

A silhouette of a person in a meditative pose (Padmasana) is centered against a starry night sky. Inside the silhouette, a vibrant landscape of a sunset or sunrise over a desert is visible. A bright light source, likely the sun or moon, is positioned at the center of the figure's chest, with a glowing path leading down to the horizon. Two rainbow-like light beams emanate from the figure's hands, extending outwards. The entire scene is framed by a large, thin circular arc.

ABOUT BAPUJI

Bapuji (full name: Bapuji Dashrathbhai Patel, also lovingly called “Dadaji” by the younger generation) was born in 1956 in the small village of Akhaj in the Mehsana district of Gujarat. However, he spent his childhood in another village named Ambasan, also located in the Mehsana district.

In the early part of his life, he was a highly successful lawyer. Later, he devoted his life to realizing the supreme spiritual truth and bringing this divine knowledge forward for the welfare of humanity. Today, this supreme knowledge serves as a guiding light for true seekers to realize their ultimate destiny. It is a blessing of the highest divinity that the present time is witnessing the rise of this supreme spiritual knowledge, guiding souls on Earth to return to their original source.

Despite being raised in a very poor family and facing challenging circumstances, Bapuji had a deep desire to transform this sorrowful and suffering world into a better place. At the young age of six, he questioned God repeatedly, asking why God remained silent about the suffering of humanity. This intense longing to end human suffering eventually led him to attain the highest level of spirituality later in life.

Even as a child, Bapuji would spend hours alone in the fields, often neglecting his own comfort. Due to poverty, he would walk barefoot without shoes or sandals, frequently getting pricked by thorns. Many times, he would stay late in the fields and, on his way back home, encounter subtle world entities. These experiences sparked his interest in communicating with subtle world souls.

Bapuji was courageous from a young age, which helped him overcome many obstacles. Alongside his studies in chartered accountancy (CA), he gave tuition classes to support himself financially. Later, he completed his Bachelor of Law (LLB) degree and became a well-known lawyer in Ahmedabad.

In 1997, he established a spiritual institution called “Vishwa Parivartak Ishwariya Vidhyalay” in Chenpur, Ahmedabad, with the mission of transforming this mortal world, filled with suffering and disorder, into an eternal divine world of immortality. Smt. Sushma Tandon, lovingly known as “Maa,” worked alongside Bapuji in this grand divine mission.

To accomplish this mission, Bapuji worked tirelessly, dedicating all his resources to this divine purpose. During that time, he would deliver continuous spiritual discourses for up to 18 hours without rest. In these discourses, he explained the highest dimensions of divine knowledge, which he realized through deep meditation and divine vision in a state of superconsciousness. This knowledge goes beyond the imagination of the ordinary human mind.

Bapuji’s teachings cover a vast range of topics, including the types of celestial creators across different dimensions, the creation of our solar system, galaxy, and universe, and most importantly, the transcendental knowledge of the multiverse and realities beyond it. His knowledge is supremely profound and is intended for highly evolved seekers, referred to as “behad souls.” According to Bapuji, these “behad souls” will play a key role in transforming this mortal world into an eternal divine realm.

At present, Bapuji remains deeply engaged in intense meditation and samadhi for long hours. He does not meet anyone, as he is continuously immersed in his transcendental mission in a superconscious state.

— by Bapuji Dashrathbhai Patel

This book explores one profound question: Is our life already written, or do we still have the power to write our own destiny?

Bapuji Dashrathbhai Patel answers that question directly. Destiny is not a power sitting above a human being. Destiny is the record of a soul's own past actions, returning to it. Karma is the cause. Destiny is only the result.

That single truth changes everything. If your own actions built your destiny, then your own actions can rebuild it. Nothing is sealed. Nothing is beyond reach.

In these pages Bapuji explains how a destiny is stored inside the soul. He shows how it is spent, like a bank balance. He shows how it can run out. He explains why the fear of planets and predictions has no ground left to stand on. And he explains one method by which wrong action itself can be destroyed. That method is the connection with the Almighty Authority through yog.

The book has been kept short on purpose. Nothing has been added to Bapuji's words, and nothing of the teaching has been left out. Every page is written for a reader meeting this knowledge for the very first time.

Read it slowly. Then read the last line of the final chapter again — and begin.

CHAPTER 1

Karma Makes Destiny

One question troubles almost every human being. Is my life already decided for me? Or can I still decide it myself?

Bapuji answers this in one short line. This chapter gives you that line.

A seeker once asked Bapuji a simple question. What is the link between bhagya and karma?

Bhagya means destiny. It is the fortune a person seems to be born with. Karma means action. It is everything a person thinks, says and does.

The seeker wanted to know which one to trust. Should we trust destiny, or should we trust action?

Bapuji's answer was short and clear. Destiny is made from karma.

Then he said it again, in even plainer words. Karma alone builds destiny.

Good actions build a good destiny. Bad actions build a bad destiny. There is no third rule.

The seeker pressed further. Which is greater — destiny or karma? Does destiny create action, or does action create destiny?

Bapuji answered without pausing. Destiny does not make karma. But karma makes destiny.

This one line is the foundation of the whole book. Read it slowly. Karma is the cause. Destiny is the result.

Later in the same discourse Bapuji gave the same truth from another side. Call it the account of karma. Or call it the account of destiny. Both are the same account.

So destiny is not a separate power sitting above you. Destiny is simply the sum of your own past actions. It is your own record, coming back to you.

Many people treat destiny as a wall. They say, “This is my fate. Nothing can be done.”

Bapuji removes that wall in a single sentence. The wall was built by you. So it can be rebuilt by you.

IN SIMPLE WORDS

- Bhagya means destiny. Karma means action.
- Karma makes destiny. Destiny does not make karma.
- Good actions make good destiny. Bad actions make bad destiny.
- The account of karma and the account of destiny are one account.
- Whatever your destiny is today, your own past actions built it.

In the next chapter, Bapuji explains why one child is born into comfort and another into hardship.

CHAPTER 2

Is Destiny Written Before Birth?

Two children are born on the same day, in the same hour. One arrives in a home of plenty. The other arrives in great difficulty.

Why? Bapuji answers this without leaving anything vague.

A human birth does not begin from zero. Every soul carries a record from its earlier lives.

That record is called sanchit karma — the karma gathered and stored across many births.

The record is not kept in a book somewhere above. It is kept inside the atma, the soul itself. Bapuji calls it a recording that lies within the soul.

That stored recording decides the birth. A soul with good sanchit karma is born into a good place.

