulfilled, your heart comforted. But gyan takes you all the way to the Almighty. Bhakti brings the God/goddess to your door; gyan takes you to the abode of God.

And karma yoga — the yoga of selfless action — purifies you, but only to a point. Action always has consequences. Gyan alone dissolves the very root from which action arises.

This is why, on Day 10, we speak the language of buddhi yoga. The meditation we are about to learn is not a mood, not a feeling, not a ritual. It is an act of clear, knowing intellect. We do not reach Paramdham through emotion alone. We reach it through an intellect that knows where it is going and why.

For those who feel they are not ready for buddhi yoga — Whoever says, "I do not yet understand all this knowledge" — Bapuji offers a gentle ladder. He says: begin by reading the Bhagavad Gita. Read the Ashtavakra Gita, where the sage Ashtavakra repeatedly asks King Janak, "tum kaun ho?" (Who are you?). Read the Upanishads. Read the Vedas. And read this 10-day course again, slowly. Each of these texts has one central question: not "what should I do?" but "who am I?"

Once that question lives in you, buddhi yoga begins on its own. The intellect itself starts doing the seeking. And an intellect that has begun to ask the right question is already halfway home.

♦ Bapuji Insight:

"Gyan yog sarvashreshth hai — buddhi yog se hi tum Paramatma tak pahunchoge."

"Gyan yoga is supreme — only through buddhi yoga will you reach the Almighty."

♦ Bapuji Insight:

"Bhakti se phal milta hai — gyan se Paramatma milti hai."

"Devotion gives you reward — knowledge gives you the Almighty himself."

Chapter IV

Preparing the Mind — Releasing the Weight of Karma

Before we can sit in deep meditation, there is preparatory work. This is often skipped in modern meditation teachings, and the skipping is exactly why so many practitioners fail to progress. They try to sit in stillness while carrying the full weight of their karmic baggage — and the baggage keeps dragging the mind back to the ground.

Bapuji teaches us to first release that weight.

Every thought, every emotion, every negative experience from our present and past lives is recorded. It is recorded not only in our mind but in the akashik layer of our being — in the karan sharir (causal body) and the sukshma sharir (subtle body) that we studied in earlier days. When we sit to meditate, these recordings emerge. Stress, irritation, an argument from yesterday, a painful memory from years ago — all of it rises to the surface. This is why the mind cannot settle.

The preparatory technique is called svikaran (acceptance) combined with vichar-manan (reflective contemplation). Before we begin the proper meditation, we need to settle the mind with these specific thoughts:

"Whatever happened to me, all happened for my good. Whatever is happening now, is also for my good. Whatever will happen, will also be for my good."

"Whatever is mine in this life, is exactly right for me."

"If difficult circumstances appear, it is because my karmic account is being cleared. Every difficulty is a lesson; every discomfort is a preparation."

As we sit with these thoughts, something subtle begins to happen. The grip of negative emotions loosens. The body relaxes. The shoulders drop. The breath deepens. The mind stops fighting the past, because the past has been understood and accepted as karmic account settlement.

Bapuji reminds us: chinta chita samaan hai (worry is like a funeral pyre). Worry burns you up. And the way to end worry is not to resist it but to understand why any difficulty you face is there in the first place — karmic settlement. The moment you accept this, the worry begins to dissolve.

Only from this state — free from clinging, free from resentment, free from the weight of unfinished emotions — can the mind enter true meditation. If you are carrying tension into your meditation seat, you will never rise above the ceiling of that tension. Release first. Then rise.

Many practitioners find that this preparation itself, done sincerely for ten or fifteen minutes, transforms their meditation completely. The actual meditation that follows becomes effortless.

♦ Bapuji Insight:

"Jo hua acha hua, jo ho raha hai acha ho raha hai, jo hoga bhi acha hoga."

"What has happened was good, what is happening is good, and what will happen will also be good."

♦ Bapuji Insight:

"Chinta chita samaan hai — chinta jalati hai, swikar chhudati hai."

"Worry is like a funeral pyre — worry burns you, acceptance frees you."

Chapter V

The Param Shanti Mantra — A Word from Paramdham

Bapuji has given us one of the most precious gifts any spiritual teacher can give — a mantra. Not just any mantra, but one whose vibration originates not from this Multiverse but from Behad Ke Behad Ki Kala Ka Paramdham itself.

The mantra is: "Behad Ke Behad Ki Param Param Maha Shanti Hai."

At first, these words may sound simple. Any Hindi speaker can pronounce them. But Bapuji explains that Param Shanti is not ordinary language. Ordinary words emerge from the atmosphere of the speaker's world. When we chant Om, for example, we connect to the energy of this Brahmand (solar system), because Om is the vibration of Brahma-Vishnu-Mahesh, who reside at the level of creation of this Brahmand. Om Shanti takes us a little further.

But Param Shanti is different. This word did not originate in any Brahmand we have studied. It did not come from the solar system, the galaxy, the universe, the Great Universe, or even the Multiverse. Bapuji tells us plainly: Param Shanti is a word from Behad Ke Behad Ki Kala Ke Paramdham — the supreme abode of the Almighty Authority himself.

When we chant this word with sincere shraddha (faith) and bilief system (belief), something remarkable happens automatically. We do not have to work hard to establish the connection. The word itself is a channel. It opens a direct line from that supreme realm down into our own body. The Param Prakash of that highest Paramdham begins to flow through us without our having to do anything further.

This is why the mantra is so powerful even for beginners. A person who does not yet understand the full meaning of Behad, who has not yet grasped the Pedhis, who has not yet realised who the Almighty Authority is — even that person can begin chanting "Param Shanti Hai, Param Shanti Hai" with a pure bhava (feeling), and the energy will still descend. The unwavering belief does miraculous work.

Bapuji tells us what this mantra produces in the one who chants it with belief: all mental anxieties, all worries, all apprehensions dissolve. The soul experiences relief through aatma-gya (knowledge of self). A profound satisfaction, an inner peace, an inner contentment rises. Healing happens in the body. The aura purifies. The environment around the practitioner also begins to change — family members also feel it, the home feels it.

