ABOUT BAPUJI

Bapuji (full name: Bapuji Dashrathbhai Patel, also lovingly called “Dadaji” by the younger generation) was born in 1956 in the small village of Akhaj in the Mehsana district of Gujarat. However, he spent his childhood in another village named Ambasan, also located in the Mehsana district.

In the early part of his life, he was a highly successful lawyer. Later, he devoted his life to realizing the supreme spiritual truth and bringing this divine knowledge forward for the welfare of humanity. Today, this supreme knowledge serves as a guiding light for true seekers to realize their ultimate destiny. It is a blessing of the highest divinity that the present time is witnessing the rise of this supreme spiritual knowledge, guiding souls on Earth to return to their original source.

Despite being raised in a very poor family and facing challenging circumstances, Bapuji had a deep desire to transform this sorrowful and suffering world into a better place. At the young age of six, he questioned God repeatedly, asking why God remained silent about the suffering of humanity. This intense longing to end human suffering eventually led him to attain the highest level of spirituality later in life.

Even as a child, Bapuji would spend hours alone in the fields, often neglecting his own comfort. Due to poverty, he would walk barefoot without shoes or sandals, frequently getting pricked by thorns. Many times, he would stay late in the fields and, on his way back home, encounter subtle world entities. These experiences sparked his interest in communicating with subtle world souls.

Bapuji was courageous from a young age, which helped him overcome many obstacles. Alongside his studies in chartered accountancy (CA), he gave tuition classes to support himself financially. Later, he completed his Bachelor of Law (LLB) degree and became a well-known lawyer in Ahmedabad.

In 1997, he established a spiritual institution called “Vishwa Parivartak Ishwariya Vidhyalay” in Chenpur, Ahmedabad, with the mission of transforming this mortal world, filled with suffering and disorder, into an eternal divine world of immortality. Smt. Sushma Tandon, lovingly known as “Maa,” worked alongside Bapuji in this grand divine mission.

To accomplish this mission, Bapuji worked tirelessly, dedicating all his resources to this divine purpose. During that time, he would deliver continuous spiritual discourses for up to 18 hours without rest. In these discourses, he explained the highest dimensions of divine knowledge, which he realized through deep meditation and divine vision in a state of superconsciousness. This knowledge goes beyond the imagination of the ordinary human mind.

Bapuji’s teachings cover a vast range of topics, including the types of celestial creators across different dimensions, the creation of our solar system, galaxy, and universe, and most importantly, the transcendental knowledge of the multiverse and realities beyond it. His knowledge is supremely profound and is intended for highly evolved seekers, referred to as “behad souls.” According to Bapuji, these “behad souls” will play a key role in transforming this mortal world into an eternal divine realm.

At present, Bapuji remains deeply engaged in intense meditation and samadhi for long hours. He does not meet anyone, as he is continuously immersed in his transcendental mission in a superconscious state.

— by Bapuji Dashrathbhai Patel

What will happen to the Earth? Many people ask this question today with fear in their hearts. In one of his discourses, Bapuji Dashrathbhai Patel answers it with complete calm. He says the Earth is not moving towards its end. It is moving towards a great transformation.

This book is a careful, faithful presentation of that discourse. Nothing has been added from outside. Every teaching, every example and every step of the plan comes from Bapuji’s own words. Only the presentation has been refined, so that the flow of one continuous talk becomes the flow of a book.

It has been written for a complete newcomer. You do not need any spiritual background to read it. Every Hindi and Sanskrit term is written in italics and explained in simple words the moment it appears. A full glossary waits for you at the back of the book.

Read it slowly, one chapter at a time. Each chapter builds on the one before it, the way Bapuji himself builds his explanation. And if you wish, do not only read. Try the simple practice Bapuji gives. This is a book about the future of the Earth — and the future of the Earth, as you will see, begins within you.

CHAPTER ONE

THE WORLD WILL NOT END

Many people today fear that the Earth is heading towards destruction.

In this chapter you will hear Bapuji's clear answer to that fear — and discover what is truly coming.

All over the world, people speak about the end. Some point to wars. Some point to floods, earthquakes and a changing climate. Others speak of ancient prophecies of a great dissolution. Underneath all of it lies one quiet question: is the Earth going to finish?

Bapuji answers this question directly, and his answer is full of hope. He says that as the atmosphere is slowly filled with supreme peace, everything will change. His words are simple and firm:

*दुनिया खत्म नहीं होगी, परिवर्तन होगा। नेगेटिव का पॉजिटिव में
परिवर्तन होगा, तत्वों का परम तत्व में परिवर्तन होगा।*

“The world will not end; it will be transformed. The negative will transform into positive, and the elements will transform into supreme elements.”

This one sentence is the seed of the whole book. The Earth is not being prepared for destruction. It is being prepared for change — a change of its atmosphere, its elements, and the very thinking of the people who live on it.

In the discourse, a question is put before Bapuji. The scriptures speak of Mahakal Pralay — the Great Dissolution, in which whole worlds are drawn back into their creator. Can supreme peace really stop something so vast? Bapuji replies that it certainly can be stopped. In the place of the Great Dissolution, something else will happen: Maha Vishwa Parivartan — the Great World Transformation. He explains the reason very simply. When supreme peace has filled the atmosphere itself, nothing remains that needs to be stopped.

He is also asked whether the Earth has already entered a great cycle of change. His answer is a plain “yes”. Even now, he says, souls who have this knowledge are spreading vibrations of peace, and power is slowly descending onto the Earth. Destruction, Bapuji says, will not happen. The people of Bharat can stop it by changing the atmosphere through their own thought. How thought can change an atmosphere is exactly what this book will explain, step by step.

But Bapuji does not hide the seriousness of the time. He says only a little time is left. Every single day, the atmosphere of the Earth is changing. This is the time of awakening, the time of inner effort. Do not keep waiting, he says. Listen, understand, and transform yourself with the divine power of Almighty.

He also tells us why this knowledge feels so new. The old ways will not be enough for what is coming. Physical science, he says plainly, will not work here; a spiritual science is needed. And this spiritual science is not written in any book. It is the supreme knowledge of the limitless infinite creation— a study beyond this world. In his words, it is new knowledge for a new world:

बेहद का परम ज्ञान, परम ज्ञान लिखा गया किताबों में नहीं, नई दुनिया
के लिए नया ज्ञान चाहिए।

“The supreme knowledge of the limitless infinite creation — this supreme knowledge is not written in books. For a new world, new knowledge is needed.”

And who will carry out a task as vast as transforming a whole world?
Bapuji’s answer is surprising. Not armies. Not governments. He says the doers will be behad souls — powerful souls with unlimited energy, whose meaning will unfold through this book — and only a handful of them. A handful of souls, he says, can give the whole world this experience.

How can a handful of souls change the atmosphere of an entire planet? To understand that, we must first understand something much smaller and much closer: a single thought. That is where the next chapter begins.

IN SIMPLE WORDS

People fear the Earth is ending. Bapuji says it is not ending; it is transforming.
In place of the Great Dissolution will come the Great World Transformation.
Only a little time is left, so this is the time to awaken and change ourselves.

This change needs a new, spiritual science — and a handful of dedicated souls will carry it out.

CHAPTER TWO

EVERYTHING BEGINS WITH A THOUGHT

*Before we can understand the future of the Earth, we must understand the smallest event in creation:
a single thought arising in a soul.*

Bapuji begins at the very foundation. The base of this creation, he says, is sankalp — a thought-intention arising in the soul. Every sankalp produces a spandan — a vibration that spreads outwards. The sankalp is the cause; the spandan is its effect. In the physical world, we would simply call these vibrations.

So, whatever exists — thoughts, feelings, the atmosphere around us, even the vast cosmos — is built from sankalp and spandan. And these vibrations are born from thinking. But who is it that actually thinks?

Here Bapuji makes the most important distinction in all of spiritual knowledge. The scriptures divide everything into two: jad, meaning lifeless matter, and chetan, meaning that which is conscious and alive. The body, made of five elements, is jad. The one who lives in it and thinks through it is the atma — the soul. The soul is the true self. In today's language, we may call it consciousness.

What is the soul like? Bapuji describes it as a power — a point of pure white light. Upon this power sits the mann, the mind, which thinks.

Within the mind works the Buddhi — the intellect that understands, judges, and makes decisions. Deep within the Buddhi are the Sanskars — the deep impressions carried by the soul over time. These Sanskars quietly shape our thoughts, decisions, actions, and ultimately our character. Soul, mind, intellect, sanskar: this is the inner machinery of every human being.

Now watch what happens when the soul thinks. The thought does not stay inside. Whatever you think, and whatever you speak, first fills your aura — the field of energy surrounding your body. From the aura it moves out as vibration into the vayumandal — the atmosphere. Every thought, good or bad, quietly enters the air of the world. Nothing thought is ever merely private.

There is one more thing we must know about the soul, and it changes everything. The soul was not always restless. Bapuji says that when the soul first came into being, it was in the stage of Param Shanti — supreme peace. Supreme peace is the soul's original stage, its original sanskar, its true nature. The scriptures call this original nature Sat-Chit-Anand — truth, consciousness and bliss.

Then what went wrong? Through its own karmas, the soul slowly lost its power. Coming into human birth, it became tamo-pradban — dominated by darkness and ignorance — and it became unhappy. Unhappy souls think negatively. And negative thinking, as we now know, does not stay inside the thinker. It flows out into the atmosphere of the whole world.

