ABOUT BAPUJI

Bapuji (full name: Bapuji Dashrathbhai Patel, also lovingly called "Dadaji" by the younger generation) was born in 1956 in the small village of Akhaj in the Mehsana district of Gujarat. However, he spent his childhood in another village named Ambasan, also located in the Mehsana district.

In the early part of his life, he was a highly successful lawyer. Later, he devoted his life to realising the supreme spiritual truth and bringing this divine knowledge forward for the welfare of humanity. Today, this supreme knowledge serves as a guiding light for true seekers to realise their ultimate destiny. It is a blessing of the highest divinity that the present time is witnessing the rise of this supreme spiritual knowledge, guiding souls on Earth to return to their original source.

Despite being raised in a very poor family and facing challenging circumstances, Bapuji had a deep desire to transform this sorrowful and suffering world into a better place. At the young age of six, he questioned God repeatedly, asking why God remained silent about the suffering of humanity. This intense longing to end human suffering eventually led him to attain the highest level of spirituality later in life.

Even as a child, Bapuji would spend hours alone in the fields, often neglecting his own comfort. Due to poverty, he would walk barefoot without shoes or sandals, frequently getting pricked by thorns. Many times, he would stay late in the fields and, on his way back home, encounter subtle world entities. These experiences sparked his interest in communicating with subtle world souls.

Bapuji was courageous from a young age, which helped him overcome many obstacles. Alongside his studies in chartered accountancy, he gave tuition classes to support himself financially. Later, he completed his Bachelor of Law degree and became a well-known lawyer in Ahmedabad.

In 1997, he established a spiritual institution called Vishwa Parivartak Ishwariya Vidhyalay in Chenpur, Ahmedabad, with the mission of transforming this mortal world, filled with suffering and disorder, into an eternal divine world of immortality. Smt. Sushma Tandon, lovingly known as "Maa," worked alongside Bapuji in this grand divine mission.

To accomplish this mission, Bapuji worked tirelessly, dedicating all his resources to this divine purpose. During that time, he would deliver continuous spiritual discourses for up to 18 hours without rest. In these discourses, he explained the highest dimensions of divine knowledge, which he realised through deep meditation and divine vision in a state of superconsciousness. This knowledge goes beyond the imagination of the ordinary human mind.

Bapuji's teachings cover a vast range of topics, including the types of celestial creators across different dimensions, the creation of our solar system, galaxy, and universe, and most importantly, the transcendental knowledge of the multiverse and realities beyond it. His knowledge is supremely profound and is intended for highly evolved seekers, referred to as "Behad souls." According to Bapuji, these Behad souls will play a key role in transforming this mortal world into an eternal divine realm.

At present, Bapuji remains deeply engaged in intense meditation and samadhi for long hours. He does not meet anyone, as he is continuously immersed in his transcendental mission in a superconscious state.

PREFACE

Gyan Daan Maha Daan

(Sharing Knowledge is the Highest Charity)

Share to the maximum extent with all.

— by Bapuji Dasbrathbbhai Patel

Forgiveness is one of the rarest and most powerful virtues a human soul can ever cultivate. In a world that has grown louder with anger, revenge and division, Bapuji's words on forgiveness falls upon heart like a soothing breeze. His words do not merely teach the reader to pardon another person rather they reveal what actually happens inside the soul, the causal body and the subtle world when true forgiveness is offered.

This book has been prepared from Bapuji's own discourse on the Art of Forgiveness. The entire knowledge contained in these pages flows from his words. Our work has only been to refine the spoken form into calm, readable prose suitable for a global audience, without adding anything new and without losing anything essential. Every chapter rests on his teaching alone.

The subject of forgiveness, in Bapuji's vision, is inseparable from the theory of karma, the journey of the soul across lifetimes, the recordings stored in the causal body, the aura, the subtle world, and the final ascent of the soul toward Paramdham, the supreme abode. These knowledge, when brought together, make forgiveness not just a moral virtue but a spiritual science mandatory for every soul to know.

The reader is gently encouraged to approach this book slowly. It is not meant for hurried reading. Each chapter may be read alone, in quiet, with time for reflection in between. As the inner atmosphere settles, the words begin to act upon the soul in ways the mind alone cannot measure.

May this book be useful to every soul that longs for inner peace. May it loosen old grudges, dissolve long-carried bitterness, and open the door to a quieter heart. And may it gently guide every reader, step by step, toward the state of Paramshanti — the supreme peace that is the soul's original home.

P A R T O N E

The Definition of Forgiveness

CHAPTER ONE

What Forgiveness Really Means

Forgiveness means to pardon someone. It is one of the greatest virtues that a soul can ever develop. When a soul learns to forgive, it opens the door to peace, purity and the deeper path of spiritual knowledge.

There are two sides to this virtue. The first side is seeking forgiveness. When a soul realises that it has made a mistake or committed a sin, and comes forward to ask pardon, this itself is a great thing. To accept one's own mistake is not ordinary. It requires inner honesty and a certain greatness of soul.

The second side is giving forgiveness. The soul that actually forgives is even greater than the one who seeks forgiveness. It is easy to pardon someone for a small, petty mistake. Almost everyone can do that. But forgiveness reveals its true greatness only when the mistake is large.

Bapuji Insight

“Kshama bahut badi quality hai, yeh sadharan nahi hai. Isko apne andar laane ke liye Parmatma ka smaran karna padta hai.”

“Forgiveness is a very big quality, it is not an ordinary one. To develop it within oneself, one has to remember the Supreme Soul.”

Bapuji says that ordinary pardon for ordinary mistakes is common in the world. The rare and extraordinary forgiveness is one that is offered even for grave sins. Very few souls in the world today possess that capacity. That is why this quality is not an ordinary quality. It is an extraordinary one, and it is the foundation of the soul's journey toward peace and knowledge.

Forgiveness is not weakness, even though the world often sees it that way. On the contrary, it is a sign of deep inner soul strength of an individual. The one who can forgive has already risen above anger, revenge and ego. That soul has already taken the first step toward peace of mind and the attainment of soul peace.

CHAPTER TWO

Seeking Forgiveness and Giving Forgiveness

There is a clear difference between seeking forgiveness and giving forgiveness. To seek forgiveness is a big thing, but it has two categories. Some souls seek forgiveness for small mistakes. Others, when they finally realise their wrong, come forward even for grave sins and ask for pardon. A soul that genuinely seeks pardon after realising its mistake is already a great soul.

Bapuji Insight

“Kshama maangna badi baat hai, lekin jo aatma kshama kar deti hai, woh maangne wale se bhi badi hoti hai.”

“To seek forgiveness is a big thing, but the soul that grants forgiveness is even greater than the one who seeks it.”

The soul that actually grants forgiveness is still greater. When the mistake is small and petty, forgiveness is easy. People forgive small offences all the time. But the real test comes with big sins. Will anyone in the world today forgive the one who has killed a close and dear relative? Will anyone pardon such a person if he comes and seeks forgiveness?

This is where forgiveness becomes difficult. In most cases, the acquaintances of the victim will not allow pardon. They will call the forgiver a coward or a loser, accusing him of weakness for forgiving the murderer of his loved one. The world sees the forgiver through the eyes of anger, not through the eyes of wisdom.

But the world's view is not the truth. There are some great souls in this world who forgive others even when the sin committed is grave. These souls exist, though they are rare. They are the ones who have understood the Theory Of Karma, who knows that every event has a deeper cause hidden in the soul's karmic account.

