ABOUT BAPUJI

Bapuji (full name: Bapuji Dashrathbhai Patel, also lovingly called "Dadaji" by the younger generation) was born in 1956 in the small village of Akhaj in the Mehsana district of Gujarat. However, he spent his childhood in another village named Ambasan, also located in the Mehsana district.

In the early part of his life, he was a highly successful lawyer. Later, he devoted his life to realising the supreme spiritual truth and bringing this divine knowledge forward for the welfare of humanity. Today, this supreme knowledge serves as a guiding light for true seekers to realise their ultimate destiny. It is a blessing of the highest divinity that the present time is witnessing the rise of this supreme spiritual knowledge, guiding souls on Earth to return to their original source.

Despite being raised in a very poor family and facing challenging circumstances, Bapuji had a deep desire to transform this sorrowful and suffering world into a better place. At the young age of six, he questioned God repeatedly, asking why God remained silent about the suffering of humanity. This intense longing to end human suffering eventually led him to attain the highest level of spirituality later in life.

Even as a child, Bapuji would spend hours alone in the fields, often neglecting his own comfort. Due to poverty, he would walk barefoot without shoes or sandals, frequently getting pricked by thorns. Many times, he would stay late in the fields and, on his way back home, encounter subtle world entities. These experiences sparked his interest in communicating with subtle world souls.

Bapuji was courageous from a young age, which helped him overcome many obstacles. Alongside his studies in chartered accountancy (CA), he gave tuition classes to support himself financially. Later, he completed his Bachelor of Law (LLB) degree and became a well-known lawyer in Ahmedabad.

In 1997, he established a spiritual institution called "Vishwa Parivartak Ishwariya Vidhyalay" in Chenpur, Ahmedabad, with the mission of transforming this mortal world, filled with suffering and disorder, into an eternal divine world of immortality. Smt. Sushma Tandon, lovingly known as "Maa," worked alongside Bapuji in this grand divine mission.

To accomplish this mission, Bapuji worked tirelessly, dedicating all his resources to this divine purpose. During that time, he would deliver continuous spiritual discourses for up to 18 hours without rest. In these discourses, he explained the highest dimensions of divine knowledge, which he realised through deep meditation and divine vision in a state of superconsciousness. This knowledge goes beyond the imagination of the ordinary human mind.

Bapuji's teachings cover a vast range of topics, including the types of celestial creators across different dimensions, the creation of our solar system, galaxy, and universe, and most importantly, the transcendental knowledge of the multiverse and realities beyond it. His knowledge is supremely profound and is intended for highly evolved seekers, referred to as "behad souls." According to Bapuji, these "behad souls" will play a key role in transforming this mortal world into an eternal divine realm.

At present, Bapuji remains deeply engaged in intense meditation and samadhi for long hours. He does not meet anyone, as he is continuously immersed in his transcendental mission in a superconscious state.

PREFACE

Gyan Daan Maha Daan

*(Sharing Knowledge is the highest charity — share to the maximum extent with all.) —
Bapuji Dashrathbhai Patel*

This book carries a very special kind of knowledge. It does not come from textbooks. It comes from the depths of samadhi (the deepest state of meditation) and from a direct connection with the Supreme Source.

It is the continuation of a sacred journey. On Day 1, we explored the question "Who Am I?" On Day 2, we studied karma (the law of action and result) and what happens to the soul after death. Now, on Day 3, we take a great step forward.

Today, we look at the vast structure of cosmic time. What is the kaal chakra — the cycle of time? What happens when one age ends? And what lies above this earth — in the higher dimensions our scriptures have described?

Without understanding cosmic time, we cannot feel the urgency of spiritual awakening. Without knowing the higher realms, we cannot see what awaits the soul that chooses to rise.

This knowledge has been revealed by Bapuji through years of divine meditation. It is offered with a simple prayer: may it awaken something deep and true inside you.

ABOUT THIS SERIES

This book is part of a 10-day spiritual journey designed to expand human consciousness beyond limits. Each day reveals deeper layers of truth, guiding the reader from self-awareness to universal understanding.

Based on the Divine Knowledge of

Bapuji Dashrathbhai Patel

This book is a structured presentation of spiritual knowledge shared through discourses.

HOW TO READ THIS BOOK

This is not a book to rush through. It is a doorway. Enter it slowly, with awareness. Many ideas here come from the realm of behad (the infinite). They may feel new. That is natural. Let your mind expand.

Read slowly. Pause after each chapter. Close the book and sit quietly for a few minutes. Let the knowledge sink in. You may find that understanding comes not from the thinking mind but from somewhere deeper — a quiet knowing that rises from within.

If something feels difficult, do not force it. Come back to it later. Spiritual knowledge unfolds at the right time, when the soul is ready.

If you have not yet read Day 1 (Who Am I?) and Day 2 (Karma & Rebirth), begin there. Each day builds on the one before it.

