About Bapuji

Bapuji (full name: Bapuji Dashrathbhai Patel, also lovingly called “Dadaji” by the younger generation) was born in 1956 in the small village of Akhaj in the Mehsana district of Gujarat. However, he spent his childhood in another village named Ambasan, also located in the Mehsana district.

In the early part of his life, he was a highly successful lawyer. Later, he devoted his life to realizing the supreme spiritual truth and bringing this divine knowledge forward for the welfare of humanity. Today, this supreme knowledge serves as a guiding light for true seekers to realize their ultimate destiny. It is a blessing of the highest divinity that the present time is witnessing the rise of this supreme spiritual knowledge, guiding souls on Earth to return to their original source.

Despite being raised in a very poor family and facing challenging circumstances, Bapuji had a deep desire to transform this sorrowful and suffering world into a better place. At the young age of six, he questioned God repeatedly, asking why God remained silent about the suffering of humanity. This intense longing to end human suffering eventually led him to attain the highest level of spirituality later in life.

Even as a child, Bapuji would spend hours alone in the fields, often neglecting his own comfort. Due to poverty, he would walk barefoot without shoes or sandals, frequently getting pricked by thorns. Many times, he would stay late in the fields and, on his way back home, encounter subtle world entities. These experiences sparked his interest in communicating with subtle world souls.

Bapuji was courageous from a young age, which helped him overcome many obstacles. Alongside his studies in chartered accountancy (CA), he gave tuition classes to support himself financially. Later, he completed his Bachelor of Law (LLB) degree and became a well-known lawyer in Ahmedabad.

In 1997, he established a spiritual institution called “Vishwa Parivartak Ishwariya Vidhyalay” in Chenpur, Ahmedabad, with the mission of transforming this mortal world, filled with suffering and disorder, into an eternal divine world of immortality. Smt. Sushma Tandon, lovingly known as “Maa,” worked alongside Bapuji in this grand divine mission.

To accomplish this mission, Bapuji worked tirelessly, dedicating all his resources to this divine purpose. During that time, he would deliver continuous spiritual discourses for up to 18 hours without rest. In these discourses, he explained the highest dimensions of divine knowledge, which he realized through deep meditation and divine vision in a state of superconsciousness. This knowledge goes beyond the imagination of the ordinary human mind.

Bapuji’s teachings cover a vast range of topics, including the types of celestial creators across different dimensions, the creation of our solar system, galaxy, and universe, and most importantly, the transcendental knowledge of the multiverse and realities beyond it. His knowledge is supremely profound and is intended for highly evolved seekers, referred to as “behad souls.” According to Bapuji, these “behad souls” will play a key role in transforming this mortal world into an eternal divine realm.

At present, Bapuji remains deeply engaged in intense meditation and samadhi for long hours. He does not meet anyone, as he is continuously immersed in his transcendental mission in a superconscious state.

Preface

In the present time, spirituality has become widely discussed, yet deeply misunderstood. People speak about the soul, about God, about energy and consciousness, but despite this abundance of information, there remains a lack of true clarity. The reason is simple: knowledge has increased, but realisation has not.

Most individuals live their entire lives without ever asking the most fundamental question—who am I? Without this understanding, even the highest spiritual ideas remain intellectual and never become a living experience.

This book is not written merely to inform, but to bring clarity. It is an attempt to take the reader from confusion to understanding, and from understanding to realisation, based on the deeper knowledge revealed by Bapuji.

— Paramshanti Team

Overview

A person studies the world, careers, science and relationships — but forgets the most important question:

“Who am I?”

Without this answer, everything else remains incomplete.

This book takes you step by step:

From confusion → clarity

From identity → reality

From knowledge → realisation

Self-Realization (Atma Gyan) → God-Realization
(Paramatma Gyan)

Chapter I

PARAMATMA GYAN — WHAT IS TRUE KNOWLEDGE?

Paramatma Gyan is not simply information about God; it is the deeper understanding of reality, creation, and the relationship between the soul and the Supreme. In today's time, many people talk about spirituality, but most of it remains at the level of concepts rather than realisation.

