About Bapuji

Bapuji (full name: Bapuji Dashrathbbhai Patel, also lovingly called “Dadaji” by the younger generation) was born in 1956 in the small village of Akhaj in the Mehsana district of Gujarat. However, he spent his childhood in another village named Ambasan, also located in the Mehsana district.

In the early part of his life, he was a highly successful lawyer. Later, he devoted his life to realizing the supreme spiritual truth and bringing this divine knowledge forward for the welfare of humanity. Today, this supreme knowledge serves as a guiding light for true seekers to realize their ultimate destiny. It is a blessing of the highest divinity that the present time is witnessing the rise of this supreme spiritual knowledge, guiding souls on Earth to return to their original source.

Despite being raised in a very poor family and facing challenging circumstances, Bapuji had a deep desire to transform this sorrowful and suffering world into a better place. At the young age of six, he questioned God repeatedly, asking why God remained silent about the suffering of humanity. This intense longing to end human suffering eventually led him to attain the highest level of spirituality later in life.

Even as a child, Bapuji would spend hours alone in the fields, often neglecting his own comfort. Due to poverty, he would walk barefoot without shoes or sandals, frequently getting pricked by thorns. Many times, he would stay late in the fields and, on his way back home, encounter subtle world entities. These experiences sparked his interest in communicating with subtle world souls.

Bapuji was courageous from a young age, which helped him overcome many obstacles. Alongside his studies in chartered accountancy (CA), he gave tuition classes to support himself financially. Later, he completed his Bachelor of Law (LLB) degree and became a well-known lawyer in Ahmedabad.

In 1997, he established a spiritual institution called Vishwa Parivartak Ishwariya Vidhyalay in Chenpur, Ahmedabad, with the mission of transforming this mortal world, filled with suffering and disorder, into an eternal divine world of immortality. Smt. Sushma Tandon, lovingly known as “Maa,” worked alongside Bapuji in this grand divine mission.

To accomplish this mission, Bapuji worked tirelessly, dedicating all his resources to this divine purpose. During that time, he would deliver continuous spiritual discourses for up to 18 hours without rest. In these discourses, he explained the highest dimensions of divine knowledge, which he realized through deep meditation and divine vision in a state of superconsciousness. This knowledge goes beyond the imagination of the ordinary human mind.

Bapuji’s teachings cover a vast range of topics, including the types of celestial creators across different dimensions, the creation of our solar system, galaxy, and universe, and most importantly, the transcendental knowledge of the multiverse and realities beyond it. His knowledge is supremely profound and is intended for highly evolved seekers, referred to as behad souls. According to Bapuji, these behad souls will play a key role in transforming this mortal world into an eternal divine realm.

At present, Bapuji remains deeply engaged in intense meditation and samadhi for long hours. He does not meet anyone, as he is continuously immersed in his transcendental mission in a superconscious state.

Preface

One of the oldest and most painful questions of the human heart is this: Who is really running my life? Is it God? Is it fate? Or is it me? When something good happens, we quietly take the credit. When something painful happens, we look upward and say, “It must be God’s will.”

This book is a calm and clear reply to that question. It is drawn from three discourses by Bapuji Dashrathbhai Patel, in which he addresses, from the standpoint of Brahm Gyan, the central spiritual puzzle of our age — Free Will or God’s Will?

Bapuji shows, with the infinite clarity of Infinite Creation, that the soul is free. God does not push us, does not command us, does not pull the strings on our daily actions. Earthquakes, wars, accidents, illness, and even the moment of death are not divine punishments handed down from above. They are the reactions of our own thoughts, our own karma, our own collective vibrations that shape the atmosphere of this Earth and the influence of the subtle world.

At the same time, Bapuji does not leave the reader in despair. He points to the single true way out: know the Infinite Almighty Authority, the Highest Divine Supreme Father — Behad ke ParamPita — connect your own soul to its original source through yog, and the karmic bondage that has held the soul through multiple lives can be burned away.

The book is arranged in three Parts. Part One takes up the question of the Earth itself — who shakes it, who calms it. Part Two turns inward to the mystery of death and karmic bondage. Part Three answers the most personal question of all — who stops you from using your own free will?

Nothing has been added to Bapuji’s words. Nothing has been taken away in meaning. The discourse has only been refined into English prose so that the knowledge can travel across the world. The reader is encouraged to read slowly, to pause often, and to return to the original videos for the full living experience.

Chapter I

God's Will and the Illusion Behind It

People believe that everything happens by God's will. They say that without His wish, not even a leaf can move. He is the one who runs everything. If someone dies, they say — it is God's will. If someone turns out to be bad, again — God's will. But when someone turns out to be good, then no one says it is God's will. So is it really God who is running all of this?

The question of whether life events happen due to God's will or human free will has been asked for centuries. People often say — when something good happens, “I achieved it through my efforts”; when something bad happens, “God did this.”

Look carefully — these are the words of the path of devotion, bhakti-marg. This is the mindset of those who have followed the path of worship without deeper knowledge. It has a certain kind of wisdom in it, but it is not the real wisdom. It is not Brahm Gyan. Those on the path of devotion will say that when Satyug, Treta, Dwapar, and Kalyug have run their full course and the world has grown corrupt, God destroys it. When the asuras multiply, when there is a decline of dharma, then the Lord takes an avatar — Vishnu comes down and destroys the demons. That much is indeed true. At the time of dharma-glaani, the descent of dharma, it does happen. Krishna Himself said in the Gita:

Yada yada hi dharmasya glaanir bhavati Bharata —

Whenever dharma declines on this Earth, I come and destroy the demons.

That is correct. But the real question is deeper. Do the partial deluge, the full deluge, the great deluge, the maha-kal pralay — do all of these happen only because of God's will? Is God the one running all of this?

This is where the knower of Brahm speaks. A Brahm Gyani explains everything very differently and with full accuracy — from the beginning, the middle, and the end of the entire universe. According to spiritual knowledge, the soul is independent and responsible for its own karmas (actions) and karma-bandhan (karmic bondage). Understanding the relationship between free will, karma, suffering, death, destiny, atheism, war, and natural calamities helps a soul move toward liberation (moksha) and Paramshanti (supreme peace).

♦ Insight: “Jo Brahm Gyani hai vo poora brahmand ka aadi-madhya-ant ka gyan se samjhata hai.”

“The one who is a knower of Brahm explains everything through the knowledge of the beginning, middle, and end of the entire universe.”

