About Bapuji

Bapuji (full name: Bapuji Dashrathbhai Patel, also lovingly called “Dadaji” by the younger generation) was born in 1956 in Akhaj, a small village in the Mehsana district of Gujarat. His childhood was spent in Ambasan, another village in the Mehsana district.

In the early years of his life he was an exceptionally successful lawyer. Later he devoted his life to the realisation of the supreme spiritual truth and to bringing this divine knowledge forward for the welfare of humanity. Today this supreme knowledge stands as a guiding light for true seekers to recognise their supreme destiny.

Despite being raised in an extremely poor family and facing harsh circumstances, Bapuji carried within him a deep longing to transform this world — filled with sorrow and suffering — into a better place. At only six years of age, he repeatedly questioned God as to why He remained silent upon the suffering of humanity. This very intense yearning to end sorrow ultimately led him to the highest summit of spirituality in his life.

In 1997 he founded a spiritual institution named “Vishwa Parivartak Ishwariya Vidhyalay” in Chenpur, Ahmedabad, whose aim is to transform this mortal world — filled with sorrow and disorder — into an eternal, divine world of immortality. Smt. Sushma Tandon, lovingly called “Maa”, remained with Bapuji in this great divine mission.

The expanse of Bapuji’s knowledge is vast — from the divine creators of various dimensions to the creation of our solar system, galaxy, and Param Maha Brahmand, and most importantly, to the supreme knowledge of the Multiverse and the realities beyond it. This knowledge is exceedingly profound and is meant only for those highly evolved seekers who are called “Behad souls”. According to Bapuji, it is these very Behad souls who will play a vital role in transforming this mortal world into an eternal, divine world.

At present, Bapuji remains absorbed for long periods in deep meditation and samadhi. He does not meet anyone, for he remains constantly engrossed in the divine mission of his supreme-conscious state.

Preface

“Gyan Daan Mahadaan”

(Sharing Knowledge is the highest charity. Share to maximum extent with all)

— Bapuji Dashrathbhai Patel

Where are we in this vast creation? Our Earth, this solar system — at what place do they stand in this ocean of infinite Brahmands? And if we are to return towards our original home, what is that path like? These questions have echoed within every age and within every seeking soul.

In this book, Bapuji Dashrathbhai Patel ji opens before us the complete map of this Multiverse ; from the smallest unit, the “solar system”, to the galaxy, the Param Maha Brahmand, and this living Multiverse extending from G1 to G17. He tells us who the creator of all this is, where we stand at present, how we came here, and what the path ahead is.

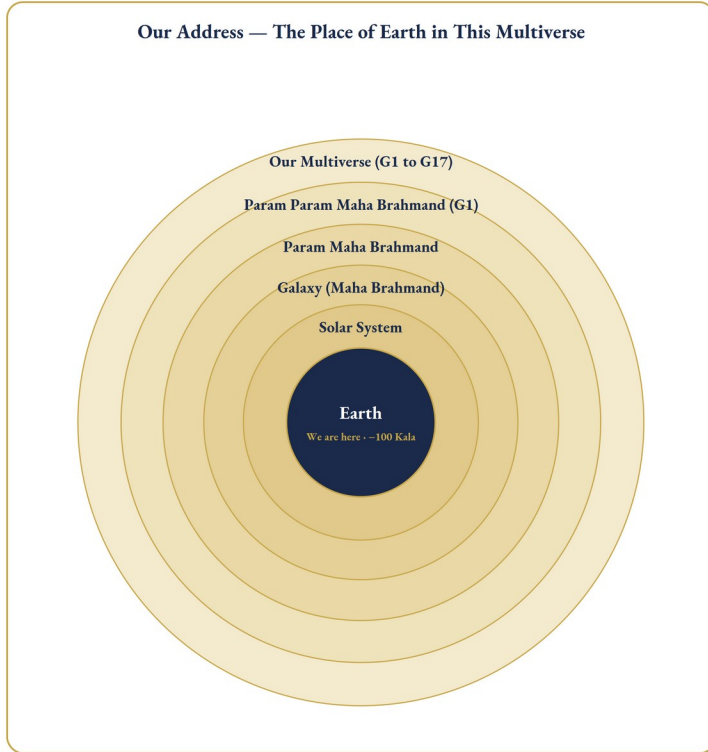

This is not merely a scientific curiosity. It is a spiritual journey to recognise our original form, our power, and our true home. Bapuji says that today’s instruments cannot yet see this Multiverse; to experience it, we must descend deep into spirituality and become one with our own self.

All this knowledge is Bapuji’s, not ours. He has seen it with his divine vision. We are only the medium that conveys it to the reader in its pure form. In this very spirit of “Gyan Daan Mahadaan”, this book is humbly dedicated to all true seekers. May it become a lamp upon the path of knowledge , this is our prayer.

CHAPTER 1

Where Are We Really?

Earth > Solar System > Galaxy > Param Maha Brahmand(universe) > G1–G17 > Multiverse

❖ The place of our Earth in this Multiverse

The very first and deepest question of this book is this — in this infinite creation, where are we really?