A common belief is that God is just “energy.” This idea comes because people are unable to truly understand the Supreme. As Bapuji explains, when something is not understood, people simply label it as energy. However, energy alone cannot explain the creator. It may be a part of creation, but it cannot define the source behind it.

True Paramatma Gyan begins when a person starts asking deeper questions such as who created this universe, how it was created, and what intelligence operates behind it. Without these questions, spirituality remains incomplete and superficial.

In ancient times, rishis and sages did not depend only on belief. They went into deep meditation and tapasya to understand the difference between matter and consciousness. They realised that the body is jada (matter), but the force operating it is Chaitmaya Shakti (consciousness), which is the soul. This distinction is the foundation of true knowledge.

Over time, many ideas emerged, such as “Atma is Paramatma,” meaning the soul itself is God. But this created confusion. If every soul were already in the state of God, then negativity, suffering, and wrong actions would not exist. Bapuji clarifies that God is Satyam Shivam Sundaram — truth, purity, and highest consciousness — and this state cannot be associated with impurity.

Another important aspect of Paramatma Gyan is that it cannot be understood without Self Realisation. Before knowing God, one must know the self. Without understanding who is thinking, experiencing and acting, the idea of God remains incomplete.

Ignorance is the biggest obstacle in this journey. A person becomes so involved in the external world, relationships, and desires that they never turn inward. This creates fear, attachment, and endless desires, keeping the soul away from its true nature.

Paramatma Gyan is therefore not something external; it is realised within. It requires moving beyond the mind, becoming aware of the self, and then understanding the Supreme.

In essence, Paramatma Gyan is the journey from ignorance to clarity. It is not about belief, but about understanding and realisation. When the soul begins to know itself, only then does the path to knowing the Supreme truly open.

Chapter II

SELF REALISATION VS GOD REALISATION

Self Realisation and God Realisation are often spoken of together, but they are not the same. They are two distinct stages of spiritual understanding, and confusion between the two creates many misconceptions in the spiritual journey.

Self Realisation means knowing oneself as a soul (atma), not as the body. The body is temporary, but the soul is the conscious force that experiences life. When a person realises this, their identity shifts from the physical to the spiritual.

God Realisation, on the other hand, means understanding the nature of the Supreme — who God is, what His role is, and how He relates to the soul. This understanding becomes possible only after Self Realisation, because without knowing the self, the idea of God remains abstract.

Bapuji explains that many people directly try to realise God, skipping Self Realisation. But this approach is incomplete. Without understanding the experiencer (the soul), the experience of God cannot truly arise.

Self Realisation is the foundation. It brings clarity, stability, and detachment from body-consciousness. Once the soul is firmly established in its own awareness, the journey toward God Realisation becomes natural.

God Realisation is the higher stage where the soul recognises the Supreme as truth, purity, and the highest consciousness. It is not a belief, but a state of inner knowing.

These two realisations are connected like a ladder. Self Realisation is the first step, and God Realisation is the second. Skipping the first creates confusion, while moving in order brings genuine spiritual progress.

In short, Self Realisation answers “Who am I?” and God Realisation answers “Who is God?” Together, they complete the spiritual journey.

When the self is known, the doorway to the Supreme opens naturally.

Chapter III

UNDERSTANDING THE SOUL (ATMA)

The soul, or atma, is the most important reality in human existence. It is the conscious entity that operates the body and experiences life. Without the soul, the body has no awareness, no thoughts, no feelings, and no actions.

Bapuji explains that the soul is eternal. It does not take birth, and it does not die. The body changes, but the soul remains the same. This is why understanding the soul is essential — it is the true identity of a person.

A common confusion is that people associate themselves with their name, body, relationships, or roles. But these are temporary identities. The real identity is the soul, which is conscious, aware, and eternal.

The soul carries records of past experiences. These records influence thoughts, behaviour, and even life situations. Therefore, the soul is not only conscious but also a recorder of impressions.

When the soul forgets its true nature, it becomes attached to the body and the external world. This is called body-consciousness, and it is the root of suffering, fear, and confusion.

Self Realisation is the process of remembering that one is a soul. When this awareness becomes stable, the soul begins to experience peace, clarity, and freedom from external pressures.