Approach this book with an open heart. This knowledge is not meant to create debate. It is meant to awaken memory — the memory of who you truly are, where you come from, and where your soul is meant to return.

INTRODUCTION

Why the Time Cycle Matters for Your Soul

On Day 1, we discovered the atma (the soul) — the eternal point of light beyond body and mind. On Day 2, we explored the Law of Karma and what happens after death. Now, on Day 3, we look at the grand stage on which all creation unfolds.

Today we explore two subjects. First: the kaal chakra (the wheel of time) and the types of cosmic dissolution called pralaya. These mark the rhythm of creation and destruction across unimaginable spans of time. Second: the fourteen lokas (realms of existence) that stretch from the earth to the abode of the Creator.

Why does this matter? Because your soul is not a passive observer. It is travelling through these dimensions and through this time cycle. Understanding where you stand is the first step towards choosing a higher path.

That path leads not merely to heaven, but beyond heaven. Beyond all created realms. To the ultimate liberation: moksha.

Let us begin.

Chapter I

The Meaning of Gati — Motion and Movement

Before we understand time, we must understand gati — motion, movement, speed. Nothing in the universe exists without motion. From subatomic particles to galaxies, everything moves. Without motion, there is no life and no creation.

Gati is not limited to the physical world. There is bridaya gati (the heartbeat), rakta gati (blood flow), mana gati (speed of the mind), buddhi gati (pace of the intellect), and param gati — the supreme trajectory of the soul itself.

Everything changes. Everything transforms. Childhood gives way to youth. Youth to maturity. Maturity to old age. Then comes death. Each phase has its own rhythm.

Good actions (shubb karma) carry the soul upward, towards swarga (heaven). Harmful actions (paap karma) pull it downward, towards narak (hell). Everything is governed by the force of one's actions.

The universe, from the atom to the highest heaven, is alive with motion. The soul's own motion through time and space is what we must now explore.

✦ Bapuji Insight:

"Gati hi jeevan ka aadhar hai. Jahan gati hai, wahan srishti hai."

"Motion is the foundation of life. Where there is motion, there is creation."

Chapter II

Understanding Kaal — Time, Speed, and Power

The word kaal carries three meanings: time (samay), speed (gati), and power (shakti). To understand the kaal chakra (wheel of time) is to understand all three together.

Here we focus on time — the vast spans through which this universe passes. But remember: time is not separate from motion, and motion is not separate from power. As the ages move forward, these all change together.

Why must we understand cosmic time? Because until we know the full scale of the time cycle, we cannot know where we currently stand. And until we know where we stand, we cannot make wise choices about the direction of our soul's journey.

The kaal chakra is the great wheel on which all creation turns. Every soul is bound within it. Birth and death. Creation and destruction. Rise and fall. All repeat in vast rhythmic cycles. The soul that understands this wheel can see beyond the present moment and work towards freedom from this matrix of cycle of time.

Every soul is bound within the kaal chakra. Birth and death, creation and destruction — all repeat in vast cycles. The atma (soul) that transcends this wheel entirely reaches moksha (liberation). Until then, it remains subject to the rhythm of time.

♦ Bapuji Insight:

"Kaal chakra se pare jaana hi mukti hai. Jab tak atma is chakra mein bandhi hai, tab tak mukti nahi."

"Going beyond the time cycle is liberation. As long as the soul is bound in this wheel, there is no freedom."

Chapter III

The Four Ages — Chaturyuga

The basic unit of cosmic time is the chaturyuga — the cycle of four ages:

Satyuga (Age of Truth) — 1,728,000 years.

Treta Yuga (Silver Age) — 1,296,000 years.

Dwapara Yuga (Copper Age) — 864,000 years.

Kaliyuga (Age of Darkness) — 432,000 years.

One complete chaturyuga totals 4,320,000 human years. We currently live in Kaliyuga. Only about 5,000 of its 432,000 years have passed in this kaliyuga. Roughly 427,000 years still remain to go in this kaliyuga.

Look at the world today — the suffering, division, hatred between communities, and declining moral values. If this is the state after merely 5,000 years, imagine what the next hundreds of thousands of years might bring.

Some claim the entire world cycle is only 5,000 years old. This contradicts both scripture and physical evidence. Carbon dating, dinosaur fossils, and ancient monuments all point to a history far older. Even Lord Rama's reign in Treta Yuga is described as lasting thousands of years.

The purpose is not to memorise these numbers. It is to break the mental cage that limits our idea of time. One chaturyuga spans over four million years. The soul's journey is immensely vast.

◆ Bapuji Insight:

"Samay ko seemit mat samjhiye. Yeh vishaal hai, akalpaniya hai."

"Do not limit your understanding of time. It is vast. It is beyond imagination."

Chapter IV

Nitya Pralaya — The Everyday Dissolution

The word pralaya means dissolution or ending. It refers to the periodic endings that occur at every level of creation.