We consider our Earth to be very vast; but according to Bapuji's Behad Gyan, this living Multiverse is so unimaginable and infinite that simply to understand the place of our Earth within it, and its diverse dimensions, is itself the beginning of the entire journey.

Earth:-The Lowest Corporeal World

Our Earth is a corporeal world, the most gross and the most dense. Here, cosmic energy and the human body are made of the five elements. This very grossness keeps us bound to this corporeal world, and compared with the higher lokas, the elements here are not as pure and powerful, which is why the percentage of peace here is also the lowest.

Our Address :- Step by Step

According to Bapuji, our address is as follows: our Earth is part of a solar system; that solar system lies within a galaxy; that galaxy is a fragment of a Param Maha Brahmand; countless such Param Maha Brahmands together form one Param Param Maha Brahmand (G1 / Great Universe); and this chain from G1 to G17 together forms our Multiverse. In this infinite structure, we stand on the lowest step.

Where We Are Now? In –100 Kala

Bapuji explains that this entire creation began from a highest, purest state of “100 Kala”. But with time it descended lower and lower, and at present we are in the “–100 Kala” of this Multiverse that is, at the very farthest end from that original, divine state.

Why Can We Not See This Truth?

This is the very reason we cannot see this vast, living Multiverse with our gross eyes and physical instruments.

Only gross elements can be captured by our cameras and telescopes, whereas the world above is of subtle elements and Param light. But this condition is not our final destiny. Further on in this very book, we shall see the complete map of how we came here, and what the path of return is.

✦ Bapuji's Amrit Vachan : At present we are in the –100 Kala of this Multiverse, farthest from that original, higher state; but this is not our final destiny.

CHAPTER 2

The Solar System and Its 14 Lokas

To understand this vast knowledge, we must begin from the smallest unit. The smallest unit of our Multiverse is the solar system, which contains one sun. The planets we see in the sky are made of gross elements; that is why our cameras and telescopes are able to detect them. But this is only half the truth.

Fourteen Lokas in One Solar System

Bapuji explains that each solar system actually contains 14 lokas. Souls of differing Kala dwell in all these lokas. The nine planets we are able to see are only the most gross part of this entire structure. The remaining lokas are subtle, and for this reason they remain hidden from physical sight and from instruments.

Three Kinds of World

To understand this structure, Bapuji describes three kinds of world: the formless (without form), the with-form (having form, yet subtle), and the corporeal (gross or physical).

Our Earth is a corporeal world, where cosmic energy and the human body are made of five elements. As we move towards the higher lokas, the purity and power of the elements keep increasing, and there the percentage of peace also keeps growing.

The Ladder of Lokas

Above the Earth are Bhuvarelok, Swargloka, Maharloka, Janloka, and Taploka. These are worlds of three elements, also called the subtle lokas. Above them is Brahmloka, where Brahma dwells; it is made of three elements and some refined Param (supreme) elements. Above Brahmloka is Vishnupuri, also called the causal world (karan jagat). Above that is Shivratri, made entirely of 100% Param element; here Shiva-Shakti, in their with-form aspect, rule over the entire solar system.

Shiva — The Creator of the Solar System

Bapuji clarifies that Brahma, Vishnu, and Shankar — all these are expressions of Shiva alone. Among them, Shankar is a corporeal form, who dwells in the Himalayas. The highest dimension of this entire solar system is Paramdham, where the formless Shiva resides — who is the creator of this entire solar system.

Where Do the Founders of Religions Live?

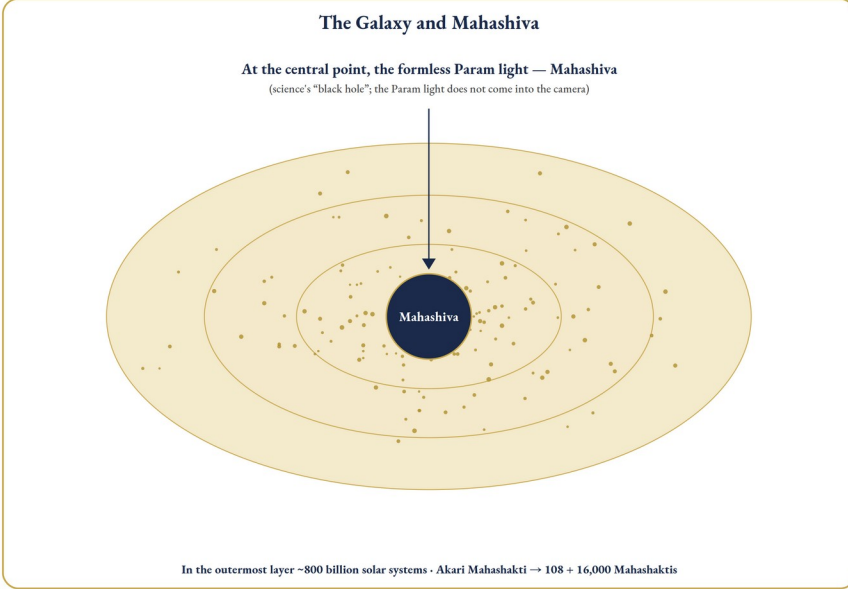

On Earth, the founders, prophets, or gurus of various religions and sects dwell above in their own subtle lokas. They create their own small world in the subtle loka and send avatars to Earth to propagate their religion. But one important point, these personages are not from our solar system; they have come from other solar systems, other galaxies, and even other Param Maha Brahmands (universes).

