About Bapuji

Bapuji (full name: Bapuji Dashrathbhai Patel, also lovingly called "Dadaji" by the younger generation) was born in 1956 in the small village of Akhaj in the Mehsana district of Gujarat. However, he spent his childhood in another village named Ambasan, also located in the Mehsana district.

In the early part of his life, he was a highly successful lawyer. Later, he devoted his life to realizing the supreme spiritual truth and bringing this divine knowledge forward for the welfare of humanity. Today, this supreme knowledge serves as a guiding light for true seekers to realize their ultimate destiny. It is a blessing of the highest divinity that the present time is witnessing the rise of this supreme spiritual knowledge, guiding souls on Earth to return to their original source.

Despite being raised in a very poor family and facing challenging circumstances, Bapuji had a deep desire to transform this sorrowful and suffering world into a better place. At the young age of six, he questioned God repeatedly, asking why God remained silent about the suffering of humanity. This intense longing to end human suffering eventually led him to attain the highest level of spirituality later in life.

Even as a child, Bapuji would spend hours alone in the fields, often neglecting his own comfort. Due to poverty, he would walk barefoot without shoes or sandals, frequently getting pricked by thorns. Many times, he would stay late in the fields and, on his way back home, encounter subtle world entities. These experiences sparked his interest in communicating with subtle world souls.

Bapuji was courageous from a young age, which helped him overcome many obstacles. Alongside his studies in chartered accountancy, he gave tuition classes to support himself financially. Later, he completed his Bachelor of Law degree and became a well-known lawyer in Ahmedabad.

In 1997, he established a spiritual institution called Vishwa Parivartak Ishwariya Vidhyalay in Chenpur, Ahmedabad, with the mission of transforming this mortal world, filled with suffering and disorder, into an eternal divine world of immortality. Smt. Sushma Tandon, lovingly known as "Maa," worked alongside Bapuji in this grand divine mission.

To accomplish this mission, Bapuji worked tirelessly, dedicating all his resources to this divine purpose. During that time, he would deliver continuous spiritual discourses for up to eighteen hours without rest. In these discourses, he explained the highest dimensions of divine knowledge, which he realized through deep meditation and divine vision in a state of superconsciousness.

Bapuji's teachings cover a vast range of topics, including the types of celestial creators across different dimensions, the creation of our solar system, galaxy, and universe, and most importantly, the transcendental knowledge of the multiverse and realities beyond it. His knowledge is supremely profound and is intended for highly evolved seekers, referred to as behad souls. According to Bapuji, these behad souls will play a key role in transforming this mortal world into an eternal divine realm.

At present, Bapuji remains deeply engaged in intense meditation and samadhi for long hours. He does not meet anyone, as he is continuously immersed in his transcendental mission in a superconscious state.

Preface

Gyan Daan Maha Daan

(Sharing Knowledge is the highest charity — share to the maximum extent with all.)

— Bapuji Dashrathbhai Patel

The question of immortality is as old as humanity itself. People have sought it in temples and laboratories, in meditation and medicine, in ancient scriptures and modern science. And yet, the body continues to age, and death remains a certainty for every living being on this earth.

In this book, Bapuji Dashrathbhai Patel addresses this ancient longing with uncommon clarity. He does not promise physical immortality. He does not encourage the pursuit of a longer body. What he offers is something far more valuable: the truth.

The truth, as Bapuji explains it, is that this world is called Mrityu Lok — the realm of death. It was never designed to be a place of immortality. Every element here, including the body, the planets, the galaxies, and even the highest heavens, is subject to destruction. Physical science, no matter how advanced, cannot change this fundamental reality.

True immortality, Bapuji teaches, belongs to the soul alone. And even the soul can only experience true, lasting immortality when it transcends this universe and reaches Paramdham — the supreme abode — through the path of Brahm Gyan, the knowledge of the soul.

This book is offered freely as a gift of knowledge. May it reach all sincere souls who are searching for the truth.

Chapter One

The Illusion of Physical Immortality

Many people today are spending millions of dollars trying to extend their physical lives. Researchers in the fields of biotechnology and anti-ageing medicine are working tirelessly to find ways to make the human body last longer. Some even speak of making the human body immortal.

Bapuji addresses this directly and without hesitation: it is not possible.