Chapter II

The Soul Is Free — And Acts by Its Own Will

The human soul — in fact every soul — is free. It acts by its own will. It performs good or bad actions according to its own understanding, according to its own intelligence.

God has not imposed bondage on the soul. Every soul has freedom to think, decide, and act. Whatever actions a soul performs create karmic impressions stored in the subtle body (sukshma sharir). The subtle body acts as a record of karmas accumulated across many births. When the right time arrives, karmas give results. These results may appear as happiness, suffering, illness, success, failure, life circumstances, relationships, or lifespan. Thus, events occur due to karmic results, not because God arbitrarily decides suffering.

In the Gita, it is said: “I create through Brahma and destroy through Shankar. Creation and destruction are happening at every moment.” Nitya pralay, the constant dissolution of individual bodies and forms, is going on every single second. The ardha pralay, the kal pralay, the maha-kalpa pralay — these greater deluges also come in their own time. But they are not arbitrary explosions of divine anger.

Krishna also said in the Gita — after giving the full divine knowledge to Arjuna — these simple words:

“Mun mana bhav — Now, O Arjuna, whatever comes into your mind, you do it. Or else, surrender to Me, forget all bodily attachments, consider yourself a soul, remember Me, the Supreme Soul, and I shall destroy all your sins and take you to the Supreme Abode.”

That was Krishna’s instruction. Either act by your own free will and bear the consequences — or surrender to the Almighty Authority and be freed. The choice was left to Arjuna. The choice is left to every soul.

The soul is independent. God does not force anyone. God has not placed a chain on any soul that says — you must think only what I think. Every soul is free.

✦ Insight: “Atma apni marzi se free hai. Apni marzi se acche ya bure karma karta hai, apni buddhi ke hisaab se.”

“The soul is free by its own will. It performs good or bad actions by its own will, according to its own intelligence.”

Chapter III

Does God's Will Cause Natural Calamities?

There is a popular Hindi film scene in which, after an earthquake destroys a man's shop, the man actually files a case against God. He argues that nothing on this Earth can happen against God's will, and since his shop has collapsed, it must therefore have happened by God's will. So he demands that God return his money. He invokes the Bible, the Quran, the Gita. Each scripture, he says, declares that God shakes the Earth. If God alone shakes the Earth, then God alone is responsible for every ruined shop, every lost life, every fallen home.

If God does not shake the Earth, then who is responsible for earthquakes? Who is behind all these natural calamities? To understand this, we must look at the quality of the souls living on Earth at any given time.

The Atmosphere is Built by Human Vibration

When sato-pradhan souls are living on Earth — as they do in Satyug — the human soul is in its highest state. Its thoughts are positive, its vibrations are pure. And from these positive vibrations, the atmosphere itself is built. A positive atmosphere shapes Nature. It shapes the five elements — earth, water, fire, air, and space — which in turn are formed by the vibrations and thoughts of human souls.

When the Earth carries positive vibrations, it does not shake. It stays in balance.

But as time moves on — from Satyug to Treta, Treta to Dwapar, Dwapar to Kalyug — lakhs of years pass. The four ages together form the chatur-yug. Slowly, the souls of human beings take on negative qualities (tamo-pradhan). The soul power (kala) goes down. From sixteen kalas the soul falls to twelve kalas, and then further.

As the soul becomes tamo-pradhan, negative thoughts dominate. Fights, quarrels, and conflicts multiply — especially in Dwapar and Kalyug. Negative thinking produces negative vibrations. Negative vibrations create a negative atmosphere.

And from this negative atmosphere, the five elements themselves become negative and imbalanced.

Who Really Built This Earth?

Who made this Earth, in the first place? Brahma made it. Brahma had to make it because the deities were falling. Before the fall, there was no need for this Earth at all. There were no planets, no Sun. The Sun itself was not needed, because the souls themselves were full of the light of billions and trillions of suns. They were param souls — very powerful, of the highest quality, farishta-like, angelic in form.

Then, slowly, these souls' power fell. The soul came into its tamo-pradhan state. Its vibrations turned negative. Its thoughts turned negative. From this, the atmosphere turned negative. And just as the human body is affected by the state of the soul inside it, the five gross elements of Nature are affected by the collective vibrations of the souls on the Earth.

This is Why the Earth Shakes

That is why the Earth shakes. God is not shaking it. The negative collective thought of humanity is shaking it. At the very end of Kalyug, when *dharm*a has declined completely, when evil becomes unbearable, there will indeed come a moment when God Himself brings about the final destruction. Water-deluge, kal pralay, ardha pralay — Bapuji has explained all of these in earlier discourses. That final shaking will happen in one moment. In a single second, everything will be shaken.

♦ Insight: “Bhagwan dharti ko nahi hilata. Tumhari soch negative hai isliye dharti hil rahi hai.”

“God does not shake the Earth. The Earth shakes because your thinking is negative.”

A simple image makes this clear. You sow the seed of a babool tree — a thorny tree — and then you hope to taste the sweet mango. Human actions are like the babool, full of thorns, painful karmic records. And yet the human's desire is to go to heaven. It does not work like that. Think positive thoughts. Science is developing. Even modern scientists are now speaking seriously of the multiverse, and the theoretical frameworks supporting it continue to grow.

That means the limited vision of “only this one small world being run by one small God” is breaking down. The truth is becoming visible.

Chapter IV

From Sato-pradhan to Tamo-pradhan — The Fall of the Soul

The grahas — the planets — also affect the human soul. This happens through the gravity of the Sun. The Sun's gravity extends to all the planets in its system. Scientists describe the Sun's gravitational influence as extending across vast distances — across many trillions of kilometres. Through that gravitational power, the Sun influences every planet, and the planets in turn influence the human soul. But this influence is not the final answer. The real answer lies deeper — in the fall of the soul from its sato-pradhan state.

The Sixteen Kalas and the Fall

The soul was once a param purush, a supreme being, dwelling in a world of farishtas. At that time there was no Earth, no Sun. The Sun was unnecessary, because the soul itself radiated the light of billions of suns, the light of infinite suns.

Then, slowly, the soul fell. Its quality descended. First from sixteen kalas it fell to fourteen, then to twelve. Kala here means the spiritual degree of purity and power. As the soul fell, its thoughts fell. As its thoughts fell, its vibrations fell. As its vibrations fell, the atmosphere fell. As the atmosphere fell, the five elements fell into imbalance.

This is the chain of descent. It is not a divine curse. It is the natural effect of the soul moving away from its original point of pure consciousness.