✦ Bapuji's Amrit Vachan: What is visible in the camera is only the gross part of creation — every solar system has fourteen lokas, and as one ascends higher, the purity of the elements and the peace keep increasing.

CHAPTER 3

The Galaxy (Maha Brahmand) and Mahashiva

Earth > Solar System > Galaxy > Param Maha Brahmand > G1-G17 > Multiverse

❖ The galaxy, and Mahashiva at its centre

Now we move from the solar system towards a larger unit. Of the countless stars we see in the night sky, each single star actually represents a unique solar system. Countless such solar systems together form a galaxy — which in Behad Gyan is called a Maha Brahmand.

Where Are We in Our Galaxy?

Our galaxy is named the “Milky Way” — a spiral shape, with a large centre and curving arms extending from it. Our solar system is situated on one of its small, outer arms (the Orion arm) and takes roughly 225 to 250 million years to complete one orbit of the galactic centre. According to science there are about 200 billion stars in it; according to Behad Gyan there are about 800 billion stars in this Maha Brahmand of ours — that is, 800 billion such worlds, each one of which has its own 14 lokas.

Mahashiva : The Creator of the Galaxy

Within every galaxy there is a creator, called Mahashiva. Mahashiva is formless and dwells at the central point of the galaxy. The entire galaxy is operated by his Param light and power alone. According to Bapuji, the power of Mahashiva ranges from 8 to 12 Kala, whereas that of the Shiva of a solar system is 1 to 4 Kala.

What Is Science’s “Black Hole” Really?

What science calls the “supermassive black hole” at the centre of the galaxy is in truth Mahashiva himself. That place appears black because the Param light of Mahashiva cannot be recorded by the gross scientific cameras made of the five elements.

That Param light which is beyond the grasp of instruments will appear to those instruments as nothing but darkness (dark).

The Structure of the Galaxy — A Glimpse

Bapuji describes the structure of the galaxy from the centre outwards thus: innermost is the Maha Paramdham (Param light); then the formless Mahashiva; then the with-form Mahashiva–Mahashakti; then the 108 and 16,000 Mahashaktis created by Mahashakti; outside them, Maha Vishnu, Maha Brahma, and Maha Indra; and at the very outside, some layers are for the souls (travellers) coming and going from other galaxies and universes. A similar protective structure is found at every higher level.

This entire Maha Brahmand is in fact run by Mahashakti (the primal nature, Mool Prakriti); when a crisis arises, it passes in sequence to Maha Brahma → Maha Vishnu → the 16,000 Mahashaktis, and Mahashiva does not intervene until the problem reaches him. Bapuji also explains that not all Maha Brahmands are the same ; according to the method of creation, they are of many kinds; some have creation up to Shiva-Shakti, Vishnu, and Paramdham, while others are of lower Kala, having creation only up to Brahma or up to Brahma-Vishnu.

Time too moves according to Kala, one moment of Mahashiva equals 100 years of Brahma; and this Maha Brahmand of ours is of about 9 Kala (Power).

♦ Bapuji's Amrit Vachan : What science calls a black hole is Mahashiva; it appears black because its Param light does not come within the grasp of gross instruments.

CHAPTER 4

The Param Maha Brahmand and Param Mahashiva

Earth > Solar System > Galaxy > Param Maha Brahmand > G1-G17 > Multiverse

❖ Infinite galaxies within the Param Maha Brahmand

Above even the galaxy there is another vast unit- the Param Maha Brahmand (universe). Within one Param Maha Brahmand are contained such infinite galaxies, and every galaxy is operated by its own Mahashiva.

Param Mahashiva : The Creator of the Param Maha Brahmand

The creator of the Param Maha Brahmand is Param Mahashiva. He is himself Param light and is the father of infinite Mahashivas. Bapuji explains that the power of Shiva is 1 to 4 Kala, that of Mahashiva 8 to 12 Kala, and that of Param

Mahashiva 16 to 20 Kala that is, as the unit of creation grows larger, the Kala-power of its creator also keeps increasing.

How Did Our Universe Too Descend?

The fascinating thing is that this universe of ours too has descended from a higher, pure state. By the resolve (sankalp) of the formless Param Mahashiva, first 12 souls came into being, who fashioned a vast circle (the Paramdham of the universe). Then, in sequence, 108, 16,000, and 900,000 formless souls (Mahashivas) came into being, this was a world of 16 Kala. Between 16 and 14 Kala, the Moolvatan was formed (20 million souls), where souls began to take form from the formless. From 14 to 9 Kala, 330 million Mahashivas and their Mahashaktis; the Adi-Anadi Mahadev's and Mahadevi's came into being, who fashioned trillions of galaxies of Param element.