Bapuji Insight

“Even if you spend thousands of dollars every month — replacing your blood, replacing your organs, renewing every cell in your body — you will still not become immortal. This is Mrityu Lok. This is the realm of death.”

This is not a pessimistic view. It is simply the truth about the nature of this world. The word Mrityu Lok means precisely that — a realm in which death is the law. No amount of physical intervention can change this fundamental reality.

Bapuji points to the great demons of ancient scriptures as an example. These beings performed intense tapasya — severe spiritual austerities — for thousands of years. They approached the creator Brahma and the supreme destroyer Mahadev, begging for the gift of immortality. And yet, neither Brahma nor Mahadev ever granted immortality to any of them.

The reason is simple: both Brahma and Mahadev already knew that this is Mrityu Lok. There is no immortal realm here. The five-element body — made of earth, water, fire, air and space — can never be made permanent. It was never meant to be.

Bapuji Insight

“Even Brahma, Vishnu and Shankar — the glorified Tridev representing creation, sustenance, and dissolution — are described in the deepest scriptures as bound by the cosmic cycle. Within the great cosmic time, even they are subject to Mahakaal Pralay.”

This is a profound truth from the scriptures. If even the highest cosmic beings within this universe are bound by cosmic time, then what hope does a physical body made of five elements have to attain timeless immortality?

Chapter Two

What the Vedas and Scriptures Say About Immortality

When the Vedas and scriptures speak of immortality, they are not speaking about the body. They are speaking about the soul's journey to a realm beyond the cycles of creation and destruction.

Within this universe, there are seven realms above the earth. These are Bhurlok, Swarg Lok, Mahalok, Janalok, Tapalok, and Satyalok. Beyond these is Brahmapuri, then Vishnupuri, and then Shivapuri. And beyond all of these is Paramdham — the supreme abode.

When the soul reaches Paramdham, it enters what the scriptures call Amar Lok — the immortal realm. The supreme abode of the soul is described as truly immortal. The soul that reaches this state is said to have attained true immortality.

However, even this immortality has a boundary. The soul remains in this state of immortality for as long as the universe itself exists. When the Mahakaal Pralay — the great final dissolution — occurs, even Brahmapuri, Vishnupuri, and Shivapuri cease to exist. Even the entire infinite universe is dissolved.

At the time of Mahakaal Pralay, the great Mahashiva assumes the form of the supreme dissolver. Endless billions of universes are drawn into his very being, as if each entire universe becomes no more than a single cell. This is the scale of that dissolution.

Bapuji Insight

“What is called Sanatan — the eternal — is that which has no destruction whatsoever.
The Param Maha Brahm, the supreme beyond all, is that which is truly eternal.”

So even the highest heavens within a universe are not permanently immortal. True, timeless immortality exists only in the state that is beyond all universes, beyond all multiverses — in the state of the Param Sanatan, the truly eternal.

Chapter Three

The Soul Is Already Immortal

There is a deep paradox at the heart of the search for immortality. The soul is already described in all scriptures as ajar-amar-avinashi — undying-immortal-indestructible. So why does the soul search for immortality?

The answer lies in the condition of the soul as it exists within the cycle of birth and death.

When a soul takes birth in Mrityu Lok, it becomes covered by layers of the physical and subtle worlds. It forgets its own true nature. Even a highly evolved soul, when it enters the body, becomes like an ordinary human being. The veil of ignorance descends, and the soul no longer remembers what it truly is and its true origin.

All the records of the soul's journey — all its memories, all its karmas — are stored in the kaaran shareer and mahakaran shareer, the causal and the supra-causal bodies, respectively. These records accumulate across lifetimes. They shape the soul's next birth, its tendencies, and its experiences.

Bapuji Insight

“When attachment — moha — ends, the realisation of the soul's true form arises. When the soul realises its own form, and connects with the Supreme Soul, then power comes into the soul.”

The soul does not need to become immortal. The soul needs to remember that it already is. This remembrance comes through Atma Gyan — knowledge of the soul — and Brahm Gyan — knowledge of the supreme reality.

When a person practises self-awareness — remaining in the consciousness of being a soul rather than a body — the soul begins to awaken. It begins to release the karmic burdens stored in its causal body. Gradually, the soul becomes lighter, clearer, and more powerful.

This is the real journey of immortality: not adding years to the body, but removing the veils from the soul.