How the Soul Becomes Tamo-pradhan

In the tamo-pradhan state, the soul's vibrations are negative; its sankalpas — its thoughts and intentions — are negative. From these thoughts, the atmosphere around the soul is built. The gross nature, the sthool nature, is affected. That is why we see the five elements going out of balance — cyclones, earthquakes, floods, droughts.

Just as the state of your soul affects the state of your body, the collective state of all souls affects the state of the Earth itself. If every human being is filled with anger, fear, greed, lust, and ego, then the Earth cannot remain calm. The Earth is only the outer mirror of the inner state of humanity. So do not blame God for the earthquake. The earthquake is the reflection of your own mind.

“Whatever you think, that you will get. Whatever you do, that you will get.”

Chapter V

The Gita's Command and the Duty of the Present Age

Arjuna was afraid to act. He was afraid because his own guru stood before him in the enemy's camp. His grandfather Bhishma stood before him. His teachers, his cousins, his kinsmen — all were there, ready to fight him. He said — how can I kill them? But Krishna told him — it is his Dharma. Those who have turned against dharmā, who are the greatest sinners, must be stopped. That was the command. It was necessary for that time and that circumstance. There was no police, no military. The kings themselves had to fight. Arjuna himself had to act. In the Gita, Krishna said — “mun mana bhav” — whatever comes into your mind, now you do it. The choice is yours.

But what should today's human being do? That is the question before us.

What the Modern Seeker Must Do

On one side, the Earth is shaking. On the other, the five elements have lost their strength. On yet another, the planets are casting their effects on the Earth. Even if we say this much, nothing wrong will be said. So what should the present human being do?

Know the Infinite Father. Take behad ka gyan — the knowledge of the unlimited, the infinite, the endless. Know your own soul's Great-Great-Grandfather. Know the Almighty Authority. And stop trying to pacify the Earth through empty ritual.

Think positive thoughts — first for yourself, and then for the Earth. Follow the path of knowledge, gyan-marg. Spiritual teaching emphasises this: observe your thoughts, observe your actions, improve your karmas, practise positive thinking, connect with Supreme Consciousness. By transforming oneself, collective consciousness improves. Improvement in collective consciousness influences global harmony.

♦ Insight: “Gyani bano, yogi bano, Almighty Authority ko yaad karo, positive thinking rakho vishwa kalyan ke liye.”

“Become a knower, become a yogi, remember the Almighty Authority, and keep positive thinking for the welfare of the world.”

Self-Transformation First

First, work for the welfare of your own soul. What world-welfare will you do when you yourself are trapped in the daily anxieties of bread and butter? When you are caught in attachments — to family, to money, to pleasure — from morning till night? You have no time to take knowledge. Humans have become narrow-minded, like the frog in the well. Come out. Become the fish of the ocean of knowledge. Remember the Almighty Authority. Keep positive thinking for the welfare of the world.

Through knowledge, slowly each soul will transform within itself. As each soul transforms, and as souls change, the negative vibrations which are causing these earthquakes and calamities will stop.

When positive vibrations spread, the entire atmosphere will change. When the atmosphere changes, negative thinking will end. Positive thinking will rise. The human body will change. The thinking of the mind will change. And the Almighty Authority Himself will do the rest.

Krishna is an avatar. Whose avatar? Of the Almighty Authority Himself. Know that Almighty Authority. “Know Me. Understand Me. Come to My refuge. I shall free you from all sins, and finally I shall take you to the Supreme Abode — the Param Pad, the Paramdham.”

In the end, when everything is out of control, God’s will does come. But even then, He does not force anyone. The soul is independent. The soul must turn by its own choice. The Almighty Authority never compels — He only waits, like a mother waits for her crying child to run to her for shelter.

♦ Insight: “Sva parivartan karoge to vishwa parivartan ho hi jaayega.”

PART TWO

Free Will, Death and Karmic Bondage

*If the soul is free,
then who decides the moment of death?*

Chapter VI

Is Death by Free Will or by God's Will?

When a human being dies, does it happen by the soul's own free will or does it happen by God's will? Death comes to every soul — often even when the soul does not want it. How does that happen?

If a young child dies, people often say — the child did not receive medical treatment, that is why the child died. It was God's will. Some say that if only they could have reached the hospital on time, the child could have been saved. Whose will is really at work at the moment of death?

The answer is clear. The soul is free. There is no bondage placed upon it by God. God has not put a chain on the soul that says — you must think only what I think. Death happens through karmic bondage. Death comes through the karma-bandhan that is already recorded in the soul.

Karmic Records

Death is not imposed by God's wish alone. It is connected with karmic completion. If someone dies in an accident without receiving treatment, that is the result of his karma. One person receives medical help in time; another does not. Even situations such as lack of medical treatment, reaching hospital late, sudden death, or recovery from illness are connected with karmic records stored in the subtle body.

The Causal Body (Karan Sharir) keeps the record of all our karma done over multiple lifetimes.

◆ Insight: “Har koi atma apne har koi karma ke liye responsible hai — chahe jeevan ho, chahe mrityu ho.”

“Every soul is responsible for every one of its actions — whether in life, or in death.”

The Theory of Karma is Accepted Today

Today the theory of karma is being studied everywhere. In almost every religion it is taught — if you do good, good will come; if you do bad, bad will come. Almost everyone understands it. However, a real question is answered by Bapuji here. Can a human being's own free will choose to die at a certain fixed time?

The Yogis Who Chose Their Own Exit

Bapuji answers — yes, in a certain way. Yogis and Rishis in ancient times were able to leave the physical body at will. They could withdraw the sukshma sharir from the stool sharir and walk out. That was their own iccha-mrityu — death by their own will. They had such power in their soul that they could charge the subtle body and exit. The gross body remained behind, and the subtle body departed.

But this is not an ordinary matter. It is possible only when the soul has attained immense spiritual power through deep tapasya, meditation, and yog. This belongs only to fully realised yogis of the ancient lineage. It is in no way a teaching or instruction that an ordinary seeker should attempt to leave the body, nor is it permission for any such act. For every soul today, the path is the opposite — preserve the body, complete one's karma, take spiritual knowledge, and let liberation come at its destined hour.

Chapter VII

What Actually Happens in Death

Soon after death, the human gross body — made of only two of the elements in their heavy form, earth and water — remains behind. It becomes a clay doll, a puppet of water and dust, left upon the Earth. The sukshma sharir, the subtle body, walks out of it. The subtle body is made of the three finer elements — fire, air, and space. These three remain with the soul even after the gross body has been abandoned. The soul moves into the subtle world carrying its karmic recordings and impressions.