Bapuji describes it plainly. Good karma builds a high destiny. A high destiny brings birth into a high family.

Such a family carries high sanskars — the deep habits and values a family and a soul carry within. Good parents. Good brothers and sisters. Good grandparents.

The child receives those good sanskars almost as a gift, simply by being born there.

A soul carrying heavy wrong action may be born into hard circumstances. Its body may not serve it well. Bapuji does not soften this. He states it as the working of a law, not as a punishment sent from above.

Then came the direct question. Is all of this fixed in advance? Is destiny fixed?

Bapuji's answer has two parts. Both parts matter equally.

First, he confirms the older system. Birth was fixed from above, according to the account kept by Chitragupta — the recorder of every soul's actions. Birth came according to destiny.

Now the second part, and this is where most people misunderstand. There is no script. No one is handed a role like an actor in a drama. Bapuji says it clearly. That does not happen.

Something keeps changing all the time. Even within the law of nature, change keeps happening.

So your starting point was fixed by your own past karma. The road ahead was not.

Bapuji then adds two more freedoms. Even in where a soul takes birth, the soul has some independence of its own.

And a human being can receive gyan — divine knowledge. That knowledge shows how vikarma can be destroyed. Vikarma means wrong action, the action that damages a soul's account.

That is the full picture. Your birth is a result. Your life is still a choice.

IN SIMPLE WORDS

- Every soul carries a record of past lives, called sanchit karma.
- That record is stored inside the atma, not in a book above.
- Good stored karma brings birth into a good family with good sanskars.
- Birth is decided by past karma — but there is no fixed script for your life.
- Change keeps happening, and knowledge can destroy wrong action.

Before we go further, Bapuji separates action itself into three kinds.

CHAPTER 3

The Three Kinds of Karma

Not every action carries the same weight. Bapuji divides all human action into three kinds.

Learn these three now. Everything that follows rests on them.

The first kind is satya karma — good or righteous action.

Such action earns punya, which means spiritual merit. It brings good results in this life or in a future birth.

A soul with much good karma may live happily on earth. It may even reach swarga, the celestial realm, after death.

But Bapuji adds a fine point that most people miss. Even good karma keeps the soul inside the cycle of birth and rebirth.

Good karma takes you to swarga. And swarga is still a place inside the cycle.

The second kind is paap karma, also called vikarma — wrong or harmful action.

This creates negative energy inside the soul. It brings suffering, either now or in a later birth. It shows itself as inner pain, a heavy aura, illness and hard circumstances.

The third and highest kind is nishkam karma, also called akarma. It means action done with no wish for any personal result.

It is action performed in the remembrance of the Supreme, with no attachment to reward or praise.

This kind of action binds the soul in no way at all. It adds no further weight to the karan sharir, the causal body. That is where a soul's whole karmic record is stored.

Bapuji says honestly that a soul truly able to perform nishkam karma is very rare. Most human action is driven by desire, ego, expectation or attachment.

But this third kind stands as the highest ideal. Even a small movement towards it begins to loosen the grip of the karmic cycle.

IN SIMPLE WORDS

- Satya karma is good action. It earns merit and can lead to swarga.
- But good karma still keeps the soul inside the cycle of birth and rebirth.
- Paap karma, also called vikarma, is wrong action. It brings suffering.
- Nishkam karma is action with no desire for reward. It binds the soul in no way.
- Such souls are rare, but even a small step in that direction helps.

Now Bapuji shows exactly how a destiny is spent — with a comparison anyone can follow.

CHAPTER 4

Destiny Is a Bank Balance

How does a person become enormously rich in one lifetime? And why does that wealth sometimes vanish?

Bapuji answers both questions with one simple comparison.

Someone once asked Bapuji about great wealth. How do people become billionaires? How do such huge fortunes appear in a single lifetime?

Bapuji's answer was simple. The good sanchit karma of many births can arrive together in one birth. All of it comes at once. That is how a person becomes extremely rich.

Then he said something that turns the whole matter around. That wealth came to you from your destiny. And now you are eating that destiny.

And what is destiny? Destiny is karma. So when you eat your destiny, you are eating your karma.

Bapuji repeats the point until it lands. Destiny came from what? From karma.

Now comes his clearest comparison. Think of money lying in a bank.

You have a balance. You keep writing cheques against it. You write big cheques. You write cheques for large amounts.

Every comfort is a cheque. Every enjoyment is a cheque. Every pleasure drawn from good fortune is a withdrawal.

The balance is real. It was truly earned, by the good actions of many earlier lives.

But a balance is a fixed amount. It does not grow by itself while you are spending it.

This is the part most people never stop to think about. A fortunate life is not proof of a safe future. It is proof of a good past.

Bapuji also describes the man who uses his fortune well.

Such a man is born into a good family, with a satopradhan intellect. That means an intellect which is pure and peaceful. He is devotional. He has gyan. He is vairagi, free of attachment to worldly things.

Money comes to him, and a great deal of it. He earns well, but uses very little on himself.

He puts nearly all of it into daan and punya — giving, and good works.

That man is spending his balance and earning at the same time. His account never runs empty.

IN SIMPLE WORDS

- Good karma from many births can arrive together in one birth as wealth.
- Enjoying that wealth is like writing cheques against a bank balance.
- The balance was earned by the past. It does not grow while you spend it.
- A fortunate life proves a good past, not a safe future.
- One who gives most of it away in good works keeps earning while spending.

And what happens when the balance finally runs out? Bapuji describes it exactly.

CHAPTER 5

When the Balance Runs Out

We have all seen a fortune turn upside down. A person who had everything suddenly has nothing.

Bapuji explains why this is never as sudden as it looks.

Bapuji says he has seen this pattern many times. A soul takes birth in a wealthy home because of good karma. Destiny built across many births gave it one life of comfort.

But its actions in this life are not shresth — not noble, not high.

Bad habits. Bad company. Bad addictions.

From childhood such a person gives sorrow to others. He behaves badly with people. He spreads negativity.

Bapuji then says quietly: Misfortune slowly begins to take shape.

Durbhagya — misfortune — is not sent down from above. It is manufactured, day by day, by a person's own behaviour.

Meanwhile the old balance keeps draining away. He enjoys great pleasure. He travels in fine cars. He spends money here and there, on display, on showmanship.

Then the cheques stop clearing.

Bapuji describes that moment plainly. The old cheques are finished. The old balance is finished — the balance of destiny, the balance of karma.

Slowly the man comes down onto the road. And he has no habit of living on the road. So he becomes a beggar. What will he do then?

We watch such reversals and we wonder. How did this person's fortune turn over so completely?

