ABOUT BAPUJI

Bapuji (full name: Bapuji Dashrathbhai Patel, also lovingly called “Dadaji” by the younger generation) was born in 1956 in the small village of Akhaj in the Mehsana district of Gujarat. However, he spent his childhood in another village named Ambasan, also located in the Mehsana district.

In the early part of his life, he was a highly successful lawyer. Later, he devoted his life to realizing the supreme spiritual truth and bringing this divine knowledge forward for the welfare of humanity. Today, this supreme knowledge serves as a guiding light for true seekers to realize their ultimate destiny. It is a blessing of the highest divinity that the present time is witnessing the rise of this supreme spiritual knowledge, guiding souls on Earth to return to their original source.

Despite being raised in a very poor family and facing challenging circumstances, Bapuji had a deep desire to transform this sorrowful and suffering world into a better place. At the young age of six, he questioned God repeatedly, asking why God remained silent about the suffering of humanity. This intense longing to end human suffering eventually led him to attain the highest level of spirituality later in life.

Even as a child, Bapuji would spend hours alone in the fields, often neglecting his own comfort. Due to poverty, he would walk barefoot without shoes or sandals, frequently getting pricked by thorns. Many times, he would stay late in the fields and, on his way back home, encounter subtle world entities. These experiences sparked his interest in communicating with subtle world souls.

Bapuji was courageous from a young age, which helped him overcome many obstacles. Alongside his studies in chartered accountancy (CA), he gave tuition classes to support himself financially. Later, he completed his Bachelor of Law (LLB) degree and became a well-known lawyer in Ahmedabad.

In 1997, he established a spiritual institution called “Vishwa Parivartak Ishwariya Vidhyalay” in Chenpur, Ahmedabad, with the mission of transforming this mortal world, filled with suffering and disorder, into an eternal divine world of immortality. Smt. Sushma Tandon, lovingly known as “Maa,” worked alongside Bapuji in this grand divine mission.

To accomplish this mission, Bapuji worked tirelessly, dedicating all his resources to this divine purpose. During that time, he would deliver continuous spiritual discourses for up to 18 hours without rest. In these discourses, he explained the highest dimensions of divine knowledge, which he realized through deep meditation and divine vision in a state of superconsciousness. This knowledge goes beyond the imagination of the ordinary human mind.

Bapuji’s teachings cover a vast range of topics, including the types of celestial creators across different dimensions, the creation of our solar system, galaxy, and universe, and most importantly, the transcendental knowledge of the multiverse and realities beyond it. His knowledge is supremely profound and is intended for highly evolved seekers, referred to as “behad souls.” According to Bapuji, these “behad souls” will play a key role in transforming this mortal world into an eternal divine realm.

At present, Bapuji remains deeply engaged in intense meditation and samadhi for long hours. He does not meet anyone, as he is continuously immersed in his transcendental mission in a superconscious state.

— by Bapuji Dashrathbhai Patel

Something new has entered our homes.

People watch the clock for 11:11. They look twice at a number plate. They are told a helper above is sending them a message. They are told the message is hidden in a number.

This is not a small habit any more. It has spread across the world, and it has come here too. Young people follow it. Children follow it. And almost nobody has asked the one question that matters: who is actually sending the number?

Bapuji Dashrathbhai Patel was asked that question directly. His answer is in this small book. It is not a soft answer, and it is not a vague one. He names the sender. He gives the height of the door being advertised. He shows what a person pays for walking through it.

Alongside his words, this book carries the classes of Anant Patel and Sakshi Patel on the same subject. They cover angel numbers and lucky numbers. They cover the cards that claim to show the future.

Nothing here has been added. Everything here was spoken.

The reader who finishes this book will not be left with a warning alone. An answer is waiting at the end of it. It is a far better one than any number could carry.

— The Paramshanti Team

CHAPTER 1

A Question That Was Not Here Before

Something new has entered our homes. This chapter shows what it is, and why it deserves a careful answer.

A young woman glances at her phone. The time reads 11:11. She smiles. Somebody above is speaking to me, she thinks.

This happens now in millions of homes. People watch clocks, number plates, bills and door numbers. They wait for 111, 222, 333. They are told these are angel numbers. They are told a helper above is sending a message.

Twenty years ago nobody here used this word. The practice arrived from the West and it spread fast. Today it is no longer a Western habit alone. Young people in this country follow it. Children follow it.

Sakshi Patel raised the question in class. She had searched for the idea in our *Granth*s — our sacred scriptures. She did not find it anywhere. No Granth describes angel numbers. The idea was made, and then it was placed in people's minds.

So a straight question was carried to Bapuji Dashrathbhai Patel. Angel therapy has become popular. Angel numbers have become popular. What is the truth behind them?

This book carries his answer.

- Why did the idea reach here so easily? Bapuji gives a simple answer. For two hundred and fifty years this land lived under foreign rule. A habit of mind was left behind.