After this, from 8 Kala, gross elements began to mix into the Param elements, and this universe, descending lower and lower, came down to 0 Kala and then to -100 Kala, exactly in the same order of descent as that of the entire Multiverse.

Vastness Beyond Imagination

According to Bapuji, the diameter of the whole universe is about 2,400 billion light years, while its centre (Paramdham) is only about 200 light years across, where even today there is a power of about 8 to 10 Kala. And such universes are not alone. Science too (String/M-Theory) confirms that there are about 10^{500} universes.

How Far Has Science Reached So Far?

According to science, the visible universe is about 156 billion light years wide; of this, only a region of about 93 billion light years has so far been analysed, in which about 200 billion galaxies have been found. But even this vast-seeming part is like only a single point within the whole Param Maha Brahmand — in truth, science has not yet discovered even 1% of it.

A Glimpse of Speed (Source: Science)

Motion	Speed
Earth → orbit around the Sun	~29.8 km/s
Sun → orbit around the galactic centre	~220 km/s
Galaxy → orbit around the universe-centre	~600 km/s
Speed of light	~299,792 km/s

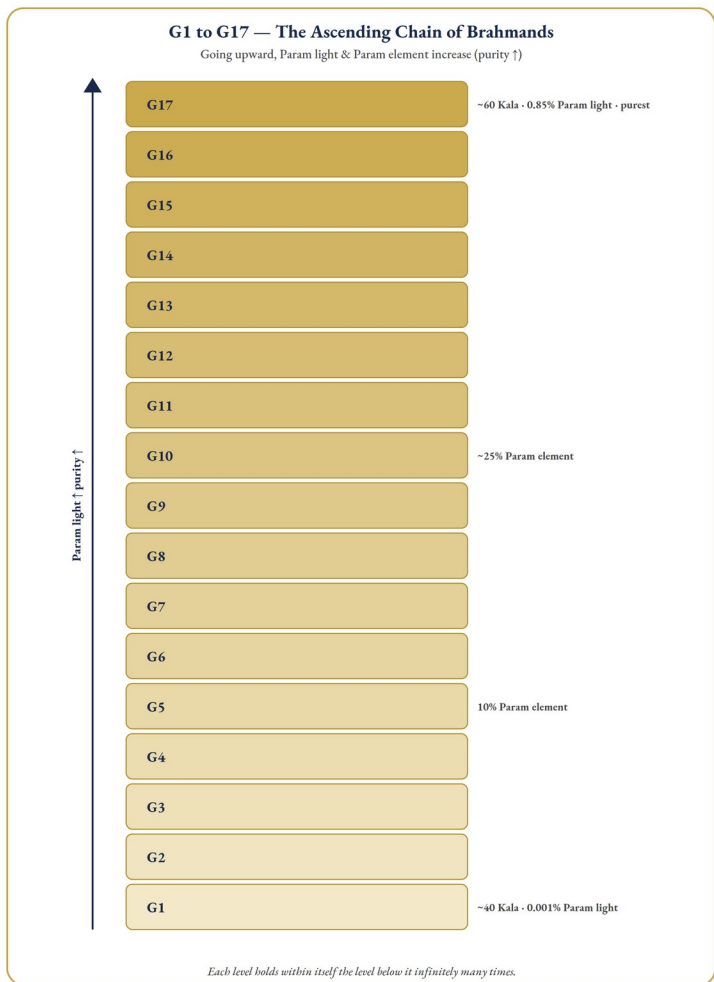

According to Kala, the speed, time, and region of every celestial unit are different.

♦ Bapuji's Amrit Vachan : What science takes to be the entire visible universe is only a single point within one Param Maha Brahmand; not even 1% has yet been discovered.

CHAPTER 5

G1 to G17 — The Chain of Brahmands

Earth > Solar System > Galaxy > Param Maha Brahmand > G1–G17 > Multiverse

❖ G1 to G17 — the ascending chain of increasing purity

Above the Param Maha Brahmand (universe), this chain begins from the Param Param Maha Brahmand, which is called G1 or Great Universe. From here upwards, this chain extends from G1 to G17, and in it each level becomes one step more “Great” than the level below it. Our entire Multiverse is spread across these very levels, from G1 to G17.

G1 to G17 — The Ascending Order

There is a beautiful order in all these levels. The creator of each level resides at its centre as formless Param light, and to its name one more “Param” is added than the level below. Likewise, as we ascend from G1 towards G17, the quantity of Param light and Param element keeps increasing while the gross elements keep decreasing that is, each higher level is closer to its original, pure Param light. This is why G1 is the lowest (about 40 Kala) and G17 is the highest (about 60 Kala) level:

G1 : Great Universe: the Param Param Maha Brahmand; creator, the formless Param Param Mahashiva. Within it revolve infinite Param Maha Brahmands (universes). In the atmosphere, about 0.001% Param light, 1.5% Param element, the rest gross elements.

G2: Great Great Universe: the Param Param Param Maha Brahmand; creator, Param Param Param Mahashiva, who created the G1s. Within it revolve infinite G1s. A special point is our G2 is at the central point of this Multiverse. About 0.01% Param light, 1.5% Param element.