Understanding the soul is therefore not just a philosophical idea. It is the foundation of spiritual growth, mental stability, and inner transformation.

When the soul knows itself, life becomes meaningful and aligned with truth.

Chapter IV

EGO, FEAR, AND DESIRE

Ego, fear, and desire are three major forces that influence human life. They are not just emotions; they are deep tendencies that arise when the soul forgets its true nature and identifies with the body.

Ego is the false sense of identity. It arises when a person thinks, “I am the body,” or “I am my role.” This creates pride, comparison, and conflict. The ego always seeks recognition, approval, and superiority, but it never brings real peace.

Fear arises from attachment. When a person becomes attached to people, possessions, or outcomes, the fear of losing them appears. Fear also comes from uncertainty about the future, judgment from society, and insecurity about the self.

Desire is the constant pull of the mind toward external things. Desires are endless — when one is fulfilled, another appears. This keeps the soul restless and dissatisfied, even when external life seems successful.

Bapuji explains that these three forces are interconnected. Ego creates desires, desires create attachments, and attachments create fear. Together, they form a cycle that keeps the soul away from its true nature.

Most people live their entire lives within this cycle. They believe that fulfilling desires will bring happiness, but it only creates more desires. They believe that strengthening ego will bring respect, but it only creates more conflict.

The way out is Self Realisation. When the soul understands its true identity, the grip of ego, fear, and desire begins to loosen. The soul realises that these forces are not its true nature, but temporary disturbances.

This understanding does not mean suppressing emotions. It means rising above them through awareness. When the soul becomes stable, ego transforms into self-respect, fear transforms into courage, and desire transforms into purpose.

In this way, the inner forces that once caused suffering become tools for growth, when used with awareness.

Freedom from ego, fear, and desire is the first sign of true Self Realisation.

Chapter V

WHY SELF REALISATION COMES FIRST

In every spiritual journey, the question arises — should one first realise the self or first realise God? Many people directly try to reach God, but Bapuji clearly explains that Self Realisation must come first.

The reason is simple. Until a person knows who they truly are, their understanding of God will remain incomplete. The soul is the experiencer, and without knowing the experiencer, no experience can be truly understood.

Most people live in body-consciousness. They identify with the body, mind, emotions, and roles. In this state, even if they think about God, their thoughts are shaped by the body and not by the soul. This creates a limited and confused understanding of the Supreme.

Self Realisation removes this confusion. When a person realises that they are a soul, their perception becomes clear, stable, and pure. From this clear state, the understanding of God becomes meaningful and real.

Another important reason is that the soul carries records of past actions and impressions. These records often distort the way a person perceives reality. Self Realisation helps the soul understand its own inner system, which is essential before approaching the Supreme.

Bapuji also explains that without Self Realisation, spiritual practices remain mechanical. A person may perform rituals, meditation, or prayers, but the deeper transformation does not happen because the soul is not yet aware of itself.

Self Realisation also brings strength. It develops detachment from external pressures, clarity in decision-making, and stability in emotions. These qualities are necessary to walk the path toward God Realisation.

In short, Self Realisation is like cleaning the lens before looking at the truth. Without a clear lens, even the highest reality appears blurred.

It is the natural order of spiritual progress. First, the self is known. Then, the Supreme becomes understandable.

Self Realisation is not optional — it is the foundation of all true spiritual understanding.

Chapter VI

THE REALITY OF GOD (PARAMATMA)

The reality of God, or Paramatma, is one of the deepest subjects of spirituality. Many people speak about God, but very few truly understand who God is. Bapuji explains that to understand Paramatma, one must move beyond beliefs and approach this truth with clarity.

God is not energy, not a concept, and not a symbol. God is the Supreme Conscious Being — the source of creation, truth, purity, and the highest awareness. He is beyond the body, beyond the mind, and beyond all limitations.

Bapuji describes God as Satyam Shivam Sundaram — truth, purity, and supreme consciousness. This means God is not affected by negativity, ignorance, or impurity. He remains in the highest state, eternally.

A common misunderstanding is that the soul is God. But if every soul were already God, there would be no suffering, no ignorance, and no wrong actions in the world. The soul is conscious, but not Supreme. The soul learns, evolves, and grows, while God remains perfect and unchanging.