This is also why every soul, everywhere, is searching for peace. It is homesickness. Peace is not somewhere outside — not on a mountain, not in a forest. Bapuji says there is no need to go to the mountains, because peace lies within you. It is your own original state, waiting to be remembered.

Everything, in the end, depends on the “self” we choose to live from. Bapuji describes two ways of seeing. The first is dehbhaan — body-consciousness, the feeling “I am this body”. He calls this the rakshas view — the demon-like view, because from it flow desire, fear and conflict. The second is atma-swaroop — the soul-form, the living experience “I am the soul”. This he calls the Brahm swaroop — the divine way of seeing. The whole future of the Earth turns on this small inner shift.

IN SIMPLE WORDS

Creation is built from sankalp (thought-intention) and spandan (vibration).

The thinker is not the body but the soul — a point of pure white light, carrying mind, intellect and sanskar.

Every thought fills the aura and then flows into the atmosphere of the world.

The soul’s original state is supreme peace; it became unhappy and negative through its own karmas.

Peace is not on a mountain. It is within, and it can be remembered.

CHAPTER THREE

WHY THE EARTH HAS BECOME HEAVY

If thought becomes vibration, where do all the vibrations go?

This chapter explains what centuries of human thinking have done to the air we breathe.

Take a breath. The air that entered you is not empty. According to Bapuji, the vayu tattva — the air element — records the thoughts of human beings. In every cell of the atmosphere, people’s negative sankalps lie stored, like recordings held in the form of vibrations.

Bapuji points out that even science has seen a hint of this truth. Scientists have found that water records negative and positive sankalps — “water has memory”. In the same way, he says, every cell of the air element is filled with the negativity of people’s thinking. Centuries of anger, fear, hatred and sorrow have soaked into the atmosphere. This is why the Earth’s atmosphere (vayumandal) has become heavy.

And this heavy air does not stay outside us. Bapuji traces its path into the human being with great precision. When you breathe, negativity enters with the breath. It first affects your pranamay sharir — the breath-energy body, the subtle sheath that carries the life-force. The pranamay sharir then affects the sukshma sharir — the subtle body — and makes it negative. The subtle body in turn affects the karan sharir — the causal body, the innermost record-house of the soul. And from the causal body, the mind itself turns negative.

Now the seriousness of our situation becomes clear. We are breathing in the recorded negativity of the whole world, and it is reaching all the way to our minds. Bapuji says this is why even yogis, sincere seekers of truth, can lose their way and become bhogis, seekers of worldly pleasure. He says this is also why even rishis, the great sages, sincerely wish to remain righteous, yet often struggle to do so. According to Bapuji, the very atmosphere of the world works against them. Bapuji describes today's condition in one hard, honest line:

जैसे खाने जैसा अन्न नहीं है, पीने जैसा पानी नहीं है, और हवा में प्राण
को टिकाने वाला वायु नहीं है।

"There is no food left fit to eat, no water fit to drink, and air itself no longer holds the life-force needed to sustain the breath of life."

Whole ages of the Earth, Bapuji explains, are made in exactly this way. The scriptures describe four repeating ages: Satyug, the age of truth; Treta; Dwapar; and Kalyug, the present age of darkness. Why do these ages arise? They are shaped by the collective thoughts of humanity. When people's thinking is positive, Satyug exists. As collective thought declines, the ages decline with it, until negative thinking builds the negative atmosphere of Kalyug. An age is not merely a period of time. It is the collective state of human consciousness, imprinted into the very atmosphere of the Earth.

Bapuji points out that the scriptures describe four levels of Vayu (air). The first is Sthool Vayu, the physical air we breathe. The second is Sukshma Vayu, the subtle air. The third is Karan Vayu, the causal air. Each level is subtler and more refined than the one before it. Beyond these is Param Vayu — the highest and most subtle form of air. According to Bapuji, the quality of Param Vayu depends on the collective state of human consciousness. In simple words, air exists at different levels of subtlety. As people's collective thoughts become purer or more negative, the quality of the world's atmosphere changes with them.

Where does all this negativity actually come from? Bapuji's answer is disarmingly simple: from desire. Negative vibrations grow from the ichchhas — the desires — of human souls. "I want this. I must become big." The endless pursuit of material things and the constant desire for respect and status fill the atmosphere with restlessness, day and night.

The consequences now surround us. The five tattvas — earth, water, fire, air, and ether, the five elements from which this world is made — have become imbalanced and now bring suffering instead of harmony. Their imbalance appears before our eyes in the form of natural calamities. Even disease and grief are not separate from human thought. They arise from the collective thoughts of people and remain stored in the Vayumandal — the subtle atmosphere that surrounds the Earth. According to Bapuji, the heaviness that surrounds the Earth is not a punishment imposed from outside. It is the result of our own collective thoughts, returning to us through the very atmosphere we have created.

IN SIMPLE WORDS

The air element records human thought; centuries of negativity have made the atmosphere heavy.

With every breath, this negativity travels inward — breath body, subtle body, causal body, mind.

That is why even good people find it so hard to remain good today.

The ages themselves — Satyug to Kalyug — are made by collective thought.

Desires feed the negativity, and the imbalanced elements answer with calamity and disease.

CHAPTER FOUR

THE FIRST LAW OF CHANGE

If human thought made the atmosphere heavy, then human thought can also heal it.

This chapter states the first law on which the whole plan rests.

Everything we have seen so far leads to one conclusion, and Bapuji states it as a law: swa-parivartan — self-transformation — is itself vishwa parivartan — world transformation. First the self transforms; then the world transforms. The world does not transform from the outside. It transforms from within.

Why should this be so? Because of what we learned in the second chapter. A soul's sankalps do not remain confined to itself. They naturally spread beyond the individual. They radiate from the soul's aura into the Vayumandal, the surrounding atmosphere, and then continue to flow throughout the whole of creation. Bapuji says the sankalps travel through the entire multiverse. Transform the thinker, and you transform the thoughts being broadcast to the world. Change the soul within, and you change the vibrations it spreads throughout creation.

He gives a beautifully simple picture of how the healing works. It is like adding clean water to dirty water. Keep adding clean water, and slowly the whole of it becomes pure. In the same way, when vibrations of supreme peace are added to a heavy atmosphere, the stored negativity is slowly weakened, and purity and balance take its place.

This process is not instantly visible, because it works at the subtle level. But its effect is deep. As the vibrations of peace increase in the atmosphere, the intensity of the negative waves decreases. The vayumandal becomes lighter and more balanced. And then something remarkable follows: the thinking of human beings itself begins to turn. People who were filled with anger, fear or hatred find their thoughts slowly bending towards calm.

Bapuji extends this even to the most frightening forces of our time. Even those driven by violence and destruction will be transformed by these vibrations. Their anger and hostility will subside, giving way to inner peace, calmness, and a higher state of consciousness. No one is defeated in this plan. Everyone is transformed.

This is why Bapuji says with such confidence that destruction will not happen. The people of Bharat, he says, can stop destruction (vinash) by changing the vayumandal through thought. An atmosphere in which supreme peace is recorded simply cannot host a war.

And when this is done collectively, the effect multiplies. If souls in large numbers, established in pure soul-consciousness, spread the energy of supreme peace together, the impact is no longer personal or local. It becomes global. Later chapters will reveal the exact collective plan, with its astonishing numbers.

For now, the law itself is enough — and it places the future of the Earth in the most unexpected location: inside you. Bapuji says plainly that the true goal of life is Swa Parivartan — the transformation of the self.

Do not begin by trying to change the world. First, transform yourself — that is, your own thoughts.

IN SIMPLE WORDS

The first law: self-transformation is world transformation. The world changes from within.

One soul's sankalps automatically spread through the whole creation.

Peace added to a heavy atmosphere purifies it, as clean water purifies dirty water.

As the atmosphere lightens, human thinking itself turns positive — even destructive souls become calm.

Done collectively, this becomes a global power. The goal of life is to change yourself.

CHAPTER FIVE

PARAM SHANTI: THE MAHAMANTRA OF THE SOUL

One word stands at the centre of the entire transformation.

*This chapter reveals what Param Shanti really is,
and gives you Bapuji's simplest practice.*

By now the phrase Param Shanti — supreme peace — has appeared many times. It is important to understand this properly, because Bapuji uses the term in a much deeper sense than simply calming the mind.

According to Bapuji, Param Shanti is the word, the vibration, and the spiritual power of Paramdham — the Supreme Abode, the highest home of the incorporeal (Nirakari) souls and the Almighty. He explains that when the vibrations of Param Shanti spread, the very atmosphere of Paramdham begins to manifest on Earth. This divine power must descend from the highest realm into this world. According to Bapuji, the future of the Earth depends on this very process — the descent of Paramdham's peace into the Earth's atmosphere, transforming both humanity and the world.

Param Shanti is not something outside us — it already belongs to us. As we saw earlier, it is the soul's original state, its first and most natural condition, its true sanskar. So when you repeat this word, you are not adding anything new to yourself. You are simply returning to what you already are — calling yourself home.

Bapuji calls Param Shanti our Mahamantra — the supreme mantra. But he also gives one essential condition: its full power is revealed only in Atma-Swaroop, the awareness that “I am a soul, not this body.” If Param Shanti is repeated in Dehbhan — the belief that “I am this body” — it remains only a word, and its power stays limited. But when it is remembered with soul-consciousness, the mantra comes alive. It reconnects the soul with its own original nature and with Paramdham, the highest world. According to Bapuji, at that moment Param Shanti is no longer just a sound spoken by the lips. It becomes a living current of spiritual power flowing from the highest realm into the soul.