Chapter Four

Science Cannot Grant Immortality

Modern physical science is engaged in what Bapuji describes as a deeply misguided pursuit. Scientists are working to clone bodies, replace organs, change blood composition, and reprogram the genetic code. The intention behind all of this is to extend life — and ultimately, to make the body immortal.

Bapuji draws a parallel between today's purely materialist approach to science and the asuric tendency described in the scriptures — the tendency to pursue only the physical and to deny the eternal nature of the soul.

Bapuji Insight

“Today’s purely materialist science — which sees only the five elements and denies the soul — is what the scriptures describe as asuric knowledge. This is different from the knowledge of the divine beings. It is not Brahm Gyan. Those who believe only in matter and reject consciousness are the materialists of this age.”

This is a striking parallel. The ancient demons performed extreme austerities and demanded immortality from Brahma and Mahadev. In a similar way, today's materialist research seeks immortality from biology and technology. In both cases, the result is the same: it cannot be achieved through physical means.

Even if science were to one day develop the ability to clone a human body, Bapuji explains, such cloning could at most produce a duplicate physical form. It could never create an immortal soul within that body. The soul that would enter such a body is still a mortal soul, still subject to the laws of this mortal realm.

Quantum physics does touch on subtler dimensions. Bapuji notes that the subtle body can travel through the higher realms — Gandharv Lok, Yaksha Lok, Kinnara Lok — and in those states, the soul experiences a form of longevity that appears like immortality. But even those realms are not permanent. They last only as long as Brahma's cosmic lifespan.

The body itself, Bapuji explains, is deeply connected to the state of the mind and consciousness. As the soul rises to elevated states of self-awareness, the entire inner being responds to this transformation. This is the real transformation that matters — not the transformation of the physical form, but the transformation of consciousness. This is presented here as a spiritual understanding, and is not intended as a medical, biological, or clinical claim.

Chapter Five

The Subtle World and the Fate of Souls

Beyond the physical world that we see and touch, there are many layers of existence. These subtle realms are populated by various types of souls — souls that have left their physical bodies but remain within the cosmic framework of this universe.

Bapuji describes the beings of the subtle world plainly: they are not immortal. Whether one speaks of devatas, pitras, or souls in the subtle dimensions — none of them are permanent. Their existence is bound by cosmic time.

Devatas — the celestial beings — have a lifespan of one kalpa, which is equal to one day of Brahma. At the end of each kalpa, a kalpa pralay occurs. The three lower worlds — Bhurllok, Bhuvvarlok, and Swarlok — are destroyed. Even the celestial beings dissolve.

Souls that remain as bhoot (ghosts/spirits), pret (extreme miserable ghosts), or pishachi (demonic/malevolent spirits) — in the lower subtle dimensions — cannot even ascend to the higher realms. When the three worlds are dissolved in kalpa pralay, these souls too are dissolved along with them.

Bapuji also describes souls of extraordinary quality — souls from other universes, sometimes referred to as having a hundred kalas (soul power) or more. Such souls do take birth on earth. But when they arrive in Mrityu Lok, they too are covered by the five-element body and by the veils of the subtle world. They forget their own greatness.

Bapuji Insight

“Even the greatest soul, when it arrives in Mrityu Lok, becomes covered by the layers of this world. It forgets itself. Only through Brahm Gyan does it remember again.”

This is why knowledge is so essential. No soul, however elevated in origin, can maintain its awareness in this world without spiritual knowledge.

Chapter Six

Brahm Gyan — The Path to True Immortality

If physical science cannot grant immortality, and if even the highest heavens are subject to dissolution, then where does the path to true immortality lie?

Bapuji is clear: the path is Brahm Gyan — the knowledge of the supreme reality. Only through this knowledge can the soul truly understand what it is, where it comes from, and where it must go.

The practice that leads to this is simple in its essence, though profound in its depth. Bapuji describes it as becoming atma swaroop — remaining in the awareness of being a soul — and connecting the soul to Paramatma, the supreme soul. This connection is what is called true Yog.

Bapuji Insight

“When you remain in the soul-consciousness and remember the Supreme Soul, the karmic recordings of the soul are destroyed. The soul becomes charged. All vikarmas — negative karma — are dissolved.”