Another misunderstanding is that God is controlling every action of human beings. Bapuji clarifies that God provides the system of life, but human beings act through their own free will. God does not interfere in personal actions. He gives guidance through laws of karma, consciousness, and divine intelligence.

God Realisation is not achieved through emotional belief alone. It requires Self Realisation first, then deep awareness, and finally direct understanding of the Supreme. Only when the soul is stable and aware can it recognise the Supreme.

God Realisation brings the highest peace, clarity, and purpose to life. It removes fear, attachment, and confusion. It connects the soul with truth.

God is not far away. He becomes known the moment the soul becomes truly aware.

Chapter VII

KARMA, LIFE, AND LIBERATION

Karma is one of the most fundamental laws of life. It is not only about actions, but also about thoughts, intentions, and the inner state of the soul. Every action creates a record, and every record influences future experiences.

Bapuji explains that karma is not a punishment or reward system. It is a natural law of cause and effect. Whatever a soul thinks, feels, or does — positive or negative — returns to the soul in some form.

Life is shaped by these karmic records. The situations a person faces, the relationships they have, and even the tendencies they carry are influenced by past karma. This is why two people can experience the same situation in completely different ways.

Many people place everything on God's will, believing that life is happening only because God wants it. But Bapuji clearly explains that life is mostly shaped by the soul's own actions. God provides the framework, but the soul writes its own story through choices.

Karma is therefore a tool of growth. When understood properly, it becomes a path of self-awareness. A person learns to take responsibility, to act with clarity, and to refine their inner state.

Liberation, or moksha, is the state of freedom from the cycle of karma. It is achieved when the soul becomes pure, aware, and free from the influences of ignorance, ego, and desire.

Liberation is not about escaping life. It is about rising above the disturbances of life. A liberated soul lives in the world but is not bound by it. Such a soul experiences peace, clarity, and purpose.

The path to liberation is gradual. It begins with Self Realisation, deepens through awareness, and is completed through understanding of the Supreme.

When the soul masters karma, life becomes a journey toward freedom and truth.

Chapter VIII

FREE WILL VS GOD’S WILL

One of the most debated topics in spirituality is the difference between free will and God’s will. Many people believe that everything happens because of God, while others believe that human beings are completely independent. Bapuji explains that the truth lies in understanding both clearly.

Free will is the natural ability of the soul to think, decide, and act. Every human being has this power, and it is the most important tool given to the soul for growth. Through free will, a person creates karma, builds character, and shapes their life.

God’s will, on the other hand, is the universal system of laws and intelligence that supports creation. God provides the structure of life, but He does not interfere in personal actions. He gives guidance through consciousness, awareness, and divine laws.

A common mistake people make is to place everything on God. When something difficult happens, they say, “It is God’s will.” But Bapuji clarifies that this is often an escape from responsibility. In reality, most situations in life are the result of the soul’s own actions and choices.

This does not mean that God has no role. God’s will operates at the highest level — guiding the soul, supporting transformation, and maintaining the cosmic order. But the daily decisions, actions, and reactions are mostly directed by free will.

Understanding this difference is essential for spiritual growth. When a person blames God, they remain stuck. When a person takes responsibility through free will, they begin to evolve.

The proper alignment of free will with awareness leads to clarity. The soul begins to act with purpose, not from impulse. This is when free will becomes a tool of upliftment.

When the soul becomes mature, free will naturally aligns with the higher will of the Supreme. This is not surrender out of weakness, but harmony arising from understanding.

True spirituality begins when free will is used with awareness and aligned with divine intelligence.

Chapter IX

MAYA — HOW ILLUSION WAS CREATED

Maya is the force of illusion that influences human life at every level. It is not something external; it is a subtle power that arises when the soul forgets its true nature. Bapuji explains that Maya is the biggest obstacle in the spiritual journey because it makes the temporary appear permanent and the unreal appear real.

Maya was created the moment the soul began to identify with the body. When the soul forgot that it is conscious, eternal, and separate from the body, it became attached to the external world. This attachment created desires, fears, and confusion, and from these emerged the field of Maya.