The practical instruction is simple. Through the day, whenever the mind becomes agitated — anger rising, fear rising, anxiety stirring — gently say to yourself: "Param Shanti hai. Param Shanti hai. Behad Ke Behad Ki Param Param Maha Shanti hai." Do not rush it. Do not just mouth the words. Connect to them. Feel them as vibration, not as sound. Feel them as the very atmosphere of Paramdham reaching down and touching your throat, your heart, your mind.

This is the easiest doorway Bapuji has given us. It requires no posture, no special time, no preparation. Walk down the street chanting it inwardly. Drive your car chanting it inwardly. Cook your food chanting it inwardly. Each repetition is a small descent of Paramdham into this Earth.

♦ Bapuji Insight:

"Param Shanti shabd is brahmand ka nahi hai — ye Behad Ke Behad Ki Kala Ka Paramdham se aaya hua shabd hai."

"The word Param Shanti does not belong to this Brahmand — it is a word that has come from the Supreme Abode of the Infinite."

♦ Bapuji Insight:

"Shraddha se Param Shanti bolo — Param Prakash automatic utarta hai."

"Chant Param Shanti with faith — the Param Prakash descends automatically."

Chapter VI

The Three Pillars of True Yoga

When we sit down to meditate — really meditate, not just rest — Bapuji teaches that three things must happen together. If any one of them is missing, the meditation will be incomplete. If all three work together, even a few minutes of practice can produce profound realisation.

The three pillars are: Sankalp, Visualisation, and Bhava.

Pillar One — Sankalp. A sankalp is a pure spiritual intention held with conviction. It is not a wish. It is not a hope. It is a firm, willed statement of what is true. When we sit, the first thing we do is establish a sankalp: "I am the soul. I have come from Paramdham. The Param Prakash of the Almighty Authority flows into me now." This sankalp must be held with shraddha (faith) and bilief system — meaning we do not just say it, we genuinely believe it at a deep level. The sankalp that lacks faith is a dead seed; the sankalp held with complete conviction is a living channel.

Pillar Two — Visualisation. Having established the sankalp, we now create the chitra (the inner picture). We bring the scene of the sankalp into our buddhi (intellect) as a clear, detailed image. If our sankalp is about the Paramdham, we visualise the Paramdham — an ocean of milk-white Param Prakash, the akari form of the Almighty Authority at its heart, waves of divine light spreading out. If we cannot see it sharply, we simply hold the intention to see. That intention itself begins the seeing. Bapuji tells us: "Nahi dikhta, koi baat nahi — koshish karo, dekhne ka prayas karo" ("If you cannot see it, never mind — simply try, simply make the effort to see"). The effort itself opens the inner eye.

Pillar Three — Bhava. The third pillar — and often the most neglected — is bhava, the feeling that accompanies the visualisation. You can see the image in your intellect, but if you do not feel its energy in your heart, the meditation remains dry. Bhava means: as you visualise the Param Prakash flowing down, actually feel it. Feel it touch your forehead. Feel it descend into your chest. Feel the warmth. Feel the tingling. Feel the shift in your atmosphere. The body, the nervous system, the cells — all of them respond to bhava. Without bhava, the meditation is a mental exercise. With bhava, it becomes an experience.

These three must move together as a single gesture: I resolve (sankalp) — I see (visualisation) — I feel (bhava). This is the full technique. This is how the Param Shanti mantra works, how the Atma-Swaroop practice works, how the entire meditation journey of Day 10 works.

Practise these three in every meditation. Within weeks, you will notice something changing in you. Not in moments of meditation alone, but throughout your day. A quiet thebrav (stability) will settle in. Small things will not shake you. You will feel yourself carrying a light with you, wherever you go.

♦ Bapuji Insight:

"Sankalp, visualisation, bhava — ye teen miljoone se hi yog poora hota hai."

"Sankalp, visualisation, and bhava — only when all three unite is the yoga complete."

♦ Bapuji Insight:

"Bhava ke bina visualization soonaa hai — bhava se hi pavitra shakti utarti hai."

"Without feeling, visualisation is hollow — it is feeling that causes the pure power to descend."

Chapter VII

Atma-Swaroop — Becoming the Soul

All of Day 10 leads to this central practice. If you remember nothing else from these ten days, remember this: the foundation of all Behad yoga is Atma-Swaroop — the practice of consciously becoming the soul.

The practice begins with a simple but profound renunciation of identity. Sitting quietly, eyes softly closed, we say inwardly:

"I am not this body."

"I am not this mind."

"I am not this intellect."

"I am not these senses."

"I am the soul — the conscious energy that animates this body, that moves this mind, that lights this intellect."

At first these words may feel theoretical. That is natural. Keep going. Repeat them with shraddha. Feel what happens as you say them. A subtle distance begins to open between the body and the awareness that knows the body. That distance is not imagination. That distance is the truth.

Bapuji uses a beautiful analogy. Imagine you are sleeping in a dark room with a watch and a torch beside you. You wake in the night and want to know the time. The watch alone cannot tell you — it is too dark to see. The torch alone cannot tell you — it has no dial. But together, they work. The torch shines; the watch reveals the time. This is our condition on Earth. The body (like the watch) cannot know the time of eternity by itself. The soul (like the torch) needs a body to express itself. Together they function. But they are two different things.

This recognition — that you are in the body but not of the body — is the beginning of Atma-Swaroop.

Next, we place the attention at the bhrikuti — the space between the eyebrows, where we traditionally apply a tilak. This is the seat of the soul. Here, visualise a point of brilliant Param Prakash, like countless suns concentrated into one small, steady light. Feel that light. Feel it as yourself. Feel it radiating outward, filling the body, filling the aura around the body.

Do not strain the eyes. Do not push the gaze upward or screw up the forehead. Many people cause themselves headaches this way. Simply rest attention gently at the bhrikuti, as if a warm point of light were there, and let awareness soften into it.

This is Atma-Swaroop. This is the beginning of yoga. This is what every subsequent practice in today's meditation is built upon.

If, in a single day, this Atma-Swaroop becomes real for you — even for thirty seconds — the entire ten-day course has succeeded. This is the flame you were always meant to light.