The first type is nitya pralaya — the daily dissolution. It happens continuously. Whenever a body is born and later dies, that is nitya pralaya. Every being that takes birth will one day meet its end. The body forms, lives its allotted time, then dissolves back into its elements.

This is nitya — constant and unceasing events happening on its own. It has been happening since the beginning of creation. It will continue until the very end of creation.

For the jivatma (individual soul), this is the wheel of birth and death — the janma-marana chakra. The soul carries its sanskaras (deep impressions from past lives) and enters a new form according to its karma. This personal dissolution is only the beginning of a much larger pattern.

♦ Bapuji Insight:

"Janm aur mrityu ka chakra nitya hai. Yeh rukta nahi."

"The cycle of birth and death is constant. It never stops."

Chapter V

Ardha Pralaya — The Half Dissolution

When one complete chaturyuga passes (4,320,000 years), ardha pralaya (the half dissolution) occurs. The earth is engulfed by water. All souls dominated by darkness (tamo pradhaan) are washed away. A fresh cycle of four ages begins.

The memory of great floods is preserved in nearly every ancient civilisation. This is not merely a story. The account of Manu (the first human progenitor) surviving a great flood appears in Indian scripture. Similar flood stories exist in the Abrahamic traditions (Noah), in ancient Sumer, and among indigenous peoples across the world. All these events point to a recurring cosmic event.

Ardha pralaya is selective. It removes the darkest portions of creation. Souls of greater light are preserved or elevated. This is the principle of cosmic purification — the universe periodically cleanses itself and makes way for a new beginning.

◆ Bapuji Insight:

"Jab ek Chaturyug beetata hai, tab Ardh Pralay hota hai. Tamo pradhan duniya samaapt ho jaati hai."

"When one chaturyuga passes, ardha pralaya occurs. The darkness-dominated world comes to an end."

Chapter VI

Manvantara Pralaya — The End of a Civilisation

When seventy-one chaturyugas pass, a greater dissolution occurs: manvantara pralaya. To understand this, we must know Manu. According to scripture, Brahma (the Creator) first created Manu and Shatrupa as the parents of the human race. The time during which one Manu presides — seventy-one chaturyugas — is one manvantara.

When one manvantara ends, all human beings perish. The Markandeya Purana tells us that with each change of Manu, the Indra (king of the heavens), the rishis (sages), and the devatas (deities) all change too. Nothing within the created universe is permanent.

Think about what this means. The gods we worship, the sages we revere, the heavenly beings who oversee our world — all of them have a limited term. They too are subject to the rhythm of time.

◆ Bapuji Insight:

"Manu ke saath sab badalte hain — Indra, rishi, devta, pitragan. Sabka samay poori hota hai."

"With each Manu, everything changes — Indra, the sages, the deities, the ancestors. Everyone's time comes to an end."

Chapter VII

Kalpa Pralaya — One Day of Brahma Ends

When 1,000 chaturyugas pass — fourteen Manus having come and gone — one day of Brahma is complete, then kalpa pralaya takes place.

Consider the scale. One day of Brahma equals 1,000 chaturyugas. During that single day, fourteen Manus rise and fall. Each presides over seventy-one cycles of four ages. Entire civilisations are born, flourish, and perish — all within one day for the Creator.

During kalpa pralaya, Vishnu (the Sustainer) generates the heat of twelve suns. Shiva (the Transformer) takes the form of Rudra and rains down fire. The three lower worlds — Bhu-loka (earth), Bhuvar-loka (the astral realm), and Swarga-loka (heaven) — are reduced to ash.

Even the devatas living in heaven are destroyed. Their lifespan equals one day of Brahma. Heaven itself is temporary. Swarga is not the final destination. There are higher, more enduring realms.

♦ Bapuji Insight:

"Swarg lok bhi shashwat nahi hai. Isse upar uthiye."

"Even heaven is not eternal. Rise above it."

Chapter VIII

Mahakalpa Pralaya — The End of the Universe

Brahma's life spans 100 divine years, divided into two halves called parardha (50 divine years of Brahma). One year of Brahma is equivalent to approximately 3.11 trillion human years on earth. The first parardha has already passed. We are in the second — its first day, seventh manvantara, twenty-eighth yugantara (i.e. completion of a chaturyug).

One second of Brahma's time equals about 100,000 human years. About 1.98 billion human years have already been passed in the second parardha alone.

When Brahma's full 100 years end, mahakalpa pralaya occurs. This is not merely the destruction of three worlds. This is the ending of all fourteen lokas (realms) — every dimension, every world within the entire brahmada (universe).

Shiva generates kaal agni (the fire of time) and absorbs the entire universe back into himself. Every loka, every being, every particle of creation is dissolved. The universe ceases to exist.

Important: In behad ka gyan (knowledge of the infinite), brahmada means one solar system — not the entire observable universe. Each solar system is one brahmada with its own Brahma and fourteen lokas. Countless such brahmandas exist within a single galaxy.