So forgiveness is not simply an emotional act. It is a decision made from knowledge. A soul who seeks forgiveness does a great thing. A soul who gives forgiveness does something even greater. And when the forgiveness is offered for a grave sin, that soul rises to the category of the extraordinary.

CHAPTER THREE

The Greatness of Forgiving Grave Sins

The one who can forgive someone for a grave sin will not be an ordinary soul. This capacity has come to them because of rigorous meditation and ascetic life carried on for innumerable births. It is the fruit of many lives of inner effort.

Only the great or extraordinary souls can forgive such grave mistakes. The benefit of forgiving, even in the hardest case, is very great. These souls know that whatever has happened due to karmic bondage. If someone has killed another person, it is because of the karmic bondage between them in multiple life times. No one ever kills without such a bondage.

Bapuji Insight

“Bina karma bandhan ke koi kisi ko nahi maarta. Jo hua hai, karma ke hisaab se hua hai.”

“No one kills another without a karmic bondage. Whatever has happened, has happened according to the account of karma.”

When a soul forgives, it becomes free from that karmic bondage. It steps out of the chain. The forgiven soul, feeling the weight of its own mistake, will begin to repent, and through continued repentance its sins will slowly dilute. This is the natural effect of forgiveness on both souls.

The soul who forgives gains peace of mind and enters the stage of soul peace. The one who is forgiven also benefits deeply. He realises the greatness and the merciful nature of the one who has forgiven him, and from the core of his heart he blesses that soul. Forgiveness, therefore, is never one-sided. It transforms both.

CHAPTER FOUR

Revenge, Hatred and Generational Bondage

Today we see hatred and animosity being carried on for generations. When someone is murdered, the relatives and friends of the victim try to take revenge. They plan, they wait, they strike back. Then the other side does the same. The cycle continues for many lifetimes, and the suffering of the whole clan increases. When a soul thinks of taking revenge, the cycle of killing and counter-killing goes on for generation after generation. The whole clan may carry the misery for many lifetimes.

This endless revenge is the work of weak and negative souls. A strong soul does not fall into this pattern. Bapuji explains that when a soul leaves the body while full of anger and the desire for revenge, it does not find peace. It enters the world of three elements with its mind still burning. Such souls stuck in 3d planes and wonder around looking for a chance to strike back.

Bapuji Insight

“Badla lena aatma ki kamzori aur kamzor sthiti ki nishani hai.”

“Revenge is a sign of the soul's weakness and vulnerability.”

It has been said that whatever a soul thinks at the exact time of death, it ends up becoming or doing that after death. A soul that dies with revenge in its mind becomes a revengeful being. It may even enter another body and use that body to settle the score. This is how the cycle of killing continues across lifetimes.

A knowledgeable soul does not indulge in this. It knows that revenge will only waste its energy and turn it negative. The soul of a person who constantly seeks revenge slowly becomes like a demon soul. At one point, it begins to worship devils and demons. It enters deep misery and finally falls into the cycle of birth and death across the 8.4 million species mentioned in the Hindu scriptures.

Revenge is a sign of weakness and vulnerability. The souls that seek revenge are the ones that are weak. The souls that forgive, even for grave wrongs, are the ones that are truly strong. To stop the generational curse, one soul somewhere has to choose forgiveness instead of revenge. That single act can break the chain of lifetimes of suffering.

P A R T T W O

The Structure of Soul

CHAPTER FIVE

The Soul's Record

Everything a soul has experienced in its journey is recorded within. As Bapuji's shared that all our deeds done in multiple lifetimes on this solar system, galaxy or universe are recorded in the soul. Whatever karmic relationships we have built with other souls, across lifetimes, are stored in souls and transferred into the causal body when we take birth.

When a soul comes in front of us, or even when we simply see it, the recordings related to that soul flash inside our causal body. The causal body then transfers the information to the mind within a fraction of a second. Based on that recording, the mind decides whether the person is likeable or unlikeable. If the record is good, we instantly feel liking. If the record is bad, we feel dislike or indifference.

Bapuji Insight

“Sab kuch aatma ke andar hi record hota hai, sanskaron ke roop mein causal body mein store hota hai.”

“Everything is recorded inside the soul itself, stored in the causal body in the form of sanskars.”

This is why we sometimes feel drawn to a person we have never met before. Or why we suddenly feel uncomfortable with someone, even when they have done nothing wrong to us in this life. The cause is not in this life alone. It lies in the inner recordings of our many previous births.

Forgiveness is directly connected to these recordings. When a soul thinks of forgiving someone, the first response from the mind is often a refusal. The negative recording of that person is already stored in the causal body, and the inner voice says, "I shall not forgive him." But the soul that is knowledgeable does not stop there. It begins to think deeply and then takes the decision with wisdom . In this process of decision-making, the human soul is not entirely alone. Souls from the subtle world direct their rays toward the human soul, guiding the decision in subtle ways. Ancestors and departed loved ones, who are in higher states, also assist in this inner choice. That is why the decision to forgive is rarely instant. Only a handful of great souls forgive in a fraction of a second. For others, it takes time, because it involves the rewriting of deep inner records.❖ ❖ ❖

CHAPTER SIX

Repentance and Its Impact

Forgiveness does not end with the forgiver. The one who has been forgiven must also do something. Mere thinking about one's own sin and merely feeling bad about it is not true repentance. True repentance requires action.

There are many methods of repentance. The soul will choose one or more of them based on the nature of its mistake. Some repent through Charity works or helping others in need.. Some repent through compensation, returning what was taken or offering something back to the one who was hurt. Some repent through service and selfless deeds done for the welfare of others. In every case, there is an outward action, not only an inward feeling.

Bapuji Insight

“Jab koi kshama kar deta hai, woh karma bandhan se mukt ho jata hai.”

“When someone grants forgiveness, he becomes free from the karmic bondage.”

When this repentance continues steadily, the soul's sins begin to dilute slowly and steadily. The karmic bondage begins to weaken. In time, the soul comes to a state of soul peace and is no longer held in further karmic entanglement with the one who forgave it.

The relationship between the forgiver and the forgiven also changes. It is not always the case that the two simply part ways and don't cross their path. Often, mutual love and affection grow between them over time. In ancient times, even within royal families, members used to kill one another. Through the power of forgiveness, such families have seen love grow where hatred once ruled.

When mutual love develops in a family, the soul power of every member increases. Good deeds multiply because everyone influences one another. The virtue of forgiveness brings other virtues along with it. Once this one quality is engraved in the soul, many more follow. Peace of mind appears, silence deepens in the heart, and the soul begins to realise the deeper truth of life. This is how a single act of forgiveness opens the door to a complete inner transformation.

CHAPTER SEVEN

Effect of Forgiveness on Mind And Aura

Bapuji says state of our state of mind decides the state of our aura. When mind is disturbed, the aura becomes negative. When thoughts and emotions are heavy with anger, revenge and hatred, the colour of the aura turns black. Individual becomes more unstable. The causal body, burdened with such thoughts, creates a dark field around the person.

Forgiveness changes this instantly. It brings peace to the mind. The fickleness of the mind slows down. Mind becomes quitter. As the mind becomes peaceful, the colour of the aura also begins to change. It moves from black to blue, from blue to green, and from green to white. White aura represents Peace, Purity and Spiritual elevation

“Kshama se jo shanti milti hai woh asli hai. Badle se jo shanti lagti hai woh temporary hai.”

“The peace that comes from forgiveness is real. The peace that seems to come from revenge is only temporary.”