Bapuji explains why it was never sudden. Because a man has everything now, he eats and drinks and enjoys himself. He does not know what is coming.

And he performs no shresth karma for the time ahead.

That is the whole cause. He spent the old balance and deposited nothing new.

Bapuji's warning here is not really about money. It is about time.

A comfortable life is a window in which new karma can be earned. Most people use that window only to spend.

IN SIMPLE WORDS

- A good birth can come from good past karma, yet the present actions may be poor.
- Giving sorrow to others slowly builds durbhagya, misfortune.
- The old balance of destiny drains away, and the cheques stop clearing.
- The fall looks sudden, but it was being built the whole time.
- A comfortable life is a chance to earn new karma — not only to spend the old.

So how should a person use what destiny has given? Bapuji gives a rule anyone can follow.

CHAPTER 6

How to Use What Destiny Gives

Wealth is not the problem. The use of wealth is the whole question.

Bapuji gives a simple measure, and then explains where giving should go.

Bapuji is direct about money. Wealth should never be wasted. There should be no display. There should be no showmanship.

A person should stay away from the hunger for praise and status.

Then he gives a measure anyone can remember. If you have a hundred rupees in your pocket, show one rupee.

He balances it at once. Do not be so miserly that you live meanly and cut corners. Simply do not put your wealth on display.

His rule for spending is one line long. Spend less on yourself. Put more into good works. Give happiness to others.

But giving must also be done with care. Bapuji asks the reader to look closely at where the giving goes.

Suppose you give to a person who uses your gift for liquor or wrong action. Then you share in that paap. The negativity of the receiver enters your own account.

To support a Ravan-like soul is to become like him.

Real giving reaches those who truly need help and will use it well.

Bapuji praises those who go directly into areas of real poverty and feed the genuinely hungry. Service to those truly in need is real seva — selfless service.

Giving only to those who appear needy, while ignoring real suffering, is virtue in appearance alone.

And one form of giving stands above all the rest. Bapuji states it plainly. Sharing knowledge is the highest charity.

To give food is to feed a body that will one day die. To give behad gyan — unlimited divine knowledge — is to feed a soul that never dies.

Place the sword of knowledge in the hand of a soul ready to use it. That does more than any amount of food or money.

IN SIMPLE WORDS

- Do not waste wealth, and do not put it on display.
- If you have a hundred rupees, show one — but do not live meanly either.
- Spend less on yourself and more on good works that give others happiness.
- Giving to someone who misuses the gift makes you a partner in that wrong.
- The highest giving of all is the giving of divine knowledge.

Now the central question of this book. Can a destiny already written still be changed?

CHAPTER 7

Destiny Can Be Changed

An astrologer names a year. A prediction is made. Fear enters, and stays.

Bapuji answers the fear at its root — and reveals a law that runs underneath it.

A seeker put the question straight to Bapuji. If an astrologer makes a prediction, can we change it? Can a person change destiny by performing shresth karma?

Bapuji answered in one word. Yes.

Then he opened it out. If you wish, you can change your destiny. To make the impossible possible — that power lies within human souls.

He said it again, so that no reader could miss it. There is so much power in souls that you can do whatever you wish.

The seeker then described a very common fear.

An astrologer tells a person that at forty, or at fifty, an illness will come. Or an accident. Or a great financial loss.

The fear enters. The fear grows heavy. The person begins to remember that predicted time again and again.

Even if the event was never going to happen, he keeps attracting it. He keeps recalling it. Slowly he begins to create it inside himself.

He calls it a scientific law. Whatever you think again and again will become practical. It will actually happen.

It does not happen according to your planets. It happens according to your thinking.

Think the same thing a hundred times a day. Think it a thousand times. You will become what you think.

Bapuji calls this a natural law.

So the danger was never in the prediction. The danger was in the repeating.

And here is the good news hidden inside the same law. A law that works in one direction works in the other direction too.

IN SIMPLE WORDS

- Bapuji says clearly that destiny can be changed if you wish to change it.
- Souls hold enough power to make the impossible possible.
- A prediction becomes dangerous only when you keep repeating it in your mind.
- Whatever you think again and again will become real. This is a natural law.
- The same law can protect you, because it works both ways.

In the next chapter, Bapuji shows what a single thought actually does inside you.

CHAPTER 8

The Power of Your Own Thought

This is not simply positive thinking. Bapuji explains what a repeated thought does inside the soul's own bodies.

Follow the order carefully. It moves from the deepest level outward.

The seeker asked whether a person should simply think the opposite. If an astrologer says an accident is coming, should a person decide from today that nothing will happen?

Bapuji said yes. Then he explained why it works.

The power of the mann is very great. Mann means the mind — the part of the soul that thinks and feels.

If you think nothing is going to happen, then nothing will happen. The power of the atma is powerful.

Then Bapuji gave the exact thought to hold.

Keep this thought in your mind (mann): No one can harm me or spoil anything for me. No one at all. Because Almighty is always with me.

And he asks the question that naturally follows. If Almighty is with you, who can harm you?

Now comes the part that lifts this above ordinary encouragement. Bapuji explains what such a thought actually does inside a human being.

That thought makes the karan sharir positive.

The karan sharir is the causal body. It is the body made of the akash tattva, the ether element. The full account of your karma lies there.

When the karan sharir becomes positive, the sukshma sharir — the subtle body — becomes good.

When the subtle body becomes good, the sthool sharir — the physical body — also gives a good reaction. And the atmosphere around you becomes good.

Look at that order once more. The change begins in the deepest body and moves outward. Thought first. Causal body next. Then subtle body. Then physical body. Then the world around you.

This is why Bapuji asks for repetition. Think again and again: nothing will happen to me. Almighty (Bhagwan) is with me.

And he gives the daily practice in one line. Remember the Almighty Authority. Remember Bhagwan, morning and evening.

IN SIMPLE WORDS

- The power of the mind (mann) and of the atma is very great.
- Hold this thought: no one can harm me, because God (Bhagwan) is with me.
- That thought makes the karan sharir, where your karma is stored, positive.
- From there the subtle body, the physical body and the atmosphere all improve.
- Remember the Almighty Authority every morning and every evening.

Now Bapuji turns to the fear itself — the fear of the planets.

CHAPTER 9

Do Not Fear the Planets

Millions of people live under a fear they were handed by someone else.

Bapuji dissolves that fear with a single question — and then goes much further.

Bapuji turns to the fear itself and asks a question back. The planets that astrologers frighten you with — why are you afraid of them?