♦ Bapuji Insight:

"Mein yeh shareer nahi — mein mann nahi — mein buddhi nahi — mein aatma hoon."

"I am not this body — I am not the mind — I am not the intellect — I am the soul."

♦ Bapuji Insight:

"Aatma rupi diye ko jagana hi Atma-Swaroop hai."

"Kindling the lamp of the soul is what Atma-Swaroop truly means."

Chapter VIII

The Signs of Attaining Atma-Swaroop

How will you know when Atma-Swaroop has actually been attained? Bapuji gives us clear signs. These are not miraculous events; they are gentle, unmistakable shifts in the texture of your being.

The First Sign — Param Anand, Param Shanti, Param Sukh. The very first proof is a deep, indescribable peace. Not an ordinary calmness. A param (supreme) peace. Alongside it arrives param anand (supreme bliss) — not an excited happiness, but a quiet, weightless joy that does not depend on any external condition. And param sukh (supreme well-being) settles into the body itself. Many practitioners describe their first true Atma-Swaroop experience as feeling that they have come home after a long journey.

The Second Sign — Thehrav. A stability enters your life. You stop being pulled by every small desire. Your mind no longer races toward every glittering object. You feel sufficient in what you have. Not because you have renounced anything externally — you may still live your ordinary life — but because the inner craving has dropped away. Things no longer have the hook in you that they used to have.

The Third Sign — Positive Energy. A quiet, strong positive energy begins to flow from you. People around you notice it. Family members relax near you. Even difficult people soften in your presence. You are not trying to radiate anything; the radiation is simply happening because your inner vayumandal (atmosphere) has changed.

The Fourth Sign — Healing in the Body. As the Param Prakash flows more regularly through you, it begins to charge not just the stbul sharir (physical body) but also the sukshma sharir (subtle body), the karan sharir (causal body), and the mahakaran sharir (supra-causal body). Chronic tensions begin to release. Old aches soften. Bapuji is careful here — he does not promise guaranteed instant physical cures, because every soul's karmic account is different. But he does say that the healing power is genuine and active, and many practitioners do notice physical improvements over time.

The Fifth Sign — Freedom from Fear. This is the great mark. Gyan tumhein bhay se mukt kar deta hai ("Gyan frees you from fear"). Bapuji states this as a criterion: if the spiritual path you are following does not free you from fear, you are on the wrong path. True Behad gyan does not create more fear — of punishment, of hell, of displeasing some deity. It dissolves fear. Even the fear of death loosens, because you now know your soul's true home and true scale. A Pedhi soul cannot be afraid of extinction; it knows the cosmos intimately enough to know it cannot be extinguished.

A gentle warning. Some practitioners, especially beginners, report dramatic physical phenomena — shaking, vibrations, the body rocking violently, intense pressure in the head. Bapuji says clearly: this is not Atma-Swaroop. Real Atma-Swaroop is gentle. It is a softening, a deepening, a lightening — not a shaking. If you experience mild heaviness or slight pressure at first, that is simply because you are not used to holding attention at the bhrikuti. It passes. But dramatic physical phenomena are a sign that something else is happening — either strained posture or an agitated energy — and should not be confused with true attainment.

True Atma-Swaroop is quiet. True Atma-Swaroop is light. True Atma-Swaroop is sweet.

♦ Bapuji Insight:

"Atma-Swaroop ka pehla pramaan — param shanti, param anand, param sukh."

"The first proof of Atma-Swaroop — supreme peace, supreme bliss, supreme well-being."

♦ Bapuji Insight:

"Agar gyan tumhein bhay se mukt nahi karta — tum galat jagah par ho."

"If knowledge does not free you from fear — you are in the wrong place."

Chapter IX

The Journey Upward — From Earth to Paramdham

Once Atma-Swaroop is established, we begin the grand upward journey. This is where the full knowledge of the previous nine days comes alive as a living visualisation. Each layer we studied now becomes a landmark we pass through.

We begin on Earth. From our seat, we lift awareness upward. We rise beyond the ceiling, beyond the city, beyond the atmosphere, beyond the upper lokas, into the solar system.

We continue rising. We see our solar system grow small below us as we enter the Milky Way galaxy. We then rise past that galaxy into our universe. Past the universe into the Great Universe (G2). Past G2 into the higher Great Great Universes (G1 through G17). Past the Great Great Universes into our Multiverse.

We do not stop at the Multiverse. We keep rising. We enter the 1st Pedhi — the 101 Kala Brahmand. Above it, the 21st Pedhi. Above it, the 101st Pedhi — Behad Ka Brahmand. Above that, the 1001st Pedhi — Behad Ka Maha Brahmand. Above that, the 1101st Pedhi — Behad Ke Behad Ka Maha Brahmand. We continue: 1 lakh Pedhi, 1 crore Pedhi, 250 crore Pedhi — the realms Bapuji has revealed in Day 8.

Finally we arrive. We have reached Behad Ke Behad Ki Kala Ka Paramdham — the Supreme Abode of the Almighty Authority.

Here we behold what Bapuji describes as a doodh-jaisa safed Param Prakash ka mahasagar — an ocean of milk-white Param Prakash. Limitless. Soundless. Beyond time. This is where the Almighty Authority resides in his formless state. This is where every soul, including yours, originated.

Above this ocean, in his akari (semi-form), we behold our Behad Ke Dadaji — the Father of the Infinite, the Almighty Authority's manifest radiance. Bapuji uses the sacred phrase chitra mein vichitra roop — within the vast picture of the Paramdham, the marvellous form of the Almighty appears. It is not a human form. It is a form of living light, majestic, silent, utterly still.

Rest here. Breathe here. Let the vastness penetrate you. Do not try to describe it. Do not try to analyse it. Simply be in it.

The moment you arrive — even in visualisation — the connection with the Almighty Authority is automatic. You do not have to pray for attention. You do not have to recite anything. The vayumandal itself does the work. Just by placing your awareness in that atmosphere, you are connected.

This is the summit of the meditation. This is where the soul rests after its long climb home.

♦ Bapuji Insight:

"Dharti se Paramdham tak ka yatra — yahi asli yog hai."

"The journey from Earth to Paramdham — this is the true yoga."