Some souls attain moksha — liberation — through tapasya. When their sankalpas (deep intentions) gather enough power, they leave the body consciously. They complete their karma-bandhan on the Earth and depart. But one must be careful here. To take death upon oneself by choice is one thing. To attain moksha from karma-bandhan is another thing. Between the two, there is a great difference.

The Soul Still Carries Its Karmic Records

A soul tired of the world may withdraw the sukshma sharir by yogic force and leave the body. That was done by yogis in the past, and the process still exists today. A powerful yogi soul can still perform this. But even after leaving, the subtle body still carries its karma-bandhan. In the subtle world, the soul must still face its own record.

Instead of facing karma through the gross body, the soul faces it through the subtle. It is still there. If the soul truly wants moksha, if it wants to reach the Supreme Soul, it must still do the work — even in the subtle realm.

There, however, the soul has one advantage. The heaviness of the two gross elements, earth and water, is no longer pressing on it. It is freer from the body's weight. Because of that, its power of knowledge and contemplation becomes very sharp. It can do greater yog, greater meditation, and free itself faster from its bondage.

♦ Insight: “Mokshya paane ke liye Paramatma ki praapti ke liye usko sukshma jagat mein bhi karna hi padega.”

“To attain liberation, to attain the Supreme Soul, the soul must continue its practice even in the subtle world.”

Death is the End of Only Two Elements

So when the body dies, only the two elements — earth and water — are left behind. The other three — fire, air, and space — continue with the soul. This is why the inner journey of the soul does not end at death. It simply changes its stage.

This is also why one who has understood Brahm Gyan is not terrified of death. Death is not annihilation. It is a change of vesture. The soul moves on, carrying its record, continuing its work.

Chapter VIII

The Karmic Web — Why the Soul Cannot Break Free

In the ordinary state, death does not come by the soul's free will. It comes because of karma-bandhan. The same is true of illness, of accidents, of every painful event.

The Supreme Divine Soul of this one brahmand (Solar System) is Shiv — the incorporeal Shiv who resides in this Paramdham. He works through the form of Shiv-Shakti. No one — including Shiv-Shakti or Vishnu — interferes in the private web of each soul's karma-bandhan, the soul's own recording.

A simple example makes this clear. If one person is killing another, why does God not stop him at that very moment? Because God is not making him kill. The soul does the killing by its own will. The Supreme Soul does not force anyone to commit murder. The Supreme Soul does not desire such a thing.

A Web Like a Spider's Web

So who is responsible for every happening? The soul itself. The person himself. Whether he is practising yog to free the body of disease, or yog for moksha, or yog for attainment of the Supreme Soul — ultimately, he alone is responsible for his karma-bandhan.

Whatever circumstances come before him, whatever good or bad appears, whatever illness arises — all of this comes from his own past lives' karmas. That is why it is said again and again: every soul is responsible for its own actions. Life, death, joy, sorrow — all of it returns to the soul itself.

Someone else's karma does not touch him. He alone suffers from his own karma. And yet, out of ignorance, he shouts at God. "I alone am suffering!" he cries. But he is suffering from his own actions. What has God to do with it?

♦ Insight: “Karma bandhan makdi ki jaal hai. Usme phansi atma kya karegi?”

“Karmic bondage is like the web of a spider. Once the soul is caught in it, what can it do?”

Accumulated Karma of Many Births

Irrespective of what religion one belongs to or believes in, every soul follows the soul’s journey and the Theory of Karma. Over multiple lives, in the cycle of birth and rebirth, karma is accumulated. The reaction — reward or suffering — both come to the soul itself. These are our own karmas. Unless, of course, the individual lives in soul-consciousness and remembers the Supreme Soul — then only can the sins be destroyed.

Bapuji also explains this with a heart-touching example. A young child dies despite the family’s best efforts to reach medical care. At the deepest spiritual level, the unfolding of such events — including the very timing of medical help — is shaped by the karmic recording the soul carries. This is not a counsel against medical treatment. Every soul must take every worldly action available — call the doctor, reach the hospital, take the medicine, do everything possible — for that effort itself is the soul’s free will at work, and is the dharmic duty of every parent and every responsible person. The karmic record is what spiritual knowledge speaks of at the inner level; the outer effort to save life is what dharma requires of every soul in this world.

This is simply how karma-bandhan operates. Every soul comes under its law. From karma-bandhan, no one is exempt.

An individual must live in soul-consciousness and remember the Supreme Soul all the time — then only can the soul destroy its karmic recordings and change its destiny. That is the single true method. In the Gita, Lord Krishna has already revealed it. There are many roads for the destruction of vikarmas. But all of them begin and end in the same place — in knowing oneself as soul, and in connecting that soul back to the Supreme Soul.

Chapter IX

Blaming God — The Great Escape of the Ignorant

When something good happens, the human being says — I did it. When something bad happens, he says — God did it. This is the fashion of the age. Either God is blamed, or someone else becomes the target. Most often, it is God who is defamed. “God gave me this. God did this to me. It is God’s will. Whatever He wishes, shall be.” This is simple ignorance. The soul refuses to look at its own record, so it passes the blame upward.

But what is God’s answer? God says — I do nothing to you. You do it yourselves. You alone are the ones who act.

The Scriptures That Confuse

People quote the old saying — without God’s will, not even a leaf can move. Many scriptures contain this line. But is this what is truly happening? If that were really the case, then God would have no other work left except to move each single leaf of each single tree in the forest. Has God nothing else to do? Is this His only occupation?

If this were literally true, how could there be all these quarrels, fights, wars — World War One, World War Two? God would have silenced all of them from above. He would have seated everyone quietly.

Due to karma-bandhan, the five elements go out of balance. Due to the negative thoughts of humanity, such an atmosphere is formed, and this atmosphere affects Nature and its elements. Just as the state of the soul affects the state of the body, the collective state of all souls affects the five elements of Nature.

◆ Insight: “Tum apne aap karte ho, tum apne hi karmon se dukhi ho. Bhagwan kuch nahi karta.”

“You do it yourselves. You suffer from your own actions. God does nothing.”

The Temples That Were Destroyed

Take another example. In the Kedarnath floods, so many people died. Did God shake it? Many great sacred sites across the world have suffered destruction, neglect, or have become difficult for devotees to reach. Kailash Parvat, where Lord Shankar and Parvati reside, today lies beyond India's borders, and devotees from India cannot freely travel to it. Would God Himself, if He alone ran everything, allow His own holy seats to slip out of His devotees' reach? If God had such direct power, would He not preserve every sacred place exactly where His devotees most love Him?