In this state of Yog, the soul gradually becomes free from the pull of matter. It rises above the three gunas — tamo, rajo, and sato. It becomes bhavaateet — beyond emotion — and karmaateet — beyond karmic bondage. When both of these are achieved, the soul can connect directly with the formless, attributeless Param Brahm — the Supreme Almighty Authority.

From there, the soul rises through the inner planes — not through astral travel, but through the awakened intelligence and the divine eye. It passes through the seven higher realms, through Brahmapuri, through Vishnupuri, and into Shivapuri, where true knowledge of Paramdham is revealed. And from Shivapuri, through sustained spiritual practice, the soul finally reaches Paramdham — the immortal abode.

Lord Krishna pointed to this very journey in the Bhagawad Gita. In the eighth chapter and elsewhere, He instructed Arjuna: at the time of leaving the body, become established in the soul and remember the Supreme Soul, and the soul will attain the supreme abode. In Bapuji's understanding, this supreme abode is Paramdham — the realm beyond all created worlds.

This is the only true path to immortality. And it begins not with science, but with self-knowledge.

Key elements of this path

- Understanding the self as the soul rather than the body
- Meditation and connection with the Supreme Consciousness
- Transcending attachment, fear, and ego
- Acquiring Brahm Gyan to break the cycle of birth and death

Immortality, in this sense, is liberation — a state of consciousness free from karmic cycles.

Chapter Seven

Bapuji's Own Experience

Bapuji does not speak of immortality as theory. He speaks from lived experience — a life spent in deep spiritual practice since 1987, when he first entered sustained states of atma swaroop.

In those states, his entire being would become suffused with light. The body itself would feel like a body of pure light. He could barely walk in those moments — so complete was the experience of the soul in its luminous form.

Bapuji Insight

“When I remain in atma swaroop, the body becomes completely light — a body of light. In that state, I received Brahm Gyan, the knowledge of the universe, the great universe, the multiverse. I saw all of this through the divine eye, through atma swaroop.”

In this elevated state, Bapuji downloaded knowledge of the entire cosmic structure — from this earth to the seven higher realms, from Brahmapuri through the multiverse and into the Great Multiverse. He did not travel out of body in the conventional sense of astral travel. He remained in his physical location, but through the divine eye — divya drishti — he saw and understood the entire structure of creation.

In his journeys through consciousness, he has also encountered souls of the highest order — Nirakari, formless souls moving through the multiverse and the Great Multiverse. These are souls who have never taken birth on earth and have no connection to this mortal realm. They dwell in the higher Paramdhams — the Maha Paramdham of the galaxy, the Param Maha Paramdham of the universe — souls of thirty, forty, fifty, one hundred, and even two hundred kalas of soul power.

This experience has been preserved and presented by the Paramshanti Team in subsequent publications, including the book “Life in Multiverse,” which presents Bapuji’s teachings on the cosmic structure in a complete and accessible form.

Chapter Eight

What Lies Ahead for Humanity

Bapuji's message for the present era is direct. Bapuji teaches that the times ahead are uncertain for the physical body. Across history, no body has been permanent, and the coming age too will follow this universal law of impermanence. The lasting work, therefore, is the work of the soul.

Bapuji Insight

“The true work of human life is the protection and elevation of the soul. The body follows its natural course. What endures, in the eternal sense, is the soul.”

This is not said to frighten anyone. It is said to redirect the attention of those who are spending their energy chasing physical immortality, when the real work — the work of the soul — remains undone.

Not all souls will reach Paramdham. Different souls, according to their quality and their spiritual development, will reach different levels. Some will reach Brahmapuri. Some will reach Vishnupuri. Some will reach Shivapuri. Only those souls with the highest knowledge — and with Brahm Gyan — will reach Paramdham itself.

The entire human society will not become immortal simultaneously. It is an individual journey, determined by the quality, awareness, and knowledge of each soul.

Even souls caught in the cycle of 84 lakh species — yonis — having descended into animal and other forms through repeated loss of spiritual power, face a difficult path back.

A soul that has descended to the level of an amoeba through centuries of power loss cannot easily return to the human form. This is why Bapuji emphasises the preciousness of the human birth: only a human being can receive Brahm Gyan. Only a human being can choose the path of the soul.

The message is simple. Do not waste this rare opportunity. Do not chase the immortality of the body. Seek the immortality of the soul. Receive Brahm Gyan. Become atma swaroop. And from this mortal realm, begin the journey to Amar Lok — the truly immortal abode.