♦ Bapuji Insight:

"Paramdham pahunchte hi connection automatic hota hai — wahi vayumandal kaam karta hai."

"On reaching Paramdham, the connection is automatic — the very atmosphere does the work."

Chapter X

Drawing the Param Prakash Down into the Multiverse

The upward journey is only half of the practice. The return journey — drawing the Param Prakash downward — is equally important. This is where meditation transforms from personal attainment into world service.

Having reached Behad Ke Behad Ki Kala Ka Paramdham and rested in its Param Prakash, we now invite that Prakash to flow downward. Not out of us — through us. We ourselves become the channel.

Visualise the ocean of milk-white Param Prakash at the top. Visualise it beginning to pour downward, like a waterfall of pure light. The light flows through every Pedhi layer we just crossed — the 1 crore Pedhi, the 1 lakh Pedhi, the 1101 Pedhi, the 1001 Pedhi, the 101 Pedhi, the 21 Pedhi, the 1 Pedhi. It enters our Multiverse.

Now watch it fill our Multiverse. Every Great Universe (G1 through G17) fills with this milk-white light. Every universe within them fills. Every galaxy fills. Every solar system fills. It reaches our own galaxy. It reaches our solar system. It reaches our Earth. It reaches this country, this city, this home, this room, this body.

Feel it entering through the bbrikuti. Feel it filling the head. Feel it flowing into the chest, into every organ, into every cell. Feel your physical body charging with Param Prakash. Feel your sukshma sharir charging. Feel your karan sharir charging. Feel your mahakaran sharir charging.

The second visualisation is wider. Do not stop at your body. See the Param Prakash continuing to flow out through your aura into the room, through the room into the house, through the house into the neighbourhood, through the neighbourhood into the city, through the city into the Earth, through the Earth into the whole Multiverse.

Bapuji calls this 10 Kala ki power ka avtaran — the descent of 10 Kala of power from the highest Paramdham into the entire Multiverse. Why 10 Kala specifically? Because this is the current phase of cosmic plan; in a later phase, greater Kala will descend. But for the practice right now, 10 Kala is the figure Bapuji has given us.

As the Param Prakash pours through the Multiverse, add the three transformation sankalps:

"Poora Multiverse Param Shanti se bhar raha hai." (The whole Multiverse is filling with Supreme Peace.)

"Poora Multiverse Param Sukh se bhar raha hai." (The whole Multiverse is filling with Supreme Well-being.)

"Poora Multiverse Param Anand se bhar raha hai." (The whole Multiverse is filling with Supreme Bliss.)

Hold these three sankalps together with the visualisation and the bhava. This is no longer a personal meditation. You have become a servant of the creation itself, a channel for the highest light of Paramdham to reach every layer of the Multiverse.

Practised daily, this meditation quietly changes the atmosphere around you. Family members comment that the home feels different. Visitors say they feel peaceful when they enter. This is not imagination. You are actually changing the vayumandal through which you move.

♦ Bapuji Insight:

"Paramdham ki power ko apne bhitari se poore Multiverse mein utaro — yahi asli seva hai."

"Let the power of Paramdham flow through you into the entire Multiverse — this is the true service."

♦ Bapuji Insight:

"Tum sirf meditate nahi kar rahi — tum vayumandal badal rahi ho."

"You are not merely meditating — you are changing the very atmosphere."

Chapter XI

Swa-Parivartan — The First Great Sankalp

Of all the sankalps we can hold in meditation, two stand above the rest. Bapuji teaches them as the twin pillars of the Behad soul's daily practice: swa-parivartan (self-transformation) and vishwa-parivartan (world transformation).

The first, swa-parivartan, is the personal intention that we carry throughout the day. It is not a one-time wish. It is a constant identity declaration. Whenever the mind is free — walking, washing, waiting — this sankalp returns to us:

"Mein Behad ki param param aatma boon. Mein Behad Ke Behad Ki Kala Ke Paramdham se aayi hui aatma boon. Mein Behad ke Paramatma ki sama-aatma boon. Mere andar Behad ke Paramatma ke sabhi gun hain."

In English: "I am a supreme soul of Behad. I am a soul who has come from the Supreme Abode of the Infinite. I am a soul equal to the Almighty Authority. All the qualities of the Almighty Authority live within me."

Read this slowly. Feel how different it is from the ordinary self-image we carry. We usually walk through life thinking: "I am this body, this name, this occupation, this bundle of anxieties." The swa-parivartan sankalp replaces that with: "I am Behad. I carry Paramdham within me. I am a luminous soul visiting Earth for a sacred task."

This is not arrogance. Arrogance comes from identifying with the ego. This is the opposite — it is identifying with the soul's true origin. Behad souls do not feel superior; they feel responsible. They know they have come here for a purpose. Every moment they identify with Paramdham, they become a cleaner channel for that Paramdham's light to reach Earth.

Bapuji gives us a beautiful sub-practice to support swa-parivartan. Bring to mind the qualities of the Almighty Authority — his complete purity, his bottomless peace, his infinite compassion, his radiant joy — and remember that you, as his sama-aatma (equal soul), carry these same qualities latently within yourself. Every day, one of these qualities can emerge more strongly.

You do not have to manufacture them. They are already in you. The practice simply calls them forward.

There is also a practical aspect. As swa-parivartan deepens, the small habitual reactions of the personality begin to drop away. Anger flashes less quickly. Jealousy loses its grip. The mind no longer chases approval. The identity you are rehearsing inwardly eventually becomes the identity you express outwardly. Bapuji reminds us: jitna tum apne aap ko Behad manoge, utna hi Behad ka vishwa tumhare andar prakat hoga — "The more you accept yourself as Behad, the more the Behad universe will manifest itself within you."

This is self-transformation. Not a project of fixing the old self. A remembering of the Behad self that was there all along.

♦ Bapuji Insight:

"Mein Behad ki aatma hoon — mein Paramatma ki sama-aatma hoon — mere andar unke sabhi gun hain."

"I am a soul of Behad — I am equal to the Almighty Authority — all his qualities live within me."

Chapter XII

Vishwa-Parivartan — The Second Great Sankalp

The second great sankalp is vishwa-parivartan — world transformation.