People began to feel that whatever comes from outside must be true. They began to feel that what our own *Granth*s say must be false. So foreign clothes came. Foreign speech came. Foreign ways came. And with them came this.

Bapuji does not accept a word simply because it is popular. He says the reality of any path must be known from the inside, practically.

So he begins where an honest examination has to begin. Not with the numbers. With the word itself, and with the beings standing behind it.

♦ IN SIMPLE WORDS

People now watch for numbers like 111 and 222.

They are told an angel is sending them a message.

This idea is new. It is not found in our *Granth*s.

Bapuji was asked what the truth behind it is.

This book is his answer.

In the next chapter, Bapuji explains who actually lives in the world just above ours.

CHAPTER 2

Who Lives in the Subtle World

Before we ask who sends the numbers, we must know who is there to send them.

Bapuji begins here.

Just above our world lies another world. Bapuji calls it the sookshma jagat — the subtle world. These eyes cannot see it. It is crowded.

Every soul that leaves this earth goes there first. The atma — the soul, a point of pure white light — puts on a subtle body. That body is made of three elements. They are akash, vayu and agni: space, air and fire.

Who lives there? Souls of every kind. Bapuji has spoken before about bhoot, pret and pishach — souls that wander with unfinished desire. He has spoken about souls that came from very far away. All of them are there.

Some souls there are good. This land has always had names for them. We call them good souls. We call them positive souls. We call them devata. They give people good things and they do good work.

These good souls do want to help. Sometimes they touch a person in the subtle. Bapuji says they strike a ray, and a positive thought rises in that human soul.

Now comes the number that changes everything.

Bapuji says their count is very small. Ninety-nine per cent of the souls up there are negative. Only about one per cent are good. And even that one per cent manages to help only with great difficulty.

So the subtle world is not a friendly sky full of helpers. It is a crowded place, and most of the crowd is not good.

These souls also differ in strength. Bapuji measures soul power in kala. Some hold half a kala. Some hold one, two, three or four. Some hold twenty-five. Some hold seventy-five. They sit in many separate categories.

They are also close by. Bhoot and pishach stay within about a hundred kilometres of the earth. Anant Patel adds that the guiding souls people speak of stay within about two hundred kilometres. They have no contact with the wider creation at all.

The world calls this place the angelic sphere. Bapuji calls it by its correct name. It is the sookshma jagat, and it is near.

♦ IN SIMPLE WORDS

Above our world is the subtle world, the sookshma jagat.

Every soul goes there after leaving the body.

It holds good souls and bad souls together.

Ninety-nine out of a hundred are not good.

They stay close to the earth, not far above it.

Where, then, did the word 'angel' come from? That is the next question.

CHAPTER 3

Where the Word 'Angel' Came From

The being is old. The word is not. In this chapter Bapuji separates the two.

A good soul that helps people is nothing new. Bapuji says such souls existed in the first cycle. They existed before this earth was even made.

He gives the order of creation. At the beginning of the Brahmand — our solar system — Brahma made the seven Param Purush. From those seven, seven loks were formed above the earth. Param Purush and Param Prakriti were there. This earth came later, after ten years of Brahma.

So helping souls were already above. The being is ancient.

The word is young. Bapuji says the word 'angel' arrived with one tradition of the West, about two thousand years ago. Before that, the word did not exist here at all.

And here Bapuji asks his question. It is a simple question, and it decides the whole matter.

Two thousand years have passed since that word began. In those same two thousand years, war followed war across the earth. Whole lands were emptied. Crores of people were killed, in this country too.

Where were the angels then?

A positive soul does not cause a war. That much is certain. If these beings were truly watching and helping, the record of those two thousand years would look different. It does not.

Bapuji's answer is direct. The word itself is a fraud. It is a deception.

He explains what the word was used for. In its name, people were drawn out of their own faith and into another. Love was spoken in front. Something else was done behind. Whole nations were ruled and emptied of their wealth. Had the word been true, none of that would have followed it.

Then Bapuji turns the question around. Was there no dharmā glāni — no decline of dharmā — in this land before two thousand years ago? Did no devi and devatā come from above in those ages? Of course they did. Only the word is new.

He spares nobody here. He says the same test must be applied to every path on earth. Look at how much adharma has been done in the name of dharmā, everywhere. The war of devatā and asur has always run on this earth. It ran through the whole of Dwapar. It runs today.

That is why he says the reality must be known from inside, practically.

One more point about the word, because it decides everything. In Hindi we say farishta. Bapuji explains it simply. Farishta means one who has no rishta — no relationship — with the farsh, the floor.

And he gives the mark of a true one. Such a soul works for the welfare of the whole creation, never for one group. Bapuji says the one who helps everybody is a farishta. The one who is not detached from religion is not.