Silence Vs True Inner Peace

There is a significant difference between: Peace obtained through forgiveness and Temporary satisfaction obtained through revenge But one must understand carefully what true peace is. Experiencing peace in forgiveness is different from the so-called peace that comes from taking revenge. The peace of forgiveness is real. Positive vibrations within you enters your aura and the mind stays stable. The peace that some claim to feel after revenge is not real peace at all. It is temporary, and fear always accompanies it. The one who takes revenge silently carries a new fear in his mind, knowing that the other side, equally negative, will come back to strike back Silence must also be understood properly. Remaining silent externally does not always mean inner peace. There are two types of silence. One is the silence of knowledge. A soul who has knowledge remains silent no matter what happens around it. This silence is stable and full of power. The other is forced silence, the silence of helplessness. A weaker person, unable to stand up to a stronger one, keeps quiet outwardly, but inside the mind keeps revolving in thoughts of hurt and revenge. This is not peace. It is suppressed disturbance.

The problem with forced silence is that it does not last. When the pressure is gone or the situation changes, all the stored thoughts suddenly come out. At that moment, the person begins to speak not only of this life but of the many births of stored negativity. So keeping outwardly quiet is not enough. Real silence means that even the mind has become peaceful. This only happens through knowledge, forgiveness, and remembrance of the Supreme Soul.

CHAPTER EIGHT

Forgiveness Via Remembrance of Divine Supreme

A soul may want to forgive but find itself unable to do so. This is because the quality of forgiveness has not yet developed in that soul. Forgiveness is a very big quality. It is not ordinary. To develop such a quality in the mind, intellect, and impression (sanskars), the soul must repeatedly turn toward Almighty Authority / supreme Divine / God in remembrance.

The Supreme Soul already carries all the qualities in their complete form. He is the ocean of kindness, has knowledge of creation, and within Him the quality of unconditional forgiveness is fully present. When a soul remembers the Supreme Almighty Authority with love, His qualities begin to flow down into that soul. By staying in transcendental love with the Supreme, the quality of forgiveness automatically develops.

One must connect with Supreme Soul. Gradually qualities of Supreme starts to replicate/ flow into the soul. Great effort is required, because countless sanskars of many births are embedded within the soul. Those sanskars of past lives must be transformed. This is the real work of spiritual life. Forgiveness, peace, love, compassion, and tolerance emerge one after another. Knowledge is the real cure. Through knowledge, the soul understands the difference between good and bad, sees the reason behind its own suffering, and finally reaches the Supreme. The Supreme then gives power, and the soul's misdeeds begin to dissolve. Sin by sin, the soul becomes light, becomes free, becomes powerful.

Along the path of this spiritual knowledge souls also quality of vairagya, the feeling of detachment.. The soul must take shelter in spiritual knowledge and in the Supreme Soul. When it seeks knowledge of the Supreme and begins to follow the path, everything else begins to fall into place.

Bapuji Insight

“Gyan hi sabhi dukh aur peeda ka ilaaj hai.”

“Knowledge is the cure for all sorrow and pain.”

P A R T T H R E E

Impact of Forgiveness on Family, Children and Character

CHAPTER NINE

Forgiveness Within Family & Relations

Bapuji guides that family life is the first field where forgiveness must be practised. Within home, misunderstandings and sharp words are exchanged frequently amongst members. Many people find it easy to talk about forgiveness in general terms, but when it comes to forgiving a family member, the mind resists. Yet it is here that forgiveness produces the richest fruit.

In earlier times, people even killed members of their own family. Many royal families have histories filled with such acts. Brothers fought each other, sons fought fathers for power and property. In some cases, the bitterness of those acts remained for generations. But wherever forgiveness entered, love began to grow back. The family that learns to forgive, love flourishes.

When mutual love increases within family, soul power also increases. Every member influences each other. Atmosphere (vayumandal) of home becomes positive as a result positive deeds increase. Slowly, the entire family begins to do good deeds, not out of force, but out of the natural warmth that love creates. Forgiveness in family life is not a single event. It is a practice. It means not storing the small offences of the day. It means letting go of the remarks that would have otherwise hurt us. It means meeting every family member without old grudges every single day. The soul that keeps forgiving in small matters slowly gains the strength to forgive in big matters too.

This is why family is called the first school of the soul. In the family, the lessons on patience, tolerance and forgiveness are learned first. When a soul passes this school, it is ready for the larger work of forgiving the world. And when the whole family cultivates this virtue together, everyone in it benefits, and the blessings of all spread as silent goodness into the world outside.

Bapuji Insight

“Kshama se parivaar mein prem badhta hai, aur aatma ki shakti bhi badhti hai.”

“Through forgiveness, love grows within the family, and the soul power of everyone also increases.”

CHAPTER TEN

Children, Parents, Teachers and Sanskars

Modern society shows increasing anger and aggression even among children. There are often news reports of young children using guns and shooting others. Children fights in schools frequently. When we see such incidents, we must first think deeply about how such a quality has entered into a child.

Impression (Sanskars) in a child's intellect come Parents, Teachers, Environment, Previous birth impressions. But today's time, in many cases, parents and teachers themselves do not have good sanskars. Most of them filled with lust, anger, greed, attachment and ego, and these vices are only increasing in the present time. A child growing in such atmosphere naturally absorbs whatever is around him.

Bapuji Insight

“Bachchon ke sanskar badalne ke liye, pehle maa-baap ko apne sanskar sudharne honge.”

“To change the sanskars of children, first the parents must improve their own sanskars.”

So how can such Impression (Sanskars) be changed? Children learn more from example than instruction. To change children's sanskars, parents must first transform themselves. Help develop virtues consciously, teach peace instead of revenge. These positive qualities must be made to emerge from within him.

Parents must also bring in spiritual knowledge into the home. They must understand that whatever is seen with the physical eyes is destructible and attachment with materialistic things not healthy. Instead, the remembrance of the Almighty Authority and the path of knowledge (Gyan) must become part of the household atmosphere. The family must rise above narrow boundaries of religion, caste, and creed, and see the whole world as one family. The real gift parents and teachers can give to children is to help enrich their lives with spiritual and soul knowledge (Atma gyan), and to teach them never to harm anyone.

CHAPTER ELEVEN

Anger, Silence and Rewriting of Character

The first step in rewriting ones's own character is to understand what silence really is. When a weaker person stays silent in front of a powerful one, and does not think of revenge, this is not real silence. It is a Forced Silence. Real silence belongs to the one who is knowledgeable. Whatever happens, he remains silent because he has understood the deeper truth. The two are entirely different inner states, though they may look similar from outside.

Bapuji Insight

“Krodh adhuraapan ki sabse badi nishani hai.

Krodh se saara punya ka khata khatam ho jaata hai.”

“Anger is the biggest sign of incompleteness. Through anger, the entire account of virtuous deeds is dissolved.”

Anger, in the same way, must be understood in its real meaning. Some people feel a temporary peace after taking revenge, but this is false peace. The one who takes revenge is not at rest. A thought keeps disturbing the back of his mind: "constant fear of retaliation" Because the other person is also negative. Negative clashes with negative creating endless karmic conflicts. True peace cannot come out of such an exchange.

Weaker / Common souls who do not have the power of forgiveness remain silent with a disturbed mind which is full of negativity. Here, silence is forced. And when such a person one day begins to speak, the words that come out are not only about the present. They are the stored thoughts of many births.

The rewriting of character therefore cannot happen on the surface. It must happen from within. Not getting angry or choosing to be peaceful all the time, not having revengeful thoughts are simple words, but they are the foundation of a new character. They must be practised again and again. Anger cannot be removed in a day, but it can be removed through steady practice, through knowledge, through the remembrance of the Supreme, and through constant return to forgiveness. Slowly, the inner sanskars are rewritten, and a new human being emerges. True silence is not merely not speaking, but freedom from negative thoughts.