◆ Bapuji Insight:

"Mabashiv ka ek pal — Brahma ke sau varsh. Yahi samay ka antar hai."

"One moment of Mabashiva equals one hundred years of Brahma. Such is the difference in time."

Chapter IX

Mahakaal Pralaya — The Great Cosmic Dissolution

Beyond a single universe lies mahakaal pralaya — destroying countless brahmandas at once. Mahashiva (the cosmic form of Shiva governing an entire galaxy) generates the fire of dissolution. In one pal (moment) of Param Mahashiva, 100 years of Shiva are completed. All solar systems within a galaxy are absorbed.

The complete hierarchy of dissolution:

Nitya pralaya — daily dissolution. Birth and death of individual beings.

Ardha pralaya — end of each chaturyuga. Darkest souls washed away.

Manvantara pralaya — after 71 chaturyugas. One Manu's civilisation ends.

Kalpa pralaya — end of Brahma's day. Three lower worlds destroyed.

Mahakalpa pralaya — end of Brahma's 100 years. All 14 lokas destroyed.

Mahakaal pralaya — all universes within a galaxy destroyed.

The soul that is still attached to material creation will be swept along by these waves of dissolution. Lifetime after lifetime. Universe after universe. Only the soul that rises above the illusion of entire structure of creation — that has transcended even the highest created realm — can find lasting peace.

✦ Bapuji Insight:

"Anantanant brahmand bante hain, bigadte hain. Yahi Mahakaal Pralay ka satya hai."

"Infinite universes are created and destroyed. This is the truth of Mahakaal Pralaya."

Chapter X

Atyantik Pralaya — The Ultimate Liberation

One type of dissolution stands apart. It is not cosmic — it is deeply personal. This is atyantik pralaya, also known as moksha (liberation).

When a soul gains true knowledge — when it comes to know the atma and through it, the soul knows Paramatma (the Supreme Soul) — then it begins shedding its coverings.

First, the five-element body (panch tatva — earth, water, fire, air, space) dissolves. The soul takes on a subtle body of three elements. Then, through deeper realisation, it enters the causal body (karana sharira — the space element alone). From there, it moves into the great causal body (mahakarana sharira — param tatva, the supreme element). This is the body of supreme light.

In this state, the soul reaches kaivalya (absolute purity and freedom) and arrives at the Paramdham (the supreme abode).

The soul merges back into Paramatma. This is true moksha. Not just heaven. Not just a better rebirth. But returning to the Source. This is the highest goal of human life.

It is available to every soul, right here, right now, in this very human birth. For only in human life, on this karma bhumi (the land of action), does the soul have the power to seek and receive this supreme knowledge.

◆ Bapuji Insight:

"Moksh matlab apne srashta mein samaa jaana. Yahi Atyantik Pralay hai."

"Moksha means to merge back into the Creator. This is Atyantik Pralaya."

Chapter XI

The Fourteen Lokas — An Overview

The scriptures describe fourteen lokas (realms of existence) — seven above the earth including earth, and seven lokas below earth. Together they form one brahmānda. As we ascend, elements become lighter, time stretches, and the soul's power increases. A single day in a higher realm may equal thousands of years on earth.

These layers are described in the Puranas and Upanishads, and match Bapuji's experience in samadhi. Even in our physical world, we see this principle: when you fly in an aeroplane just a few kilometres up, the atmosphere changes completely. Now imagine ascending not physically, but from the gross (sthula) dimension to the subtle (sukshma).

◆ Bapuji Insight:

"Jaise-jaise upar jaoge, tatva halke hote jaayenge. Shakti badhti jaayegi."

"As you ascend higher, the elements become lighter. Power increases."

Chapter XII

Bhuloka, Bhuvvarloka, and Swargaloka

Bhuloka is the earth — the physical plane of five elements (panch tatva). It is dense, heavy, and fully covered by maya (illusion). It is also the karma bhumi — the only realm where the soul can perform karma and shape its destiny.

Above the earth is Bhuvvar loka — the astral realm between earth and sun, also called Pitru loka (realm of ancestors). In ancient times, offerings made during shraddha (ancestral ceremonies) were directed to the souls living here.

When we enter Bhuvvar loka, we cross from the gross world into the subtle world. Souls here have three-element bodies. Many are still bound by desire (vasana). They form communities and groups, just as on earth with different religions and organisations.

Above that is Swarga loka (heaven). This is a bhog yoni — a realm of enjoyment, not of spiritual growth. The devatas (deities) living in heaven spend their time enjoying the rewards of their past good deeds. They cannot perform new karma. They cannot advance spiritually. When their stored-up merit runs out, they are sent back down to earth.

Even Indra (king of heaven) lives in constant fear of losing his throne. He is filled with ego and insecurity. He would send beings to disrupt the meditations of sages on earth — not because those sages wanted his throne, but because his own weakness made him afraid. If the ruler of heaven lives in such fear, what kind of freedom can heaven offer?