And he adds one more observation about those who sell this word. When a person is in trouble, they are told to come, to believe, to surrender. That is not help. That is recruitment.

♦ IN SIMPLE WORDS

Good souls who help are very old.

The word 'angel' is only about two thousand years old.

In those two thousand years the earth saw war after war.

Bapuji asks where the angels were.

He says the word itself is a deception.

Now we can ask the main question of this book. Who is sending the numbers?

CHAPTER 4

Who Is Sending You the Numbers

This is the heart of the matter. Bapuji explains the whole mechanism in a few sentences.

Sakshi Patel put the question to Bapuji exactly as people ask it. All day long a person sees numbers. Triple one. Triple two. Triple five. They are told a guide above is signalling to them, to help them or to protect them.

How much of this is true? And who is showing the numbers all day?

Bapuji's answer is short, and it explains everything.

Those numbers are advertisements.

The souls of the subtle world are handing out their own code numbers. One group says: we are the angels of 111. Another says: we are the angels of 222. Bapuji says two thousand or five thousand of them may stand behind a single number.

Their message is always the same. Remember our number.

And what follows if you do? Bapuji says they tell you the rest themselves. We have a vimaan of number 222. Its portal has opened. Portal means a door. Come to our portal.

That is the whole business. A number is a doorbell. Ring it often enough and something answers.

How is the number pressed into a person? Bapuji says they strike a ray, and cause the thought to rise. After that the number begins to appear.

Anant Patel and Sakshi Patel then went through the taught meanings, one by one.

111 is called the most powerful of all. It is called the best number for manifestation. See it, and whatever you are hoping for will be carried through. You must only keep your focus on what you want.

222 is called a message to love yourself where you are, and to trust who you are.

666 is called a reality check from your guardians, telling you to look again at your own actions.

999 is called your chance to meet your twin flame and change your life.

000 is called alignment with your Creator. It is said to mean that a chapter has closed and you are ready for the next level.

Sakshi's response to these is not gentle. She says they are made-up things. Nothing happens by talking. Somebody wants to show a presence, so a record like this is built up. In real time these meanings carry no weight at all.

Then she names the missing piece, and it is the one that matters. None of this takes karma into account. Not one of these meanings knows what a person's karmic account holds. They have no idea of it.

Bapuji had already said where such messages come from. The subtle world issues a fresh instruction every day, to trap people from above. The portal is opening. Come, come. Then the same souls sell the next idea, and the next after that.

So the number is real. Somebody really is behind it.

That is exactly the problem.

♦ IN SIMPLE WORDS

Souls in the subtle world hand out their own code numbers.

They say: this is our number, remember it.

Then they say their door is open, so come.

The meanings taught for each number are made up.

None of them knows anything about your karma.

But where is that door? Bapuji gives its height in the next chapter.

CHAPTER 5

The Portal Is Only Fifty Kilometres High

People imagine the portal as a gate to a higher world. Bapuji measures it.

Bapuji was asked what this portal actually is. Is it a Brahmand? He answered at once. It is a vimaan — a craft.

Then he gave the height. It stands about fifty kilometres above the earth. Some are at a hundred. Some at two hundred. At the very most, five hundred kilometres. Above that there is nothing of this kind.

Fifty kilometres. An aeroplane flies at ten. This is the great gateway being advertised.

And the sky at that height is packed. Bapuji says they are all sitting there with their portals open, sending their code numbers downward.

Now comes the test that settles the matter. Suppose a person believes and turns towards the portal. Can they go?

Bapuji answers with the law, not with an opinion. You cannot go with this body of five elements. That is all.

He explains why. The crafts above are made of three elements, or of param tattva, or of param prakash — supreme light. Your body must match theirs. Only when your body is of that quality can you go.

What if the person dies first? Bapuji says even then they cannot rise a single kilometre. The gravity of the five elements holds them down. A soul needs power to rise. A bhoot or pret cannot go even three kilometres above the earth. Even one kilometre is hard.

So the door stands open at fifty kilometres, and nobody can reach it. Even the soul that comes down to collect you cannot carry you up.

Bapuji asks the obvious question. Portals have been opening for years now. Did anybody actually go and sit up there? It never happened.

He says the same of the whole idea of moving from 3D to 5D. It is a trap set from above.

Then he tells us where the real craft stands.

There is one behad vimaan — one craft of the unlimited world. Behad means beyond all limits. It stands one lakh kilometres from the earth. Bapuji says there is only one. Earlier it stood at ten thousand kilometres. It has risen since then.

A good number of souls are already seated in it.

And how does a soul reach it? Not by a number. Bapuji gives the path. The soul becomes atma swaroop — settled in its own true form as a point of pure white light. Slowly it becomes a behad soul. It understands behad gyan, the unlimited knowledge. Understanding it, the soul becomes gyan swaroop, the very form of that knowledge.