To help people experience this state, Bapuji gives a simple practice that anyone can follow. It has only two steps. First, become aware of your true identity by saying, “मैं आत्मा हूँ” — “I am a soul.” Stay in that awareness for a few moments. Then, while remaining in soul-consciousness, affirm, “मैं परम शांत हूँ” — “I am supremely peaceful.” According to Bapuji, when these words are repeated with the awareness that “I am a soul,” they awaken the soul’s original state of Param Shanti. Bapuji says that practising these two affirmations even ten times a day is enough to begin experiencing Supreme Peace.

Why can something so simple work so quickly? According to Bapuji, the answer lies within you. Param Shanti is not something you have to create. It already exists in your true nature as a soul. Bapuji explains that the soul’s original experience of Param Shanti is still preserved in the Karan Sharir, the causal body that holds the deepest impressions of the soul’s journey. When you repeat “I am a soul” and “I am supremely peaceful” with soul-consciousness, those original impressions begin to awaken. According to Bapuji, even two to five repetitions can start bringing those original impressions to the surface. You are not creating peace from nothing. You are simply awakening what has always been within you. It is like replaying the oldest and purest recording already stored in the soul.

Go a step further, and a deeper change begins. According to Bapuji, when you repeat Param Shanti fifty to one hundred times, it creates a deep feeling of peace (Bhavna) in the mind. That feeling gradually forms a new spiritual impression in the Karan Sharir, the soul's causal record. As these inner impressions change, the soul's aura also begins to change.

Then comes a quiet miracle of protection. The improved aura stops absorbing the negativity of the outside world. Instead, it begins to attract and pull in Param Shanti from the atmosphere. The same doorway that once let the world's heaviness pour into you becomes a doorway through which peace pours in. The vibrations first cleanse the aura and the subtle body; then their work reaches the causal body.

Just one word — Param Shanti — when spoken with the awareness, “I am a soul,” becomes far more than a word. According to Bapuji, it awakens the soul's original state and carries the spiritual power of Paramdham. This simple practice becomes the seed of a new Earth.

In the next chapter, Bapuji explains the science behind this process. He reveals how the vibrations of Param Shanti, when spoken in soul-consciousness, spread outward through three stages — from one person, to a home, and ultimately to the whole world.

IN SIMPLE WORDS

Param Shanti is the word, vibration and power of Paramdham, the supreme abode — brought down to Earth.

It is also the soul's own original state, so the practice is a return, not an import.

The practice: “I am a soul... I am supremely peaceful” — even ten times a day gives the experience.

A few repetitions awaken the original recordings of peace in the causal body; fifty to a hundred create a new recording.

The improved aura stops absorbing negativity and begins pulling in peace instead.

CHAPTER SIX

THE THREE LEVELS OF THE SANKALP

The same word can fill a room, a home, or the whole world.

This chapter explains the word-science of Param Shanti — its counts, its levels, and its reach.

Bapuji now reveals what he calls the science of a consciously pronounced Sankalp. According to him, the power and reach of Param Shanti do not depend merely on pronouncing the words. They depend on the Sankalp from which the words arise and the soul-consciousness in which they are pronounced. He describes three distinct levels, each carrying far greater power and influence than the one before it.

The first level is simply “Param Shanti.” When this Sankalp is held in the mind and pronounced with full attention in Atma-Swaroop (soul-consciousness), its vibrations spread through your aura. As you continue repeating it — one thousand, two thousand, five thousand times — its influence becomes stronger and spreads further around you. Bapuji says that after one lakh (100,000) repetitions, your entire home becomes filled with the vibrations of Param Shanti. At this level, however, its influence remains largely within the home.

The second level is “Behad ki Param Shanti” — the Supreme Peace of the Limitless. Bapuji explains that Behad means limitless or boundless, while Had means limited. When this Sankalp is repeatedly held and pronounced lakhs of times, its vibrations are no longer confined to the home. They spread into the neighbourhood, the community, the city, and continue expanding far beyond.

The third level is “Behad ke Behad ki Param Param Param Maha Shanti” — the Supreme, Supreme, Supreme Great Peace of the Limitless Beyond the Limitless. According to Bapuji, this Sankalp carries the highest spiritual power. When it is repeatedly held and pronounced in soul-consciousness, its vibrations spread with great speed across the country and eventually throughout the world, moving towards the limitless. Bapuji says that the difference in the power and reach of these three levels is immense.

Along with these three levels, Bapuji reveals another important principle: a thought is more powerful than spoken words. When you think a sankalp silently in the mind, it carries a thousand times more power than expressing the same sankalp in the sthool (spoken) form. The sankalp itself vibrates a thousand times stronger. Because of this, its effect spreads a thousand times further — carrying the vibrations of Param Shanti deep into the atmosphere. Bapuji adds that this principle applies not only to Param Shanti, but to every mantra and every thought.

Bapuji is also practical about the beginning of this practice. He emphasizes that holding the sankalp in the mind is more powerful than speaking it. If Yog does not arise naturally, he says to repeat Param Shanti in the sthool (spoken) form. By continuing in this way for about half an hour to an hour, the repetition gradually becomes Sukshma (subtle), and the vibrations begin to arise at the subtle level.

To guard the quality of the mind, Bapuji offers a slogan of three words: kam socho — think less. If a thought is necessary, think it.

Otherwise, hold mann ka maun — the silence of the mind. A quiet mind keeps a clean aura, wherever you go.

Bapuji then expands this practice to every part of life. Live as a karma yogi, he says — stay soul-conscious not only while meditating, but while eating, while walking, while working, letting this awareness quietly flow through every small act of the day. Lived this way, right in the middle of ordinary life, the vibrations grow much bigger than before. And when a whole family chants together, something beautiful happens — the home itself becomes a mandir, a living temple. Anyone who walks in feels the peace of Param Shanti, even without knowing why. Bapuji also reveals a simple spiritual law. Whoever remembers a soul established in Param Shanti receives the vibrations of Param Shanti in return.

Finally, Bapuji describes the highest form of service: Mansa Seva — using the power of pure thoughts, Sankalps, and affirmations to bless and uplift the whole creation. Sit at home in soul-consciousness. Remember the Almighty Authority. Draw spiritual power from that remembrance. Then spread the vibrations of the Limitless Supreme Peace to the world. According to Bapuji, this is the greatest Seva. It is the Nishkaam Karma taught in the Gita — to serve without expecting anything in return. Simply spread the vibrations of Param Shanti. Ask for nothing. According to Bapuji, every soul you help spiritually adds to your own fortune. He also teaches that the one who serves in this way becomes Antarmukhi — turned inward. As the old saying goes, “The one who is turned inward is always happy.”

IN SIMPLE WORDS

Level one: “Param Shanti” — one lakh repetitions fill the home, but stay within it.

Level two: “Behad ki Param Shanti” — crosses the home into society and the city.

Level three: “Behad ke Behad ki Param Param Param Maha Shanti” — races across the country and world.

Thinking the sankalp in the mind is a thousand times more powerful than speaking it; if Yog does not arise naturally, begin with the sthool (spoken) form and let the repetition gradually become subtle.

Think less; live as a karma yogi; serve through the mind — this is the greatest seva.

CHAPTER SEVEN

YOG: THE CONNECTION THAT GIVES POWER

A sankalp without power is only a wish.

*This chapter shows where the soul's power comes from,
and what that power does inside you.*

Bapuji now clears a common misunderstanding. Simply repeating a word, even the highest word, is not enough. He clearly teaches that a Sankalp produces results only when it is backed by spiritual power. Power must support the Sankalp, and the Sankalp must be filled with power. Without that power, repeated Sankalps alone cannot bring results. This raises an important question: What gives a Sankalp the power to become reality? How does a soul gain the power to transform a Sankalp into reality?

Where does the soul receive this power? Bapuji says it comes from the highest source through Yog. Here, Yog does not mean physical postures or exercises. It means connection in its original sense. Yog is the connection of the Atma (soul) with the Paramatma (Supreme Soul). It is the connection with the Behad Parampita — the Limitless Supreme Father, the Almighty Authority, who is the ultimate powerhouse of all creation. When the soul connects with this limitless powerhouse, spiritual power begins to flow into it.

The foundation of this connection is love. Bapuji expresses this truth in just five words: “As much love, that much power.” Forming the connection takes only a moment. It is simply a shift of attention towards the Supreme. But making that connection deep and constant takes time. Why? Because the soul must first become free from body-consciousness and bodily attachments. To explain this, Bapuji quotes the Gita:

तू देह और देह के सर्व संबंध भूलकर आत्म स्वरूप बन, मुझ परमात्मा
को याद कर।

“Forget the body and all bodily relationships. Become established in your soul-consciousness and remember Me, the Supreme Soul.”

Bapuji now explains, step by step, how the flow of divine power transforms the soul. This is one of the most precise teachings in the entire discourse. The Buddhi (intellect) remembers the Almighty Authority. A flow of divine power then enters the soul and fills its aura. From the aura, it passes through the seven layers of the Sukshma Sharir (subtle body). Finally, it reaches the Karan Sharir (causal body), where the impressions and recordings of many births are stored.