Across history, countless sacred places of every faith have been destroyed by other human beings. If God were doing this Himself, would it not be a strange contradiction? Human beings did this. Human beings, out of their own wrong intelligence, tore each other apart in the name of religion. Many great wars have been fought across continents and centuries; lakhs upon lakhs have died. In the First World War and the Second World War, many perished. Did God arrange this? Did God place the weapons in those hands? Nowhere in any scripture is it written that religions should go to war with each other, that one faith should crush another. And yet people did this, with their own minds, with their own hands.

The Saadhu Who Became an Atheist

There are also those who do not believe in God. Yet karma-bandhan operates on every soul, regardless of belief — the believer and the non-believer alike are within its law. Karma-bandhan will bring him death, just like everyone else. Perhaps in this very life his karma-bandhan has made him an atheist.

A certain saadhu was once a great ritualist. He performed elaborate karma-kaand worship. But later, that same great saadhu became an atheist. Why? Because what he desired from God did not come to pass. He felt angry with God. He felt cheated. He wished for a certain fruit from his rituals, and it did not come. So he turned hostile to God.

This is the story of many such souls. They curse and abuse God when desires are not fulfilled, so they deny the very existence of the One they once worshipped. But God has no involvement. The soul is simply turning away from its own source.

♦ Insight: “Bhagwan tumhe kuch nahi karta. Tum apne hi karna.”

“God does nothing to you. You yourself are the doer.”

Chapter X

Wars, Violence and the Illusion of Free Will

Bapuji states a deep fact on Free Will. On one human being's free will, another soul's free will can also operate. This is how wars are started. This is how violence spreads.

History gives many such examples. A person who survives a near-death moment by accident or by the help of another may later go on to perform acts of vast consequence — for good or for harm. Had that soul died at that very moment, the chain of events that followed might never have unfolded. But that soul was saved — and afterwards, vast and devastating works were carried out through that life.

Looking at karma-bandhan, this is how it operates. A soul is saved at one point, and later the karmic result of that saving plays out. Had that soul died in that moment, or even simply been abandoned on the field, the chain would have ended there. But many hands saved that soul, and through that saving the rest of history unfolded.

Then one profound question is triggered with this example, which Bapuji encourages the seeker to ask — what came forward? Did his accumulated blessings from past lives help save his life first, thus granting him a second life? In the same way, his negative accumulated actions (vikarmas) also came forward, driving the destruction that followed.

Negative Forces Working Through Human Beings

Similarly, satanic forces also make human beings perform negative actions. The subtle-world beings, the sukshma-jagat forces, influence souls on Earth to quarrel. Wars between two religions — how do they arise? Negative entities in the subtle world influence the minds of human beings. The souls follow a light, thinking it is guidance from above, and behind that light they walk into war.

Two religions then go to war. The subtle-world beings enjoy it. Bapuji says plainly that the entire gross world is being played and influenced by the subtle world. Many times, without wishing to, a human being performs a negative action. Who is truly doing it? Sometimes a subtle-world entity enters the soul and acts through it.

This is how guns are fired through a soul. This is how bombs are detonated. Ghosts and spirits — bhoot-pret — enjoy such play. They are negative in nature and they influence humans to perform negative acts. Yet, even so, the bondage of karma still falls upon the soul who acted. The karmic record belongs to the one who pulled the trigger. Bapuji also clarifies that only when there is karmic bondage between souls can souls from the spirit world act via physical-world souls (human beings).

The Scientist Who Made the Bomb

Take another example. Scientists once received a moment of inspiration and built the atom-bomb. The same atom-bomb was later used in war, and many lakhs of innocent civilians perished. Did the scientists who built it not know that death would follow from it? Are scientists not intelligent enough to understand the outcome of their own invention? They will say — we made it for self-defence. We made it to protect the country. We made it so enemies would fear us. But what did it create? Many lakhs died. And wars continue. Did God manufacture that weapon? Did God drop it?

Free Will and the Influence of Others

So yes — on the human being's own free will, other souls also influence. But it is still the human being's own choice whether to listen or not. If he is a spiritually knowledgeable soul, he can recognise what is happening. He can use his own free will. Others cannot override him.

But today, what is happening? Whatever we see on television, whatever we see in advertisements, we accept as truth. We make that our free will and act accordingly. In the soul-world, this is what is going on. Human beings are shifting their own wishes, their own desires, according to what the screen shows them. And then they say — this is my free will.

♦ Insight: “Free will hone ke baavjood bhi acche karma nahi karta. Gyani atma hi apni free will ko use kar paati hai.”

“Even having free will, the soul does not do good actions. Only a gyani soul can truly use its own free will.”

The Subtle Colouring of the Mind

Today the company we keep, the colour of association — sang ka rang — has become so powerful. The mobile, the advertisement, the model, the endless stream of suggestion, all press upon our minds. Sometimes a person does wrong even when he does not wish to. For the sake of the family, for the sake of feeding loved ones, he finds himself doing what he knows is wrong. He knows — I am doing wrong — but what can I do? I must take care of my family. So wrong must be done.

This is the illusion of free will. The soul imagines itself free, but in truth it is blown by many winds — the wind of subtle influence, the wind of external suggestion, the wind of its own karmic recording.

Only knowledge sets the soul genuinely free. Only when the soul knows the Supreme Soul, takes power through yog, and stands firm in its own light can it truly act from free will.

Human intellect without spiritual wisdom can create suffering.

PART THREE

Who Stops You from Using Your Free Will?

The most personal of all the three questions — answered from within the soul itself.

Chapter XI

The Prison of Unfulfilled Desires

Now we arrive at the most personal of the three questions. Who and what stops us from using our free will? That is the puzzle every human being quietly faces.

Not everyone's desires are fulfilled. Who stops them? Whose hand presses against them? A human being has many wishes, and yet the wishes do not come true. Who is the one blocking the path?

To understand this, one must first look at the theory of karma.

Desires That Cannot Be Fulfilled

Bapuji explains with examples from daily life. A simple wish like buying a car — but the money for the car does not come together. Food and bread are barely managed. And yet you wish for a big bungalow. “I shall fly in aeroplanes. I shall travel by helicopter. I shall become the master of the three worlds — like Raavan, who wished to rule bhoo-lok, bhor-lok, and swarg-lok, the three realms. I shall be the Prime Minister of the country.” Everyone has vast, enormous wishes. The desires are large. The soul is fully free to wish — it wishes without limit.