Then it knows itself. Gyan hai pehchan, Bapuji says. Knowledge is recognition. The soul recognises what it is. It recognises the Almighty Authority. And it reaches the craft above.

One door stands at fifty kilometres and sells itself with numbers.

The other stands at one lakh kilometres and asks only that you know yourself.

♦ IN SIMPLE WORDS

The portal being advertised is a craft about fifty kilometres up.

No body made of five elements can reach it.

Even after death a soul cannot rise one kilometre without power.

The real craft of the unlimited world stands one lakh kilometres above.

It is reached by knowledge, not by a number.

One honest question is still left. Why does the number really keep appearing?

CHAPTER 6

Why the Same Number Keeps Coming Back

If the meanings are made up, why do people truly see the number again and again? Anant Patel answers with two everyday examples.

The seeing is real. Nobody in this teaching denies it. People do see 555 four times in a day. The question is what causes it.

Anant Patel gives the first example. A man hurts his hand.

Before the injury he knocked that hand against things all day and never noticed. Now every corner finds it. The door frame. The wall. The edge of the table. He begins to say: mind this, watch that.

Nothing in the room has changed. Only his attention has moved.

The number works in the very same way.

Once you are told that a number carries a meaning, it settles into the subconscious mann — the mind. Now the mind is hunting for it. So it is found. On a bill. On a car. On a clock.

Anant says the number sometimes appears because you sought it, and sometimes it simply appears while you are moving about. Either way, you now notice it. Before, you did not.

The second example is a car. A family buys a car and chooses a number for it. For nine or ten or fifteen years it runs without trouble. No accident. Nothing goes wrong.

The family decides this is their lucky number. The next car is given the same one.

Anant is gentle about this. There was a good feeling behind it, he says. This is our mann's belief, and it does give comfort. Now I have that number again, so nothing will go wrong with me. He is not mocking the family. He is naming what happened.

He gives the whole thing its proper name. Psychological anchoring. A number attaches itself to a good experience. You form a positive link with it. That link becomes your lucky number.

There is a reverse side too. When the promised good does not arrive, the mind turns the other way. Sakshi points at an old habit here. A cat crosses the road. Later something goes wrong. Now the cat is blamed, and the story travels.

Sakshi says the same about the fashion of writing numbers on the walls of a house. Somebody says this one improves your health. Somebody says that one brings good fortune. So should we paste them in every room?

Her answer is short. Those things do not work. They do not touch your karma at all.

Anant adds one honest observation about what the mind accepts. Whatever the mann takes in, that becomes so — for the person holding it.

That is not a small power. But it is the power of your own mind. It is not the power of a number.

♦ IN SIMPLE WORDS

You really do see the number, and there is a reason for it.

Once a meaning enters the mann, the mind starts hunting for it.

A hurt hand finds every corner in the room.

A number tied to a good memory becomes a lucky number.

It is your own mind at work, not a message from above.

But is there such a thing as a lucky number at all? Anant Patel searched that out properly.

CHAPTER 7

Is There a Lucky Number?

Anant Patel took this question seriously and looked into it fully. Then he gave his own answer.

He began with his own birth date, the eleventh.

What he found was flattering. Eleven is called a master number. It is called a spiritual gateway. People of eleven are said to hold deep insight, and to hear the voice of their own soul.

They are said to catch cosmic signals quickly, and to feel energy and emotion before others do. They are said to carry a higher purpose — some large task or mission for this life.

Such people are said to think deeply from childhood. They feel alone even in a crowd, because their vibration is different.

Anant's first reaction is the useful one. He says it tells very good things — but it probably tells good things for every number.

He read on. There is a table for one to nine. One is leadership and beginnings. Two is cooperation and feeling. Three is creativity. Four is stability and hard work. Five is change and freedom. Six is love and service. Seven is reflection and mystery. Eight is karma and tapasya. Nine is sacrifice and wholeness.

There is a method too. Add the digits of your birth date. That number is said to show your soul's path.

Then Anant asked what our own *Granth*s say. Here the answer becomes far more interesting.

He found that the phrase 'lucky number' does not appear in the Vedic *Granth*s at all. That idea is modern. But number itself is not modern.

In the Vedas everything is naad Brahm. The whole creation is made of sound. Every number carries a particular sound and a particular energy. In the Rig Veda and the Sama Veda, the sound waves of the mantras repeat in fixed counts. One hundred and eight japa. One hundred and eight mantras.

Anant pauses on that number. Bapuji began his own work from one hundred and eight. He said he would find one hundred and eight souls and awaken them. From that, the welfare of the whole world would follow.

One hundred and eight adds up to nine, the mark of completeness. Twelve rashis, nine grahas, and one soul are also counted in it.

The Upanishads say: Ekoham bahusyaam. I was one, I became many. The one points to Parabrahm. The many is the spread of maya, the great illusion.