G3 : Great Great Great Universe: creator, the Param Mahashiva formed by adding “Param” four times. Within it revolve infinite G2s. About 0.02% Param light, 2.5% Param element.

G4 : Great Great Great Great Universe: creator, the “Param” Mahashiva five times over. Within it revolve infinite G3s. About 0.06% Param light, 6% Param element.

G5 : Great Great Great Great Great Universe (hereafter only “G5”): creator, the “Param” Mahashiva six times over. Within it revolve infinite G4s. About 0.1% Param light, 10% Param element.

G6 : creator, the “Param” Mahashiva seven times over. Within it revolve infinite G5s. About 0.12% Param light, 12% Param element.

G7 : creator, the “Param” Mahashiva eight times over. Within it revolve infinite G6s. About 0.19% Param light, 19% Param element.

G8 : creator, the “Param” Mahashiva nine times over. Within it revolve infinite G7s. About 0.2% Param light, 20% Param element.

G9 : creator, the “Param” Mahashiva ten times over. Within it revolve infinite G8s. Param light about 0.2–0.25%, Param element 20–25%.

G10 : creator, the “Param” Mahashiva eleven times over. Within it revolve infinite G9s. Param light about 0.25–0.30%, Param element 25–30%.

G11 : creator, the “Param” Mahashiva twelve times over. Within it revolve infinite G10s. Param light about 0.3–0.35%, Param element 31–35%.

G12 : creator, the “Param” Mahashiva thirteen times over. Within it revolve infinite G11s. Param light about 0.36–0.40%, Param element 36–40%.

G13 : creator, the “Param” Mahashiva fourteen times over. Within it revolve infinite G12s. Param light about 0.40–0.50%, Param element 40–50%.

G14 : creator, the “Param” Mahashiva fifteen times over. Within it revolve infinite G13s. Param light about 0.50–0.60%, Param element 50–60%.

G15 : creator, the “Param” Mahashiva sixteen times over. Within it revolve infinite G14s. Param light about 0.61–0.69%, Param element 61–69%.

G16 : creator, the “Param” Mahashiva seventeen times over. Within it revolve infinite G15s. Param light about 0.70–0.80%, Param element 70–80%.

G17 : creator, the “Param” Mahashiva eighteen times over. Within it revolve infinite G16s. This is the highest and purest level of Param light about 0.80–0.85%, Param element 80–85%.

In this way, from the Brahmand (solar system) up to G17, each level holds within itself the level below it infinitely many times, and each step upwards is towards the increasing purity of Param light. Bapuji explains that near the centre of every level there are several layers of protection (108, 16,000, 900,000, 20 million powers, and so on) along with Param Maha Vishnu and Param Maha Brahma, and the outer layers are for the souls coming and going from other Brahmands.

The Kala (Power) of the Creator

Creation	Creator	Kala
Brahmand (solar system)	Shiva	1–4
Maha Brahmand (galaxy)	Mahashiva	8–12
Param Maha Brahmand (universe)	Param Mahashiva	16–20
G1 (Great Universe)	Param Param Mahashiva	25–30
G2 (Great Great Universe)	Param Param Param Mahashiva	50
G17	(eighteen times) Param Mahashiva	60

Note: This is the Kala of the creator. The universe’s own Kala is different — from about 40 for G1 to about 60 for G17.

Who Can Reach Here?

Bapuji explains that a soul possessing the power of 30 to 40 Kalas can travel up to the Great Great Universe (G2), and can take birth in another universe and galaxy. (We shall see the detailed law of the soul’s Kala and journey in the next part.) On the deeper internal structure of these levels, there is limited detail in these discourses, which can be expanded further on the basis of further discourses.

✦ Bapuji’s Amrit Vachan : Our entire Multiverse is spread from G1 to G17 — G1 the ‘Great Universe’, G2 the ‘Great Great Universe’, and onwards in this same ascending order up to G17.

CHAPTER 6

The Whole Multiverse and Its Supreme Creator

Earth > Solar System > Galaxy > Param Maha Brahmand > G1-G17 > Multiverse

Now we arrive at the summit of this journey. All these levels, from G1 to G17, together form our entire Multiverse.

The Multiverse:- A Living Ocean

What science calls the “Multiverse” is only a small point; the real Multiverse is far more vast. And one thing that Bapuji repeats again and again, this entire creation is not dead or inert. Whether it be the solar system, the galaxy, the Param Maha Brahmand, or the levels from G1 to G17, everything is alive. There is life throughout the whole Multiverse.

Who Can See It?

Scientific cameras can see only the world of gross elements; this is why the world of subtle elements and Param light is not visible to them. To experience this entire Multiverse, we must descend deep into spirituality and become one with our own self.