Swa-parivartan transforms the individual soul. Vishwa-parivartan transforms the world. Together they are one movement, because the moment a soul begins transforming inwardly, the world around it also begins to transform outwardly.

The practice is straightforward. Having already established Atma-Swaroop and completed the upward journey to Paramdham, we now hold this sankalp:

"I am the soul, established in my formless nirakari state in Behad Ke Behad Ki Kala Ka Paramdham. From here, through me, the Param Prakash of the Almighty Authority is descending into the entire Multiverse. The power of 10 Kala is flowing through me into every layer of creation. The entire Multiverse is filling with Param Shanti, Param Sukh, and Param Anand."

Hold this visualisation with sankalp, visualisation, and bhava — all three pillars together. See the Param Prakash as a flow. Feel the flow passing through you. Feel the Multiverse filling. Let the heart open to include all beings.

Bapuji tells us this is not poetry. It is actual energetic work. Every sincere practitioner of this sankalp is contributing real vibration to the Multiverse. Thoughts are not private; they spread through the vayumandal. A thought held with conviction in one location creates ripples that travel across the world. The sincere swa-parivartan of a few awakened Behad souls can tilt the collective vibration of the whole Earth.

This is especially important in our current age. Bapuji speaks often of how heavy the Earth's vayumandal has become — filled with anxiety, aggression, fear. Most ordinary thoughts reinforce that heaviness. But every soul who holds the intention/Sankalp of vishwa-parivartan in meditation is adding light to the atmosphere — light that balances, purifies, and slowly turns the tide.

There is a beautiful gentleness to this practice. It does not require us to argue with anyone. It does not require us to convince anyone. It does not require us to protest anything. We simply sit, we connect to Paramdham, and we let the light flow through us into the Multiverse. The work is silent. The work is invisible. But the work is real.

Bapuji mentions that one should never waste effort on intermediate deities or lesser authorities when the supreme source is directly available. Go straight to the Almighty. Chit mein vichitra roop ko yaad karo ("Remember the marvellous form within the picture") — and you will become charitravan (of noble character) automatically. Bypass the intermediaries. Go home.

Swa-parivartan and vishwa-parivartan, practised together daily, are the entire Behad yoga in two sentences. Everything else is commentary.

♦ Bapuji Insight:

"Swa-parivartan se hi vishwa-parivartan hoga — dono ek hi baat hai."

"Self-transformation is the only path to world-transformation — the two are one."

♦ Bapuji Insight:

"Tum apne andar chupchap kaam karo — Multiverse bhi badalega."

"Work silently within yourself — the Multiverse too will change."

Chapter XIII

Farishta-Swaroop and Travel Through Inner Dimensions

During the journey meditation, as we rise through the layers of creation, Bapuji introduces a beautiful intermediate state: Farishta-Swaroop — becoming an angelic light body.

The word farishta has a lovely definition in Bapuji's teaching: farishta = jinka farsh walon se koi naata nahi — "one who no longer has connection with those who walk the ground." A farishta is a being who has stepped beyond Earth-identity, who no longer feels bound to the physical plane, who moves lightly through dimensions.

As we begin to rise in meditation, the physical body remains seated below. But our awareness, our sankalp, takes a subtle luminous form — this is Farishta-Swaroop. It is not the gross body. It is not a ghost. It is a body of light — a vehicle shaped of Param Prakash, capable of travelling through the subtle regions of creation.

Bapuji tells us that the dimensions are not empty spaces between bodies. They are connected by what he calls rock passages — what modern physics has theorised as wormholes. In Behad cosmology, these rock passages are real. They are the arteries by which light, power, and divine emissaries travel between dimensions. When we visualise our ascent through the Pedhis, we are not merely imagining — we are, at some level, travelling through these very passages in our Farishta-Swaroop.

At the higher levels — once we are beyond the Multiverse, once we have entered the Pedhi Brahmands — the five elements (earth, water, fire, air, space) are entirely absent. Only Param Tatva (supreme element) and Param Prakash exist. Our Farishta-Swaroop body becomes lighter and lighter as we rise. By the time we reach the highest Pedhis, it is almost pure light itself.

This is why ordinary bodies cannot travel these realms; only Farishta-Swaroop can. And this is why the journey meditation is so powerful — we are practising, in visualisation, the very journey our soul will take when it finally leaves this body for its true home.

The practical instruction is simple. When you sit to meditate, before beginning the upward ascent, consciously invoke Farishta-Swaroop: "I am now a light body. I am farishta — one with no ties to the ground. I am free to travel upward." Feel the body soften. Feel the weight release. Now begin the ascent.

Many practitioners report that this single shift — from "I am sitting here trying to visualise" to "I have become a light body and am now travelling" — transforms the entire quality of the meditation. The journey becomes vivid. The light becomes tangible. The destination becomes real.

♦ Bapuji Insight:

"Farishta matlab — jinka farsh walon se koi naata nahi."

"Farishta means — one who no longer has any tie with those of the ground."

♦ Bapuji Insight:

"Light body se hi tum ooper ke aayaam tak pahunch sakte ho."

"Only in a light body can you reach the higher dimensions."

Chapter XIV

Jeevan Mukti* — Liberation in This Very Life

We come now to the promise at the heart of this course. The very reason Bapuji and Sakshi Didi have lovingly guided us through these ten days.

Jeevan Mukti. Liberation while still living.

Our scriptures speak of moksha — liberation from the cycle of birth and death. Traditionally, this was seen as something attained after death — the soul, upon leaving the body, finally returns to the supreme. But Behad Gyan teaches something higher. It teaches that moksha is available right now, in this life, in this body. That you do not have to wait. That the very knowledge you have just received, held with shraddha and expressed in daily practice, is itself the liberation.

Bapuji gives us scriptural precedent. King Parikshit attained liberation by listening to the Srimad Bhagavat for seven days — not after his death but during those seven days. Dhundhukari, the infamous soul who caused endless trouble, was elevated to moksha through seven days of Bhagavat gyan given by Gokarna. Seven days. A single week of sincere, devoted listening — and a permanently stuck soul was freed.