The seeker gave the honest human answer. People are afraid because they see no way out. If there were a way, no one would be afraid.

Bapuji's reply was short. Take your knowledge a little further. Let your intellect run. Become gyani — one who knows.

Then he asked the question that dissolves the fear at its root. Who made the grahas, the planets?

The answer is obvious. Paramatma made them.

So remember Paramatma. Remember the highest of all — the Almighty Authority. Remember the Ultimate God. Do yog with Him.

And then the poor planets — what will they do to you?

Bapuji goes further, and here he speaks from his own divine vision.

The planets you were taught to fear were devtas once. They are not devtas now. They have become human beings, just like you.

He says it without hesitation. Even Shani Maharaj may choose to appear in the simplest of forms, somewhere in a forest.”

Bapuji says he has seen this in his own state of samadhi — deep meditative absorption.

All those planets have become ordinary human beings and beg for their living. What can they possibly give you?

He reminds the reader of an old account. Ravan tied up Shani and used to beat him every day. Hanuman later set him free.

If a Ravan could do that, what power does a planet hold over you?

The seeker then raised a fair point. If a soul gives sorrow to others, that soul must receive sorrow in return. Do the grahas escape the law of karma?

Bapuji answered with a question of his own. Are the grahas not bound by the law of karma?

When the law applies even to Bhagwan, where will the grahas go? They will also be caught — whether Rahu, Ketu or Shani.

Then he explains why the old calculations no longer hold.

Everything has changed. When time changes, every shastra changes. Every calculation changes.

Astrology was a real science in an earlier age. In today's age, Bapuji says its value is zero. He says it with challenge.

The planets they speak of have become powerless. Not a single one of them can give anyone sorrow." His practical advice is blunt. Do not fear them. Do not even go to them. They frighten people and take money. Trust in Almighty instead.

He also puts the whole matter in proportion with a simple count.

Out of the eight hundred crore people in the world, only a small number follow astrology at all. Bapuji estimates about ten crore — not even a tenth of humanity.

So are the remaining ones all unhappy?

He asks the reader to think of the most successful people on earth. Do they run to astrologers before every decision?

It is, Bapuji says, a matter of common sense.

IN SIMPLE WORDS

- Bapuji asks who made the planets. Paramatma made them.
- So remember Paramatma directly, and the planets can do nothing to you.
- Those planets were devtas once. They have become human beings now.
- The law of karma binds them too — they are not above it.
- Do not fear them and do not go to them. Trust Almighty instead.

Many readers find the next teaching hard to accept. Bapuji explains it patiently.

CHAPTER 10

The Devtas Have Become Human

Bapuji says the devtas of old are no longer above. He receives many messages from people who cannot accept this.

So he explains it as law, step by step.

Consider the sun. People offer water to Surya every morning.

Bapuji asks a gentle question. Does the sun become hot, so that we cool it down with water?

Then he states the knowledge. Suryanarayan devta has also become a human being. The sun that shines today is made of tattva, element.

The same is true of the others. When Indra and all the devtas became human, even the Brahma, Vishnu and Shankar of this Brahmand became human beings. Brahmand means our solar system.

Bapuji adds one plain line. There is no devta above now.

The seeker said that many people cannot digest this teaching. What would Bapuji say to them?

His answer begins with the reader himself. You yourself were a devta above. Then you performed wrong action. A devta also becomes a human being. Where else would he fall?

Then he explains the mechanism. It is pure law, not opinion.

What does a devta do above? He lives in the Divya Lok, the third lok — the divine realm. That realm is made of three tattvas. So a devta's body is made of three elements.

A devta stays there only as long as there is power in his atma.

When that power is finished, he must fall. Where will he fall? Down to the earth, from the sky.

Bapuji points to what the scriptures themselves record. It is written that even Indra can become a worm of narak. If that can happen to Indra, will the other devtas be spared?

This is why Bapuji asks the reader to go directly to the source.

He quotes the Gita. Bhagwan said: know Me. One who does not know Me is like an animal. So know Him.

He quotes the old line of worship as well. One who bows to all the devtas finally reaches Keshav.

But why take the long road? Know Him directly. Know whose avatar Bhagwan Krishna is. Know Him, accept Him, and remember Him.

A seeker also asked about yajna, the sacred fire offering.

Krishna told Arjun to perform shresth karma as though seated in a yajna, releasing all negativity from within. So should a person perform a yajna in order to do this?

Bapuji's answer is plain. There is no need to perform a yajna.

In the old days it was performed to please the devtas. Agni devta, Vayu devta, Jal devta — all of them have become human beings.

The ritual was a road to someone who is no longer there. So go straight to the One who is.

IN SIMPLE WORDS

- Surya, Indra and the other devtas have become human beings.
- A devta stays above only while his soul still holds power.
- When that power finishes, he falls to the earth like anyone else.
- Even the scriptures say Indra can fall to the lowest state.

- So there is no need for yajna — go directly to the Supreme instead.

Now the biggest question of all. How do we change karma already performed?

CHAPTER 11

The Real Way to Change Your Destiny

The actions we already performed in ignorance have already built our destiny.

So how can what is already written still be changed? Bapuji calls this a very big question — and then answers it completely.

First Bapuji removes a false separation. Call it the account of karma, or call it the account of destiny. Both are one and the same.

So to change destiny, you must change the account. For that, four things are needed.

The first is gyan — divine knowledge.

The second is the attainment of Paramatma. You must reach the Supreme.

The third is remembrance. Remember Paramatma (the Supreme)— but first, know Paramatma.

The fourth is self-knowledge. Know yourself.

Then Bapuji gives the newcomer the plainest possible instruction.

You are an atma, a soul. The atma is a point of pure white light. It sits in the bhrikuti, the centre between the eyebrows.

Stay in atma-swaroop — the awareness of being a soul, not a body.

From that state, where is Paramatma? The Shiv Paramatma of this Brahmand lives in the Nirakar Paramdham, the incorporeal supreme abode.

His light is Param Prakash, the supreme light. Bapuji says it shines like the sun.

Remember Him. Remember that Param Prakash. And take power from Him.

Bapuji gives the reason in one homely line. Join your connection to the powerhouse, and power will come.

He also explains that the level of the connection decides the level of the power.

Remember the Shiv of this Brahmand and a little power will come. At the very least, something.

Remember Maha Shiv and more power will come. Maha Shiv is the owner of a galaxy, a Maha Brahmand.

Now here is what the connection actually does to your karma account. Bapuji lays out the chain clearly.

Listen to gyan. Know your Ultimate God. Build a connection with Him — and connection means yog. Take power through yog.