The Creator of the Multiverse:- Param¹⁰⁰ Mahashiva

The creator of this entire Multiverse, Bapuji calls Param¹⁰⁰ Mahashiva. Just as there is the Shiva of the solar system, the Mahashiva of the galaxy, and the Param Mahashiva of the Param Maha Brahmand, in that same sequence, the creator of the Multiverse, taking “Param” a hundredfold, has been called Param¹⁰⁰ Mahashiva. The complete story of this creation we shall see in detail in the next part.

CHAPTER 7

Kala — The Soul’s Power and the Law of the Journey

❖ ILLUSTRATION ❖

The soul’s journey according to Kala

Until now we have seen the map of the Multiverse. But how does the soul travel within this map? Bapuji explains that the journey of every soul depends upon its “Kala”, because Kala is the measure of the soul’s power.

The Soul’s Reach According to Kala

Bapuji explains in detail how far which soul can go. A soul of one or two Kala cannot go even beyond its own solar system, to another solar system. With four to five Kala, a soul can take birth in another solar system within its own galaxy. With twelve to fifteen Kala, it can travel to another galaxy. With twenty to twenty-five Kala, it can emerge from its Param Maha Brahmand and take birth in another Param Maha Brahmand, this is what science calls a “parallel universe”. With thirty to forty Kala, it can reach up to G2 (Great Great Universe / the Param Param Param Maha Brahmand), and a soul of fifty to sixty Kala can roam throughout the entire Multiverse.

The Three Foundations of the Journey :-Power, Knowledge, Resolve

Power alone is not enough. Bapuji explains that the soul’s journey depends on three things: first is the soul’s power (Kala) the capacity to travel; second, knowledge — knowing where to go; and third, resolve (sankalp) — the will to go there. If even one of these is missing, the soul remains where it is. Without a strong resolve, even a powerful soul remains on Earth, within the cycle of birth and death.

♦ Bapuji's Amrit Vachan: Power is the foundation. Upon the basis of power comes knowledge. Upon the basis of knowledge comes desire. And through desire the soul travels wherever it wishes.

Who Are the Aliens?

On this same basis, Bapuji also explains the “aliens”. Aliens are in fact souls coming from very distant Param Maha Brahmands. Groups of powerful souls travel in their subtle form in divine vehicles which people today call UFOs. These vehicles are made of Param element and take only a moment to go from one galaxy to another. Their technology is based on the ether element (akash tattva), which holds immense power because in creation, everything is born from the ether element alone.

CHAPTER 8

How We Came to Earth — Creation and Descent

❖ The descent from 100 Kala to -100 Kala

After understanding our place in this Multiverse and the law of the journey, a natural question arises is how did we reach here? Its answer is hidden in the story of the creation of this Multiverse and then its gradual descent (the coming down).

Param¹⁰⁰ Mahashiva : The Creator of the Multiverse

In the beginning, the creator of this Multiverse, Param¹⁰⁰ Mahashiva, was formless — a sphere filled with Param light. Around this light there is “might”, which is made of the Maha element (the super-supreme element); might means power.

The Beginning of Creation :- The Three Primal Creators (3 Murtis)

As soon as Param¹⁰⁰ Mahashiva resolved upon creation, he drew out 5% of the power from his formless sphere of Param light and fashioned a sphere of Maha power. From this appeared the three primal creators — Param¹⁰⁰ Brahma, Param¹⁰⁰ Vishnu, and Param¹⁰⁰ Shankar; these are called the 3 Murtis. These three further created three souls each, making nine souls in all, the 9 Ratnas. The 9 Ratnas created 27 souls, and these 27 souls of high order set the boundary of a place and sealed it; within this very boundary the Multiverse was created.

The Formless World:- Paramdham and Moolvatan

These 27 souls further created 81, then 243, and in this sequence created souls, and all together made the formless world. This formless world is called Paramdham, which lies between 100 and 90 Kala; here 900,000 formless souls came into being. After this, between 90 and 80 Kala, the Moolvatan was formed, where 20 million souls came into being and souls came into the process of becoming with-form (With Form) from formless (Incorporeal or Formless).

The Souls Taking Form :- 330 Million Param¹⁰⁰ Purush

By the time they reached 60 Kala, 330 million souls in all had become with-form; these are called Param¹⁰⁰ Purush. The environment from 80 to 60 Kala was of the Param air and Param fire elements. By the constant movement of the air element, the body took form and the heart was made; the mind and intellect had already been formed earlier, in the formless state. It is from here that the number “108” also comes (27 + 81). Then these souls manifested from within themselves their own nature (their consort) — such as Shiva’s Shakti, Vishnu’s Lakshmi, Brahma’s Saraswati; thus the total number of souls became 660 million.

The Descent of the Kalas — The Falling Creation

Up to 40 Kala, the souls increased rapidly and began to build vast Brahmands. But because of infinite resolves and creations, the quality of the Param light and Param elements slowly began to decline. On reaching 0 (zero) Kala, these vast Brahmands, losing power, began to fall, and below zero, gross elements began to mix into the Param elements. In –10 Kala there was 10% grossness, in –20 there was 20%, and in this sequence downwards; after –30, the water and earth elements too began to enter the body. Finally, at –100 Kala, the mortal world filled with gross elements, and the human body, came into being.