The cause of all sorrow is desire itself. The very root of all sadness is the sea of endless wanting. Free will includes all these wishes.

These are the sankalpas of self-will running endlessly. If someone believes he has free will — well then, fine. Let all desires be fulfilled. But this is not what happens.

◆ Insight: “Ichchaon ka kaaran hi dukh hai.”

“The cause of sorrow is desire itself.”

The Real Blocker is Karma-Bandhan

What blocks free will? Bapuji explains that the Theory of Karma is the reason that blocks all these endless desires of human beings. According to the karmic record stored inside the Karan Sharir (Causal Body), the result comes forward accordingly. That karma-bandhan is what prevents desires from being fulfilled.

That is why so many people complain — I want this, but it does not happen. Then they blame the One above. “The One above does not wish it, so my work does not succeed.” People say — perhaps the right time has not come. “It will happen when the time comes. Just wait.”

But that is an easy comfort. If you keep sleeping and dreaming, “I need lakhs of rupees,” all day long, the money will not arrive. There are many videos these days on manifestation, but if your soul has no power then your sankalpas have no power (shakti). A poor person will look at the rich and his worldly belongings and wish for luxurious items, but the poor person mostly does not get them — because the soul has no power.

Why does the soul have no power? Because the karma-bandhan of multiple births is still stored inside it. The soul has become tamo-pradhan (negative in nature). In this state of total tamo-pradhan-ness, one starts worshipping negative deities (devi-devtas) and gets nothing in return.

This is why desires remain desires and do not become reality.

Chapter XII

Karmic Recording — The Hidden Resistance

The real resistance is not coming from outside. It is sitting within us. All the karmas of many births have pressed themselves into our impressions, intellect, and mind. The soul has become heavy with its own recording.

Because of this heaviness, the soul has lost its power. A soul with no power cannot make sankalpas reach fulfilment. It can wish endlessly, but the wishes will not take shape in the outer world.

Why Free Will Does Not Function

The soul that says — I am independent, I have free will — is indeed free. God does not interfere from above. God never forces. He leaves the soul to itself. But that very freedom becomes the soul's undoing, because the soul's inner record is unable to manifest high outcomes.

Karma-bandhan is the chain inside the soul. There is no outer jailer. There is only an inner record that the soul has built over countless lives. And that inner record in the Karan Sharir now blocks every large desire from reaching fulfilment.

In the subtle-gross world, there are many other souls around us. There are bhoot-pret souls too. In the second loka there are other souls. In the third loka the devtas were once seated. But even the devtas did not have endless good fortune. In this view, devtas lived in pleasure — music, dance, and soma — gradually exhausting their soul-power. As spiritual strength declined, they fell from swarg (heaven) into the human realm. Thus, indulgence led to descent, and divine beings became manushya, illustrating a cycle where loss of inner purity results in rebirth at a lower state.

Be it higher realms or even in the Paramdham of this solar system, there is no absolute power. At the centre of the Galaxy lies the Maha-Paramdham — what scientists call the Supermassive Black Hole. That is where Maha-Shiv resides, the One who runs ananta koti brahmands, the endless solar systems. But even there, power is not absolute, because srijan-visarjan is going on endlessly — creation and destruction, creation and destruction. Satyug, Treta, Dwapar, Kalyug pass in order. Ardha-pralay, kal-pralay, maha-kal-pralay come in turn. Even Maha-Shiv, in the form of Maha-Kaal, absorbs the endless brahmands into His own pores at the final hour.

This means that even in the highest regions, power keeps circulating. It is not owned by anyone. It only moves. So how can the soul on Earth imagine itself as the master of its own free will?

♦ Insight: “Agle janam janam ka jo karma hai, karma-bandhan, uske jo bhi karma atma mein recording pada hua hai — isliye atma tamo-pradhan ban gayi hai.”

“The karmas of countless births — whatever karmic recording has pressed itself into the soul — that is why the soul has become tamo-pradhan.”

The Soul Has Forgotten Its True Origin

The soul has forgotten who it is. It does not know itself as an eternal point of light. It calls itself by names, by bodies, by labels. It has forgotten the original state. When the soul does not know its origin or its Creator, from where will it receive power? If it worships tamo-pradhan devi-devtas, it will get tamo-pradhan vibrations in return. If it performs bhakti in the tamo-pradhan state, it will collect only more negativity. This is why the devotee often feels drained after years of ritual.

There is only one way. Know the Supreme Almighty Authority. Do yog. Connect the soul to its own source. Take power from there. As the soul charges, karma-bandhan begins to burn. As karma-bandhan burns, the soul's desires begin to function again.

Only then does free will truly become free.

Chapter XIII

Why Worship Alone Cannot Save You Today

People say that free will is a real thing. The Supreme Soul does not interfere in it. Brahma, Vishnu, and Shankar also do not forcibly interfere. And yet, interestingly, Shankar used to grant boons — and he granted them even to asuras. Shankar is tamo-pradhan. Brahma is sato-pradhan. Vishnu is rajo-pradhan. Shankar, in this knowledge, holds the divine office of destruction within one brahmand — that is His sacred role in the cycle of creation, sustenance, and dissolution. This is not a description of any flaw, only of the function each deity performs.

Bapuji explains that this is a teaching about the inner physics of remembrance itself. Whatever quality of remembrance the soul holds most deeply, that same quality begins to colour the soul's own thoughts. Krishna Himself said this in the Gita: “Whatever you remember, that you will attain.”

So when remembrance is anchored only in one quality — tamo-pradhan in nature — that same tamo-pradhan vibration begins to colour the soul. Sankalpas of that same quality shall arise within. This is not a criticism of any deity, nor of any devotee — every deity holds a sacred role in the cosmic order. It is simply a teaching about the inner law of remembrance. If remembrance is anchored in the rajo-pradhan quality, that quality shall flow. The highest remembrance, Bapuji teaches, is of the Incorporeal Almighty Authority — the source of all the deities themselves — from which the purest sato-pradhan quality enters the soul.

The Confusion of So Many Sects

Bapuji highlights the confusion created by the proliferation of *dharma*s, sects, and traditions, urging deep introspection (nichar-sagar-manthan). Bapuji suggests that constant change in the world reflects inner instability and lack of true knowledge. The path forward is gyan-marg — self-transformation through atma-gyan and connection with the incorporeal Supreme Almighty Authority in Behad ke Paramdham.