Our 10-day Behad course is longer, deeper, and more comprehensive than those ancient seven-day readings. If Parikshit and Dhundhukari could attain moksha through seven days of ancient gyan, what might you attain through ten days of Behad ka Param Gyan — gyan that extends even beyond the Vedas, that reveals the infinite Pedhis, that directly names the Almighty Authority, that gives you the very mantra of Paramdham?

Bapuji's instruction to every one of us is clear: "Believe that you are now jeevan mukt. Believe it fully. Let this belief reorganise your entire self-image." This belief is not self-deception. It is the completion of the teaching. Without this belief, you will go on thinking of yourself as a small soul, struggling, slowly progressing. With this belief, you stand in your true state from this day onward.

What does jeevan mukti feel like? Bapuji describes it simply. The ordinary fears of life loosen their hold — fear of death, fear of loss, fear of failure, fear of disapproval. The mind experiences constant param shanti. Life continues to happen — bills must be paid, work must be done, difficulties will still arise — but from behind all of it, a steady peace flows. Nothing shakes you from your core. This is what it means to be mukt, free, while still very much alive.

This does not happen overnight. But it happens surely. Some days the old small-self will try to return. The sankalp wavers. Anxieties surface. This is normal. Each time, return to the practice. Return to Atma-Swaroop. Return to the Param Shanti mantra. Return to the visualisation of the journey to Paramdham. Each return strengthens the jeevan mukt state.

Sakshi Didi shares her own witness: "Since receiving Behad Ka Gyan, jeevan mukt avastha ban gayi hai. Jeete-ji param shanti ka anubhav hua hai." ("Since I received this knowledge, a state of jeevan mukt has been established in me. While still alive, I have directly experienced param shanti.") If a teacher can vouch for it from her own experience, and if the scriptures testify to the possibility, then the question is not whether jeevan mukti is real — the question is only whether you will accept it as already yours.

Today, you are jeevan mukt. Not because you have earned it. But because the gyan has reached you, and you have not turned away.

♦ Bapuji Insight:

"Jeete-ji jeevan mukt avastha ka prapti — yahi Behad Gyan ka phal hai."

"Attaining the jeevan mukt state while still alive — this is the fruit of Behad Gyan."

♦ Bapuji Insight:

"Tum jeevan mukt ho — is baat pe nishchay karo — yahi pratham abhyas hai."

"You are jeevan mukt — become certain of this — this itself is the first practice."

Chapter XV

The Farewell — Carrying the Light Forward

Series Conclusion

So we come to the close of the ten-day course.

Ten days ago, we were seekers at the edge of a vast mystery. We knew there was something more than this body, this mind, this fleeting life. We knew the scriptures pointed to something immense. But we did not yet have a clear map.

Today, we have the map. And more than the map, we have the keys — Atma-Swaroop, the Param Shanti mantra, the three pillars of yoga, the ascent to Paramdham, the descent of Param Prakash, the two great sankalps of swa-parivartan and vishwa-parivartan. These keys open every door on the path home.

But a course is not the end. It is a beginning.

Sakshi Didi's final guidance, given with a mother's tenderness, is this: do not stop here. Do not let the pages of this book close forever today. Return to them. Re-read them. Listen to the original videos on Bapuji's YouTube channel — the complete 10-day course is compiled there as a playlist. Repeat the entire course. Then repeat it again. Each time you pass through, you will find depths that were invisible before. Gyan is a living thing; it reveals itself in layers, and the layers are infinite.

Join the daily live meditation session at 5:30—6:30 AM led by Sakshi Didi on the YouTube channel. There, in the company of hundreds of other Behad souls practising together, the meditation becomes stronger than it can ever be alone. Group energy multiplies individual energy. And the daily rhythm creates the consistency that the mind needs to transform.

Connect yourself to the atma-jaagruti abhiyan (the soul-awakening mission). You are not walking this path alone. There is a global family of Behad souls supporting one another. Every soul transformed is a candle added to the collective light.

Share this knowledge. Not by preaching. Not by arguing. Simply by living it — your peace, your stillness, your radiance will speak more loudly than any words. People who need this gyan will be drawn to you by the change in your vayumandal. When they ask, point them gently to Bapuji's teachings. The rest will unfold on its own.

Finally, remember: this is just the outline. Bapuji's full body of work contains over four thousand videos, deep discourses that go far beyond what this 10-day introduction could cover. This course is the sketch. The ocean is waiting.

Sakshi Didi's closing words: "Aap sabhi dev aatmaon ka, divya aatmaon ka, koti-koti dhanyavaad. Maa-Bapuji ko koti-koti naman. Aapka din shubh rabe, prakash se bhari rabe, param shanti se bhari rabe."

In English: "To all of you divine souls, infinite thanks. To Maa and Bapuji, infinite salutations. May your day be auspicious, filled with light, filled with Supreme Peace."

And so we end as we began — with one word.

Param Shanti.

Param Shanti.

Param Shanti.

Behad Ke Behad Ki Param Param Maha Shanti Hai.

♦ Bapuji Insight:

"Aaj se tum jeevan mukt ho — is gyan ko jiyo — dusron mein pahunchao."

"From today you are jeevan mukt — live this knowledge — let it reach others."

♦ Bapuji Insight:

"Param Shanti ka ek shabd — aur Paramdham tumhare ghar aata hai."

"A single word of Param Shanti — and Paramdham arrives at your home."

What We Have Understood on Day 10

Today, the final day of our journey, we transitioned from studying gyan to practising gyan. We learned that anubhuti (direct realisation) is the actual fruit of this path, and that the four thousand videos of Bapuji's teaching are only the outline — the ocean awaits the one who truly dives in.

We received the most important technical insight of this entire course: the mind cannot be controlled, it can only be placed. Controlling the mind is nearly impossible; placing the mind in high gyan causes all restlessness to subside on its own. This is why Buddhi Yoga — the yoga of knowing intellect — is declared supreme in the Bhagavad Gita.

We learned the preparation: releasing all tension, accepting past karma, and settling into the knowledge that "whatever happened was good, whatever is happening is good, whatever will happen will also be good." Without this release, deep meditation is impossible.