Power will come into your atma. Power will come into your karan sharir. And by the force of yog, vikarma will be destroyed.

Read that once more. The wrong actions already stored in your account can be destroyed.

That is how a destiny already written can still be rewritten.

Slowly the atma rises into a higher category. And the destruction of vikarma slowly carries the soul into the new world that is coming.

Bapuji ends with encouragement. Develop the power of the atma. That power is already in you.

IN SIMPLE WORDS

- The account of karma and the account of destiny are the same account.
- To change it you need knowledge, and you need to know the Supreme — Almighty Authority.
- Know yourself first. You are a soul, a point of pure white light.
- Connect to the powerhouse through yog, and power will come into your soul.

- That power destroys vikarma — and this is how destiny is rewritten.

But which authority should you connect with? Bapuji is very precise about this.

CHAPTER 12

Become the Child of the Highest

Not every connection carries the same power. Bapuji explains why the highest connection matters.

He uses an example from ordinary life that everyone understands at once.

Ask one question first. Whom are you remembering? Which authority?

Shiv is the owner of one Brahmand — one solar system.

Maha Shiv is the owner of a Maha Brahmand — a galaxy.

Param Maha Shiv is the owner of a Param Maha Brahmand — a universe.

Above them all, higher and higher still, is the Almighty Authority — the Ultimate God, in the incorporeal form.

Bapuji says that when you remember the Ultimate God, no lower authority can trouble you. Not Shiv. Not Maha Shiv. None of them.

Instead, they will protect you.

Then he gives his example from ordinary life.

Suppose a very senior commissioner is your father. Will your enemies dare to touch you?

They will say — leave him alone, his father is the commissioner, or we will be locked up.

Suppose a man's father holds a high position, a minister or a chief minister. See how much freedom his son enjoys.

Bapuji applies this directly. Become a child of the Almighty Authority.

Know the Almighty Authority who lives in the highest Paramdham. Know Him. Accept Him.

Learn the secret yog — the method of connection Bapuji has explained in his discourses.

Remember Him as a child remembers a father. Or, as Bapuji puts it, He is your great-great grandfather. So remember Him as His great-great grandson.

Then how much will He protect you? Who could touch you?

Bapuji goes further still. The very planets you once feared will become your helpers.

Shiv, Maha Shiv, Param Maha Shiv — all of them will protect you. Because you know the Almighty Authority.

The seeker summed it up well. My soul's father is the unlimited Supreme Father. I am His direct creation. Nothing in this world can happen to me.

Keep that firm inside you. Think it again and again, so that the mind (mann) grows stronger.

And never let anyone's casual words shake you. No one's words can change your destiny.

Your destiny changes only by your own thinking — by your own positive power.

IN SIMPLE WORDS

- Shiv owns a solar system, Maha Shiv a galaxy, Param Maha Shiv a universe.
- Above them all is the Almighty Authority, the Ultimate God.
- Remember the highest, and no lower authority can trouble you.
- As a commissioner's son walks safely, so does a child of the Almighty Authority.
- No one's words can change your destiny. Only your own thinking can.

Now Bapuji turns from protection to merit — and shows what the highest karma really is.

CHAPTER 13

Limited Merit and Unlimited Merit

Kindness earns merit. But Bapuji says there are two completely different sizes of merit.

One changes a life. The other can change a world.

Punya means merit — the good karma that lifts a soul rather than weighing it down.

Many people think merit means simple kindness. Feeding a hungry person. Giving to someone who asks. Contributing to a temple.

These are good acts. They do carry positive weight.

But Bapuji gives them their exact name — had ki punya. Had means the limited, the bounded world. So this is merit of the limited world.

Its fruit is limited. Its reach is short.

Behad ki punya is something else entirely. Behad means the unlimited, the boundless.

This is merit that can transform not only individuals but entire multiverses.

Bapuji then defines the highest merit precisely.

Go beyond the boundaries of religion, caste and creed. Search for the Almighty Authority, the true supreme creator of the infinite. Connect with Him directly.

First recognise that you are an atma, not a body. Establish yourself in soul-consciousness. Draw power from the Almighty.

And then, from that connection, spread the vibration of Param Shanti — supreme peace — outward into the world.

This, Bapuji says, is the highest punya. To fill the atmosphere with supreme peace is work whose fruit reaches far beyond one life and one region.

When even one soul holds that vibration steadily, those nearby begin to feel it. Homes become temples. Whole regions begin to shift.

Alongside this, Bapuji names a second form of the highest merit — the sharing of divine knowledge.

Of all donations, the donation of behad gyan is supreme. It hands the receiver the very tool by which his own soul can be freed.

And there is a third. Help others to experience atma-swaroop, the state of soul-consciousness.

These three together form the highest punya available on earth today.

Now Bapuji makes a sober observation about good people.

The world is full of genuinely good souls. They feed the poor. They give to those in need. They care for animals. They visit the sick.

Bapuji does not diminish any of it. But he adds that many such souls never learn what more is possible.

They perform had ki punya all their lives. They never meet the knowledge that would let them perform behad ki punya.

Limited merit gives limited fruit. Such a soul may reach swarga after death and enjoy its period of happiness there. It returns to earth when the merit is spent.

The chance for liberation passed by, unused. The soul was good. It simply did not know there was a higher path.

So Bapuji's instruction is not to stop being kind. Continue to help.

But also take the step into knowledge. Add behad ki punya to the had ki punya you are already doing. Then the fruit becomes beyond comparison.

One more point, and it is decisive. Even the intention to perform unlimited merit is not enough by itself.

To spread the vibration of supreme peace, the soul must first hold the power to carry it.

A soul emptied by lifetimes of negativity cannot radiate what it does not have. The vibration must be received before it can be given.

So the path circles back to the same place. Meditate in soul-consciousness. Connect with the Almighty Authority. Receive Param Prakash into the karan sharir. Then turn outward and share.

The work of merit and the work of self-purification are not two separate works. One makes the other possible.

A purified soul performs the highest merit naturally, simply by being what it is.

IN SIMPLE WORDS

- Had ki punya is merit of the limited world. Its fruit is short.
- Behad ki punya is unlimited merit, and it can transform whole worlds.
- The highest merit is to connect with the Almighty Authority and spread Param Shanti.
- Sharing divine knowledge and giving others soul-consciousness are equally high.
- But a soul must first receive power before it can radiate it outward.

There is one kind of action that creates no account at all. Bapuji explains it next.

CHAPTER 14

The Karma That Binds Nothing

Good karma binds a soul to swarga. Wrong karma binds it to suffering.