Bapuji also states that across lokas, where different beings reside — humans, subtle entities, and devtas — even devtas, once elevated, fell due to indulgence and loss of soul-power, becoming human. This illustrates a cycle of rise and fall governed by inner purity and spiritual strength, not merely status or position. Finally, in higher cosmic realms, including Maha-Paramdham, even immense power does not end the eternal cycle of creation and destruction. True liberation lies not in any realm but in diving into the ocean of knowledge — realising the ultimate truth beyond all layers of existence.

♦ Insight: “Gyan sagar mein doobna padega.”

“You will have to dive deep into the ocean of knowledge.”

Karma-Bandhan Still Decides the Family You Take Birth In

There is another subtle matter. Sometimes a grandfather wishes to take birth in his own son’s son’s house. The wish is there, and perhaps the karma-bandhan to do so is also there. The yog is formed. But meanwhile, many other souls — souls who carry strong karmic claims of their own upon that same home — may already be drawn there. Those karmic forces resist the new soul’s entry. They push it away, and instead another soul takes the place that was sought.

Today, the saying fits well — whoever has the stick, owns the buffalo. Whoever has the strength rules the field. In the gross world, yes. But also in the subtle world. Whichever soul carries more karmic power at that moment, that soul prevails. The world of human beings is moved silently, from behind, by such karmic forces operating in the subtle realm.

But whichever human being has atma-gyan, whoever has the knowledge of the Supreme Soul, whoever knows the Almighty Authority — his soul is no longer tamo-pradban. It is charging. It is taking power from the Almighty Authority. That soul has power inside it. Negative souls can do nothing to him.

This is the age of knowledge. Just as in worldly life there is study — doctors, engineers, and others studying many branches — in the same way, study the spiritual. Take the alaukik study as well as the laukik study. And at this hour, take the supreme knowledge of the unlimited — the behad ka param gyan, which is being written into books now. In earlier scriptures, only the story of one brahmand was recorded — the story of Brahma, Vishnu, Shiv, and Shankar. Beyond that, there was no record of the maha-brahmand, the koti-brahmand, the Galaxy, the Universe, the Multiverse. Now the knowledge of the behad ki kala is needed. That is what is needed today.

Chapter XIV

The Way Forward — Self Change to World Change

The soul is free — that has been proved. God does not run it. God does not push it. God does not stop it. The soul acts by its own will, and also suffers by its own will. Every soul is responsible — for life, for death, for joy, for sorrow. But the same soul, acting alone, is not strong enough to break its own karma-bandhan. The recording inside the soul blocks its own desires. The vibrations inside the soul move the outer atmosphere. The thoughts of the soul shake the Earth itself. All of this, the soul is doing — and yet the soul cannot free itself on its own.

Here only the Almighty Authority can help. Krishna Himself declared it:

“Consider yourself a soul, remember the Supreme Soul, and I shall destroy all your sins.”

What Must Be Done

First, take spiritual knowledge. Become a gyani. Know behad ka vishwa. Know the Infinite Supreme Father. Know the Almighty Authority. Know the Great-Great-Grandfather.

Second, do yog. Yog means connection. Take power from the Source. Join the soul back to the incorporeal Creator in the respective Paramdham.

Third, self-transformation. Change your own thinking. Change your own sankalpas. As your vibrations shift from negative to positive, your body will also begin to change. The soul will be prepared. It will be ever-ready to travel to the Supreme Abode.

Fourth, understand your body as a garment. The cloth of the soul is the body. Put on a new garment. What is the new garment? Let go of the old five-element body. Take the knowledge of the param-tatvas. Let param-light, param-prakash, enter the soul.

♦ Insight: “Sva parivartan se vishwa parivartan ho hi jaayega.”

“From self-transformation, world-transformation will follow on its own.”

The World Will Change Only Through You

Bapuji’s answer to the seeker is direct. For the moment, what we can actually do is this —

Even a subtle shift in your vibrations begins to shape your bhagya, your destiny. The first transformation happens within: the self evolves, and gradually even the body reflects this change. When the final moment of transition arrives — what some call the Day of Judgement — the soul stands prepared, steady, and ready to move into a new world.

At that time, the outer covering changes like a garment. A new body emerges, while the old body made of the five gross elements cannot journey to Paramdham. Only the refined, subtle body of param-tatva can reach that highest state. So the preparation must begin now — from this very moment.

As you transform within, your home itself becomes a mandir. Your soul gathers such power that anyone who sees you or even remembers you begins to feel uplifted. People are naturally drawn and may say, “Thinking of you brings me peace.”

Your actions become shrest karmas — pure and elevated, free from negativity. Every karma and every sankalpa is offered to the Divine. Living as both a karma-yogi and a gyan-yogi, your inner change begins to flow outward, turning self-transformation into world-transformation.

♦ Insight: “Pehle tum badlo, apne aap ko badlo, sva parivartan karo.”

“First you change, change yourself, perform self-transformation.”

The Final Verse

The Gita’s final teaching has already said it all:

“Know Me. Understand Me. Come to My refuge.

I shall free you from all sins of many births.

I shall lift you up and carry you to the Supreme Abode.”

That is the way forward. That is the answer to the question of free will. God has given freedom to the soul. Human beings are responsible for their actions and karmic consequences.

Suffering, death, illness, success, and failure relate to karmic patterns rather than arbitrary divine punishment. Spiritual knowledge teaches: use free will wisely, perform positive karma, purify thoughts, practise yog, understand karmic law. Through self-transformation, karmic bondage reduces, and the soul progresses toward liberation and Paramshanti — supreme peace.

Bapuji Insights

Gathered here are the most powerful lines spoken by Bapuji across the three source discourses. Each is given first in Hinglish (Roman-script transliteration of the original Hindi as Bapuji spoke it), followed by its English meaning. These lines carry the essence of the teaching and may be returned to again and again in quiet contemplation.

Glossary

The following glossary explains the Sanskrit and Hindi terms used in this book, drawn from the canonical spiritual vocabulary used in Bapuji's discourses and consistent with the terminology of Life in Multiverse.

Almighty Authority — The Supreme, Unlimited Father of all souls — the highest conscious power, beyond form and beyond the cycle of creation.

Ananta koti brahmand — Endless, countless universes — the infinity of cosmic realms beyond our own solar system.

Ardha pralay — Partial deluge — a large-scale destruction that does not dissolve the entire creation, but transforms a portion of it.

Arbo-suns / Kharbo-suns — Billions and trillions of suns — Bapuji's way of conveying the immense inner radiance of the soul in its original, highest state.

Asura — A demonic soul; one whose nature has become destructive, aggressive, and opposed to dharmā.

