About Bapuji

Bapuji (full name: Bapuji Dashrathbhai Patel, also lovingly called “Dadaji” by the younger generation) was born in 1956 in the small village of Akhaj in the Mehsana district of Gujarat. However, he spent his childhood in another village named Ambasan, also located in the Mehsana district.

In the early part of his life, he was a highly successful lawyer. Later, he devoted his life to realising the supreme spiritual truth and bringing this divine knowledge forward for the welfare of humanity. Today, this supreme knowledge serves as a guiding light for true seekers to realise their ultimate destiny.

Despite being raised in a very poor family and facing challenging circumstances, Bapuji had a deep desire to transform this sorrowful and suffering world into a better place. At the young age of six, he questioned God repeatedly, asking why God remained silent about the suffering of humanity. This intense longing to end human suffering eventually led him to attain the highest level of spirituality later in life.

Even as a child, Bapuji would spend hours alone in the fields, often neglecting his own comfort. Due to poverty, he would walk barefoot without shoes or sandals, frequently getting pricked by thorns. Many times, he would stay late in the fields and, on his way back home, encounter subtle world entities. These experiences sparked his interest in communicating with subtle world souls.

Bapuji was courageous from a young age, which helped him overcome many obstacles. Alongside his studies in chartered accountancy (CA), he gave tuition classes to support himself financially. Later, he completed his Bachelor of Law (LLB) degree and became a well-known lawyer in Ahmedabad.

In 1997, he established a spiritual institution called “Vishwa Parivartak Ishwariya Vidhyalay” in Chenpur, Ahmedabad, with the mission of transforming this mortal world, filled with suffering and disorder, into an eternal divine world of immortality. Smt. Sushma Tandon, lovingly known as “Maa,” worked alongside Bapuji in this grand divine mission.

To accomplish this mission, Bapuji worked tirelessly, dedicating all his resources to this divine purpose. During that time, he would deliver continuous spiritual discourses for up to 18 hours without rest. In these discourses, he explained the highest dimensions of divine knowledge, which he realised through deep meditation and divine vision in a state of superconsciousness.

Bapuji's teachings cover a vast range of topics, including the types of celestial creators across different dimensions, the creation of our solar system, galaxy, and universe, and most importantly, the transcendental knowledge of the multiverse and realities beyond it. His knowledge is supremely profound and is intended for highly evolved seekers, referred to as "behad souls."

At present, Bapuji remains deeply engaged in intense meditation and samadhi for long hours. He does not meet anyone, as he is continuously immersed in his transcendental mission in a superconscious state.

Gyan Daan Maha Daan

*(Sharing Knowledge is the highest charity — share to the maximum extent with all.) — Bapuji
Dashrathbhai Patel*

The union between a husband and wife has long been considered one of the most sacred relationships in human life. But is this union merely a social arrangement, or does it carry a far deeper spiritual significance rooted in previous lives and even in the very origin of creation itself?

In this book, Bapuji Dashrathbhai Patel reveals the profound spiritual science behind the relationship between Purush (the supreme divine male soul) and Prakurti (the supreme divine female soul). Drawing from his own divine vision and deep meditation, Bapuji explains how the original male soul and female soul counterparts were created, how they separated over countless births, and why so much disharmony exists in relationships today.

This book also contains Bapuji's revelations on the supreme love that exists between Purush and Prakurti in the higher realms — a love that is eternal, selfless, and beyond anything experienced in this physical world.

It is our sincere hope that this knowledge will bring clarity, peace, and a deeper understanding of the divine origins of human relationships.

Chapter One: The Origin of Male and Female Souls

One need to understand the journey of supreme souls from the highest subtle worlds through successive stages of descent—exploring how thought, energy, and creation function in the infinite universes (behad ke bramand). This journey begins in the Sukshma Vatan (Subtle World) of the 14 Kala (celestial level) and reveals the hidden truth of soul evolution, soul loss, and the ultimate divine transformation. Through this how prakriti and purush got separated.

The question of whether a past life connection exists between a husband and wife is one that touches every human being. The bond between spouses is not merely a matter of the present life. It is a connection that has been carried forward across many previous incarnations. We need to understand at what stage Prakurti was separated from Purush.

The Emergence of Purush and Prakruti

- In the early phases, all souls were formless and genderless—just pure consciousness.

- Only in the Sthool (Physical) World, the concept of Purush (soul) and Prakruti (nature/body) began.
- As sankalpas increased, the Vayu Mandal (subtle atmosphere) surrounded the souls and penetrated them, eventually giving rise to male-female body structures.

9 Kala - Separation Begins

- At 9 Kala, as soul purity dropped further, the Param Light reduced to 49%, and Param Tattva became dominant at 51%, even within the Supreme Father.
- Prakruti (feminine aspect) got separated from Purush (soul).
- This division led to the start of conflict, duality, and separation from the original oneness.

In the very beginning of creation, Brahma created the first supreme divine male souls, known as Param Purush, in the form of the seven Saptarishis. These Saptarishis further created many Param Purush or angelic souls. From these angelic souls, countless further creations began.