Then comes the line Anant stopped on. He said it should be noted down.

When the soul separates from Brahm and comes to the earth, it falls under a new influence. The grahas act on it. The lines act on it. The numbers act on it.

That is the whole standing of numbers, given honestly. They act on the soul that has come down and forgotten itself. Attraction to a particular number can be a sign of old sanskaars — the impressions carried from earlier births.

The *Granth*s of ank vidya, the science of number, say the same thing. The influence of the grahas reaches the soul through numbers. Surya is one. Chandra is two. Guru is three. Shani is eight.

And the old saying holds: yatha pinde tatha brahmande. As the small body is, so is the whole creation. So a number you feel drawn to may truly be your own subtle vibration.

Now comes Anant's own answer, and he does not hedge it.

There is no lucky number. We ourselves are lucky. If we have known our own atma and known the Paramatma, then we are lucky. And any date we choose, we can make lucky.

There is nothing that is unlucky. Nothing at all. Everything is lucky.

He gives the reason in one line. Bhagavan did not create you by looking at a lucky number. He did not send you to this earth by looking at one either.

About our own jyotish he is careful and respectful. Astrology is very old, he says — this Granth is four hundred crore years old. We do not call it wrong. It is the Sanatan Granth of this land. But with time the energy changes. Predictions change. Much changes.

And he draws the line where it belongs. These dates and these grabas are not for everyone. The soul that holds atma gyan and brahm gyan stands outside them. Such a soul can decide its own coming and going from this earth. All of it rests on its own will.

These things bind a different soul. They bind the soul caught deep in karmic accounts, with a new trouble every day. Such a soul grows tired, and goes looking for a solution.

Everything else runs on sanchit karma — the store of past actions — and on prarabdh, the portion now ripening.

Anant leaves one more thought about where numbers belong. Numerology is of this earth. Go above, and there is no number there. That is a world of spandan — of vibration. From the subtle to the finest of the subtle, everything there moves by vibration alone.

And so, he says, our every day is lucky.

♦ IN SIMPLE WORDS

The phrase 'lucky number' is not in our Granths.

But number is real. The Vedas call creation naad, sound.

When the soul comes down, grahas and numbers act on it.

The soul with atma gyan and brahm gyan stands outside all of that.

There is no lucky number. We ourselves are lucky.

Numbers are one half of this world. Cards are the other.

CHAPTER 8

The Cards That Claim to Show the Future

Sakshi Patel went through the cards carefully, and found something their followers rarely bear.

Three kinds of card are used in these readings. There are tarot cards, oracle cards and angel cards which carry pictures of winged figures on their faces.

The tarot habit is old in the West, reaching back several centuries. Whichever deck is used, the claim is always the same. The cards will show the future of the soul sitting in front of the reader.

Then Sakshi found the thing that most followers never hear.

The Western scripture itself forbids all of this.

She lists what it warns against. It warns against believing in astrology. It warns against those who read the future by such means. The card readers. The fortune tellers. Those who work with magic, and those who work with crystals and it warns against worshipping images.

So the practice sold today under a Western spiritual name is banned by that very tradition's own book.

Sakshi then explains who is actually doing it. They are called the New Age group. They may accept that scripture, but they do not go to the church. They treat these beings as guides, and they treat them as divine. They believe many such helpers exist, not one.

She also gives the history, and it is not a gentle history. Once, in that tradition, this subject carried terror. If a person spoke of astrology or made a prediction or cards were found with them, such a person was tortured and sentenced to death. The church's power over the king was very great.

That fear left its mark on famous names. Nostradamus wrote his predictions in difficult, twisted words for exactly this reason — he feared the Inquisition. Galileo suffered for proving that the earth moves around the sun.

Then Sakshi tells the story that closes this chapter.

There was a woman in the West who became the best-known teacher of this whole subject. She practised for about fifty years, and people called her the queen of this field.

She wrote more than twenty-six titles. She made audio versions. She made her own oracle card decks. She wrote on angels, on ascended masters, on indigo children. She gave readings and healings, ran a radio programme, and spoke at conferences. For a great many people she was the very reason for entering this path.

Then she stopped.

She announced publicly that she was leaving all of it. She said it was false. She said that what had come to her was not what she had believed it to be. She said a negative power had appeared to her wearing a form she trusted. She said she had been deceived, and that she had been giving people wrong teaching all along.

She asked her publishers to take every one of her works off the market. Sakshi notes that they went on selling them anyway.

Sakshi says one part of this pleased her very much. The woman told people to stop remembering these beings. Remember only the One, she said. Take power only from Him.

But the story did not end there. Sakshi reports that the same teacher later turned against our tradition as well. Earlier she had spoken well of our devi and devata. Later she criticised the whole of it.

She had once practised Yog; then she turned against Yog too. She objected even to the standing posture named after Veerbhadra, the Rudra avatar of Shankarji. She said it honours the powers of Surya, and should not be done.