This is where the real transformation begins. The old recordings stored in the Karan Sharir begin to burn away. According to Bapuji, they are reduced to ashes by the power of Yog. As these old recordings are destroyed, the soul rises through higher stages. It becomes Bhavatit — beyond the pull of feelings and emotions. It becomes Karmatit — free from the bondage of karma. It becomes Trigunatit — beyond the three qualities of nature. The divine power then charges the Karan Sharir. It next charges the Mahakaran Sharir (Great Causal Body). Finally, it charges the Param Mahakaran Sharir (Supreme Great Causal Body).

At last, the soul attains its Nirakar stage — the formless state of pure light. All coverings fall away, and the soul shines in its original form.

This burning of records is the only true remedy for vikarma — sin, wrong action recorded against the soul. Only yog bal, the power of yog, destroys vikarma. Bapuji says that this is the hidden way karma works, as described in the scriptures.

If the soul holds immense spiritual power, why do we live as though we have none? Bapuji answers with an example from daily life. Look at an electric wire. Electricity flows inside it, but rubber covers it — remove the rubber and the current appears. In the same way, this five-element body sits like rubber upon the behad souls. The five-element body acts like an insulating covering around the soul. It blocks the soul's true power from being fully expressed or experienced in the physical state.

And the power is staggering. Within each soul, Bapuji says, is the light of thousands of suns. Each one could transform an entire multiverse. But souls have become trapped in human birth, wrapped in the coverings of karma-bondage, and so they have forgotten their own capacity. Meditation is the journey back to the soul's original memory. It is the remembrance of who we truly are. When a soul experiences its true form, it regains its lost spiritual memory. The Gita describes such a soul as Nashto Moha Smriti Labdha — one whose delusion has ended and whose true memory has returned. For such a soul, even the smallest desire is seen as ignorance. This is the meaning of Ichchha Matra Avidya.

IN SIMPLE WORDS

Sankalps need power, and power comes from yog — the soul's loving connection with the Almighty Authority.

As much love, that much power; the method takes a second, the connection takes practice.

Power crosses the aura and the seven layers of the subtle body, and burns the old records in the causal body.

The soul rises beyond feelings, karma and the three qualities, towards its formless stage of light.

Only the power of yog destroys vikarma; the body is merely rubber over a soul holding the light of thousands of suns.

CHAPTER EIGHT

WHY THE MIND CANNOT CHANGE ITSELF

Everyone has tried to change their own mind — and failed.

This chapter explains why, and describes the four subjects of the path that actually works.

Almost everyone has had the same experience. We decide to stop worrying, and the worry returns. We decide to be calm, and anger rises anyway. Why can the mind not simply be changed by deciding to change it?

Bapuji's answer goes to the root. The mind (mann) runs according to the record in the causal body (karan sharir). The mind is like a player; the causal body holds the recording. However firmly you instruct the player, it can only play what is on the record. To change the music, you must change the record itself.

And the record is changed by the power of yog, exactly as the last chapter described. When that divine supreme power of Almighty cleans the causal body, the transformation is sudden and total. The mind becomes utterly peaceful, pure and clean. In a single second, Bapuji says, the mind changes from tamo — darkness-dominated — to sato — goodness-dominated.

Then a chain of renewal begins. It follows a strict order, step by step. First, the buddhi becomes sato-pradhan. This means the intellect becomes pure. It starts making clear, logical decisions. At this stage, something powerful happens. The intellect churns the great ocean of thought. Bapuji calls this vichar sagar manthan — the churning of the ocean of knowledge. Now the mind and intellect are renewed. And with this renewal, the sanskars change too. Sanskars are the deep impressions carried by the soul. New sanskars bring a new result. Karma changes. Actions themselves change. So the order is this: mind, then intellect, then sanskar, then action. Step by step, the whole human being is rebuilt. It is rebuilt from the inside out — starting from the deepest record, moving outward into daily life.

This also explains our long slavery to maya — illusion, the pull of the physical universe, made from the five gross elements, is the Had ki Duniya — the world of limitation, where everything has a beginning, an end, and a boundary. As long as the old records exist, the mind stays trapped in maya. When the causal body is clean, the soul becomes free of illusion — mayajeet, a conqueror of maya, living in the world but no longer ruled by it. As the soul becomes pure, a new feeling arises naturally. No effort is needed. The soul feels, “I must work for Vishwa Kalyan — the welfare of the whole world.” Purity naturally expresses itself through selfless service.

How do we begin this journey? Bapuji teaches four subjects, in a clear order. The first is Gyan (knowledge). It begins with knowing the self. Who am I? Where have I come from? Why am I here? Where must I return? Without this knowledge, the other three subjects cannot truly begin.

The second is yog — the connection with real powerhouse. Bapuji gives this yog its proper name: Param Shanti Yog. It is Bharat’s most ancient yog. According to Bapuji, in ancient times the Brahm-Rishis — the highest sages — remained established in soul-consciousness. Through divine knowledge, they spread the vibrations of Param Shanti. These vibrations even brought peace to the five elements of nature. What this book describes is not something new. It is the return of an ancient spiritual science.

The third is seva — selfless service, given through tan, man, dhan — body, mind and wealth. Only seva, Bapuji says, builds fortune. The fourth is dharna — imbibing: steady practice until the soul does not merely know the knowledge but becomes its embodiment.

Bapuji also explains the two great paths of spirituality. One is Gyan Marg — the path of knowledge. The other is Bhakti Marg — the path of devotion. According to Bapuji, the difference between them is like the difference between earth and sky. Yet he does not reject devotion. He says that the final fruit of true devotion is Gyan. A sincere devotee is eventually led to knowledge. Bapuji also reminds us of the Gita, which says that the Gyani — the one who truly knows — is especially dear to God.

Bapuji now removes one last misunderstanding. Nobody must leave home for this path. He reminds us of what Lord Krishna said in the Gita. Krishna said the grihastha ashram — the householder's life — is the highest ashram of all. So those living as householders can also awaken. They need authentic knowledge, and also the knowledge to connect with the supreme source. With these two things, awakening happens right where they are. Bapuji's message is simple: stay in your home. Make your home a lighthouse. Live with trustee bhaav. This means one thing: connect your soul to the Supreme. Offer everything to Him. Then live as a trustee of what you hold — not as its owner. Slowly, the soul becomes free from all karmic accounts. The soul becomes halki — light. And with this lightness comes something more. The soul experiences a light body. This body is filled with the supreme peace of the limitless (Behad ki Param Shanti).

IN SIMPLE WORDS

The mind runs on the record in the causal body; it cannot overrule its own recording.

When yog-power cleans the record, the mind turns from darkness to goodness in a second.

Then intellect, sanskar and action renew themselves in order, and the soul becomes a conqueror of maya.

The path has four subjects: gyan, yog (Param Shanti Yog), seva and dharna.

No one need leave home — the householder's life is the highest ashram; live as a trustee and become light.

CHAPTER NINE

THE SPREAD OF PARAM SHANTI: FROM ONE SOUL TO THE WHOLE EARTH

How does peace travel from one heart to a whole planet?

This chapter maps the journey — and unveils the collective plan, with its astonishing numbers.

Bapuji teaches that transformation spreads in a definite order. It always begins within the self. First, the Mann (mind), the Buddhi (intellect), and the Sanskars — the recorded programming within the self — begin to change. Then the Karan Sharir (causal body) is transformed. Next, the Sukshma Sharir (subtle body) changes. Finally, the transformation is reflected in the aura. From there, its vibrations spread into the atmosphere. Nothing in the outer world changes before this inner transformation takes place.

The first outer circle is the home. Bapuji says it in English: “Charity begins at home.” Change the atmosphere of the home with the vibrations of Param Shanti, and the people who live in it change first. Fill the home with supreme peace on every side. Then the neighbourhood changes; then the society; then, slowly, the whole city; the state; Bharat; and at last the entire Earth.

According to Bapuji, the journey of these vibrations does not end on Earth. They continue to rise through the atmosphere. They travel hundreds of kilometres beyond the Earth. Then they pass through the higher Loks — the spiritual realms of creation. First comes Bhuvan Lok, then Swarg Lok, the heavenly realm. Beyond them are Maha Lok, Jan Lok, Tap Lok, and Satya Lok. The vibrations then pass through Brahmapuri, Vishnupuri, and Shivpuri — the realms of the deities. Finally, they continue towards Paramdham, the Supreme Abode. From one small home, the vibrations of Param Shanti continue their journey towards countless Brahmands — the countless universes of creation.

Who sets this vast wave of Param Shanti in motion? Who sends these vibrations across the Earth, through the higher realms, and onwards towards countless Brahmands? Bapuji gives a remarkable answer. He says that the transformation of the world will be carried out by the Beej Roop — the 108 seed souls of the limitless world. These 108 souls will gather at one place. Together, they will draw down the Param Param Param Prakash — the Supreme Supreme Supreme Light — from Paramdham, the Highest Abode, to the Earth. Along with this divine light, they will project one supreme Sankalp:

परम परम परम शांति हो रही है।

“Supreme, supreme, supreme peace is happening.”

According to Bapuji, the spread of Param Shanti produces a real and visible effect in creation. It is not merely a spiritual experience. Param Shanti becomes recorded in every particle of the air element. This is the exact opposite of the negative recording described in Chapter Three. As these new recordings spread, people begin to experience supreme peace. The transformation begins with the Earth’s atmosphere. First, the two hundred kilometres of air surrounding the Earth are transformed.