PART FOUR

Generational Curse And Subtle World

CHAPTER TWELVE

Generational Curse: Reason and It's Impact

Anger is the biggest sign of incompleteness. Great sages/ Strong souls does not curse easily. They curse only when someone has troubled or harassed them beyond limits, or when a family behaves in a purely demonic way. Only when the saint or sage feels that such a clan should be destroyed does the curse come forth. They do not curse anyone for small or petty mistakes. To curse someone's entire clan is a completely different thing from ordinary anger. An ordinary soul does not have the soul power, knowledge, capacity to curse a whole clan. That level of power belongs to rare souls.

Today, we see many saints and sages who appear to become angry easily. Most of these are not real. The real saints and sages live in mountain caves, in deep trance, and rarely venture out. When they do appear in public, it is for very short moments, such as during a holy bath in the Ganga. To apply ash on the head or forehead, as the Naga Babas do, signifies that one has given up the world and the worldly desires, and no longer has any relation with ordinary worldly matters.

Bapuji Insight

“Asli sant aur risi humesha shaant rehte hain. Jo jaldi krodhit ho jaata hai, woh asli nahi hai.”

Real saints and sages are always peaceful. The one who becomes angry easily is not a real one. Having said that, there are occasional cases, such as that of Kapil Muni, where even a true sage has become angry. But when such sages become angry, their complete causal body gets burned due to that anger. The energy, the rigorous meditation, the asceticism of many years or even many births, is wasted in a single second. Due to anger, the total account of good deeds dissolves.

This is why no one should ever get angry. Whether a sage or a common person, every human being should control anger. It is difficult but not impossible. It becomes possible when life is spent in the remembrance of the Supreme, in meditation, and in an ascetic way of living. For the dark or ordinary soul, there is a clear warning: stay away from great souls. If such a soul causes harm or trouble to a great soul, and the great soul says even something bad from the heart, the consequences can last for many births. Therefore, the soul must know whom it meets, whom it should avoid, and what deeds it should do.

Effects of Curse on Causal Body

A curse transfers negative energy into the causal body. Strong curses may affect multiple births. The scriptures are full of stories that illustrate the power of forgiveness and the weight of a curse. Bapuji mentions some of them to show what actually happens at the level of the soul.

Bapuji Insight

“Ek gun aatma mein aa jaaye to baaki saare gun khud ba khud aane lagte hain.”

“When one virtue enters the soul, all the other virtues begin to come naturally of their own accord.”

The story of Angulimaal and Gautam Buddha is one such example. A hardened man who had committed many killings came face to face with a great soul. The encounter itself transformed him. One virtue developed in soul brings many more with it. When a soul reaches a stage of peace and silence, many virtues develop, and the original soul turns into a soul of very high quality. Then it begins its journey toward spiritual knowledge.

The story of Kapil Muni shows the other side. Once, sage Kapil Muni cursed one hundred sons of the ocean and burned them to ashes. Later, King Bhagirath, who was subsequent king from same clan tried to break the curse and brought river Ganga down on earth. As soon as the water of the Ganga touched the ashes of the one hundred sons, they were reanimated. Kapil Muni was not an ordinary sage. Yet we must ask: why did he do this? Why did he curse them? When such a sage becomes angry, the entire causal body gets burned. The story is a warning, not a glorification.

The story of the Moon and Daksha Prajapati is another deep example. Moon was cursed by Daksha Prajapati. Due to that curse, his whole body got enkindled from within. Seeing this, others suggested a remedy. Moon then built a Shivling at Somnath and performed rigorous meditation. Through that intense spiritual effort, he was able to reduce the effect of the curse. The story shows that even a great curse can be addressed, but only through tremendous inner work, not through running away or complaining. Curses affect the causal body in very deep ways, and the effect can last for many births. Forgiveness, in contrast, ends the chain, closes the account, and sets both souls free.

CHAPTER THIRTEEN

Death, Revenge, Ghostly Existence and the Choice to Rise

What happens to a soul that does not forgive even after leaving the body? They are the unforgiving souls. They seek revenge from everyone they feel has wronged them. These souls do not immediately get a new birth. They roam around as ghosts and spirits, hunting down those they blame, trying to strike back. They may enter another body temporarily. They may disturb those they consider their enemies. Many of the stories we see in films on such topics, where a soul returns years later to take revenge, carry a certain truth, though often in exaggerated form.

Bapuji explains very deep aspect with lot of simplicity that such films have two sides. On one side, they show violent and unlawful means of revenge, which is not good to present. On the other side, they show, even indirectly, that the soul which seeks revenge becomes more negative, more weak, and more trapped. If the audience catches this deeper lesson, they begin to understand that revenge is not a victory. It is a defeat of the soul.

Bapuji Insight

“Jo bhi hua, achchhe ke liye hua. Kathinai mein hi kalyaan chhupa hua hota hai.”

“Whatever has happened, has happened for the good. Welfare is always hidden within hardship.”

The choice after death is therefore the same as the choice during life, only sharper. The revengeful soul falls into darkness and loses its chance to rise. The knowledgeable soul, even while dying because of someone else's ill talk or harm, thinks differently. If a soul leaves the body due to a heart attack caused by another person's harsh words, the soul that has departed must decide. The revengeful soul will try to strike back. The knowledgeable soul will think: "Now that I have come into three elements, I shall try to go to higher dimension in the upper realms by meditating, and not fall prey to revenge."

The knowledgeable soul always thinks that whatever has happened because of its own past deeds and its own karmic bondage. It actually feels good to leave the body, because the soul has now come into the lighter three elements from the heavier five-element body. It will meditate, rise to higher realms, and clear its account. The revengeful soul, in the opposite way, keeps itself stuck. Therefore, in every situation, whether in life or after death, the soul should think positively. Whatever happened, happened for good. Welfare is embedded in the hardship.

CHAPTER FOURTEEN

Subtle World, Ancestors and Guidance Beyond Body

The decision to forgive is not made in isolation. When a soul thinks about whether or not to forgive, this choice is not completed in a fraction of a second. Most souls take their own time. Only a handful of great souls forgive instantly. For the rest, there is an inner process, and in this process the subtle world quietly takes part.

Souls from the subtle world guide human souls in their decisions by directing rays of their own energy toward them. These rays fall upon the human mind and subtly push it toward the right choice. Positive souls from higher realms always try to help human souls in this way, especially in important decisions about forgiveness and revenge.

Ancestors and departed loved ones who have gone into subtle or higher realms also assist. When they see their family member struggling with the thought of forgiveness, they send their influence. Because they are still connected, and they know how dangerous revenge is for the soul. So they quietly influence living ones toward pardon.

“Sookshm jagat se bhi aatmaayein humein margdarshan deti hain, apni kirano ke zariye.”

“Souls from the subtle world also guide us, through the rays of their own energy.”

This help from subtle world continues after death in soul journey. A soul that leaves the body with openness can meditate even in the subtle world. There, it can clear karmic bondages and settle its account of deeds and misdeeds through meditation. Innumerable sages, saints and their ashrams exist in the subtle world. These sages and saints then guide and teach the souls how to meditate and show them the ways to reach the higher realms.