Is there any action that does not bind at all? Bapuji says yes.

It is called nishkam karma — desireless action. One who walks this path is a karma yogi, a yogi of action.

Nishkam karma is action performed with no desire for a personal result.

The work is done with full attention and full skill. But the doer stays unattached to whatever comes back.

He performs his duty because it is his duty. Not because of what he hopes to gain. He acts in the world without being caught by the world.

Bapuji names the one condition that makes this possible — the remembrance of the Supreme.

Action performed in remembrance of the Almighty Authority creates no karmic bondage.

The doer is no longer the small self acting from desire. The doer is the soul, connected to its source, acting through that connection.

The action passes through the body. The soul stays in its higher state. And it gains energy rather than losing it.

Bapuji points to the Gita. Krishna said: do your best work in My remembrance. Whatever is done in remembrance of Him becomes desireless action.

Bapuji takes that verse as an instruction, not as poetry.

Drive a vehicle. Write a report. Cook a meal. Raise a child. Do all of it while keeping the inner connection alive.

That is how ordinary daily life becomes spiritual practice.

The Gita says something else that Bapuji asks the reader to notice carefully. I am not reached through jap, tap, dhyan and yog alone — I am reached through gyan.

Knowledge comes first. You must know who the Supreme actually is. Without that, no amount of recitation, austerity or meditation builds the real connection.

With knowledge, even ordinary action becomes yog.

Why does almost all human action bind? Bapuji explains.

Most action is driven by one of five forces — lust, anger, greed, attachment or ego.

Even action that looks good may be done for recognition, for return, or for the satisfaction of pride.

Such action carries the doer's desire inside it. The desire becomes the karmic seed. And the soul is bound by the seed it has sown.

Even satya karma — outwardly good action — binds the soul to the cycle.

A person of many good actions takes birth in swarga and enjoys the reward. Then the merit is exhausted, and human birth comes again.

Swarga is not liberation. Bapuji teaches that even the pleasure-loving devtas of swarga eventually lose their power and fall back to earth.

Only nishkam karma escapes this binding. It produces no return that traps the soul.

The soul moves through the world without gathering weight. Over time it becomes light enough to rise.

Bapuji admits plainly that such a soul is rare. Most people, even when they wish to act selflessly, find some thread of desire creeping in.

This is not a moral failure. It is simply the weight of sanskars gathered over many births.

Yet the practice can be approached. As the soul gains knowledge and begins to meditate, the grip of desire loosens.

The five vices weaken. Action begins to feel cleaner and lighter.

The doer notices that he is acting more often from stillness, and less often from want.

That is the karma yogi, slowly appearing.

IN SIMPLE WORDS

- Nishkam karma is action done with no desire for any personal reward.
- It binds the soul in no way, because it is done in remembrance of the Supreme.
- Ordinary work becomes yog when the inner connection stays alive.
- Most action binds because lust, anger, greed, attachment or ego drives it.
- Such souls are rare, but knowledge and meditation slowly loosen desire.

One question still remains. If karma decides everything, what does Bhagwan do?

CHAPTER 15

Bhagwan (God) Does Nothing — You Make Yourself

When something painful happens, many people quietly blame the Divine.

Bapuji removes the whole idea of blame in a few sentences.

A seeker asked a question that many people carry silently. When something bad happens to me, should I accept it as the account of my past karma? Should I stop blaming Bhagwan (God)?

Bapuji's answer removes blame entirely.

Bhagwan does nothing at all. He has said it Himself — I am akarta, the non-doer.

He made the world once. And He made a very good world.

First He made the farishtas — the Param Purush, the supreme beings. From within themselves, the Param Purush brought forth the Param Prakritis.

He made swarga. He made Amar Lok, the deathless realm.

Then Bapuji describes the descent — and it is entirely our own doing.

From Amar Lok you came down. From Param Purush you became devtas. From devtas you became human beings. From human beings, some became animals.

The category of the atma went down, step by step.

And who brought it down? Bapuji's answer is one of the strongest lines in the whole discourse. You make yourself.

You are no one's puppet. Think about that carefully. You are not a puppet. You are independent. The atma is independent.

And then the law itself, in the plainest words. Whoever does his own karma is the one who eats its fruit.

That is the final answer to the question this book began with.

Destiny is not a power sitting above you. Destiny is your own karma coming back.

And since you wrote it, you can rewrite it.

IN SIMPLE WORDS

- Bhagwan does nothing. He has called Himself akarta, the non-doer.
- He made a very good world at the beginning, including Amar Lok.
- Souls came down step by step through their own actions.
- You are not anyone's puppet. The soul is independent.
- Whoever performs the karma is the one who eats its fruit.

One last thing remains — and it concerns the time you are living in right now.

CHAPTER 16

The Time to Begin Is Now

A single soul's destiny can lift a whole family.

And the time in which you are living, Bapuji says, is unlike any other.

One question in the discourse showed how far a single soul's destiny can reach.

Can the birth of a new child change a family's destiny? Bapuji answered at once. Yes, certainly.

Suppose a fortunate soul takes birth in your home as a child. The effect of that soul's destiny touches the whole family.

The atmosphere of the house changes. Peace and happiness can come into the family. Wealth can come. Good things can happen.

One soul's destiny lifts everyone around it. This is why the work of building destiny is never a private matter.

Bapuji then speaks about the present moment.

Today the world has changed, he says. This is the age of knowledge.

He asks a fair question. How many years does a person spend studying to become a doctor or an engineer?

So give a little of your time to knowing the Ultimate God.

He makes a request rather than a demand. Listen to the gyan. Watch the discourses.

And he gives his reason.

Do you want to change your destiny and enter the new world that is coming? Then know the Almighty Authority. He is the Ultimate God, the owner and father of the unlimited creation.

He is changing the multiverse. The entire multiverse is changing.

So listen to gyan. Know your Ultimate God. Build the connection — and connection means yog.

Take power through yog. Power will come into your atma. Power will come into the karan sharir. By the force of yog, vikarma will be destroyed.

And the destruction of vikarma will carry you, slowly, into the new world.

The question this book began with now has its complete answer.

Karma is greater. Destiny is only the record that karma has already written.

And the pen is still in your hand.

IN SIMPLE WORDS

- A fortunate soul born into a family can change that whole family's destiny.
- Today is the age of knowledge, and the whole multiverse is changing.
- Give some of your time to knowing the Almighty Authority.
- Build the connection through yog and take power into your soul.
- Karma is greater than destiny — because karma is what writes destiny.