Swarga still contains subtle maya — attachment, jealousy, desire, and pride all exist there, though in more refined forms. One day in heaven equals one year on earth (deva varsha). It operates at a higher frequency than earth. But it is still not the highest realm.

♦ Bapuji Insight:

"Swarg bhog yoni hai. Wahan karm nahi hota. Isse upar uthiye."

"Heaven is a realm of enjoyment. No karma can be performed there. Rise above it."

Chapter XIII

Maharloka, Janaloka, and Tapaloka

Maharloka (one crore yojanas in extent) lies above heaven. The souls here are not mere enjoyers of pleasure. They are souls of knowledge and wisdom. Only those who have overcome heaven's subtle maya can reach this realm. Relationships are based on friendship, not desire. Purusha and prakriti coexist as companions. The dominant quality is sattva guna — purity and harmony.

Janaloka (also Dhruvaloka — two crore yojanas) is the realm of great sants (saints) and gurus. One day here equals 100 years on earth. The atmosphere is deeply pure. The sense of individual ego is greatly reduced. These souls live in constant spiritual awareness.

Tapaloka (four crore yojanas) is the realm of tapas (spiritual austerity). Here live the greatest rishis and munis. Residents are videhi — free from body-consciousness. They see only the soul. One day equals 10,000 years on earth. The air element (rayu) is reduced; Ether element (akash) is amplified.

The pattern: as we ascend, time stretches, elements lighten, maya weakens, power grows. But maya still exists up to Brahmapuri. True freedom lies beyond.

♦ Bapuji Insight:

"Tapalok mein deh nahi, keval atma. Wahan drishti atma ko dekhti hai."

"In Tapaloka there is no body, only soul. The vision there sees only the soul."

Chapter XIV

Satyaloka, Brahmapuri, and Beyond

At the summit stands Satyaloka, connected with Brahmapuri — the abode of Brahma. From here, Brahma used sankalpa (divine will) to create the Sapta Rishis (seven sages), who then created param purushas (supreme beings). From them came all creation.

These supreme beings originally had bodies of param tatva (the supreme element). Over the ages, they descended into denser forms — becoming devatas, then, through maya and power-loss, becoming the human souls of today.

This is Bapuji's key insight: the 330 million devatas worshipped today are not distant celestial beings separate from us. They are within us. We are the same souls who once shone with divine light in the higher realms. Through the cycle of time (kaal chakra) and countless births, we fell from our original state. The worshipped became the worshippers. Now is the time of awakening.

Above Brahmapuri lies Vishnupuri (also called Vaikuntha Loka — the abode of Vishnu, the Sustainer). This is the causal world, where fifty percent of the composition is param tatva and fifty percent is the three subtle elements.

Above Vishnupuri is Shivapuri, where Shiva resides in both formless (nirakari) and manifest (sakari) forms, along with Sada Shiva and Aadi Shakti (the Primordial Feminine Power). Beyond even Shivapuri lies the Paramdham — the supreme abode — the final destination of the liberated soul.

From Bhu loka to Brahma puri, maya exists in some form — the crudeness of maya gradually reduces from Bhu loka to Brahmapuri. Even in Brahmapuri, the maya still remains in a very subtle form. Only when the soul goes beyond all created realms and reaches the Paramdham is it truly free from all sorts of illusion (maya).

The awakening that Bapuji speaks of is exactly this: to remember who you were. To see where you have fallen from. And to begin the journey of return — rising through the realms of consciousness, shedding the layers of elemental coverings, and merging back into the infinite light of the Supreme.

♦ Bapuji Insight:

"Aap hi poojya the. Aap hi pujari ban chuke hain. Ab jaagiye."

"You were once the worshipped. You have become the worshippers. Now awaken."

- Kaal has three aspects: time, speed, and power. The kaal chakra is the wheel of cosmic time.
- One chaturyuga spans 4,320,000 years. We are in Kaliyuga — only 5,000 years have passed.
- Six levels of pralaya: nitya, ardha, manvantara, kalpa, mahakalpa, mahakaal.
- Atyantik pralaya is personal liberation — moksha — merging into the Supreme.

- Fourteen lokas are ascending dimensions, from earth to Brahmapuri and beyond.
- Swarga is temporary. It is not the final destination.
- Higher realms (Maharloka, Janaloka, Tapaloka) have increasing purity and power.
- The devatas we worship are within us. We fell through the ages. Now is the time to awaken.
- True liberation lies in the Paramdham — the supreme abode of Paramatma.

GLOSSARY

Standard Glossary for the Behad Ka Param Gyan Series

Aadi Shakti — The Primordial Feminine Power — the original creative energy. The first form of Shakti from which all other shaktis emerge across cosmic levels.