Bapuji Insights

Bapuji Insight

“Even if you spend thousands of dollars every month, you will not become immortal. This is Mrityu Lok. This is the realm of death.”

Bapuji Insight

“Neither Brahma nor Mahadev ever gave the boon of immortality to anyone — because they both knew: this is Mrityu Lok, there is no immortal realm here.”

Bapuji Insight

“Today’s purely materialist science — which sees only matter — is what the scriptures describe as asuric knowledge, not the knowledge of the divine. Those who believe only in the five elements are the materialists of this age.”

Bapuji Insight

“When moha — attachment — ends, the realisation of the soul’s true form arises. When the soul connects with the Supreme Soul, power comes.”

Bapuji Insight

“The true work of human life is the protection and elevation of the soul. What endures, in the eternal sense, is the soul.”

Bapuji Insight

“In atma swaroop, I received the knowledge of the universe, the great universe, the multiverse. I saw all of this through the divine eye.”

Bapuji Insight

“Do not search for immortality of the body. Search for the immortality of the soul. Only Brahm Gyan — the knowledge of the soul — can take you there.”

Glossary

The following terms appear throughout this book. Each is defined here for readers new to Bapuji's teachings.

Atma — The soul; a point of pure, conscious energy. The true self, distinct from the body.

Atma Gyan — Knowledge of the soul; the understanding that one is a soul, not a body.

Atma Swaroop — The soul-form; the state of being fully identified with one's nature as a soul.

Amar Lok — The immortal realm; the plane beyond death and dissolution, associated with Paramdham.

Avinashi — Indestructible; a quality attributed to the soul.

Behad — Beyond limits; the transcendental, unlimited realm beyond all known universes.

Bramhand — Universe; a single universe within the vast cosmic structure.

Brahmapuri — The abode of Brahma within the higher realms of the universe.

Brahm Gyan — Knowledge of the supreme reality; the highest spiritual knowledge that leads the soul to liberation.

Brahmarishi — A great sage with the realisation of Brahm; a soul of supreme spiritual wisdom.

Devata — Celestial beings; beings of divine quality residing in the higher realms.

Divya Drishti — Divine eye; the inner faculty of perception that allows a soul to see beyond the physical.

Guna — A quality or attribute of matter. The three gunas are tamo (inertia), rajo (activity), and sato (purity).

Had — The known, limited realm; the boundary of material existence.

Kaaran Shareer — The causal body; the subtlest layer of the body that holds all karmic records.

Kala — A unit of spiritual power or capacity; used to describe the potency of a soul.

Kalpa — A cosmic cycle equal to one day of Brahma, spanning billions of years.

Kalpa Pralay — The dissolution that occurs at the end of each kalpa; destroys the three lower worlds.

Karma — Action; the law of cause and effect that determines a soul's experiences across lifetimes.

Mahakaal Pralay — The great final dissolution; when endless billions of universes are dissolved back into the supreme.

Mahakaran Shareer — The supra-causal body; an even subtler body beyond the causal body.

Mrityu Lok — The realm of death; this physical world, where all things are subject to dissolution.

Moksha — Liberation; freedom from the cycle of birth and death; the soul's return to its original state.

Multiverse — The vast structure containing countless universes, as described in Bapuji's teachings.

Param Brahm — The supreme formless reality; beyond all attributes, all universes, all existence.

Paramdham — The supreme abode; the highest destination of the soul, beyond all created realms.

Paramatma — The Supreme Soul; the ultimate divine consciousness to which all souls are connected.

Pralaya — Cosmic dissolution; the periodic destruction and renewal of the universe.

Sanatan — Eternal; that which is beyond all creation and destruction.

Satya Lok — The realm of truth; one of the highest realms within the universe.

Suksham Shareer — The subtle body; the non-physical body of the soul that persists after physical death.

Tapasya — Austerity; intense spiritual discipline undertaken to purify the soul.

Tridev — The trinity; Brahma, Vishnu, and Shankar, representing creation, sustenance, and dissolution.

Vikarma — Negative karma; actions that create spiritual debt and bind the soul to the cycle of rebirth.

Vishnupuri — The abode of Vishnu within the higher realms of the universe.

Yog — Union; the connection of the soul to the Supreme Soul. (Throughout this book, the Sanskrit form 'Yog' is preserved to retain the original meaning of spiritual union.)