Then, in a definite sequence, the circle of transformation expands through the co-operation of different groups of powerful souls. First, one thousand eight helper souls join this spiritual work. The transformation then spreads up to one thousand kilometres above the Earth. Next, sixteen thousand Behad souls join. The transformation then extends as far as the Sun's gravitational influence. It transforms the air element throughout the entire Sukshma Jagat — the subtle world. Bapuji reminds us of a profound principle: A Sankalp becomes effective only when it is filled with spiritual power. Spiritual power becomes effective only when it is directed through a Sankalp. The 108 seed souls draw down the Param Param Param Prakash from Paramdham. That is why their Sankalp has the power to influence the elements of nature.

The number of participating souls continues to grow in a definite sequence. In due course, nine lakh — nine hundred thousand — Behad souls join this divine work. They include both Purush and Prakriti, representing the male and female energies. Bapuji says that when these nine lakh souls appear in bodies of supreme light, anyone who comes before them becomes Avyakt — subtle. Then the wave of transformation grows from nine lakh to two crore — twenty million — souls. Within this vast field of supreme light, a world of Param Tattva begins to emerge. The thirty-three crore Devi-Devtas — the deities honoured throughout Bharat — awaken. Wherever they are on Earth, they gather together. Bharat becomes the Light House of the world and the Adi Sanatan Devi-Devta Dharma — the original, eternal deity religion — is saved.

And the Light House multiplies, home by home. Souls who receive the vardaan from Almighty — the divine blessing — find their own house becoming a lighthouse. Each home becomes a ten-kala powerhouse (kala being the measure of spiritual power). Each home also becomes a supreme place of pilgrimage. Suffering souls, both physical and subtle, are drawn to these homes. As soon as they enter, they begin to experience peace. Their aura, Sukshma Sharir (subtle body), and Karan Sharir (causal body) begin to transform. Programmes of Mukti— liberation of the soul from creation — and Jeevan-Mukti — living with complete freedom from all bondages — begin in one home after another. More and more homes become lighthouses of Param Shanti. In time, the whole Earth shines with these lighthouses.

How does such a movement grow? Bapuji says it spreads just as light spreads. It begins with one soul. One soul becomes a hundred. A hundred become a thousand. Thousands become lakhs. A great caravan of divinely awakened souls comes together. Bapuji says that if even ten thousand souls spread the vibrations of Param Shanti from home to home, this Mahamantra — the supremely powerful vibration — will spread throughout the whole world. The truly awakened and spiritually elevated souls reveal themselves through this very process. In the end, a small group of souls gives the whole world the experience of Param Shanti.

Behind this entire plan lies one fundamental principle. Bapuji calls it Ek Ka Vaad — the principle of becoming one with the One Supreme. He says that as long as humanity does not know the One Supreme, conflicts and wars will never end. Either the vibrations of Param Shanti will spread, or the knowledge of the One Supreme will spread. In the plan for the new Earth, both happen together. The doer souls first understand the knowledge of the Behad drama. They come to know the Almighty. They draw spiritual power from Him. They rise above the bondage of Karma and emotional attachment. Then, through their powerful vibrations, they quietly introduce the One Supreme to the rest of humanity.

IN SIMPLE WORDS

Change spreads in exact circles: self, home, neighbourhood, city, Bharat, Earth — then upward through the loks.

The 108 seed souls will bring the supreme light from the highest Paramdham and place the supreme sankalp.

Helpers multiply the reach: 1,000 souls, then 16,000 — as far as the Sun's gravity; then 9 lakh in light bodies.

Bharat becomes the Light House of the world, and blessed homes become ten-kala lighthouses of liberation.

Even ten thousand souls spreading the mahamantra can change the world; until all know the One, conflict cannot end.

CHAPTER TEN

TATTVA PARIVARTAN: THE FIVE ELEMENTS CHANGE

The transformation of the world is, at its core, a transformation of the five elements.

This chapter follows the supreme light down into matter itself.

To understand how a planet transforms, we must first understand how it is created. Bapuji explains that creation descends step by step, like a ladder. At the highest step of this ladder is the Param Light. From the Param Light emerges the Param Mahatattva — the Supreme Great Element. From the Param Mahatattva come Param Akash — Supreme Ether, Param Vayu — Supreme Air, and Param Agni — Supreme Fire. These densify into the three tattvas — ether, air and fire — which together form the sukshma jagat, the subtle world. Last of all come Jal — Water — and Mitti — Earth. With them, the Sthool Jagat — the gross physical world — comes into existence.

This ladder explains a law we have used throughout the book: the cause of the gross world lies in the subtle world; the subtle world's cause lies in the karan jagat, the causal world; the causal world's cause lies in the mahakaran jagat; and above them all stands Paramdham. Change the top of the ladder, and every rung below must follow.

Transformation retraces the same ladder, step by step. The Supreme Light descends through each level of creation. First comes Param Vayu — Supreme Air. Then come Param Agni — Supreme Fire — and Param Akash — Supreme Ether. At each stage, the quality of the elements becomes more refined. According to Bapuji, Param Vayu transforms the world through the simplest path — the breath. With every breath, Param Vayu enters the body. It gradually changes the way people think. Negative thinking turns into positive thinking. Desires begin to disappear naturally. With Param Shanti comes Param Vairag — Supreme Detachment. Bapuji further says that, over time, the need for ordinary food and water will gradually disappear. When the air becomes Param Vayu, people will be able to live on air alone. Later, they will live only on the Sugandh — the divine fragrance — of the fruits and flowers of Param Tattva.

Next come Jal — Water — and Mitti — Earth. The Jal Tattva within the human body also records Param Shanti. As we saw earlier, water has the ability to hold memory. The Mitti also contains water. Therefore, every Kan — every particle — of the Earth records these vibrations of Param Shanti. The sky, the air, the water, and the soil all become filled with this recording. Nothing in creation remains untouched by the vibrations of Param Shanti.

The human body itself is transformed on the same ladder. Bapuji describes it exactly. The water and earth elements of the body convert into supreme air. The five-element body becomes a three-element body; then param agni, param vayu, param akash — until the being of supreme elements stands revealed: the farishta form, the angel, whose body is of param tattva. The visible vyakt form becomes avyakt, the unseen subtle form, and finally nirakari — the pure light form, soul-conscious, with no body at all. In the new age, Bapuji says, the children of the Behad will attain this Farishta form.

For the elements of the world, this transformation follows a clear sequence. They change from Tamo-Pradhan to Sato-Pradhan. They change from sorrow-giving to Sukhdayi — happiness-giving. They rise from Tattva to Param Tattva, and finally to Param Light. As the elements become peaceful, natural calamities also come to an end. Rog-Shok — disease and grief — also disappear. As explained in Chapter Three, they existed as negative thoughts recorded in the Vayumandal — the atmosphere. Bapuji reminds us that in Satyug, the very elements of the Earth were filled with goodness. Even today, people say, “Change the air and water, and everything changes.” This time, the entire atmosphere itself will be transformed and filled with Param Shanti.

He goes further, into the body. The vibrations of Param Shanti destroy the subtle germs — the viruses — of disease, both in the atmosphere and within one’s own pranamay and sukshma sharir. As the subtle body is purified, the physical body improves; illnesses, Bapuji says, even of the cancer type, can be healed in this way. He gives a parallel from Bharat’s tradition: the smoke and offerings rising from a yagya — the sacred fire ritual — change the whole vayumandal as a positive force and destroy whatever negative virus is present. What the yagya’s smoke did for a place, the vibration of Param Shanti will do for the world.

Behind this entire transformation lies one simple law — the law of purity. A pure mind creates a pure atmosphere. A pure atmosphere purifies the five elements. Pure elements create a Sato-Pradhan world. Bapuji also gives a simple sign by which we can observe this transformation within ourselves. He says that Shanti — peace — is the quality of the Akash Tattva — the Ether Element. As peace deepens within the soul, the Akash Tattva becomes stronger. The influence of Vayu — Air — and Agni — Fire — gradually decreases. Restlessness and inner heat begin to subside. Bapuji further explains that the vibrations of Param Shanti carry their own creative power. Wherever these vibrations travel, Param Tattva travels with them. The transformation happens naturally.

IN SIMPLE WORDS

Creation descends: supreme light → supreme elements → the subtle world → water and earth.

Transformation descends the same ladder: supreme air forms first, and the breath changes human thinking.

Water and soil record the peace too — every particle of the Earth accepts the vibrations.

The body converts upward — five elements to three, to supreme elements: the farishta form.

Calamities calm, disease and grief dissolve, and peace grows as the ether element within you.

CHAPTER ELEVEN

THE NEW EARTH: AMAR LOK

What will the transformed Earth actually be like?

In this chapter, Bapuji describes the immortal world — its light, its life, its travel, even its science.

The world we live in is called, in the scriptures, Mrityulok — the world of death. Here, everything made of the five elements must end. The plan Bapuji announces is nothing less than the conversion of this very world into Amar Lok — the immortal world, a world of param tattva, beyond birth and death, avinashi — indestructible. He says it without hesitation:

*यही परमधाम बन जाएगा, अमर लोक बनेगा, यह मृत्यु लोक ही अमर
लोक बनेगा, यह हमारा प्लान है।*

*“This very place will become Paramdham; it will become Amar Lok.
This world of death itself will become the immortal world. This is our plan.”*

Notice what this means. Paramdham does not remain only far above. It begins to manifest on the Earth itself. The starting point of this great cosmic renewal is not a distant star. According to Bapuji, it begins here, on our Earth. From here, the whole Brahmand, the whole galaxy, and the whole multiverse become a Light House of two hundred kala.