This is why the scriptures speak of journeys beyond the body. A soul can move from the subtle world to the causal world, then to Brahma Puri, then to Vishnu Puri, and finally to the ultimate abode, by the strength of its meditation and the guidance it receives. But all of this depends on one condition: the soul must carry forgiveness within it. A soul still burning with revenge cannot rise. A soul that has forgiven, and that thinks of its own journey as an opportunity to rise, is welcomed by the higher world and assisted on its way.

CHAPTER FIFTEEN

Theory of Karma and the Power of Choice

The theory of karma is a very complex subject. No one can do any real good until one understands this esoteric theory. Many people wish to help others and expect that their help will instantly change someone's life. But karma works at a level deeper than our good wishes. Bapuji gives the example of a sage who once went to a village. He saw a very poor man and felt pity for him. He wanted to help, but he knew that the man was self-respecting and would not accept a direct gift. So the sage thought of a way. He took a large watermelon, drilled a hole in it, put gold coins inside, and offered it to the poor man, telling him to take it home and feed his children.

The sage thought that when the poor man cut open the watermelon, he would find the coins and his poverty would end. But on the way home, the poor man met another person who was in an even worse state. He gave the watermelon to that other poor man, asking him to feed his own children. The gold coins went to the second poor man, not to the first.

Bapuji Insight

“Karma ka siddhant bahut gabraa hai. Jo nahi hona hai, woh koi kitni bhi koshish kar le, nahi hoga.”

“The theory of karma is very deep. What is not destined to happen will not happen, no matter how much one tries.”

Why did this happen? Because it was not in the fate of the first man to become rich. No matter how sincerely the sage tried, the karmic account of that first man did not permit him to receive wealth. Even deities whom common souls worship would not have been able to help him at that moment. The karmic bondage prevents what is not permitted. From this, the lesson is not that effort is useless. The lesson is that karma is deeper than we imagine. Help cannot force fate. But forgiveness can change karma. When we forgive, we change our own karmic record. When we repent, we dilute our sins. When we remember the Supreme, we gain power, and with that power, misdeeds slowly dissolve. This is the real way of changing destiny. Not through external tricks, but through the inner work of forgiveness, knowledge, and connection with the Supre

CHAPTER SIXTEEN

Can Hereditary Traits and DNA be Altered?

It is said that whatever is present in the DNA of the forefathers is carried into the subsequent generations. This is true in many ordinary cases. But there are powerful souls of high quality who bring along their own DNA and are not defined by their family line.

Consider a father with five children. Three of them inherit a hereditary disease, while two do not. Why did the two escape? Because these two are souls of higher power. With the strength of their own soul, they have changed the DNA. When a powerful soul enters the body, it enters while the body is still being formed in the womb through cells, around the third or fourth month. At that point, the soul creates a very good structure of its DNA. Its causal body is also powerful, so it is unaffected by the causal body of its parents.

Bapuji Insight

“Aatma ki apni category hoti hai. Shaktishaali aatma apna khud ka DNA lekar aati hai.”

“The soul has its own category. A powerful soul brings its own DNA with it.”

Sometimes people predict that a child will inherit the problems of its parents. In many cases, this prediction fails one hundred per cent. The saying "like father, like son" is not always true. If it were always true, then how could Prabhad be born in the clan of the demon king Hiranyakashyap? Prabhad's father was a demon in his DNA, yet Prabhad was a pure and devoted soul. The reason is simple. Prabhad's soul was a powerful soul. It did not inherit the DNA of his father. If his soul had been weak, he would have inherited it.

In the same way, a garbage collector's son may take up education and move ahead in life in a way that his father could never imagine. His sanskars change because his soul is powerful. The weak soul inherits from the parents. The powerful soul brings its own category of DNA.

The renowned saint Raidas was born in a family of leather workers. Despite being born in such a family, he became a saint of high caliber. Even great teachers looked up to him. This is possible only because a soul has its own category. Many souls bring their own DNA with them, and their greatness cannot be explained by their birth. Forgiveness is one of the traits of such powerful souls. They do not carry the old hatreds of the family line. They begin a fresh record in this life and lift the whole family with them.

CHAPTER SEVENTEEN

Co Relation Between Forgiveness and Greater Cosmic Order

To understand this cosmic order, one must know that above the earth there are many realms. Swarg Lok, or heaven, is the third realm. The Deities who live there are of an illusory nature. They merry al the time. They are pleasure-seeking souls and nothing more. Above Swarg Lok are the higher realms of Mah Lok, Jan Lok, and Tap Lok. Above these is Satya Lok, which is Brahma Puri. Beyond this lies Vishnu Puri, in which the souls of high-quality angels reside. Beyond even Vishnu Puri lies Shivpuri and then the ultimate abode of Paramdham, the supreme divine light form of creation.

When we understand this larger cosmic order, forgiveness becomes easier. We see that our small quarrels belong to a very narrow part of the creation. Above us are the realms of great souls and angels who have long given up the language of revenge. The closer a soul moves toward those higher realms, the more naturally it forgives. Forgiveness is therefore not only a moral act. It is the entry ticket into higher dimensions of existence.

Angels have a supreme causal body. Their body is made of the supreme ether element. They are souls of such high quality that they do not have even the supreme air or supreme fire elements in them. Their body does not comprise of any gross elements at all. The image of an angel with wings, flying through the sky, is only a symbolic depiction. The real angels are the ones that reside in Vishnu Puri. The word "Angel" or "Farishta" comes from the Bible and the Quran. In the Hindu scriptures, the ones who stay in Vishnu Puri are the same as these angels. They are high-quality souls, higher than the gods who live in the third realm known as Swarg, or heaven.

Bapuji Insight

"Gyan samundar jitna vishaal honaa chahiye. Kuen ke mendhak jaise mat bano, samundar ki machhli jaise bano."

"Knowledge must be as vast as the ocean. Do not be like a frog in a well. Be like a fish in the ocean."

Bapuji says he uses words that are beyond religion, caste, and creed. He has one simple philosophy: impart knowledge for everyone. He uses words from all sources of knowledge. Some people are like the frog in the well. They catch only one word and sit with it forever. The true seeker is like a fish in the ocean of knowledge, not like a frog in the well. If you become like the frog, you will never obtain anything. Your knowledge should be as vast as the ocean, and your mind and intellect should be broad.

CHAPTER EIGHTEEN

Vasudhaiva Kutumbakam: The World as One Family

Bapuji gives a message to the world that is drawn from Hindu philosophy. It is expressed in the ancient phrase Vasudhaiva Kutumbakam. Vasudha means the whole world. Kutumbakam means the family. Together, the phrase means that all the inhabitants of this world are one family. Every living being is related to one Creator. People have created religion, caste, and creed. They are later additions. At the deepest level, humanity is one. And beyond humanity, all living creatures are part of the same vast creation.

Bapuji Insight

“Har insaan mein, har jeev mein aatma ko dekhne ki koshish karo. Sabhi ek Pita ki santaan hain.”

“Try to see the soul in every human being and in every living creature. All are children of one Father.”

If we truly see the soul in every human being and in every creature, and if we look at them as souls instead of as physical bodies, then our whole way of responding to them changes. We stop dividing the world into our people and their people. We start seeing everyone as a fraction of the same Supreme, the same Brahma. A great inner relief comes with this vision.

When we see the soul of everyone, and consider everyone to be children of the one Father, the creator, we will never wish to give sorrow or trouble to anyone. We will forgive everyone instantly. There will be no need for long mental struggles before granting forgiveness. The very act of seeing the other person as a soul has already forgiven them inside us.