Chapter 16

GLOSSARY

Every spiritual term used in this book, explained in the simplest words.

Akarma — Action that creates no karmic bondage. Another name for nishkam karma.

Akarta — The non-doer. Bapuji quotes Bhagwan describing Himself this way — He does not interfere in a soul's karma.

Akash Tattva — Either element, the subtlest of the five gross elements. Gross world is created on the foundation of Akash tattva. From Akash tattva, other heavier gross elements emerge to create this gross world.

Almighty Authority — The Supreme Master Creator of the Behad - the limitless world of creation. The highest being in all of infinite existence. The ultimate source of all power. The Great-Great-Grandfather of every soul.

Amar Lok — The immortal world; a realm of supreme element where physical death does not exist. a state of existence beyond birth and death.

Atma — The conscious, eternal being within everybody - distinct from the body, the senses, and the mind. It is the true self. The soul is the source of all life and all awareness.

Atma-swaroop — The state of dwelling in the soul's original nature - identifying fully with the soul, not the body. This is the foundation of spiritual practise/ knowledge. When a seeker attains Atma Swaroop, the soul's original light, peace, and power are fully activated. Brahm Swaroop is the cosmic expression of this same state: the soul dwelling in its full cosmic identity.

Avatar — A divine descent — a higher being taking form in a lower world.

Behad — Infinite - beyond all limits, without boundary. In Bapuji's knowledge, Behad names the boundless, infinite dimensions of all creation. From this comes a family of terms: Behad ki Atma - the limitless soul. Behad Gyan - knowledge of infinite, boundless creation. Behad Seva - service rendered for the infinite creation. Behad ka Karma - action performed for eternity.

Behad Gyan — The supreme knowledge of the Almighty Authority and His vast, limitless, infinite creation. This is the supreme truth revealed through Bapuji - realised directly by him through divine vision, the Third Eye. It cannot be found in any scripture. It is the knowledge of the highest, most primordial dimension of creation - far beyond the multiverse.

Behad ki Punya — Unlimited merit. Merit whose fruit reaches far beyond one life or one region.

Bhagwan — The Lord; the Divine. Used in this book as Bapuji used it in his discourse.

Bhagya — Destiny, fortune. The result already produced by a soul's past karma.

Bhrikuti — The centre point between the eyebrows, where the atma is seated in the body.

Brahmand — Our solar system-one unit of creation. In Bapuji's knowledge, Brahmand refers specifically to a solar system-one universe created by Shiv. There are countless such Brahmands inside a single galaxy. Our own solar system is our Brahmand. Each Brahmand has a Kala measure.

Buddhi — Intelligence — the faculty of understanding. Buddhi is the intelligence or discerning faculty of the soul. When refined and oriented toward the eternal seed-form, allows the soul to read its own inner records of its journey and ascend. A Brahm Rishi's buddhi is encoded with the direct experience of multiple universes — not because they studied it, but because they lived it across immeasurable cosmic journeys. The higher the soul's purity, the clearer the buddhi.

Chitragupta — The keeper of the record of every soul's actions in the older system of accounting.

Daan — Giving; donation. Its value depends on who receives it and how it is used.

Devta — A deity; a being existing in a three-element body in the higher worlds of creation called as Heaven.

Dhyan — Meditation.

Divya Lok — The divine realm, the third lok. It is made of three tattvas, and devtas live there.

Durbhagya — Misfortune. Built by a soul's own wrong actions, not sent from above.

Farishta — An angel; a being created by Brahma with a body of param tatva.

Graha — A planet. In this knowledge, the grahas hold no power over a soul connected to the Supreme.

Gyan — Knowledge; specifically, divine or transcendental knowledge.

Gyan Daan — The giving of divine knowledge; the highest of all forms of charity.

Gyani — One who knows — a soul established in divine knowledge.

Had — Had (or Hud) refers to any creation confined within finite dimensions — a creation bound by boundaries, bound by measure. Its defining mark is the cycle: whatever is born must one day dissolve. Whatever is created must one day be destroyed. This rhythm of birth and death, formation and dissolution, is the very signature of Had. Our solar system belongs to this bounded creation. So does the vast multiverse itself — for as Bapuji teaches, even the multiverse, immense as it appears, remains a Had ki Duniya — a world of limits. No matter how large a creation may seem, if it is subject to the cycle of arising and perishing, it is still Had — still finite, still bound.

Had ki Punya — Limited merit. Good action whose fruit is short in reach and duration.

Jap — Repetition of a sacred name or word as a spiritual practice.

Karan Sharir — A human being has many bodies even though we can see only physical body but there are subtle bodies inside this physical outline which holds the energy of soul and operates the physical body. So gross physical body is only a medium to carry out work of soul. Physical body gets power from subtle body which comprises of ether element, air element and fire element. Subtle body gets power from causal body which comprises of ether element only. This is also called karan sharir which is the store house of the details of karmic accounts of a soul.

Karma — Karma means action. But it is more than the act itself — it is the energetic imprint left behind by every act, whether done through thought, word, or the organs of action and perception. Every thought, every word, every bodily action leaves its trace. These traces bind the soul to repeated experience — pulling it back, again and again, into the cycle of cause and effect until the imprint is resolved.

Karma Yogi — A Karma Yogi is one who has realized the soul as the true self — a divine spark — and now acts in the world from that very recognition, drawing strength not from the ego, but from the Almighty Authority itself. The Karma Yogi remains within the householder's life, yet stays constantly in remembrance of the Divine, untouched by worldly cravings even while living amid worldly duties. Every action performed is Nishkam Karma — action without attachment to its fruit — and it is this that transcends all bondage on earth. To act fully in the world, yet remain free of it — this is the mark of the Karma Yogi. Bapuji calls Grihastha Ashram, the householder's life, the greatest of all ashrams — and Karma Yoga is its highest expression.

Maha Brahmand — A Maha Brahmand is a galaxy — a vast cosmic structure within which billions of solar systems revolve in their own orbits. Our own Maha Brahmand is the Milky Way, and within it, our solar system finds its place — one among billions.

Maha Shiv — The owner of a Galaxy and the supreme authority above Shiv, capable of bringing forth infinite Shivs in a single thought. A single moment of Mahashiv equals one hundred years of Brahma.

Mann — The mind — the part of the soul that thinks, feels and forms thoughts.

Narak — The lowest state of existence, reached by souls carrying heavy wrong action.