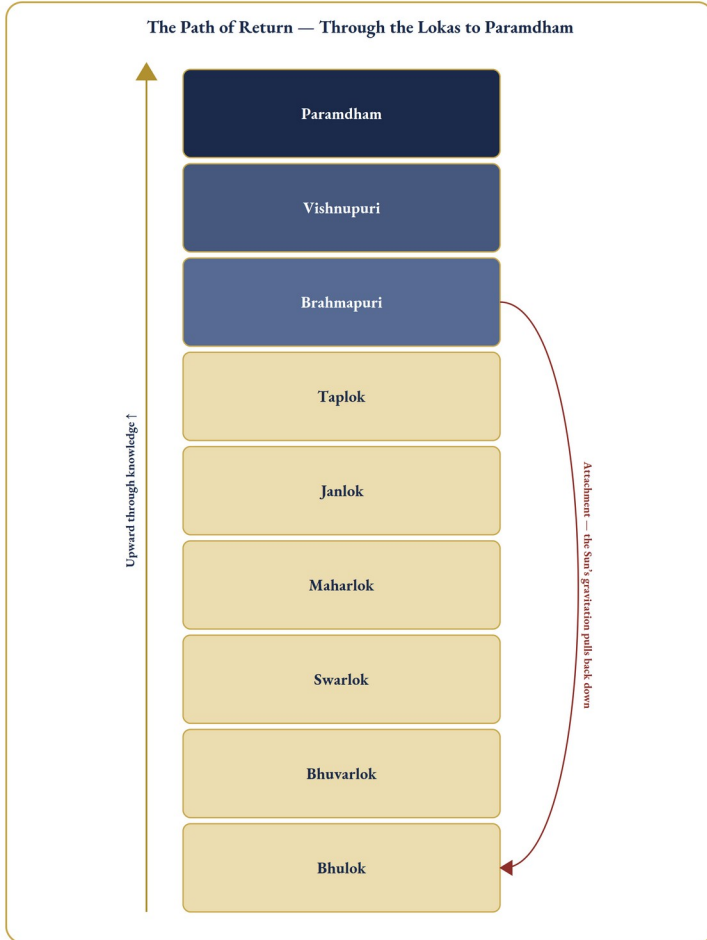

From Angels to Human Beings

Bapuji also explains this descent from another viewpoint. In the beginning, Brahma created angels (farishtas) in the causal world, whose bodies were made of Param element and Param light. These angels created the gods (devtas) in the subtle world, who were made of three elements - ether, air, and fire. Then these gods gradually descended from the subtle world into the gross world and became human beings. And as the power of their soul declined through sinful deeds, they began to take birth as animals, insects, and microscopic creatures. The soul that was once an angel has, after countless ages, today become a tiny creature.

♦ Bapuji’s Amrit Vachan : As infinite resolves kept taking place, the quality of the Param light kept declining and creation descended from 100 Kala to –100 Kala.

CHAPTER 9

The Path of Return - Through the Lokas to Paramdham

❖ The return through the lokas to Paramdham

Until now we have seen how the soul came down. But what is the path to return upwards? This is the very heart of this book.

Knowledge Is Needed for the Return

Bapuji explains that the soul which wishes to return to Paramdham must first have knowledge of the path. But in human form, most souls remain so entangled in Maya and the five gross elements that they do not even know the address of their real home. Even after death, many souls remain bound to their home, family, and property. Bapuji says that the soul which, at the final moment, dwells upon bodily relations, wealth, or material things cannot attain a higher state.

Upwards Through the Lokas

After leaving the gross body, the soul remains in the subtle body of its three elements that is ether, air, and fire. In the subtle world, the good souls of sages and saints give knowledge to other souls, and by that knowledge the soul can travel upwards. This path goes from Bhulok to Bhuvarlok, then Swarglok, then Maharlok and Janlok, then Taplok, and then up to Brahmapuri. If the soul has sufficient power, it can reach even further, up to Vishnupuri.

The Layers of the Elements

Bapuji explains that the soul is always surrounded by the elements of its surrounding environment. In its original form, the soul is a centre of Param light, and around it is the might made of the Maha element. In the higher lokas there are layers of Param element upon it; as it comes down, layers of gross elements — ether, air, fire, and then water and earth settle upon these.

Why Does the Soul Fall Back Again?

Bapuji explains a deep matter. When the soul, having reached up to the sixth and seventh dimension that is Brahmapuri, looks towards the Earth, attachment (moh) towards its creation, its family, its old life may awaken. The gravitation of the Sun reaches up to Brahmapuri and somehow generates this attachment in souls. This very attachment draws the soul back down to take birth again on Earth. Even the souls that reach Paramdham sometimes hesitate to merge into the Param thinking that “if I merge, my own existence will come to an end” and then descend again.

♦ Bapuji's Amrit Vachan : The soul's journey depends upon its thinking. The soul that, with a true heart, desires liberation and does not wish to take birth again rises slowly upwards after death, crosses the causal world, and reaches Paramdham.