We received the Param Shanti Mantra — "Behad Ke Behad Ki Param Param Maha Shanti Hai" — and learned that this word is not from our Multiverse but originates in Behad Ke Behad Ki Kala Ke Paramdham itself. When chanted with shraddha, it automatically connects the soul to the supreme realm and brings Param Prakash into the body.

We studied the three pillars of all true yoga: Sankalp (pure conviction), Visualisation (inner picture), and Bhava (felt energy). All three must move together; any meditation missing one of them remains incomplete.

We practised Atma-Swaroop — the core practice of becoming the soul, resting attention at the bhrikuti, and radiating Param Prakash through the body. We learned the signs of its attainment: supreme peace, supreme bliss, inner stability, healing, and freedom from fear.

We made the grand ascent — from Earth, through the solar system, galaxy, universe, G1—G17, Multiverse, 1st Pedhi, 21st Pedhi, 101st Pedhi, 1001st Pedhi, 1101st Pedhi, and beyond, all the way to Behad Ke Behad Ki Kala Ka Paramdham, where we beheld Behad Ke Dadaji in his akari (semi-form) within the ocean of milk-white Param Prakash.

We then made the descent — letting the Param Prakash flow back down through every layer of creation and into our own body, charging the sthul, sukshma, karan, and mahakaran shariras. We expanded the flow outward into the entire Multiverse with three sankalps: filling it with Param Shanti, Param Sukh, and Param Anand.

We embraced the two great daily sankalps: swa-parivartan (identifying as a soul of Behad, equal to the Almighty) and vishwa-parivartan (channelling the Paramdham's Param Prakash into the whole Multiverse). Together these are the complete Behad yoga.

We met Farishta-Swaroop — the light body in which inter-dimensional travel through the cosmic rock passages (wormholes) becomes possible.

Finally, we accepted the promise at the heart of this course: Jeevan Mukti. Just as Parikshit and Dhundhukari reached moksha through seven days of Bhagavat gyan, we too, through these ten days of Behad ka Param Gyan, are now jeevan mukt. The knowledge has reached us. The keys are in our hands. The path home is open.

This ends the 10-day course. But the practice is for a lifetime. Repeat these ten days. Join the daily live meditation. Share the knowledge. Carry the light. And remember always — Behad Ke Behad Ki Param Param Maha Shanti Hai.

"Knowledge is for the intellect — realisation is for the soul."

Chapter II — The Mind Cannot Be Controlled — It Must Be Placed

"Mann ko control nahi — mann ko kabin lagana hai."

"Do not try to control the mind — place the mind somewhere."

"Jitna mann gyan mein lagaoge, utna buddhi sansar se vairagya hoti jayegi."

"The more you place your mind in knowledge, the more your intellect detaches from the world."

Chapter III — Buddhi Yoga — The Supreme Practice

"Gyan yog sarvashreshth hai — buddhi yog se hi tum Paramatma tak pahunchoge."

"Gyan yoga is supreme — only through buddhi yoga will you reach the Almighty."

"Bhakti se phal milta hai — gyan se Paramatma mili hai."

"Devotion gives you reward — knowledge gives you the Almighty himself."

Chapter IV — Preparing the Mind — Releasing the Weight of Karma

"Jo hua acha hua, jo ho raha hai acha ho raha hai, jo hoga bhi acha hoga."

"What has happened was good, what is happening is good, and what will happen will also be good."

"Chinta chita samaan hai — chinta jalati hai, swikar chhudati hai."

"Worry is like a funeral pyre — worry burns you, acceptance frees you."

Chapter V — The Param Shanti Mantra — A Word from Paramdham

"Param Shanti shabd is brahmand ka nabi hai — ye Behad Ke Behad Ki Kala Ka Paramdham se aaya hua shabd hai."

"The word Param Shanti does not belong to this Brahmand — it is a word that has come from the Supreme Abode of the Infinite."

"Shraddha se Param Shanti bolo — Param Prakash automatic utarta hai."

"Chant Param Shanti with faith — the Param Prakash descends automatically."

Chapter VI — The Three Pillars of True Yoga

"Sankalp, visualisation, bhava — ye teen miljoone se hi yog poori hota hai."

"Sankalp, visualisation, and bhava — only when all three unite is the yoga complete."

"Bhava ke bina visualization soona hai — bhava se hi pavitra shakti utarti hai."

"Without bhava, visualisation is hollow — it is bhava that causes the pure power to descend."

Chapter VII — Atma-Swaroop — Becoming the Soul

"Mein yeh shareer nahi — mein mann nahi — mein buddhi nahi — mein aatma hoon."

"I am not this body — I am not the mind — I am not the intellect — I am the soul."

"Aatma rupi diye ko jagana hi Atma-Swaroop hai."

"Kindling the lamp of the soul is what Atma-Swaroop truly means."

Chapter VIII — The Signs of Attaining Atma-Swaroop

"Atma-Swaroop ka pehla pramaan — param shanti, param anand, param sukh."

"The first proof of Atma-Swaroop — supreme peace, supreme bliss, supreme well-being."

"Agar gyan tumhein bhay se mukt nahi karta — tum galat jagah par ho."

"If knowledge does not free you from fear — you are in the wrong place."

Chapter IX — The Journey Upward — From Earth to Paramdham

"Dharti se Paramdham tak ka yatra — yahi asli yog hai."

"The journey from Earth to Paramdham — this is the true yoga."

"Paramdham pahunchte hi connection automatic hota hai — wahi vayumandal kaam karta hai."

"On reaching Paramdham, the connection is automatic — the very atmosphere does the work."

Chapter X — Drawing the Param Prakash Down into the Multiverse

"Paramdham ki power ko apne bhitari se poore Multiverse mein utaro — yahi asli seva hai."

"Let the power of Paramdham flow through you into the entire Multiverse — this is the true service."

"Tum sirf meditate nahi kar rahi — tum vayumandal badal rahi ho."

"You are not merely meditating — you are changing the very atmosphere."

Chapter XI — Swa-Parivartan — The First Great Sankalp

"Mein Behad ki aatma hoon — mein Paramatma ki sama-aatma hoon — mere andar unke sabhi gun hain."