Nirakar — This is formless state of a soul. This is the true divine state of a soul when soul is in the form of divine light. This is also called as the incorporeal state of a soul. In this state soul is termed as supreme soul. This is the ultimate stage of a soul. A formless soul of this purity is what is rightly called Paramatma and ascends directly to Paramdham.

Nishkam Karma — Desireless action, performed in remembrance of the Supreme. It binds the soul in no way.

Paap — Wrong action, and the negative weight it leaves in a soul's account.

Paap Karma — Harmful action. Also called vikarma. It brings suffering now or in a later birth.

Param Maha Brahmand — A universe. The larger structure within which galaxies are contained.

Param Maha Shiv — The incorporeal creator of a universe (Param Maha Brahmand). He resides in the supreme abode Paramdham of the universe. ; the supreme authority above the Mahashiv. the creator of all Mahashivs

Param Prakash — The Supreme Divine Light described in the Sanatan scriptures as the power of Brahma, or Brahma itself. It is pure, silent, and beyond all thoughts (Sankalp) and disturbance. As the highest and most powerful divine radiance, it is the source and foundation of all creation.

Param Prakriti — The supreme feminine energies brought forth by the Param Purush at the beginning of creation.

Param Purush — The supreme, primordial male energy. He is the first to arise in creation, appearing immediately after Nirakari Brahma, the incorporeal Supreme Soul. When a desire stirs within Nirakari Brahma, Param Purush comes into being — the first Sankalp for creation itself. He is Akari Shiv, or Maha-Dev, dwelling in Shiv Puri in his supreme, subtle form, eternally accompanied by his Shakti. Together they govern the whole of creation. His power expands and pervades all of existence. Param Purush holds the highest subtle form and the greatest energy of anyone in creation, second only to Nirakari Brahma. For this reason, he is rightly termed the Supreme Male Energy.

Param Shanti — The Supreme Peace — the original state of the soul when it unites with the Supreme Soul through Yog. In this state, the soul is completely free of desire, utterly silent, without a single affirmation stirring within it. Even the causal body of the soul dissolves, or becomes wholly inactive. Param Shanti is not merely the absence of noise or conflict. It is something far deeper: the soul's original state, established firmly in its pure, divine form of light, in constant remembrance of the Supreme Father. This is why every pure and powerful soul ultimately seeks Param Shanti — it is not a state to be attained from outside, but a return to what the soul already, originally is.

Paramatma — The Supreme Soul, the creator of souls. In its true, formless, divine form of light, Paramatma is a soul of tremendous power — powerful enough to create other souls through the power of affirmation, or Sankalp Shakti. Paramatma means "subtler and more powerful than a soul." Shiv, the creator of a solar system, is called Paramatma. Even at the Nirakari stage, where a soul and the Supreme Soul appear similar in formless nature, Paramatma remains more powerful. The distinction is simple but essential: one is the creator, the other is created.

Paramdham — The Supreme Abode — the original home of souls. Paramdham is the highest dimension within a solar system, a realm of pure divine light where the Creator resides in formless state. Souls in Paramdham exist in complete peace and bliss. It is the original home from which every soul comes, yet the return journey is not easy — it demands sustained and sincere spiritual effort. Paramdham is also known as Amarloka, the immortal realm. This pattern extends beyond a single solar system: every Creator — of a solar system, a galaxy, a universe, or a multiverse — has their own corresponding Supreme Abode in incorporeal form.

Punya — Merit. The positive weight left in a soul's account by good action.

Samadhi — A state of deep meditative absorption in which the soul experiences its true self that is its Origin.

Sanchit Karma — Accumulated karma from past lives that has not yet been fully experienced.

Sanskars — Deep inner impressions or tendencies carried by the soul across lifetimes. In the pure Nirakari stage there are no Sanskars; they accumulate as the soul takes on form and acts within the realms of creation. This is character of soul which is recorded in its causal body. The mind of a soul works according to its sanskars.

Satopradhan — Pure and peaceful in quality; the highest state of an intellect or a soul.

Satya Karma — Good, righteous action. It earns merit, but still keeps the soul within the cycle.

Seva — Selfless service. Bapuji insists the best form of service is to disseminate supreme knowledge of self for the benevolence of soul. One can also do service through affirmations also by spreading vibrations of "Paramshanti" in the atmosphere when the soul acquires power through Gyan and Yog.

Shastra — A scripture or classical text of knowledge.

Shiv — Shiv is the incorporeal creator of a solar system. He resides in the paramdham of a solar system which is the supreme abode of solar system.

Shresth Karma — Noble, elevated action — the kind of action that builds a high destiny.

Sthool Sharir — The physical body, the outermost of the soul's three bodies.

Sukshma Sharir — The subtle body, standing between the causal body and the physical body.

Swarga — The celestial realm reached by souls of good karma. It lies inside the cycle of birth and rebirth.

Tap — Austerity; disciplined spiritual effort.

Tattva — An element. Bodies and realms are built of differing numbers of tattvas.

Vairagi — One who is free of attachment to worldly things.

Vikarma — Wrong action stored in a soul's account. It can be destroyed by the power of yog.

Yajna — The sacred fire offering, performed in older times to please the devtas.

Yog — Conscious connection between soul and supreme souls or with Almighty Authority through which power is drawn into the soul's being via knowledge and meditation. (Note: Bapuji corrects it as yog not yoga)

Yog Bal — The power of yog; the spiritual strength gained through deep remembrance of the Supreme.

“Gyan Daan Maha Daan”

Sharing Knowledge is the Highest Charity

— Bapuji Dashrathbhai Patel

DESTINY IS NOT YOUR MASTER. IT IS YOUR OWN RECORD.

IS YOUR LIFE ALREADY WRITTEN — OR CAN YOU STILL WRITE IT?

BAPUJI DASHRATHBHAI PATEL ANSWERS IN A SINGLE LINE:

KARMA MAKES DESTINY. DESTINY DOES NOT MAKE KARMA.

DESTINY IS NOT A POWER SITTING ABOVE YOU. IT IS THE STORED
BALANCE OF YOUR OWN PAST ACTIONS, RETURNING TO YOU — A BALANCE
THAT CAN BE SPENT, AND A BALANCE THAT CAN BE REBUILT.

INSIDE, YOU WILL LEARN THE THREE KINDS OF KARMA, WHY THE FEAR OF PLANETS AND PREDICTIONS HAS NO GROUND LEFT TO STAND ON, AND THE ONE METHOD BY WHICH WRONG ACTIONS THEMSELVES ARE DESTROYED.

THE WALL WAS BUILT BY YOU. SO IT CAN BE REBUILT BY YOU.

If you wish, you can change your destiny.