This is the power of the soul-conscious state. When soul-consciousness takes over, body-consciousness disappears. When body-consciousness disappears, anger disappears. When anger disappears, the feeling of revenge has nothing to stand on. Forgiveness then becomes our natural response, not a difficult act. This is what Vasudhaiva Kutumbakam really means. It is not a slogan. It is a daily practice of seeing the one family everywhere.

CHAPTER NINETEEN

Giving, Renunciation and World Welfare

There is a saying that everyone is ready to give to the one who does not want anything, while the one who asks does not even receive alms. The one who does not bow down to worldly desires, ignorance, and greed is the one who does not ask. And that very soul ends up receiving everything.

Such a soul has meditated for many births without seeking anything. It has built this stage over ages. Even when someone willingly tries to give something to it, it does not easily accept. It wears poverty as if it were full of riches. Bapuji gives the example of Napoleon Bonaparte, who gave the message to the world that even after being the greatest emperor, he had to go with empty hands. The message is simple: do not keep any expectation from anyone. It is better to die than to beg or ask.

Bapuji Insight

“Jo dene wala hai, woh daata hai. Dene se aadmi ke paap aur bhool-chook kam hoti hai.”

“The one who gives is the donor. Through giving, a person's sins and mistakes are reduced.”

The one who thinks only of taking from the world keeps binding himself to the world. The one who thinks only of giving back to the world keeps unbinding himself. That is how the reverse journey of the soul begins. The giver becomes the donor. By giving away, he exterminates his sins and misdeeds. The taker piles up more sins, more karmic bondage, and more births and deaths. Finally, the taker's soul becomes weak, loses its energy, and can fall to the level of a demon soul.

There is also a practical rule in giving. We should not give away power or resources to dark or negative souls. Even if someone wishes to donate, he should donate to good souls who know the theory of karma, and for good causes. In olden times, saints and sages used to pour power into anyone who came before them, in order to help that soul. But that power was often wasted on worldly desires. Afterwards, the saints began to give power only to those souls who had built up the stage to receive knowledge and who would not bow down to greed and ignorance.

True renunciation is not hatred of the world. It is simply the end of expectation. When there is no expectation, there is no disappointment, no anger, no grudge, no need for revenge. Forgiveness becomes easy, because the offender cannot hurt us in the place where we had never asked anything in the first place. From this stage, a soul begins to live for world welfare. It does good quietly, without demanding anything in return. And it becomes a true donor in the spiritual sense of the word.

CHAPTER TWENTY

Krishna's Teaching: Body-Consciousness, Truth and Inner Victory

Krishna gave very deep knowledge in the Gita. On the battlefield, Arjun became confused when he saw his own relatives and gurus standing on the other side. He did not want to fight with his own people. So Krishna gave him a knowledge that went far beyond ordinary family considerations.

Krishna told him to forget the body and bodily relations. All those standing on the other side, though they appeared alive, were in truth living corpses. Why did Krishna call them living corpses? Because they were in favour of untruth, of asatya. Those who are standing with asatya are themselves doing the karma of asatya. Those who assist the untruthful are like living corpses. Bapuji says that even animals are better in this sense, because animals do not have knowledge. A soul that knows truth but still helps untruth has fallen below the level of an animal.

Bapuji Insight

“Apne mann ko do talwaron se vash mein karo — gyan ki talwar aur abhyas ki talwar.”

“Control your mind with two swords — the sword of knowledge and the sword of practice.”

Krishna's instruction was therefore direct. “All those who support lie, those who are supporting falsehood, those who are living a life of ignorance, must be destroyed” If you do not destroy them, misery and sorrow will be inflicted upon the people of the world by them, and you will be responsible for those miseries, and those miseries will be added to your account. It is also said that if you do not destroy them, they will kill you. And if you die, the world will be ruled by them. All around there will be disturbance and unhappiness.

This is the theory of karma applied on a very large scale. It is not a call to ordinary violence. It is a call to inner victory. The battlefield of the Gita, in its deepest meaning, is the battlefield of every soul. The living corpses are the inner enemies of the soul: the unforgiving sanskars, the revengeful thoughts, the supporting habits of untruth. They are supported by Duryodhan-like pride and ego. They must be destroyed if the soul wishes to be free.

Those on Duryodhan's side, whether Bhishma Pitamah, Dronacharya, or Kripacharya, were all destroyed, because all were helping Duryodhan. The lesson is stark. Whoever helps untruth shares its fate, even if he is otherwise respected. Within ourselves, we must identify what inside us is helping untruth and must put an end to it. Forgiveness of others without inner victory is incomplete. True forgiveness rises on the ground of inner truth, where every hidden support for revenge and falsehood has been removed.

CHAPTER TWENTY-ONE

The Final Practice of Forgiveness

A human being must become a knowledgeable person. The first step is to read and understand the theory of karma. Once a soul understands this theory, it must make a firm resolve: it shall not seek revenge at any cost, under any circumstances.

Welfare is hidden even in the hardship. At first, a difficult event may look like only a hardship, but welfare is always hidden inside it. Understanding this is the beginning of a new outlook on life. Every turn of life must be taken as a challenge, because many sanskars of many births are coming up for completion. In the end, even karmic bondages and bodily relatives of many births come up, sometimes in the form of bad karmas or sins from past lives, demanding attention.

When a soul receives knowledge, but karmic bondages still restrict it from becoming fully knowledgeable and from experiencing the divine form, the answer is not to give up. The knowledgeable soul keeps control over the mind. It makes an effort to destroy all vikarmas, the results of bad actions, and to transform itself, moving from soul-consciousness to remembrance of the Supreme. Its regular efforts slowly become successful.

This is why Krishna said that the mind must be controlled with two swords. One is the sword of knowledge. The other is the sword of practice. Knowledge must be applied again and again. The moment the mind starts thinking in the wrong direction, it must be stopped immediately.

Bapuji Insight

“Aatma ka sabse pehla aur sabse mool gun shanti hai. Yahi aatma ka asli swaroop hai.”

“The first and most original virtue of the soul is peace. This is the soul's true nature.”

The practical path can be summarised in a few lines. Understand the theory of karma. Know the Supreme. Become a knowledgeable soul. Think of the welfare and betterment of the world. Never indulge in revenge at any cost. Change, improve, and transform yourself first. By doing this, one attains the peace of soul and the peace of mind. One dives deeper into the path of knowledge. One enters the stages of self-awareness and self-knowledge. The soul develops love and compassion for the whole world. All the original virtues of the soul emerge one by one.

The biggest original virtue of a soul is peace. A soul is very peaceful when it is first born. That is why peace is the first virtue. Then the other virtues emerge: the ocean of love, compassion, knowledge, and the rest. These are the virtues of the Supreme, which a soul naturally begins to wear again as it becomes pure. This is the final fruit of forgiveness. It is not merely about pardoning one person or another. It is the path that returns the soul to its own original nature, to the peace that was always there, and finally to the Supreme from whom all peace has come.

Forgiveness is therefore not merely moral behaviour but a scientific spiritual process of purification and elevation

GLOSSARY

A brief guide to terms used in this book

Atma — The soul; the source of energy to living beings. The true self. We are not the body but the soul. The original state of the pure soul is divine light form.

Paramatma — The creator of the soul; the Supreme Soul. The state when the soul is in its true divine light form with the power to create many souls through affirmation. Known as Satyam Shivam Sundaram.

Kala — A unit of measurement of the power of a soul or supreme soul. Just as electric power is measured in watts, in spirituality the capacity of a soul is measured in kala.

Sankalp — Affirmation; determination; the thought generated in a soul. The power of the mind of a soul. Higher the kala, higher the power of Sankalp.