Over time, this dynasty of souls gradually became reduced in soul power. They descended from the level of Devtas (gods) and eventually became human beings. It is important to understand that every soul which carries a male attribute has always had an original female counterpart in various forms and incarnations.

For example, Lord Shiva's original Prakurti — his supreme divine female consort — is Goddess Shakti. In the same way, every supreme male soul has a cardinal twin soul called his Shakti.

The Creation of Multiple Shaktis

When these supreme divine male souls existed in the subtle world, they created out of themselves several Shaktis to carry out specific tasks on Earth. Each Shakti was assigned a different mission. In this way, one single angelic male soul generated many divine female souls to execute various purposes on this Earth.

This is the fundamental reason why, in ancient times, one male soul was connected to many female souls. It is also the spiritual explanation for why kings had many queens and sages had many wives. At the very origin of our Bramand (solar system), these angelic souls had generated many Prakurtis or Shaktis out of themselves.

In the current age of Kaliyug, the imbalance caused by 1 divine male soul having created multiple divine female souls (Prakriti) counterparts in the subtle world has caused confusion and disruption. These divine female souls (Prakriti) seek their original creator as per natural law of creation. However, since divine male souls (Param- Purush) often engage in multiple Divine Female soul (Prakriti) across incarnations, which get entangled due to karmic influences. This mismatch has, over time, contributed to the loss of divine order in relationships. It is worth noting that, according to this spiritual cosmology, the original Param Prakriti shares the deepest natural resonance with her respective original Param Purush.

Chapter Two: The Search for the Original Counterpart

After millions and billions of years, these Shaktis come into contact with their creator divine male counterpart. Since Kaliyug has now started and very little time remains for all souls, the female divine souls are unconsciously searching for their creator — their other half.

There are many female souls connected to one male soul, and in the present day they come into connection with each other in various ways. While entering the cycle of births and deaths, these Shaktis created numerous bonds with many other souls. Over time, the female population greatly outnumbered the male population in the earlier ages.

The Disorder in Modern Relationships

On taking many births in this physical world, the original male soul and his numerous female counterparts do come into close relationships in different lifetimes. In one birth, the male soul may establish a relationship with one of his created female souls. In the next birth, he connects with another. These connections may even form at the thought level, when the sankalps (thoughts) of two souls touch each other, creating a romantic bond.

This is the chief reason why there is so much confusion and disorder in close personal relationships between males and females today. The original divine male soul had created many female angelic souls apart from his main female counterpart, also known as the Mool Prakurti.

The ideal relationship between a Purush and Prakurti — what we call today a husband and wife — has come to a sad state because the original female soul counterpart is often not present in the life of the original male soul. Since the male soul must live with his second, third, or further created female soul — created billions of years ago — there is much disharmony and sadness in the present life.

Only the originally created first female divine soul can provide the angelic male soul true joy and happiness. All other relationships arise due to connections and bonds established across various lifetimes.

Chapter Three: Many Wives of Kings, Sages, and Gods

Kings and Their Queens

In ancient times, it was well established that kings had many wives. Raja Dashrath had three queens. Raja Janak, according to Bapuji, had ten thousand queens, yet he was also renowned as a Rajrishi — a king who practiced the life of a sage.

The reason Raja Janak could maintain such an elevated spiritual state despite his royal responsibilities was the immense power of his soul — the power of purity and the powers acquired through meditation. His soul existed in the bhavatit stage, a state beyond ordinary human emotions. That is why King Janak was famous for being both a king and a rishi (sage) at the same time.

Sages and Their Wives

Many sages of the ancient era also had multiple wives. For instance, there is the great Rishi Kashyap, who had two wives named Diti and Aditi, along with thirteen other wives. The remarkable fact is that Diti and Aditi each gave birth to sons of entirely different natures — Diti's sons were of the demonic (Asura) category, while Aditi's sons were of the godly (Devta) category — both fathered by the same sage.

The kingly sages of those ancient days had tremendous spiritual power in their souls, earned through severe penances and austerities. The soul was in a highly evolved state, filled with sato gun (the quality of wisdom and purity), not tamo gun (the quality of ignorance and desire). In those days, there was no question of being in a body-conscious state.

The Moon God and the Curse of Daksha

Chandra Dev, the Moon God, had twenty-seven wives — all daughters of Daksh Prajapati. However, Chandra Dev truly loved only one of them: Rohini. Due to his excessive affection for Rohini, the other wives felt neglected.

Despite Daksha's repeated warnings to Chandra Dev to treat all twenty-seven of his daughters fairly and equally, the Moon God did not change. Daksha finally cursed Chandra Dev to gradually wither and lose his radiance. This curse affected his wives as well, bringing them into karmic bondage for the wrong conduct of their husband.

From this account, one can understand that if the relationship is with the original Prakurti — the first female counterpart — it will be harmonious. Marriages with the further created female souls will only lead to pain and suffering for both.

Sri Krishna and His 16,108 Queens

Lord Krishna had 16,108 wives, as recorded in the Vishnu Puran. Through his divine vision, Bapuji has shared the deeper understanding that Sri Krishna had simultaneously manifested 16,108 forms to be present with each of his queens at the same time.