Sakshi's reading of this is direct. The teacher had been saying one thing: remember the Divine, and do not get caught in these beings. That message was right. When she turned to attacking the faith of others, something else had taken hold of her.

And that is the lesson Sakshi draws from the whole story. This is the wonder of the subtle world. Nobody can say what is running inside another person's mann. What a person believes, and what a person does, can change completely.

♦ IN SIMPLE WORDS

Three kinds of card are used: oracle, tarot and angel cards.

All of them claim to show a person's future.

The Western scripture itself forbids these practices.

The best-known teacher of this subject gave it all up.

She said what came to her was not what she had believed.

And there is a cost to all of this help. That is the next chapter.

CHAPTER 9

The Debt You Cannot See

Taking this help is not free. Sakshi Patel explains the cost with an example everyone understands.

Sakshi tells the story of the village moneylender.

There is a wedding in the house. The family has no money, so they go to the baniya, the moneylender. He gives a hundred rupees. It seems small.

Then interest is added to interest. It doubles. It multiplies fourfold. In the end the land goes. The house goes.

Nobody set out to lose the house. They only wanted help for one evening.

That, she says, is karmic bondage. It works exactly like that debt.

The rule underneath is simple. If you take the help, you have taken on the account. Anant says it directly. You will be trapped in karmic bondage. You will become their servant. And you will have to go with the one whose help you took, and finish that account with them.

So the question people ask — can we be caught in karma by taking help from these beings? — has a plain answer. Yes. By default.

Sakshi points at the misunderstanding underneath the whole thing. This earth is where accounts are meant to be finished. It is the one place for it. And here a person is being sold a moment's comfort, and buying a fresh debt with it.

She says what the accounts look like when they arrive. Look at what is in the news. A mother abandons her child. Terrible things happen inside families. These are accounts being settled. If your account is not good, the settlement will not be gentle.

Then Anant gives the law that stands above all of this.

Coming to this earth is not a holiday.

Once a soul is here, the karma it performs applies to it. There are no exceptions. Not for an insect. Not for a devi or devata. Not for an asur, not for a kinnar, not for a human. Not for these beings from above either.

He says many souls hesitate to come here for exactly this reason. This earth is dangerous ground.

And he shows what happened to those who did come. The thirty-three koti devatas were given work. Indra was told to make the rains, and was given authority over the earth. He was to do good with it.

Instead anger came, and pride came, and desire came. They went off to their own separate work, and they were caught in the net of their own karma.

Anant says the same has happened to these helping souls. They were sent down with power to do good. Coming here, they lost that power. They became ordinary beings, like anyone else.

Sakshi gives the last word on whether they can help a behad soul at all.

She says look at the categories. What can a soul of one or two kala give to a soul whose measure runs far beyond it? Nothing. They have no gyan. They do not know who they are, or why they are on this earth.

And then she gives the alternative. The behad soul already has the highest guardian. Its own Creator is with it. He is the guardian. He is the friend. He is everything.

Where, then, is the need for anyone else?

♦ IN SIMPLE WORDS

Taking help from these beings opens a karmic account.

It grows the way a loan from a village moneylender grows.

This earth is the place to finish accounts, not to open new ones.

Every soul that comes here is bound by karma, without exception.

The soul that knows its own Creator needs no other helper.

But can these beings at least show us what we cannot see ourselves?

CHAPTER 10

No One Can Show You Your Future

*Many claims rest on a single promise: that some hidden source knows your story.
Anant and Sakshi test that promise.*

The claim comes in two directions. Some say these beings can show your future. Others say a certain practice will open your past births to you.

Anant deals with the past first.

If the sahasrar chakra opens, people say, you will know all your births. He does not accept it. Were that meant to happen, he says, Bhagavan would tell you Himself.

Even where some awakening does occur, he says, it might reach one birth, or two. Not more. Nobody can be handed the record of lakhs of births.

Then he brings in a Granth that settles the matter. Shukdev said he had passed through eighty-four lakh yonis — eighty-four lakh forms of birth. How many times shall I say what I became, he asked. How shall I tell you my real identity?

Anant makes the comparison sharp. Such a great soul says he cannot state his own identity. Then what will a small soul, sitting in someone's house, tell you about yours?

Now comes the reason behind all of it, and this is the important part.

The soul does not carry its memory upward.

Anant explains it carefully. As the soul rises, its coverings fall away. As the coverings fall, the memory layer goes with them.

He gives the everyday proof. You lived every single day of your life from childhood. You were there. You did those actions. You were the witness of all of it. Yet you do not carry those days in your mind. You may not even remember yesterday's meal.

Souls forget in exactly the same way. This, he says, is the law of the Brahmand: whoever comes here forgets what they were.

The *Granth*s say the same. Souls came from Brahm, could not return, and forgot themselves. They wandered. That forgetting is the root of sorrow.