Nirakari — Formless; the true divine state of a soul in the form of divine light. The incorporeal state of the soul. The ultimate stage.

Akari — A subtle form (not physical), like a form created by energy. When a soul loses energy through affirmation, it assumes this subtle form of supreme elements.

Sakari — A physical form. When the energy of the soul degenerates further, it acquires a physical form.

Tattva — Element. The visible world is composed of five elements: earth, water, air, fire and ether. Tattva is finer than the elements known to science.

Param tattva — Supreme element; the finer and refined element, like the nucleus within an atom. Its energy is far higher than ordinary tattva.

Paramdham — The supreme abode; the highest dimension of creation in a solar system where Shiv resides. The incorporeal world of supreme divine light.

Shiv / Maha Shiv / Param Maha Shiv — The incorporeal creators. Shiv is the creator of a solar system, Maha Shiv of a galaxy, and Param Maha Shiv of a universe.

Shakti — The counterpart energy of the Akari Shiv; the feminine supreme energy involved in the furtherance of creation.

Peedi — Generation of creators or supreme souls. Higher dimensions have higher peedi (21, 101, 1001, 11001 and so on), with greater power.

Param Prakash — Supreme divine light. The energy of a soul in incorporeal form. Measured in kala. The state of pure soul consciousness.

Param Maha Tattva — The supreme great element; the divine brilliance radiated around Param Prakash. The highest energy level after Param Prakash.

Had ki atma — Common souls created at lower levels of creation with low power, composed up to supreme ether or ether elements.

Behad ki atma — Very powerful souls composed only of Param Prakash and Param Maha Tattva. These are called Behad souls.

Behad ki duniya — The limitless, boundless world of creation whose size and power are immeasurable.

Mukti — Freedom; the stage when a soul no longer exists in creation and dissolves into its creator.

Jeevan Mukti — Freedom of the soul from all karmic accounts while having complete knowledge of its creator; eternally existing with the creator in a blissful state.

Vyakt — The visible five-element world of creation.

Avyakt — The invisible subtle and supreme subtle world of creation.

Bhavatit — Without any feelings and emotions; the state beyond emotional disturbances.

Karmatit / Karmateet — The soul has got freedom from all karmic bondages and is beyond the law of any karmic accounts in any plane of creation.

Gunatit / Nirgun — Beyond the three qualities of nature (Satva, Rajo, Tamo). Pure soul consciousness; the incorporeal state of the soul.

Param Purush — The Akari Shiv / Maha Shiv as per the dimension of creation; the first creation of the incorporeal supreme creator. Supreme Male Energy.

Vikarma — Sin; results of bad action committed by a soul.

Brahmand — Solar system.

Maha Brahmand — Galaxy.

Param Maha Brahmand — Universe.

Subtle world — The world of subtle elements; invisible to the physical eye but full of life and activity.

Causal world — The world finer than the subtle world, made of supreme subtle elements.

Roop — A clone of a soul created by a supreme soul from its own energy through affirmation. It reduces the original power of the supreme soul.

Incarnation (Avatar) — A cell of a supreme soul or soul from a higher dimension used to carry out a specific work on earth. Carries less energy than a roop.

Pralay — The process of dissolution of a creation.

Behad ki Kala ka Paramdham — The supreme abode of the highest dimension of creation whose power is infinite. The abode of the Almighty Authority.

Behad ka Baap — The supreme master creator of this limitless vast creation; the Supreme Father or Almighty Authority.

Jeev — A soul that has fallen to lower levels of creation with a physical body due to uncontrolled desires. Living with ignorance, animal-like.

Shastra — Hindu scriptures where spiritual matters are discussed.

Puranas — Part of Hindu literature containing ancient wisdom in the form of stories describing the history of creation.

Ishta Dev — In the path of devotion, the chosen deity of an individual to whom one shows devotion throughout life.

Guru — A spiritual instructor who shows the right path to the soul, from darkness to enlightenment.

Ishwar — The master or owner of creation; the incorporeal Shiv.

Gyan Marg — The path of knowledge; the path on which the soul strives to acquire knowledge about its creator and continuously contemplates on this supreme knowledge.

Bhakti Marg — The path of devotion; the way to reach one's Ishta Dev. Includes singing devotional songs, worshipping, fasting and rituals.

Behad Gyan — The knowledge about the Supreme Father, the Almighty Authority and His boundless infinite creation. The ultimate knowledge about creation beyond the multiverse.

Paramshanti — Supreme peace; the original state of the soul when it is first created. The soul always seeks to return to this supreme peace.

Seva — Selfless service. In Behad Gyan, the best form of service is to disseminate supreme knowledge for the benevolence of souls.

Sanskars — The character of the soul; the record stored in the causal body. The mind of a soul works according to its sanskars.

Yog — Connection with the Almighty Authority. The stage where the soul, after acquiring Behad Gyan, immerses in deep love for its creator.

Dharana — The final stage of Behad Gyan where the soul realises its true state of pure soul-consciousness in incorporeal form. The soul itself becomes the embodiment of knowledge.

Sanatan Dharm — The eternal religion that has existed since the beginning of creation; the original religion from which all others have emerged.

Karan Sharir — The causal body; a subtle body inside the physical outline that holds the energy of the soul. Storehouse of the karmic accounts of a soul.

Loka — A layer or dimension of creation inside a Brahmand (solar system). Examples include Bhu-loka (earth), Bhuvar-loka, Swarg-loka, Mah-loka, Jan-loka, Tap-loka, Satya-loka.

Yugas — On earth, time cycles repeat in the form of Yugas: Sat-Yug, Treta-Yug, Dwapar-Yug, and Kali-Yug. Together these form Chatur-yug or Yugantar.

Purusharth — Spiritual effort made by a human being to understand the inscrutable soul science through self-enquiry and meditation.

Kshama — Forgiveness; the virtue of pardoning another. Considered one of the greatest qualities a soul can develop.

Vairag / Vairagya — Detachment; the inner state of non-attachment to worldly desires. True vairag comes through knowledge, not by force.

Karma Bandhan — Karmic bondage; the entanglement between souls due to past actions, which pulls them into repeated interactions across lifetimes.

Asatya — Untruth; falsehood. Supporting asatya makes the soul share in its karma.

Punya — Pious or virtuous deeds; actions that add to the positive account of the soul.

Asur — Demon; a being of negative nature. The soul that always seeks revenge slowly becomes like an asur.

Vasudhaiva Kutumbakam — The whole world is one family; a Sanskrit phrase meaning all inhabitants of the earth are members of a single divine family.

Sakshatkar — Direct divine experience or realisation of soul-consciousness and the Supreme.

Atma Gyan — Self-knowledge; the knowledge of the soul and its true nature.

Atma Shanti — Peace of the soul; inner peace attained through knowledge and forgiveness.

Atma Swaroop — Soul-consciousness; establishing oneself as a soul rather than a body.

Gyan Swaroop — Being in the form of knowledge; embodying the supreme knowledge within.

Divya Swaroop — Divine form; the inner divine state a soul can experience through spiritual practice.

Yogi — One who is in constant union with the Supreme; a soul established in remembrance and transcendental love.

Vighna Vinashak — Destroyer of obstacles; a soul that has become strong enough to face and dissolve every obstacle in its spiritual journey.

Vishnu Puri — The abode of angels (farishtas) in the higher realms; beyond Brahma Puri.

Swarg Lok — Heaven; the third realm above earth. The abode of deities of an illusory nature.

Mah Lok, Jan Lok, Tap Lok — Higher realms above Swarg Lok, leading upward to Satya Lok (Brahma Puri).