"I am a soul of Behad — I am equal to the Almighty Authority — all his qualities live within me."

Chapter XII — Vishwa-Parivartan — The Second Great Sankalp

"Swa-parivartan se hi vishwa-parivartan hoga — dono ek hi baat hai."

"Self-transformation is the only path to world-transformation — the two are one."

"Tum apne andar chupchap kaam karo — Multiverse bhi badalega."

"Work silently within yourself — the Multiverse too will change."

Chapter XIII — Farishta-Swaroop and Travel Through Inner Dimensions

"Farishta matlab — jinka farsh walon se koi naata nahi."

"Farishta means — one who no longer has any tie with those of the ground."

"Light body se hi tum ooper ke aayaam tak pahunch sakte ho."

"Only in a light body can you reach the higher dimensions."

Chapter XIV — Jeevan Mukti — Liberation in This Very Life

"Jeete-ji jeevan mukt avastha ka prapti — yahi Behad Gyan ka phal hai."

"Attaining the jeevan mukt state while still alive — this is the fruit of Behad Gyan."

"Tum jeevan mukt ho — is baat pe nishchay karo — yahi pratham abhyas hai."

"You are jeevan mukt — become certain of this — this itself is the first practice."

Chapter XV — The Farewell — Carrying the Light Forward

"Aaj se tum jeevan mukt ho — is gyan ko jiyo — dusron mein pahunchao."

"From today you are jeevan mukt — live this knowledge — let it reach others."

"Param Shanti ka ek shabd — aur Paramdham tumhare ghar aata hai."

"A single word of Param Shanti — and Paramdham arrives at your home."

Glossary

The following terms appear throughout this book. They are preserved in their original Sanskrit / Hindi forms, as each carries a spiritual meaning that is difficult to fully translate.

Atma-Swaroop (आत्म-स्वरूप)

The soul-form. The conscious practice of identifying oneself as the soul rather than the body, mind, or intellect. The foundation of all Behad yoga.

Param Shanti (परम शांति)

Supreme Peace. Also the mantra given by Bapuji: "Behad Ke Behad Ki Param Param Maba Shanti Hai". This phrase originates from Behad Ke Behad Ki Kala Ke Paramdham, not from this Multiverse.

Param Prakash (परम प्रकाश)

Supreme Divine Light. The original luminous substance of creation, found in purest form at the Paramdham. It flows through Behad yoga practitioners into the body and out into the Multiverse.

Sankalp (संकल्प)

A pure spiritual intention or divine resolve, held with complete faith. One of the three pillars of true yoga.

Visualisation (विजुलाइज़ेशन)

The inner picture formed by the intellect during meditation. The second pillar of true yoga.

Bhava (भाव)

Felt energy — the experiential quality accompanying a sankalp or visualisation. The third and often-neglected pillar of true yoga.

Buddhi Yoga (बुद्धि योग)

The yoga of the awakened, knowing intellect. Declared supreme by Bhagwan Krishna in the Bhagavad Gita. The path of jnana rather than blind devotion or mere action.

Swa-Parivartan (स्व-परिवर्तन)

Self-transformation. The daily sankalp of identifying as a soul of Behad, equal to the Almighty Authority, carrying within oneself all his divine qualities.

Vishwa-Parivartan (विश्व-परिवर्तन)

World transformation. The daily sankalp of channelling Param Prakash from Paramdham into the entire Multiverse through oneself.

Jeevan Mukti (जीवन मुक्ति)

Liberation while still living. The state of being free from karmic bondage and the fear of death while still in the body. The promised fruit of the 10-day course.

Farishta-Swaroop (फ़रिश्ता-स्वरूप)

The light-body form. Literally: "one who has no tie to the ground." The subtle luminous vehicle in which consciousness travels through higher dimensions during meditation.

Rock Passages / Wormholes

Inter-dimensional channels through which light, power, and divine emissaries travel between Pedhis and Brahmands. Referred to in modern physics as wormholes.

Bhrikuti (भृकुटी)

The space between the eyebrows where the tilak is traditionally applied. The seat of the soul and the focal point for Atma-Swaroop practice.

Shraddha (श्रद्धा)

Faith held with the full conviction of the heart and intellect together. Without shraddha, sankalp is ineffective.

Nirakari (निराकारी)

Formless. The state in which the Almighty Authority originally resides in Behad Ki Kala Ka Paramdham.

Akari (आकारी)

Semi-form. A luminous, subtly shaped manifestation. Behad Ke Dadaji in his chitra mein vichitra roop is in akari state.

Sthul Sharir (स्थूल शरीर)

The physical body — the coarsest of the four bodies.

Sukshma Sharir (सूक्ष्म शरीर)

The subtle body — made of subtle elements, holds emotions and mental impressions.

Karan Sharir (कारण शरीर)

The causal body — the record-keeping layer where karmic impressions are stored.

Mahakaran Sharir (महाकारण शरीर)

The supra-causal body — the highest of the four bodies, closest to pure soul nature.

Behad Ke Dadaji

A tender, affectionate name for the Almighty Authority — "the Grandfather of the Infinite" — used especially in meditation when beholding his akari form.

Chitra Mein Vichitra Roop

The marvellous form within the picture — a sacred phrase used to describe the luminous akari form of the Almighty Authority seen within the visualisation of Paramdham.

Vayumandal (वायुमंडल)

Atmosphere. Not just physical atmosphere but the energetic, vibrational atmosphere that surrounds a person, a home, a country, a Brahmand. Thoughts and practices shape the vayumandal.

Ashtavakra Gita

An ancient Sanskrit scripture in which the sage Ashtavakra repeatedly asks King Janak "tum kaun ho?" ("Who are you?") — guiding him to Atma-Swaroop through self-inquiry.

Avarans (आवरण)

Karmic coverings on the soul that obscure its original luminosity. Meditation and Behad yoga gradually dissolve these coverings.

Jigyasa (जिज्ञासा)

Burning spiritual curiosity — the inner force that drives a seeker to go deeper, to question, to search. Without jigyaasa, knowledge remains ornamental.

Jeevan Mukti (जीवन मुक्ति)

One who is liberated while still living. A soul who has attained jeevan mukti.