He gives the point at which the last of it goes. As long as a soul stays a little above, in the subtle world, some memory remains. As the layers break, param tattva increases and param prakash increases. By about ten kala of power, all memory ends.

Even Krishna told Arjun that the time had passed, and that the knowledge given then was lost with time.

So no being from the subtle world holds your record. They cannot. They have forgotten their own.

Then how do the visions happen? Because people do see things.

Sakshi is clear that the seeing is genuine. She repeats what Bapuji has said in his videos. An ordinary person cannot see such activity on their own. If you are seeing it, then someone is showing it to you.

The one who shows is a soul of the subtle world. It enters, and then it shows. It speaks in the ear. It sends signals. Anant says this is not some new kind of communication at all. Bhoot and pret have always done exactly this.

And Sakshi names the trap inside it. If you are impressed by what you see, you keep doing the practice. You grow used to it. And on the day it does not happen, frustration takes you.

Anant says the last word on grandeur. These beings will not come and put a garland around your neck. They are souls. Call them by whatever name you like. The difference is not great.

♦ IN SIMPLE WORDS

Nobody can hand you the record of your past births.

Souls lose their memory as they rise; the coverings carry it away.

Even a great soul said he could not state his own identity.

Visions are real, but someone else is showing them to you.

No being from the subtle world holds your story.

So what is truly coming? Bapuji answers that directly.

CHAPTER 11

Bapuji's Goal for the Time Ahead

*People come to numbers and cards because they want to know what is coming.
Bapuji answers that want, and then he gives his own goal.*

There is a claim that a golden time is arriving. It is said we have left a low age behind, that wisdom is rising, and technology with it. Some call this the Age of Aquarius. Some call it the move to 5D.

Bapuji weighs the claim against what stands in front of us.

Ask the astrologers, he says. What are they saying? They are saying the world is heading towards a great war. They have been saying it since 1976. Not one among them is saying otherwise. Seeing the state of the time, they have all arrived at the same thought.

Our own sadhus and mahatmas have said similar things.

So Bapuji asks the simple question. Where is this rising? The world's condition is falling, not rising. Nowhere is it being uplifted. Nobody is giving out knowledge. In the name of dharma, adharma is being done. This is dharma glani — the time when dharma has declined.

Then he says where the pressure is coming from. Whatever runs on this earth is coming from the subtle world. What is done above is done below. The push towards war belongs to the third-class souls seated up there. That is the source.

And here he gives one of his most important pieces of news.

That war has been held back.

Bapuji says the Almighty has kept it stopped, for years now, for a single reason. The behad children — the unlimited souls — are not yet ready. Until they are ready, it stays stopped.

He describes how it is held. A ray is struck, and they are cooled down. The atmosphere is changed for a few days. Minds are changed. Those who want the war on earth are stopped.

Bapuji does not pretend this is permanent. The situation is still bad, he says.

So the future is not a secret message on a number plate. It is a race, and we are inside it.

What, then, should a person actually do?

Bapuji says the old maps will not serve. And he says something that will surprise many people. The knowledge has become old, he says. It has gone out of date. Whether it is Vastu Shastra, or jyotish, or what is written in the old *Granth*s.

He is not insulting them. He is dating them. These are the accounts of an earlier cycle, from before this Brahmand. They are being run today as though nothing had moved since.

Then he gives the reason. A new world has to be made. The world has to be changed. For that, the knowledge of atma swaroop is needed. For a new world, new knowledge is needed.

And what is that knowledge? Bapuji defines it properly, because people use the word loosely.

Brahm gyan is the knowledge of the beginning and the middle of the Brahmand — our solar system. Maha Brahm gyan is the same for the Maha Brahmand, the galaxy. Beyond that stands the Param Maha Brahmand, the universe, and beyond that the multiverse, of a hundred kala.

That is what gyan means. Reiki is not gyan. A therapy is not gyan.

He tells us where to look instead. Know the One. God is one, truth is one. Know the Almighty Authority.

Not Shiv, the master of the Brahmand. Not Mahashiv, the master of the Maha Brahmand — and you can see the galaxies for yourself, one swallowing another. Above all of them stands the Almighty, who is changing the whole multiverse.

So what is Bapuji himself working towards? Anant Patel names it plainly.

Bapuji began from one hundred and eight. He said he would find one hundred and eight souls and awaken them. From that awakening, the welfare of the whole world would follow.

The call has widened since. Bapuji now speaks to nine lakh souls. He speaks to the thirty-three koti devi and devata. Awaken, he says.

And the work itself is simple to state. Anant says the vibration of Param Shanti has to be made the base of this whole earth. Every part of the ground floor we live on must be filled with it.

Then the negative vibration ends. The quarrels end. The wars end.

That is the goal. Not a better prediction. A changed world.