Akash Tatva — Space — the subtlest of the five gross elements; the medium of sound and infinite expansion. The causal body is made entirely of akash tatva.

Ardha Pralaya — Half dissolution — the great flood at the end of one chaturyuga. The most darkness-dominated portion of humanity is washed away, and a fresh satyuga begins on a partially renewed earth.

Atma — The soul — the eternal, conscious self beyond body and mind. The true 'I' that journeys through births and dimensions. In its original state, the atma is formless divine light (Param Prakash) and the source of all life-energy.

Atyantik Pralaya — The ultimate dissolution — personal liberation (moksha). Unlike other pralayas, this is not cosmic but deeply individual: one soul realises Paramatma and dissolves into its source forever.

Behad — Boundless, infinite, unlimited — that which has no limit. Used to describe dimensions, knowledge, or souls beyond ordinary cosmic boundaries; the space where the word 'infinite' itself becomes meaningful.

Bhavatit — Beyond emotion — a state in which the soul is free from feelings, sentiments, and reactions. Pure consciousness uncoloured by the moods of mind.

Bhog Yoni — A realm of enjoyment — where past good karma is experienced as pleasure, but no new karma can be created. Swargaloka is a bhog yoni; karma is performed only on earth.

Bhuloka — The earth — the physical realm of the five gross elements. Bhuloka is the densest layer of creation, fully covered by maya, but uniquely it is karma bhumi — the only place where new karma can be created and burned.

Bhuvarloka — The astral realm between earth and sun — also called Pitru loka (realm of ancestors). Souls who have left the body but not yet attained higher dimensions reside here in subtle forms.

Brahma — The Creator of the universe (brahmada) — sits in Brahmapuri and creates the saptarishis and all subsequent beings through sankalpa. Brahma's lifespan governs the great cosmic time cycles.

Brahmada — A solar system — one complete cosmic system with its own creator (Shiva), its own paramdham, and its own fourteen lokas. The smallest unit of cosmic creation; our brahmada contains nine planets and the seven lokas above earth.

Brahmapuri — The abode of Brahma — the highest realm within a brahmada, where the creator Brahma resides and sends forth the saptarishis and all subsequent creation through divine will.

Chaturyuga — The cycle of four ages — Satyuga, Treta, Dwapara, Kaliyuga — totalling 4,320,000 human years. The fundamental unit of cosmic time on earth.

Deva Varsha — Divine year — one day of the devatas equals one human year. Time runs differently in each loka; higher dimensions experience vast spans as a single day.

Devatas — Deities — gods and goddesses of the heavenly realms (swargaloka). Souls who have earned this position through accumulated good karma; they enjoy celestial pleasures but cannot create new karma.

Dwapara Yuga — The Copper Age — 864,000 human years. Dharma stands on two legs; division and conflict begin to dominate; the soul-connection grows fainter.

Gati — Motion, movement, speed — the soul's trajectory based on its actions and consciousness. Nothing in creation exists without gati; from atoms to galaxies, everything moves, and the soul's gati determines its destination.

Gyaan Daan — The gift of knowledge — Maha Daan, the greatest charity. Sharing supreme spiritual knowledge frees a soul forever, while material gifts only ease one lifetime.

Had — Bounded — the limited, the finite, the realm of cosmic boundaries within ordinary creation. Used in contrast to behad to mark everything within the conventional dimensions.

Hridaya Gati — The rhythm of the heart — the heartbeat. The most immediate experience of cyclic motion within the body, mirroring the larger cosmic gatis.

Indra — King of the heavens — ruler of swargaloka; the chief of the devatas. Indra changes with each manvantara; many Indras have come and gone across the cosmic time cycles.

Janaloka — The fifth loka, also called Dhruvaloka — the realm of great saints (sants) and gurus. One day in Janaloka equals 100 years on earth. Souls here engage in prolonged contemplation of higher truths.

Jivatma — The individual living soul, bound in birth and death. The atma after it has descended into the cycle of bodies, carrying karmas and sanskaras across lifetimes within one brahmanda.

Kaal — Time — also speed (gati) and power (kala) at deeper levels. In behad gyan, kaal is not separate from motion; what we measure as time is in fact the rhythm of cosmic motion across all dimensions.

Kaal Agni — The cosmic fire of time — the fire of dissolution that brings about the great pralayas. At each dissolution level, kaal agni dissolves what time has finished with.

Kaal Chakra — The wheel of time — the cosmic cycle of creation, sustenance, and dissolution that turns endlessly across kalpas, manvantaras, chaturyugas, and lifetimes. The aim of behad gyan is to transcend the kaal chakra entirely.

Kaivalya — Absolute purity and freedom of the liberated soul. The state of utter aloneness in pure consciousness, beyond all qualities and modifications of nature.

Kaliyuga — The Age of Darkness — 432,000 human years. The current age, dominated by tamo guna; dharma stands on one leg only; spiritual ignorance, suffering, and conflict are at their peak.