Bapuji relates the account of Naradji, who visited Sri Krishna and found that in every palace, Krishna was present with each wife at the very same moment. To verify this, Naradji travelled in his astral body, moving from palace to palace in an instant, and confirmed that Sri Krishna had indeed manifested 16,108 subtle forms.

From this divine arrangement, Krishna's dynasty was created, with each of the 16,108 queens giving him ten sons and one daughter.

Sri Krishna left his mortal body in the 120th year of his life. It is of great importance to know that Sri Krishna was an avatar of the Almighty Authority, as was Sri Ram. Sri Krishna's mission was to transform the entire Earth from a land of negativity into a paradise, and he built the famed golden palace in Dwarka, Gujarat, with this very intention. However, this intended positive transformation could not be fully implemented — an unfortunate fact of history.

A respectful note for the reader: These accounts from ancient times describe the spiritual cosmology of soul-counterparts as revealed in Bapuji's teachings. They are presented for spiritual contemplation and are not a commentary on, or prescription for, present-day marriage or personal conduct. In every age, every sincere relationship is sacred, and Bapuji's guidance is for every soul — whether or not they are with their original counterpart — to progress toward liberation through yog and connection with the Paramatma.

Chapter Four: The Supreme Love of Purush and Prakurti

In the higher realms, when souls meet each other, their love is purely spiritual — it is atmik pyar (soul love), ruhani pyar (spiritual love). This love is of such a supreme quality that not even a fraction of it can be described in human language.

When souls meet in the higher realms, they can meet in akari (subtle) form, sakari (physical) form, or in the highest nirakari (incorporeal) form. The incorporeal stage is the most elevated. Souls that remain in this highest incorporeal stage develop extraordinary powers — their divine vision expands, they can perceive messages from great distances, and they develop the ability to read the minds of many souls simultaneously.

The Transfer of Supreme Light Through Love

When souls meet with love in these higher realms, their spiritual power is transferred to one another.

The greater the love between two meeting souls, the more param light (supreme light) is exchanged between them. This is fundamentally different from what happens on Earth, where a greeting or a touch may create good feelings but carries no real spiritual power.

In the higher realms, love means giving. And what is given? Param light. The souls there possess such immense param light that even when they share it with others, their own power does not diminish. Such is the abundance of spiritual power in those realms.

The Eternal Bond of Purush and Prakurti

In the higher realms, the Purush (supreme divine male soul) and his Prakurti (supreme divine female soul) share an eternal, undying love. The Prakurti resides within the heart of the Purush and does not wish to leave. She remains within, and through this closeness, their love remains continuous and unbroken.

The Param Purush loves his Prakurti more than he loves himself. He places her before himself in all things. He respects her deeply. Their love is immortal — amar pyar, eternal love, param pyar, supreme love.

The Purush created his Prakurti out of supreme love. She is the very expression of his love. And it is this Prakurti whom he loves more than his own self.

In the higher realms, there is only one Purush and one Prakurti — eternal, forever together. There is no death, no separation. Their life is avinashi (imperishable). Imagine the depth of supreme love between souls of hundreds of millions of kalas of power — love that carries supreme light, supreme peace, supreme bliss.

The Incorporeal Form

When the Purush takes his incorporeal form, he becomes pure light. His Prakurti surrounds him as a protective shield of might — she becomes might, the power that encircles and protects the light. All creation that the Purush carries out is done through this Might. She is the one who gathers all information from the outer worlds and delivers it to the Light.

However, in those supreme realms, there is no real work to be done in the way we understand work on Earth. There is only the experience of supreme love, supreme light, and supreme peace — forever and without end.

Chapter Five: The Blessing of Seven Births

In the Hindu religion, great significance is attached to the cultural practice of tying seven sacred knots during a traditional wedding ceremony. The Brahmin priests who conduct the wedding rituals always bless the couple for happiness and togetherness as husband and wife for the next seven births.

In the olden days, it was a common practice for elders to bless the newly married couple to be together not only in this life but also in their next seven incarnations, whenever the newlyweds would touch the feet of their elders for blessings.

However, in the present day, this is no longer possible. The male and female human souls carry tremendous karmic burdens — not only with each other but with many other souls as well. These heavy karmic consequences from previous births enter into the present life and must be settled.

Chapter Six: The Path to Liberation Through Yog

The best path forward is to finish one's karmic bondages by becoming atmaswaroop (soul conscious) — by remembering the Paramatma, by connecting with the Almighty Authority, and by taking power directly from the supreme powerhouse.

When we connect with this powerhouse, our soul becomes charged with spiritual power. Our causal body, our subtle body, and our physical body all become charged with the power that flows from the Almighty Authority. Through this connection, all our vikarms (sins) are destroyed. The soul becomes light in nature, shedding its burden of accumulated sins through yog.

Further, the soul enters the process of becoming karmatit — a stage acquired through a high level of spirituality where the soul does not create any further karmas even during its physical existence on Earth. Thus, by becoming above karmas, the soul will eventually reach the land of the Supreme Almighty Authority, known as Paramdham.