Anant adds what this means for you. Understand atma gyan and brahm gyan, and moksha in this Brahmand is certain. Reaching the Paramdham becomes easy.

And Bapuji asks nobody to come to him. Anant repeats his words. Come to me or do not come — there is no problem. Sit where you are, at home, and spread the vibration of Param Shanti.

Then Bapuji calls out, and this is how his podcast ends.

Come out of falsehood. Awaken, behad souls. He says he is speaking to nine lakh souls. He says he is speaking to the thirty-three koti devi and devata. Awaken.

So much is written in the *Granth*s of this land, he says. Brahmand and anant koti Brahmand. Ardh pralay, pralay, kalp pralay, mahakalp pralay, Mahakaal pralay. Know these things, and you will understand what is coming.

And then the last line, which is his answer to everyone waiting for a sign.

This support of falsehood will have to be left. One day these supports will be of no use to anyone.

♦ IN SIMPLE WORDS

Astrologers are warning of a great war, not a golden age.

The Almighty has held it back because the behad souls are not ready.

The old maps are out of date. New knowledge is needed for a new world.

Bapuji's goal is to awaken these souls and change the world.

The work is to spread the vibration of Param Shanti from where you are.

One question is still left. If not the numbers, then what?

CHAPTER 12

You Are Already the Sign

If not the numbers, then what? Sakshi Patel gives the closing answer.

Sakshi begins by being fair to the subject.

We cannot deny the subtle world, she says. We cannot deny that powers exist there. Those powers are real. That much is true.

Then she draws the line in a single sentence. They are not the highest powers.

The highest power is our own. It is inside us. We are the direct creation of the Paramatma. We have to recognise our own behad powers — the powers without limit.

And that is why the whole discussion was held at all. The purpose was awareness, she says. Not fear, and not attack. Only this: know what is out there, and then do not attach yourself to it.

She gives one more line about mediators, and it is worth carrying. If we catch hold of a mediator, our boat will surely sink.

Because a mediator is not needed. When the soul knows itself, and knows the Paramatma, the connection is direct.

How is that recognition reached? Sakshi answers in one word: gyan.

She says gyan is the only basic solution for awakening the unlimited powers within us. Not a card. Not a stone. Not a number. Knowledge alone.

She explains why the two are tied together. Everybody says we hold infinite power. But which powers are inside us — that we have to recognise. And the recognition comes through gyan. As far as you understand the knowledge, that far you will receive the power.

That is a fair rule, and a testable one. It has nothing to do with luck.

Then she says what to do, and she is not soft about it. Leave all of this. Leave it for good. If you are running behind it, release it from today. There is no power in it — because inside you there is so much.

Anant says the same thing from another side. If we consider ourselves lucky, where is the problem? Why should we think of ourselves as unlucky? We are fortunate. We received atma gyan. We received brahm gyan.

And so his conclusion stands as the answer to this whole book.

There is no lucky number. We ourselves are lucky. There is nothing that is unlucky. Any day we choose, we can make lucky. Our every day is lucky.

You have been watching the clock for a sign.

Bapuji has been saying all along where the sign is. Gyan hai pehchan. Knowledge is recognition. The atma is a point of pure white light, and it carries the record of everything it has ever been. It does not need a number on a number plate to be told that it exists.

Know yourself. Recognise yourself. Understand the gyan.

Surrender to Him directly, Sakshi says, and infinite powers will come to you.

That is the message.

It was never on the clock.

◆ IN SIMPLE WORDS

The subtle world and its powers are real, but they are not the highest.

The highest power sits inside your own soul.

A mediator is not needed. The connection to the Paramatma is direct.

Only gyan awakens the unlimited power within.

There is no lucky number. You yourself are the sign.

Sharing Knowledge is the Highest Charity

— Bapuji Dashrathbhai Patel

NOTHING IS A COINCIDENCE. EVERY SIGN IS A MESSAGE.

THE NUMBERS THAT KEEP REPEATING AROUND YOU.
THE CARD THAT ANSWERS A QUESTION YOU
NEVER SPOKE ALOUD. THE DREAM, THE FEELING,
THE STRANGER'S WORDS THAT ARRIVE EXACTLY ON TIME.

THESE ARE NOT ACCIDENTS.
THEY ARE THE LANGUAGE OF THE UNSEEN WORLD — A DIVINE GUIDANCE SYSTEM RUNNING
QUIETLY BEHIND YOUR LIFE.

THIS BOOK DECODES ANGEL NUMBERS,
INTUITIVE CARDS AND THE HIDDEN SIGNALS
OF DESTINY, AND TEACHES YOU TO RECOGNISE
THE MESSAGES THAT HAVE BEEN WAITING FOR YOU ALL ALONG.

THE UNSEEN NEVER STAYS SILENT. IT ONLY WAITS FOR A MIND QUIET ENOUGH TO LISTEN.