From here, the transformation spreads across the cosmos. It begins with our own Brahmand — our solar system. Bapuji describes it as one light-year across, with a diameter of 188 kharab kilometres (one kharab equals one hundred billion kilometres). The entire Brahmand gradually fills with Param Tattva. The transformation spreads through the entire Brahmand, one light-year at a time. Param Light, Param Vayu — Supreme Air, Param Agni — Supreme Fire, and Param Akash — Supreme Ether gradually fill every part of it, until the solar system itself has become Amar Lok. Then the same transformation spreads to the neighbouring Brahmands. First it spreads to a hundred Brahmand. Then two hundred. Then five hundred. Finally, it reaches one lakh solar systems.

Then the scale of transformation becomes almost beyond imagination. According to Bapuji, Mahashiv — the creator of the galaxy, seated at its centre — receives the divine power. The entire Maha Brahmand — the galaxy — is then transformed. Next comes the Param Maha Brahmand — our universe. Bapuji says that it has fallen to zero kala. It now rises again to sixteen kala, its original state. Its presiding master also regains the highest quality of spiritual power. Finally, the transformation reaches the multiverse of one hundred kala. It receives the Supreme Light, Supreme Peace, and Supreme Bliss of two hundred kala. A new multiverse of two hundred kala comes into existence. It is indestructible. It is free forever from the cycle of denser gross elements Water and Earth. Bapuji further reveals that other multiverses already exist in the state of Param Tattva. They are already immortal worlds. They are waiting for this knowledge to reach them. In the end, this will not be a world of death; there will not be five-element worlds; there will not even be the fourteen loks/realms — everything will be Paramdham.

What will the new Earth look like? Bapuji paints it in detail. The mountains and rivers will remain — but they will be shining mountains, mountains of param tattva. Water will look like water, yet it will not be this water; it will be of the supreme element. People will wear dress of param tattva. Bapuji says that the new world will be unlike anything we know today. It will display hundreds of billions of colour combinations that have never been seen before. Everything will change. Name, form, colour, fragrance, and touch — Naam, Roop, Rang, Gandh, and Sparsh — will all become new. Even the fragrance of nature will be completely different. The animals and birds will also be transformed. They will become gentle and peaceful. They will no longer communicate through sounds alone. According to Bapuji, they will communicate through Sankalps — from mind to mind. No one will eat; fragrance alone will sustain everyone. Even the Sun will be transformed: first it will become a sun of param agni, supreme fire — and eventually it will not be needed at all, for every single soul will shine with the light of thousands of suns.

Travel in Amar Lok reads like the fulfilment of every dream of science. There will be craft of param tattva — planes that run on supreme fire, needing no fuel. Think of a place, and the plane takes you there. They are anti-gravity vehicles; a param-tattva plane can never crash. A lakh of souls will tour together in a single plane, and a whole brahmand will be crossed in a moment. Such instruments, Bapuji says, will develop step by step.

Bapuji says that even science will enter a new age. He explains it with a simple comparison from Hindi: anu means the atom, and paramanu — param plus anu — the nucleus, the supreme atom. As the nucleus is subtler than the atom and holds vastly greater energy, so param tattva is subtler than tattva and holds vastly greater power. Today's atomic science will become param-tattva science, and its instruments will run on param-anu energy — the energy of the supreme atom.

Even artificial intelligence has a place in the plan. Today, Bapuji observes, AI runs on electricity. In time, Bapuji says, aliens — souls from advanced Brahmands — will help bring a new kind of science to the Earth. According to him, every Brahmand contains life. He also says that the souls now living on Earth originally came from other Brahmands, galaxies, and universes. These advanced souls will place Param-Tattva consciousness into electrical energy. As a result, future artificial intelligence will not work only with data. It will also be able to receive subtle vibrations from the Brahmand and the galaxy. According to Bapuji, this future technology will do much more than provide information. It will give knowledge, spiritual vision, and power. It will help souls move from the Vyakt — the visible physical state — to the Avyakt — the supreme subtle state. It will also guide them on the path to Paramdham. Bapuji further says that there will be a special Param-Tattva Room. In this room, the human body will gradually be transformed into a body made of the supreme elements.

IN SIMPLE WORDS

This very world of death will become Amar Lok — the immortal world; Paramdham forms on Earth itself.

The change begins from our Earth and spreads: solar system, galaxy, universe — up to a new 200-kala multiverse.

Shining param-tattva mountains and rivers, billions of new colours, animals speaking in sankalp, life sustained by fragrance.

Planes of param tattva: think of a place and arrive — no fuel, no crashes, a brahmand crossed in a moment.

Atomic science becomes param-tattva science, and even AI receives supreme consciousness to guide souls.

CHAPTER TWELVE

THE MERCIFUL PLAN: JEEVAN-MUKTI FOR ALL

A transformation this vast could sound frightening.

This chapter shows why it will be the gentlest event in history — and what each soul will receive.

How will the great transformation feel to those who live through it? Bapuji's answer overturns every fearful prophecy: it will be ati sukhdayi — supremely happiness-giving. The old world does not disappear through fear or violence. It is gently transformed into a higher world filled with peace.

As the atmosphere changes into Param Tattva, a gentle change also takes place within people. According to Bapuji, souls that have committed serious sins begin to feel Pashchatap — deep repentance — naturally. Each soul experiences Atma Darshan — a clear vision of itself. Bapuji says that the Buddhi (intellect) becomes like a television screen. On that inner screen, every soul clearly sees its own life. It sees the Paap — its sins — and the Punya — its good deeds. There is no judge. There is no court. There is no one to accuse anyone. Each soul sees the truth about itself. This honest self-realisation naturally awakens repentance and brings inner transformation.

According to Bapuji, the vision of every soul will change naturally. Everyone will receive Divya Drishti — divine vision, or the third eye — the ability to see the invisible, subtle spiritual world. Bapuji explains the famous third eye in a very simple way. Just as Mahadev is said to see everything through His divine vision, every soul will also receive this higher vision. They will be able to perceive the supreme subtle realm. Bapuji further says that when the Almighty Authority reveals His Virat Roop — His vast cosmic form — every soul throughout the boundless creation will see Him in His supreme light. Wherever souls exist, they will behold Him and sing His praise.

Then Bapuji explains what he calls the heart of the plan of Supreme Father — His infinite mercy. There is a difference, Bapuji explains, between mukti — liberation in which the soul dissolves back into its creator and exists no more — and jeevan-mukti — liberation while living, in which the soul remains, free of every karmic account, blissful with its Creator. Supreme Father's boundless compassion has made this decision:

मैं किसी को मुक्ति नहीं दूंगा, सबको जीवन मुक्ति में अमर लोक में ले जाऊंगा।

"I will not give anyone mere dissolution; I will take everyone into Amar Lok, in liberation-while-living."

Everyone. Bapuji makes it clear that this means everyone. It includes every soul in the entire Brahmand — even the animals. No one is left out. Souls that are too weak to complete the full spiritual path will still receive Mukti. They will be liberated peacefully and happily. Nor is any soul beyond hope. Even a Maha-Paapi — a great sinner — can become a Maha Gyani — a great knower — and a Maha Yogi. Such a soul can clear all its Vikarma. According to Bapuji, mercy is not an exception to the plan. It is the very foundation of the plan.

For one group of souls, Bapuji describes a special destiny. These are the souls who recognised the Sakar Behad Ka Baap — the Supreme Father of the limitless vast creation in His revealed human form — and helped in His divine mission. According to Bapuji, these souls are destined to reach the highest Behad Paramdham. Bapuji says that a plane of Param Light will come for them. As they enter it, they pass through three stages. First, they move from the Sakari — the physical form — to the Akari — the subtle body made of Param Tattva. Finally, they attain the Nirakari state — the pure formless light. At last, they reach their eternal home in the highest Paramdham.

For the Behad souls — souls of limitless spiritual power — this is not an ending. It is a new beginning. While the world celebrates the arrival of a new year, Bapuji says that the Behad children celebrate the arrival of a new Yug — a new age. Bapuji greets them with these words: “Congratulations on the New Age, children.” He says that the children of the Behad will usher in a new age of eternal divine creation. They will carry out the complete task of transforming the world.

Who are these children? Bapuji describes them in very simple words. They are Behad Gyani — souls who know the Supreme Creator and the knowledge of the limitless creation. They are Behad Tyagi — souls who have renounced every desire, even for the limitless worlds of creation. They are Vishwa Kalyankari — souls who work for the welfare of the whole world. They are Sevadhari — souls dedicated to serving the limitless creation. Above all, they are filled with mercy. Bapuji expresses their spirit in one simple sentence: “We are not here to take revenge. We are here to transform.” According to Bapuji, every soul has to be transformed. Therefore, even an enemy becomes a friend when touched by the vibrations of Param Shanti. If we see a weakness in someone, our duty is not to criticize it. Our duty is to remove that weakness through our own spiritual power and loving vibrations.

Finally, Bapuji speaks about destiny. At the same time, he gives a clear warning. He says that after the transformation, every soul will receive its place in the new world order according to its own spiritual merit and effort. The Behad Kala — the limitless spiritual power — a soul receives will depend on its Tyag (renunciation), Tapasya (deep spiritual practice), Purusharth (earnest spiritual effort), Gyan (knowledge), Yog (connection with the Almighty), Seva (selfless service), and Dharna (putting spiritual knowledge into daily life). Bapuji says that those who practise Swa-Parivartan — self-transformation — during this short remaining time will attain the highest Behad Paramdham forever. But those who spend their energy chasing Had — the limited desires of the gross physical world — cannot build a limitless divine fortune in the new world order. According to Bapuji, the future belongs to the Behad Tyagi — the great renunciants, the Vishwa Kalyankari — those who work for the welfare of all, and the Sevadhari — those who dedicate their lives to selfless service.