Kalpa Pralaya — Dissolution at the end of Brahma's day — when 1,000 chaturyugas pass and fourteen Manus have come and gone, the three lower lokas (Bhuloka, Bhuvarloka, Swarga) are destroyed.

Karana Sharira — The causal body made of space element alone — the deepest layer of existence where all karmic records of the soul are stored across countless births. Destiny unfolds from here.

Karma — The universal law of cause and effect — every thought, action, and intention generates a corresponding result. Karma is not punishment or reward but the precise response of existence to every vibration the soul releases.

Karma Bhumi — The land of action — the earth, where souls take physical bodies specifically to perform karma and burn karmic accounts. Earth is unique among the lokas as the only true karma-bhumi.

Loka — A layer of creation — a dimension within a brahmanda, galaxy, or universe. Each loka is a distinct realm with its own beings, laws, and elements; rising through the lokas means rising through finer and finer states of existence.

Mahakarana Sharira — The great causal body — composed of param tatva (supreme element). This body belongs to advanced souls operating in dimensions far above ordinary brahmanda existence.

Mahakaal Pralaya — The great cosmic dissolution — destroys all brahmandas within a galaxy at once. Mahashiva (the cosmic form governing a galaxy) brings about this immense dissolution after vast cosmic ages.

Mahakalpa Pralaya — Dissolution at the end of Brahma's hundred years — the entire brahmanda is destroyed, all fourteen lokas dissolve, and the cycle of one solar system reaches its end.

Maharloka — The fourth loka — the realm of wise souls above heaven. Higher than swarga, Maharloka is inhabited by souls of greater spiritual power and lesser bondage to enjoyment.

Mahashiva — The Great Shiva — the incorporeal creator of a galaxy (Maha Brahmanda). He resides in the maha paramdhaam of the galaxy and possesses 8 to 12 kala of spiritual power. Our Milky Way's Mahashiva holds 9-10 kala.

Manu — The first human progenitor — the father of civilisation for one manvantara. With each Manu, an entire human lineage and culture takes form, runs its course, and ends.

Manvantara — The period of one Manu's reign — equal to 71 chaturyugas. After each manvantara the entire human civilisation, along with its Indra, devatas, and sages, ends and a new one begins.

Manvantara Pralaya — Dissolution at the end of one manvantara — after 71 chaturyugas, one Manu's entire civilisation ends; the Indra, devatas, sapta rishis, and human lineage of that era come to a close.

Markandeya Purana — Ancient sacred text — describes in detail the cosmic time cycles, the manvantaras, the kalpas, and the great pralayas across vast spans of brahmamda history.

Maya — The grand illusion — the veil that hides the soul's true nature and creates attachment to body, relationships, and the visible world. Maya operates in subtler forms even in the higher lokas; only in Paramdham does it cease.

Moksha — Liberation — final freedom from the cycle of birth and death. In behad ka gyan, moksha (also called atyantik pralaya) is the soul's complete merger back into Paramatma.

Munis — Contemplative ascetics — sages devoted to inner realisation through silent meditation, austerity, and prolonged spiritual practice in remote dimensions.

Narak — Hell — the state of suffering created by harmful and sinful actions. Souls heavy with vikarm fall into narak; this is not a punishment but the natural consequence of dense sanskaras.

Nirakari — Formless — the original divine state of the soul as pure Param Prakash (supreme divine light). In this incorporeal state the creator is called 'Satyam Shivam Sundaram'; this is the soul's truest and ultimate nature.

Nitya Pralaya — The everyday dissolution — the constant cycle of birth and death of individual beings. Every moment somewhere a body is born and somewhere a body dies; this is nitya pralaya, ceaseless and ongoing.

Panch Tatva — The five gross elements — earth (prithvi), water (jal), fire (agni), air (vayu), and space (akash). Bhuloka and the gross body are composed entirely of panch tatva.

Param Mahashiva — The Supreme Great Shiva — the incorporeal creator of a universe (Param Maha Brahmanda). He resides in the supreme abode of a universe and possesses 16 kala of divine power.

Param Shanti — Supreme peace — the highest state of absolute stillness beyond happiness and sorrow. The original frequency of the soul when it first emerged from Param Prakash; the goal of every spiritual seeker.

Param Tatva — The supreme element — finer than the five gross elements (panch tatva). The substance of the higher dimensions; carries far greater spiritual energy than ordinary matter.

Paramatma — The Supreme Soul — the creator of souls. In its formless divine light state, a soul has tremendous power to create many souls through sankalp (affirmation), and is then called Paramatma. In Hindu scripture, this state is described as 'Satyam Shivam Sundaram'.

Paramdham — The Supreme Abode — the topmost layer of any creation, where the creator resides in pure incorporeal form of supreme light. Each level of creation has its paramdham: solar system, galaxy, universe, multiverse, and beyond.