Shivling — A sacred symbol representing Shiv; an object of worship used for rigorous meditation.

Naga Baba — An ascetic who applies ash to the head and forehead, signifying renunciation of the world and worldly desires.

Farishta — Angel; a high-quality soul residing in Vishnu Puri. Their body comprises the supreme ether element.

BAPUJI INSIGHTS

Sacred wisdom from Bapuji Dashrathbhai Patel — collected from across the chapters of this book.

CHAPTER ONE — WHAT FORGIVENESS REALLY MEANS

“Kshama bahut badi quality hai, yeh sadharan nahi hai. Isko apne andar laane ke liye Parmatma ka smaran karna padta hai.”

“Forgiveness is a very big quality, it is not an ordinary one. To develop it within oneself, one has to remember the Supreme Soul.”

CHAPTER TWO — SEEKING FORGIVENESS AND GIVING FORGIVENESS

“Kshama maangna badi baat hai, lekin jo aatma kshama kar deti hai, woh maangne wale se bhi badi hoti hai.”

“To seek forgiveness is a big thing, but the soul that grants forgiveness is even greater than the one who seeks it.”

CHAPTER THREE — THE GREATNESS OF FORGIVING GRAVE SINS

“Bina karma bandhan ke koi kisi ko nahi maarta. Jo hua hai, karma ke hisaab se hua hai.”

“No one kills another without a karmic bondage. Whatever has happened, has happened according to the account of karma.”

CHAPTER FOUR — REVENGE, HATRED, AND GENERATIONAL BONDAGE

“Badla lena aatma ki kamzori aur kamzor sthiti ki nishani hai.”

“Revenge is a sign of the soul's weakness and vulnerability.”

CHAPTER FIVE — THE SOUL'S RECORD

“Sab kuch aatma ke andar hi record hota hai, sanskaron ke roop mein causal body mein store hota hai.”

“Everything is recorded inside the soul itself, stored in the causal body in the form of sanskars.”

CHAPTER SIX — REPENTANCE AND ITS IMPACT

“Jab koi kshama kar deta hai, woh karma bandhan se mukt ho jata hai.”

“When someone grants forgiveness, he becomes free from the karmic bondage.”

CHAPTER SEVEN — EFFECT OF FORGIVENESS ON MIND AND AURA

“Kshama se jo shanti milti hai woh asli hai. Badle se jo shanti lagti hai woh temporary hai.”

“The peace that comes from forgiveness is real. The peace that seems to come from revenge is only temporary.”

CHAPTER EIGHT — FORGIVENESS VIA REMEMBRANCE OF DIVINE SUPREME

“Gyan hi sabhi dukh aur peeda ka ilaaj hai.”

“Knowledge is the cure for all sorrow and pain.”

CHAPTER NINE — FORGIVENESS IN FAMILY LIFE AND RELATIONSHIPS

“Kshama se parivaar mein prem badhta hai, aur aatma ki shakti bhi badhti hai.”

“Through forgiveness, love grows within the family, and the soul power of everyone also increases.”

CHAPTER TEN — CHILDREN, PARENTS,
TEACHERS, AND SANSKARS

“Bachchon ke sanskar badalne ke liye, pehle maa-baap ko apne sanskar sudharne honge.”

“To change the sanskars of children, first the parents must improve their own sanskars.”

CHAPTER ELEVEN — ANGER, SILENCE, AND
THE REWRITING OF CHARACTER

“Krodh adhuraapan ki sabse badi nishani hai. Krodh se saara punya ka khata khatam ho jaata hai.” “Anger is the biggest sign of incompleteness. Through anger, the entire account of virtuous deeds is dissolved.”

CHAPTER TWELVE — GENERATION CURSE
AND ITS IMPACT

“Asli sant aur rishi humesha shaant rehte hain. Jo jaldi krodhit ho jaata hai, woh asli nahi hai.”

“A real saint or sage is always peaceful. The one who becomes angry easily is not a real one.”

CHAPTER TWELVE — GENERATION CURSE AND ITS IMPACT

“Ek gun aatma mein aa jaaye to baaki saare gun khud ba khud aane lagte hain.”

CHAPTER THIRTEEN — DEATH, REVENGE, GHOSTLY EXISTENCE, AND THE CHOICE TO RISE

“Jo bhi hua, achchhe ke liye hua. Kathinai mein hi kalyaan chhupa hua hota hai.”

“Whatever has happened, has happened for the good. Welfare is always hidden within hardship.”

CHAPTER FOURTEEN — THE SUBTLE WORLD, ANCESTORS, AND GUIDANCE BEYOND THE BODY

“Sookshh jagat se bhi aatmaayein humein margdarshan deti hain, apni kirano ke zariye.”

“Souls from the subtle world also guide us, through the rays of their own energy.”

CHAPTER FIFTEEN — THEORY OF KARMA AND THE POWER OF CHOICE

“Karma ka siddhant bahut gabraa hai. Jo nahi hona hai, woh koi kitni bhi koshish kar le, nahi hoga.”

“The theory of karma is very deep. What is not destined to happen will not happen, no matter how much one tries.”

CHAPTER SIXTEEN — CAN HEREDITARY TRAITS AND DNA BE ALTERED?

“Aatma ki apni category hoti hai. Shaktishaali aatma apna khud ka DNA lekar aati hai.”

“The soul has its own category. A powerful soul brings its own DNA with it.”

CHAPTER SEVENTEEN — CO-RELATION BETWEEN FORGIVENESS AND GREATER COSMIC ORDER

“Gyan samundar jitna vishaal honaa chahiye. Kuen ke mendhak jaise mat bano, samundar ki machhli jaise bano.”

“Knowledge must be as vast as the ocean. Do not be like a frog in a well. Be like a fish in the ocean.”

CHAPTER EIGHTEEN — VASUDHAIVA KUTUMBAKAM: THE WORLD AS ONE FAMILY

“Har insaan mein, har jeev mein aatma ko dekhne ki koshish karo. Sabhi ek Pita ki santaan hain.”

“Try to see the soul in every human being and in every living creature. All are children of one Father.”

CHAPTER NINETEEN — GIVING,
RENUNCIATION, AND WORLD WELFARE

“Jo dene wala hai, woh daata hai. Dene se aadmi ke paap aur bhool-chook kam hoti hai. ”

“The one who gives is the donor. Through giving, a person's sins and mistakes are reduced. ”

CHAPTER TWENTY — KRISHNA'S TEACHING:
BODY-CONSCIOUSNESS, TRUTH, AND INNER VICTORY

“Apne mann ko do talwaron se vash mein karo — gyan ki talwar aur abhyas ki talwar. ”

“Control your mind with two swords — the sword of knowledge and the sword of practice. ”

CHAPTER TWENTY-ONE — THE FINAL
PRACTICE OF FORGIVENESS

“Aatma ka sabse pehla aur sabse mool gun shanti hai.
Yahi aatma ka asli swaroop hai.”

“The first and most original virtue of the soul is peace. This is the soul's true nature. ”

“Gyan Daan Maha Daan”

Sharing Knowledge is the Highest Charity

— Bapuji Dashrathbhai Patel

Forgiveness is not just an emotion... It is freedom from karmic bondage.

When a soul forgives,
it breaks the chain of past lifetimes,
clears its inner records,
and rises toward Paramdham.

This is not a philosophy...
This is a spiritual science of transformation.

A step-by-step spiritual guide to forgiveness, healing the soul and freeing yourself from past karma.

From anger to peace

From bondage to freedom

From soul to Supreme