Atma — The soul; a point of conscious energy that is eternal and indestructible.

Atma-gyan — Knowledge of the soul — the true understanding of one's own identity as a soul rather than a body.

Avatar — A divine descent — the taking of a human form by a higher spiritual being for the welfare of the world.

Behad — Unlimited, boundless. Used in relation to the Unlimited Father and the unlimited universe.

Behad ka gyan — The knowledge of the unlimited — the supreme spiritual understanding that extends far beyond one single brahmand into the multiverse and beyond.

Bhagya — Fortune; destiny shaped by one's karma and spiritual effort.

Bhakti-marg — The path of devotion — worship-based spirituality, as distinguished from the path of knowledge.

Bhoo-lok, Bhor-lok, Swarg-lok — The three worlds — the earthly realm, the intermediate realm, and the heavenly realm.

Bhoot-pret — Ghosts and disembodied spirits — subtle-world entities that have not moved on to a higher state.

Brahm Gyan — The supreme spiritual knowledge of the Universal Spirit; the knowledge of the beginning, middle, and end of the entire cosmos.

Brahm Gyani — A knower of Brahm Gyan; one who holds in consciousness the full map of the unlimited creation.

Brahma, Vishnu, Shankar — The three subtle-world deities of creation, sustenance, and destruction, working within one single brahmand.

Brahmand — A universe, understood by Bapuji as the solar-system-level creation; the smallest full cosmic unit.

Chatur-yug — The cycle of four ages — Satyug, Treta, Dwapar, and Kalyug — which together form the full world-cycle.

Deity / Devta — A higher celestial being of the subtle world; originally a pure, powerful soul.

Dharma — The divine moral and spiritual order; the righteous way of living.

Dharma-glaani — A decline of dharma — a period in which righteousness has weakened and adharma has risen.

Dukha — Sorrow, suffering, pain — the root condition from which the soul seeks liberation.

Farishta — An angelic being; a soul of the highest, light-filled quality.

Free Will — The independence of the soul to choose and act; the capacity of the soul to perform karma of its own accord, without coercion from God.

Gita / Bhagavad Gita — The sacred discourse given by Krishna to Arjuna on the battlefield of Kurukshetra, carrying the essence of spiritual knowledge.

Grahas — The planets and celestial bodies whose gravitational and energetic effects reach the Earth.

Gyan / Gyaan — Knowledge — specifically, spiritual knowledge.

Gyan-marg — The path of knowledge; the spiritual way that attains liberation through understanding rather than ritual.

Gyan-sagar — The ocean of knowledge — the vast and deep field of spiritual understanding.

Gyani — A knower; a soul established in true spiritual knowledge.

Ichha-mrityu — Willed death — the ability of a highly realised yogi to leave the body at the moment of his own choosing.

Kaal pralay — A major deluge — a great cosmic dissolution occurring at the end of an age.

Kala — A degree of spiritual quality or purity. The soul originally carried sixteen kalas and gradually descends across the ages.

Kalyug — The final of the four ages — the age of conflict, decline, and maximum tamo-pradhan quality.

Karma — Action; the deeds of body, speech, and mind.

Karma-bandhan — Karmic bondage — the chain of accumulated karmic record stored inside the soul from many births.

Karma-yogi — One who performs actions with spiritual awareness, offering every action to the Supreme Soul.

Khuda-Taala — An Arabic name for the Supreme God; used here to acknowledge that the Supreme Soul is known by many names in many traditions.

Maha-brahmand — A great universe — a cosmic unit larger than a single brahmand, corresponding roughly to what astronomy calls a galaxy.

Maha-kal pralay — The greatest cosmic dissolution; the final absorption of all creation by Maha-Kaal.

Maha Paramdham — The Great Supreme Abode located at the centre of the galaxy, where Maha-Shiv resides.

Maha-Shiv — The great form of Shiv who presides over countless universes from the centre of the galaxy.

Manushya atma — A human soul; a soul currently embodied in a human form.

Mokshya / Moksha — Liberation — release from the cycle of birth and death.

Multiverse — The ensemble of countless universes; an unlimited creation beyond a single universe.

Nitya pralay — Constant dissolution — the ongoing moment-by-moment ending of individual bodies and forms.

Paramdham — The Supreme Abode; the original soul-world of pure light where the Supreme Soul resides.

Param Pad — The Supreme State; the highest spiritual attainment, corresponding to Paramdham.

Param Purush — The Supreme Being; a soul in its most exalted, original form.

Param-tatva — The supreme elements — the subtle, divine substances that form the new, higher body of the liberated soul.

Punya-karma — Meritorious action; action that produces positive karmic fruit.

Rajo-pradhan — The quality of passion and activity; the middle state of the soul between its highest and lowest quality.

Rishi / Muni — A sage; a deeply realised spiritual being.

Samadhi — A state of deep meditative absorption in which the soul is united with its source.

Sang ka rang — The colour of association; the subtle influence that the company we keep exerts upon our soul.

Sankalpa — A thought or intention arising in the mind; the seed of action.

Sato-pradhan — The highest, purest state of the soul — luminous, sattvic, overflowing with positive quality.

Satyug — The Golden Age; the first and highest of the four ages, when souls are sato-pradhan.

Shakti — Power; spiritual energy.

Shiv — The incorporeal Supreme Soul — the point of pure light, the original source.

Shrest karma — A supreme, elevated action performed in alignment with the highest *dharm*a.

Sthool-sharir — The gross physical body, made of the two heavy elements — earth and water.

Sukshma-jagat — The subtle world; the non-physical realm in which subtle bodies and entities exist.

Sukshma-sharir — The subtle body, composed of the three finer elements — fire, air, and space — which carries the soul after death.

Tamo-pradhan — The most descended, darkened state of the soul; the final condition of Kalyug.

Tapasya — Spiritual austerity; sustained inner effort toward purification.

Vichar-sagar-manthan — The churning of the ocean of thought; deep reflective contemplation.

Vikarma — Negative karma; sinful action whose fruit will bring sorrow.

Yog / Yoga — Connection — the union of the individual soul with the Supreme Soul through remembrance.

Yog-bal — The power of yog; the spiritual strength gained through deep remembrance of the Supreme.

Yogi — One who practises yog; a soul in active connection with the Source.

WHO TRULY MOVES YOUR LIFE?

This book reveals how free will,
karma, death, and destiny are connected.
It shows why the soul acts by its own will,
how karmic bondage shapes experience,
and how self-transformation leads to world transformation.