Parardha — Half of Brahma's lifespan — fifty divine years, an unimaginably long span of cosmic time. Two parardhas make Brahma's complete life of one hundred divine years.

Prakriti — Nature — the feminine creative principle and the creative energy surrounding the soul. Prakriti is the matrix in which all forms appear; it is governed by the three gunas — satva, rajo, tamo.

Pralaya — Dissolution — periodic destruction at various cosmic scales. Pralayas mark the end of one cycle and the rest before the next begins; nothing in creation is permanent except the soul itself.

Puranas — Ancient sacred histories — the part of Hindu literature recording cosmic events, divine biographies, and the histories of solar systems and brahmandas in story form.

Purusha — The masculine principle — consciousness; spirit. In Sankhya philosophy, Purusha is the witness consciousness, paired with Prakriti (nature) as the creative material principle.

Rishis — Sages — seers of truth who realised divine knowledge through tapas and direct vision. The original transmitters of the Vedic and Sanatan teachings.

Sakari — The physical form — when a soul's energy degenerates further, it acquires a gross material body. This is the visible form of the five gross elements (earth, water, fire, air, space) that we experience on earth.

Samadhi — The deepest superconscious state of meditation — complete absorption in the Divine. In samadhi, the soul rests in its original incorporeal state and receives knowledge directly without thought. Bapuji's revelations come from years in deep samadhi.

Sankalpa — Divine will — the creative intention through which Brahma and other creators bring forth lokas, beings, and elements. Sankalpa is the bridge between consciousness and manifestation.

Sanskaras — Impressions and habits carried by the soul — every thought, action, and feeling leaves a trace in the karan sharir. Across countless births, sanskaras accumulate, shaping personality and karmic patterns.

Sapta Rishis — The seven great sages — created by Brahma from his sankalpa to guide creation. The saptarishis are the foundational seers of every manvantara, transmitting eternal knowledge through cosmic ages.

Satyuga — The Age of Truth — 1,728,000 human years. The golden age when dharma is complete, beings live in pure awareness, and the soul's connection to its origin is unbroken.

Shakti — Spiritual power — the active creative force; energy. In a brahmanda, Akari Shiv first creates Akari Shakti as his counterpart; together Shiv and Shakti carry forward all creation. The same applies at galaxy and universe levels as Maha Shakti and Param Maha Shakti.

Shiva — The Transformer — incorporeal creator of one solar system (brahmanda). Shiva resides in the paramdhaam of the brahmanda. He first creates Akari Shiv from his energy, who then creates Akari Shakti as his counterpart for further creation.

Shivapuri — The abode of Shiva — the realm above Vishnupuri, where the transformer principle resides. The dimension of cosmic transformation and dissolution within a brahmanda.

Sthula — Gross — physical; the dense material dimension of creation made of the five visible elements. Bhuloka and the human body belong to the sthula realm.

Sukshma — Subtle — the non-physical dimension between the gross and the causal. The realm of impressions, vibrations, energies and the subtle bodies through which the soul operates the gross body.

Swarga / Swargaloka — Heaven — the celestial realm of the devatas and the third loka. Swarga is a bhog yoni, a realm of enjoyment of past good karma. One day in heaven equals one human year on earth, but no new karma is created here.

Tamo Pradhaan — Dominated by darkness, ignorance, and inertia — the quality that intensifies in Kaliyuga and ardha pralaya. The state of consciousness furthest from the soul's pure light.

Tapaloka — The sixth loka — the realm of the greatest rishis, who exist as souls without physical bodies. Here the inner sight of the atma directly perceives reality without sense-mediation.

Tapas — Spiritual austerity — disciplined inward practice through which energy is conserved and consciousness is refined. The fire of tapas burns away sanskars accumulated over lifetimes.

Treta Yuga — The Silver Age — 1,296,000 human years. Dharma stands on three legs; human lifespan, virtue, and consciousness diminish to three-quarters of their satyuga measure.

Upanishads — The philosophical scriptures of the Vedic tradition — the records of direct realisations of saints and seers, focused on the nature of the atma, Brahman, and liberation.

Vasana — Deep-rooted desire — the subtle seed of attachment that drives the soul back into birth. Vasana is more subtle than sanskar and pulls the soul toward repeated experiences across lifetimes.

Videhi — Free from body-consciousness — the liberated state in which the soul sees only itself as atma, no longer identified with any vehicle. The seer of pure soul.

Vishnu — The Sustainer of creation — resides in Vishnupuri (the causal world). Through his maintaining power, the cycles of yugas and the lives of beings continue across vast spans of cosmic time.

Vishnupuri — The abode of Vishnu — the causal world above Brahmapuri, where Vishnu sustains creation. The realm of the sustaining principle, finer than the realm of brahmic creation.

Yojana — An ancient unit of distance — approximately 12 to 15 km. Used in the Puranas to describe vast cosmic distances between lokas and celestial bodies.