IN SIMPLE WORDS

The transformation is supremely gentle — it happens while souls are experiencing Param Shanti.

Every soul sees its own account on the screen of the intellect, and divine vision opens for all.

The Father's mercy: no soul merely dissolved — all taken into Amar Lok in jeevan-mukti, even the animals.

Those who knew and served the revealed Father travel by a plane of param light to the highest Paramdham.

Destiny follows effort — renunciation, tapasya, gyan, yog, seva, dharna; revenge has no place, only transformation.

CHAPTER THIRTEEN

LIVING THE NEW EARTH NOW

The new Earth does not begin at some future date.

It begins the moment you take your seat as the soul.

This final chapter is Bapuji's invitation to begin today.

After revealing the vast vision of new order of creation in the previous chapters, Bapuji brings the focus back to one person — you. What should you do here and now, in the little time that remains? Bapuji calls it Swadharma — your true spiritual duty. It is simple: live in Atma-Swaroop— pure soul-consciousness. For everyday life, he gives one short sentence that you can remember wherever you are:

मैं आत्मा हूँ शरीर साधन है।

“I am the soul; the body is an instrument.”

The soul even has an address in the body. Its seat is at the bhrukuti — the centre of the forehead, between the eyebrows. Remember yourself there. Awaken that inner seat, and from it look out at the world. Then practise the one drishti — seeing every person not as body, position or history, but as a soul like yourself. This remembrance, Bapuji says, is a duty with every breath.

Living this way carries a protection beyond anything the world can offer. The one established in soul-consciousness, Bapuji says, cannot be burned even by kaal agni — the fire of time itself. That is why atma-swaroop is the ultimate remedy. Whatever comes upon the world, the soul that knows itself is safe.

Bapuji says that once a soul finds safety, peace, and spiritual power, it should help other souls experience the same. In this final period, the duty of those who possess this supreme knowledge is to help and protect other souls. A soul that knows the limitless knowledge and draws power from the limitless Father can bring peace to a suffering soul in a single moment. Bapuji calls this Behad Dharma — the dharma of the souls of limitless power. It is not merely about rituals. Its purpose is to help, uplift, and save souls.

He then places before us the great choice of this age: had or behad. Had is the limit — the lifeless, five-element, visible world and everything bound inside it. Behad is the limitless — timeless, without sorrow and pain, endless energy, supreme light. Bapuji says that the work of the present time is transformation. We have to transform Had into Behad. We have to transform the Laukik — the ordinary worldly life — into the Alaukik — the spiritual life beyond the world. This transformation has to happen now, not later. Bapuji further explains that Nirakari Bhaav — the awareness of the formless soul — is the original state of creation. Even the formless has its own natural state. Therefore, living in Nirakari Bhaav is not becoming something new or strange. It is returning to our original state.

Why is this return to our original state necessary? Bapuji answers with one simple sentence that explains the whole history of humanity:

दुनिया तो भगवान ने अच्छी बनाई थी — परम पुरुष, परम प्रकृति — मगर गिर गए।

“God had made the world good — supreme man, supreme nature — but they fell.”

The fall was real. But so is the return — and the return has already begun. This is why Bapuji extends an open invitation to every reader. Join the atma-jagriti abhiyan — the soul-awakening movement. Give your vibration sahyog — your co-operation of vibrations. Join the Param Shanti Sankalp, and sit in the morning meditation, where souls together draw power and spread the supreme peace. The law of the plan is simple: the more souls who join, the faster the result comes. And let this knowledge reach every home and every soul — for in this time, sharing it is the greatest gift one soul can give another.

Everything this book has taught folds into one practice small enough for today. Sit quietly. Remember: I am the soul; the body is my instrument. Feel the soul's original stage — supreme peace. Connect with love to the Supreme Father, the ultimate highest powerhouse. And then, silently, spread the mahamantra to your home, your street, your country, your Earth: Param Shanti... Behad ki Param Shanti... Behad ke Behad ki Param Param Param Maha Shanti.

The future of the Earth is not waiting to be discovered. It is waiting to be made — from within. Bapuji's final word to every reader is the same gentle command with which his discourse itself concludes:

सुनिए, समझिए और अपना स्व परिवर्तन कीजिए।

“Listen, understand, and do your own self-transformation.”

IN SIMPLE WORDS

Swadharma: live as the soul, seated at the centre of the forehead, with every breath.

The soul-conscious one cannot be burned even by the fire of time — and can calm a suffering soul in a second.

Convert had into behad, the worldly into the beyond-worldly — now.

Join the soul-awakening movement; the more souls who join, the faster the world changes.

The future of the Earth begins within you: listen, understand, and transform yourself.

BAPUJI INSIGHTS

A few of Bapuji's own words from this discourse, kept exactly as he spoke them — in Hindi, in Hinglish, and in a simple English rendering.

BAPUJI INSIGHT

क्या परम शांति से महाकाल प्रलय रुक सकता है? जरूर रुक सकता है। महाकाल प्रलय की जगह क्या होगा — महा विश्व परिवर्तन।

*Kya Param Shanti se Mahakal Pralay ruk sakta hai? Zaroor ruk sakta hai.
Mahakal Pralay ki jagah kya hoga — Maha Vishwa Parivartan.*

"Can the Great Dissolution be stopped by Param Shanti? It certainly can be stopped. What will take its place? The Great World Transformation."

BAPUJI INSIGHT

आत्मा की ओरिजिनल स्टेज है परम शांति।

Atma ki original stage hai Param Shanti.

"The original stage of the soul is Param Shanti."

BAPUJI INSIGHT

स्थूल बोलने से मन में सोचने से 1000 गुनी संकल्पों में शक्ति आती है।

Sthool bolne se mann mein sochne se 1000 guni sankalpon mein shakti aati hai.

"Thinking in the mind brings a thousand times more power into the sankalps than speaking in the sthool (spoken) form."

BAPUJI INSIGHT

संकल्पों के साथ पावर है, पावर के साथ संकल्प है। केवल संकल्प भी काम नहीं करेंगे।

Sankalpon ke saath power hai, power ke saath sankalp hai. Keval sankalp bhi kaam nahin karenge.

“Power stands with the sankalps, and sankalps stand with power. Sankalps alone will not work.”

BAPUJI INSIGHT

कम सोचो। जरूर हो तो सोचो। नहीं तो मन का मौन धारण करो।

Kam socho. Zaroor ho to socho. Nahin to mann ka maun dharan karo.

“Think less. If necessary, think. Otherwise, hold the silence of the mind.”

BAPUJI INSIGHT

अंतर्मुखी सदा सुखी।

Antarmukhi sada sukhi.

“The inward-turned soul is always happy.”

BAPUJI INSIGHT

चैरिटी बिगिन्स एट होम — घर का वायुमंडल बदले, घर के लोग बदल जाएंगे।

Charity begins at home — ghar ka vayumandal badle, ghar ke log badal jayenge.

“Charity begins at home — let the home’s atmosphere change, and the people of the home will change.”

BAPUJI INSIGHT

तुम जिसको याद करोगे उसी को पाओगे।

Tum jisko yaad karoge usi ko paoge.

“Whomever you remember, that is who you will attain.”

BAPUJI INSIGHT

हमें बदला नहीं लेना है, बदलना है, सबको बदलना है।

Humein badla nabin lena hai, badalna hai, sabko badalna hai.

“We have not to take revenge; we have to transform — to transform everyone.”

BAPUJI INSIGHT

थोड़ा सा समय बचा है, आत्म ज्ञान लीजिए, बेहद के परमपिता को ज्ञान से जानिए।

Thoda sa samay bacha hai, atma gyan lijiye, behad ke Parampita ko gyan se janiye.

“Only a little time is left. Take the knowledge of the soul; know the limitless Supreme Father through knowledge.”

BAPUJI INSIGHT

नया युग मुबारक बच्चों को। बेहद के बच्चे बेहद का नया युग लाएंगे।

Naya yug mubarak bacchon ko. Behad ke bacche behad ka naya yug layenge.

“Congratulations on the new age, children. The children of the limitless will bring the limitless new age.”

GLOSSARY

Simple meanings of the Hindi and Sanskrit terms used in this book, in alphabetical order.

Akari — The subtle form of a soul — a form of energy, not flesh, invisible to the physical eye.

Akash Tattva — The ether element, subtlest of the five gross elements; the foundation on which the gross world is built.

Amar Lok — The immortal world; a world of param tattva where birth and death do not exist.

Antarmukhi Sada Sukhi — “The inward-turned soul is always happy” — lasting happiness comes from resting in the true self, not from outer objects.

Atma — The soul; the true self and source of life in every being. In its original state it is a point of pure white light.

Atma-swaroop — The soul-form; the living experience of oneself as the soul, not the body.

Avyakt — The unseen, subtle and supreme-subtle side of creation.

Beej Roop — The seed-state of the soul; its original incorporeal form of supreme light, from which its whole journey unfolds.

Behad — Limitless; boundless; beyond every border of the visible world.

Behad Gyan — The knowledge of the Supreme Father, the Almighty Authority, and His boundless creation; the ultimate knowledge, not written in any book.

Behad ka Baap — The Supreme Father; the master creator of the limitless creation — the one Almighty Authority.