In day-to-day life, Maya works through attachment, comparison, ego, and emotional reactions. A person becomes so absorbed in external situations that they forget their inner self. This is why even highly intelligent people may live their lives without true awareness.

Bapuji explains that Maya is not something to be feared, but to be understood. The more the soul becomes aware, the weaker Maya becomes. Awareness is the only force that can dissolve illusion.

Many seekers feel that they have crossed Maya, but Bapuji warns that Maya can return at any moment if awareness is not stable. Spiritual progress requires constant alertness, otherwise the soul can fall back into the same illusions.

The path beyond Maya begins with Self Realisation. When the soul knows that it is not the body, the grip of illusion begins to loosen. As awareness deepens, the soul moves toward inner clarity and truth.

Maya does not disappear suddenly. It weakens steadily as awareness becomes stable and rooted in truth.

Chapter X

THE INNER SYSTEM — MIND, INTELLECT, SANSKAR

Every human being has an inner system that operates behind the scenes. This system consists of three important faculties: the mind (mann), the intellect (buddhi), and the sanskars (deep impressions). Together, they shape thoughts, decisions, emotions, and behaviour.

The mind is the faculty that produces thoughts. It is constantly active, generating ideas, imaginations, memories, and emotions. The mind is fast, fluid, and easily influenced by external situations.

The intellect is the faculty that evaluates and decides. It examines thoughts and chooses which ones to act upon. A strong intellect can guide the mind, while a weak intellect simply follows the mind's reactions.

Sanskars are the deep impressions stored within the soul. They are formed through repeated thoughts, experiences, and actions. Sanskars influence the natural tendencies of a person — their habits, reactions, and inclinations.

Bapuji explains that most people are run by their inner system rather than running it. The mind generates impulses, sanskars push these impulses forward, and the intellect simply follows without questioning. This is why a person often acts in ways they later regret.

Spiritual progress requires mastery of this inner system. The soul must observe the mind, strengthen the intellect, and refine the sanskars. When this happens, life shifts from reaction to awareness, and from confusion to clarity.

When the inner system is balanced, the soul begins to express its true nature.

Chapter XI

THE ROLE OF EFFORT AND DISCIPLINE

Spiritual progress is not possible without effort and discipline. Many people believe that spirituality will simply unfold on its own, or that God will somehow do everything for them. But Bapuji clearly explains that the soul must take its own effort to evolve.

Effort means actively working on the self. It includes self-observation, awareness, study, meditation, and consistent practice. Effort is the bridge between understanding and realisation. Without effort, even the highest knowledge remains theoretical.

Discipline is the structure that supports effort. It includes regularity, focus, and the willingness to overcome the resistance of the mind. Discipline is not strictness — it is the steady commitment to one's spiritual path.

Bapuji explains that human beings often look for shortcuts in spirituality. They want instant peace, instant clarity, or instant transformation. But the soul evolves gradually, through consistent and conscious effort.

Effort also brings inner strength. Each time a person chooses awareness over reaction, truth over illusion, and discipline over impulse, the soul becomes stronger and clearer. Over time, this strength becomes the foundation for higher realisation.

Without effort, there is no transformation. With effort, even the deepest truths become accessible.

Chapter XII

GITA GYAN — THE TRUE ESSENCE

The Bhagavad Gita is one of the most respected spiritual texts in the world. It is often seen as a philosophical scripture, but Bapuji explains that its real essence is much deeper. The Gita is not only a conversation; it is a complete guide to Self Realisation and God Realisation.

The central message of the Gita is the awareness of the self. Throughout the dialogue, the Supreme guides the soul to understand its true nature, the nature of action, and the nature of reality. It is a call to rise from confusion to clarity.

Bapuji explains that the Gita teaches the soul to recognise itself as separate from the body. This is the first foundation of all spirituality. Without this awareness, even the highest teachings cannot be fully understood.

Another essential teaching is that of duty and action. The Gita encourages a person to act with awareness, free from attachment to results. This is not passivity, but a higher form of action where the soul performs duties without being disturbed by outcomes.

The Gita also reveals the relationship between the soul and the Supreme. It teaches that God supports the soul, but the soul must use its free will, discipline, and effort to progress.