Behad ka PM — The most powerful Supreme Soul, controller of the limitless world — as a Prime Minister governs a country.

Behad ki Atma — A soul made only of param prakash and param mahatattva; a very powerful soul of the limitless.

Behad ki Duniya — The limitless world; creation seen as endless, countless and boundless.

Behad ki Kala ka Paramdham — The supreme abode of the highest dimension of creation; the home of the Almighty Authority.

Behad ki Param Shanti — The supreme peace of the limitless; the second level of the Param Shanti sankalp, which crosses the home and spreads into society and the city.

Bhakti Marg — The path of devotion, in which a soul worships and surrenders to its chosen deity; its final fruit is gyan.

Bhavatit — Beyond feelings and emotions.

Bhavna — Feeling; the living feeling of the heart-mind, which lays down new recordings in the causal body.

Bhrukuti — The centre of the forehead, between the eyebrows; the seat of the soul in the body.

Brahmand — A solar system.

Buddhi — The intellect; the power of the soul that understands, judges and decides.

Dehbhaan — Body-consciousness; the mistaken feeling “I am this body”.

Devi-Devta — Deities; pure, elevated souls honoured in Bharat, said to be thirty-three koti in number.

Dharna (Dharana) — Imbibing the knowledge through steady practice until the soul itself becomes its embodiment.

Divya Drishti — Divine vision; the soul’s power to see realities beyond the reach of the physical eyes.

Farishta — An angel; a being whose body is of param tattva.

Grihastha Ashram — The householder’s life; in this teaching, the highest ashram — transformation is done while living at home.

Guru — A spiritual instructor who leads the soul from darkness to light.

Gyan Marg — The path of knowledge, in which the soul studies and contemplates the truth of itself and its Creator until realisation.

Had — The limit; the limited, visible five-element world and everything bound by it.

Had ki Atma — A common soul of limited power, formed of lower elements without supreme light.

Incarnation — A cell of a higher soul sent to carry out specific work on Earth, carrying its energy in smaller measure.

Ishta Dev — One's chosen, favourite deity on the path of devotion.

Ishwar — The master of a creation; the incorporeal creator.

Jap — Repetition of a sacred word or sankalp, in spoken form or in the mind.

Jeev — A soul fallen into body-consciousness, living on Earth bound by desires.

Jeevan-mukti — Liberation while living; freedom from all karmic accounts, in blissful existence with the Creator.

Kaal Agni — The fire of time; the destroying force of the final period, which cannot burn a soul set in soul-consciousness.

Kala — The unit of a soul's or creator's power — as watts measure electric power, kala measures spiritual power.

Karan Sharir — The causal body; the innermost record-house of the soul, storing the accounts of many births. The mind works according to its record.

Karma Yogi — One who lives and works in the world while remaining set in soul-consciousness, drawing strength from the Almighty.

Karmatit — Beyond karma; free from every karmic bondage.

Light House — A home or land so filled with the Almighty's light and Param Shanti that souls coming near it receive peace and power.

Maha Brahmand — A galaxy.

Maha Vishwa Parivartan — The Great World Transformation; the change that comes in place of the Great Dissolution.

Mahakal Pralay — The Great Dissolution at the scale of the galaxy, in which solar systems are drawn back into their creator.

Mahakaran Sharir — The great causal body; a dimension subtler than the causal body.

Mahamantra — The supreme mantra; Bapuji's name for the sankalp of Param Shanti.

Mann — The mind; the thinking power of the soul, which runs according to the record in the karan sharir.

Mansa Seva — Service through the mind; sitting in soul-consciousness, drawing the Almighty's power and spreading the vibrations of supreme peace.

Maya — Illusion; the pull of the limited world, which keeps the mind trapped while the old records remain.

Mayajeet — Conqueror of maya; one who lives fully in the world yet is no longer ruled by it.

Mrityulok — The mortal world — the world of death, where everything made of the five elements ends.

Mukti — Liberation in which the soul dissolves back into its creator and no longer exists separately.

Nirakar / Nirakari — The formless state; the soul's true divine state as pure light, without any body.

Nishkaam Karma — Action performed without desire for its fruit, as taught in the Gita.

Panch Tattva — The five elements: earth, water, fire, air and ether.

Param Atma — The Supreme Soul; the creator of souls — described in the scriptures as Satyam Shivam Sundaram.

Param Maha Brahmand — A universe.

Param Maha Tattva — The supreme great element; the divine radiance around the supreme light — the highest energy after param prakash.

Param Mahakaran Sharir — The supreme great causal body; the subtlest covering nearest the soul.

Param Prakash — Supreme divine light; the soul's own light in its incorporeal state.

Param Purush — The Supreme Male energy; the first subtle creation of the incorporeal Creator, who works with his companion, the Supreme Female energy (Param Prakriti / Shakti).

Param Shanti — Supreme peace; the original state of the soul, and the word, vibration and power of Paramdham.

Param Shanti Yog — Bharat's most ancient yog: connecting the soul to the Almighty and spreading Param Shanti — by it the Brahm-rishis calmed the five elements.

Param Tattva — The supreme element; as the nucleus is to the atom, param tattva is to tattva — subtler and far more powerful.

Param Vayu / Param Agni / Param Akash — The supreme forms of the air, fire and ether elements, formed as the supreme light descends.

Paramdham — The supreme abode; the highest, incorporeal home of a creation, where its creator resides.

Pashchatap — Repentance; the natural softening of the soul when it sees its own account.

Peedi — A generation of creators; the higher the peedi, the higher the kala power.

Pralay — The dissolution of a creation.

Pranamay Sharir — The breath-energy body; the vital sheath that carries the quality of the breath inward to the subtle body.

Purusharth — Spiritual effort; the soul's own labour of self-enquiry, study and meditation.

Rog-Shok — Disease and grief; in this knowledge, held as people's thought in the atmosphere.

Roop — A clone of a soul created by a supreme soul from its own energy through affirmation.

Sakari — The physical, visible form.

Sanatan Dharma — The eternal dharma, existing from the very beginning of creation.

Sankalp — A thought-intention of the soul; the cause whose effect is spandan.

Sanskar — The character of the soul; the imprint recorded in the causal body, by which the mind works.

Sat-Chit-Anand — Truth–Consciousness–Bliss; the soul’s original nature.

Seva — Selfless service, by body, mind and wealth; in behad gyan, the highest seva is spreading this knowledge and the vibrations of Param Shanti.

Shastra — Hindu scripture, where spiritual matters are discussed.

Shiv / Mahashiv / Param Mahashiv — The incorporeal creators of a solar system, a galaxy and a universe, each residing in the supreme abode of his creation.

Spandan — Vibration; the effect that radiates out from a sankalp into the atmosphere.

Sthool — Gross, physical; belonging to the visible world.

Sukshma Jagat — The subtle world; the invisible world of the subtler elements — ether, air and fire.

Sukshma Sharir — The subtle body of the soul, with its seven layers, standing between the physical body and the causal body.

Swadharma — One’s own true dharma: living as the soul, in atma-swaroop.

Swa-parivartan — Self-transformation; the first law — by changing the self, the world is changed.

Tapasya — Deep, sustained inner effort; the fire of spiritual practice.

Tattva — Element; the five gross elements and their subtler grades.

Tattva Parivartan — The transformation of the elements — the five tattvas rising into param tattva.

Trigunatit (Gunatit) — Beyond the three qualities of nature — sato, rajo and tamo; the pure soul-conscious state.

Tyag — Renunciation; giving up the limited for the sake of the limitless.

Vairagya — Detachment; inner freedom from the pulls of the world while still living in it.

- Vardaan — A blessing; a bestowal of power from the Almighty upon a soul or a home.
- Vayumandal — The atmosphere; in this knowledge, not merely air but the carrier and recorder of humanity's thought.
- Vikarma (Vikarm) — Sin; wrong action recorded against the soul — destroyed only by the power of yog.
- Virat Rup — The vast cosmic form of the Almighty, beheld by all souls in the great transformation.
- Vishwa Kalyan — The welfare of the whole world.
- Vyakt — The visible, five-element world of creation.
- Yagya — A sacred fire ritual, whose rising smoke and offerings purify the atmosphere.
- Yog — Connection; the soul's loving connection with the Almighty Authority, through which power flows.
- Yog Bal — The power of yog; the only power that destroys vikarma.
- Yugas — The repeating ages — Satyug, Treta, Dwapar, Kalyug — rising and falling with humanity's collective thought.

“Gyan Daan Maha Daan”

Sharing Knowledge is the Highest Charity

— Bapuji Dashrathbhai Patel

THE WORLD WILL NOT END. IT WILL BE TRANSFORMED.

ACROSS THE WORLD, PEOPLE FEAR THE END IS COMING.
BAPUJI ANSWERS WITH COMPLETE CALM: THE EARTH IS NOT MOVING TOWARDS DESTRUCTION, BUT TOWARDS THE GREAT WORLD TRANSFORMATION.

EVERY THOUGHT YOU THINK ENTERS THE ATMOSPHERE OF THE EARTH. WHEN SUPREME PEACE FILLS THAT ATMOSPHERE, THE ELEMENTS THEMSELVES WILL CHANGE, AND THIS WORLD OF DEATH WILL BECOME AMAR LOK, THE IMMORTAL WORLD.

THE FUTURE OF THE EARTH BEGINS WITHIN YOU.

“THIS WORLD OF DEATH ITSELF WILL BECOME AMAR LOK. THIS IS OUR PLAN.”