In simple words, the Gita is a journey from ignorance to awareness, from attachment to detachment, and from confusion to truth. Bapuji highlights that the deeper essence of the Gita can be understood only when the soul moves toward Self Realisation.

The Gita is not just to be read — it is to be lived. Its teachings transform the soul when applied in daily life with awareness.

The true Gita Gyan is the awakening of the soul to its highest reality.

Chapter XIII

TRANSFORMATION OF HUMAN LIFE

Human life is not just a sequence of events; it is a continuous opportunity for inner growth. Bapuji explains that transformation is the natural outcome of spiritual understanding. When the soul becomes aware, life itself begins to change.

Transformation does not mean changing the external world. It means changing the way one experiences the world. With awareness, the same situations appear different, the same relationships feel different, and the same challenges become opportunities.

Most people try to transform their life through external means — money, success, relationships, or achievements. But these changes are temporary because they do not touch the inner state of the soul. True transformation begins from within.

Bapuji explains that inner transformation has three foundations: Self Realisation, awareness, and consistent effort. Without Self Realisation, transformation cannot begin. Without awareness, it cannot deepen. Without effort, it cannot become stable.

When the soul becomes aware of itself, ego loses its grip, desires lose their power, and fear loses its intensity. The soul begins to live with clarity, stability, and inner peace.

True transformation is the soul's awakening into its highest reality.

Chapter XIV

FROM SELF TRANSFORMATION TO WORLD TRANSFORMATION

The world is not separate from human consciousness. It is a reflection of collective thoughts, actions, and vibrations. Therefore, change in the world cannot happen only through external efforts; it must begin within the individual.

Bapuji explains this beautifully when he says, “When the self changes, the world begins to change.” This statement reveals a fundamental truth — that transformation is not imposed from outside, but grows from within.

When one soul becomes aware, stable, and positive, its influence spreads to others. This creates a chain reaction. As more individuals transform, the collective consciousness begins to shift.

World transformation is therefore not a sudden event, but a gradual process driven by inner change. Every thought, every action, and every intention contributes to this process.

In essence, self transformation is the foundation, and world transformation is its natural outcome.

Bapuji Insights

♦ Bapuji Insight

“People call God energy because they are not able to understand Him, and whatever is not understood is simply reduced to a concept, but the Supreme cannot be limited by such assumptions.”

♦ Bapuji Insight

“Self Realisation and God Realisation are completely different, and unless a person knows who they truly are, whatever they understand about God will remain incomplete and mixed with confusion.”

♦ Bapuji Insight

“A human being lives more in fear of society and relationships than in awareness of truth, and this shows how deeply the soul is trapped in ignorance and attachment.”

♦ Bapuji Insight

“The soul carries the records of many lifetimes within itself, and those records continuously influence thoughts, behaviour, and life situations until they are understood and transformed.”

♦ Bapuji Insight

♦ Bapuji Insight

“Even a seeker can fall back into Maya if awareness is not stable, because illusion does not disappear on its own — it weakens only through understanding.”

♦ Bapuji Insight

“The mind creates thoughts, the intellect makes decisions, and sanskars record everything, and this inner system is what actually runs the life of a human being.”

♦ Bapuji Insight

“You have to do it yourself, because God will not do your effort for you, and without effort there can be no real transformation.”

♦ Bapuji Insight

“Forget the body and all its relationships, become established in the awareness of the self, and then the path to the highest state begins to open.”

♦ Bapuji Insight

“The moment true understanding arises within the soul, transformation begins, and from that inner change the outer life also starts to shift.”

♦ Bapuji Insight

“When one soul changes, its effect spreads, and when many souls change, the direction of the world itself begins to transform.”

“Gyan Daan Maha Daan”

Sharing Knowledge is the Highest Charity

— Bapuji Dasbrathbbhai Patel

Understanding the Self is the beginning.
Understanding the Supreme is the completion.

This book brings clarity to the difference between Self-Realization and God-Realization. It guides the reader from the question of identity to a deeper understanding of the soul and the Supreme-not through belief, but through true understanding.

First know the self. Then know the Supreme.

About the author