PART FOUR

Roadmap: Liberation and the New World

The Final Journey and Supreme Transformation

CHAPTER 10

The Final Journey of Every Soul

The Final Journey — Who Ends Whose

Mahashiva

Mahakaal Pralay — all the Shivas of the whole galaxy

Shiva

Kaal Agni — all the souls of the solar system

Vishnu

the end of the divine souls

No soul can end itself — only its creator. The soul is eternal and indestructible.

❖ Who decides whose final journey

Every soul has a final journey too and Bapuji explains that this is different for every category of soul. The human soul, the animal soul, and the divine soul, the final destiny of each is different.

The Human, Animal, and Divine Soul

If a human soul desires liberation, it must earn it through good deeds and knowledge; after death it crosses the many layers of the subtle and causal worlds and reaches Paramdham. But animal and insect souls have neither free will nor knowledge — which is why this cycle of eighty-four lakh (8.4 million) births is called the “Bhav Sagar” (the ocean of birth and death). It is only in the human birth that the soul receives the intellect to seek its own liberation. The lifespan of the gods too is limited, within a single day of Brahma, the lifespan of a divine soul comes to an end.

Time and the Great Dissolution (Mahapralay)

The journey of every soul is bound by time. When the time ends, Shiva enters the Sun and produces the “Kaal Agni” (the fire of time), and in that fire, in a single moment, the souls of all three worlds — gross, subtle, and causal merge away. At the level of the galaxy, Mahashiva performs the “Mahakaal Pralay” and draws infinite solar systems and their Shivas into himself. Bapuji explains that one day of Brahma equals 8.64 billion years of Earth, and in every moment of Mahashiva’s time, infinite solar systems keep being made and unmade.

Bapuji explains that dissolution does not occur at only one level; just as there is the Maha Kalp Pralay in the solar system (Brahmand) and the Maha Kaal Pralay in the galaxy (Maha Brahmand), so too there are their own dissolutions at the level of the universe and the Multiverse. At every level, its creator gathers up the creation when the time comes.

Who Decides Whose Final Journey?

The final journey of every soul is ultimately decided by its creator. Vishnu decides the end of the divine souls; Shiva decides, of all the souls of this solar system; and Mahashiva, of all the Shivas of the whole galaxy. No soul, however much it may wish, can end its own existence by itself ; only its creator can do so. The soul is eternal, immortal, and indestructible. This is why every human life is exceedingly precious for it is the only vehicle through which the soul can attain knowledge and make its journey of return.

✦ Bapuji’s Amrit Vachan : No soul can bring about its own end, only its creator can end its journey; the soul is eternal and indestructible.

CHAPTER 11

The Almighty Authority and Supreme Transformation

❖ ILLUSTRATION ❖

Liberation, liberation-in-life, and transformation

Now we arrive at the most hopeful part of this entire knowledge that is the supreme transformation.

Who Is the Almighty Authority?

Bapuji explains that there is a supreme authority whom he calls the Almighty Authority, the creator and controller of millions and billions of Multiverses. He is neither Shiva, nor Mahashiva, nor Param Mahashiva; he is at the summit of that chain which, generation upon generation, rises higher and controls countless Multiverses. And in this very age of transformation, he himself has descended upon Earth in the form of an ordinary human being. 108 supreme souls are in search of this Almighty Authority.

Why the Descent (Avataran)?

When souls forget their real identity as to “Who am I? Where have I come from?” then a deep inner thirst for the supreme truth awakens. This is the very age of dharma-glani (the decline of righteousness), when the inner essence of spirituality is slowly forgotten and ritualism comes to dominate over the true experience of peace. It is at such a time that the Supreme (Paramatma), descending into an ordinary human body, reveals the supreme knowledge which helps souls to conquer their vices, to develop divine qualities, and to become gods again from human beings.

Only Our Multiverse :- The World of Death (Mrityulok)

Bapuji explains a deep matter: of the countless Multiverses, it is only in this Multiverse of ours that a creation of elements ;the five gross elements — was made from the Param element, which is why it is here alone that there is the suffering of birth and death. In all the other Multiverses, the soul is everlasting, divine, and immortal. This is the reason our Earth is called “Mrityulok” (the world of death) and this is the very place that must now be transformed.

Mukti, Jeevan-Mukti, and Moksha

Bapuji explains the deep difference between these three. In the path of devotion (Bhakti-Marg), Moksha and Mukti are considered the same, but in the path of knowledge (Gyan Marg) they are different. Mukti means — the soul merging completely into the Param light, losing its separate identity; just as a single drop of water, merging into the ocean, loses its separate existence. But what Bapuji speaks of is Jeevan Mukti that is liberation while living, in which the soul remains in its original form, that is, in its own soul-form (Atma Swarup). The soul’s existence is preserved; it does not merge into the Supreme.

The New 100-Kala World

Bapuji explains that today the Almighty Authority himself has come to change the entire Multiverse. The souls of all the galaxies and Param Maha Brahmands of the Multiverse will attain Mukti; and only 900,000 souls will attain Jeevan Mukti, who will fashion a new world of 100 Kala. This transformation will take place “in a single moment” — this world, filled with ignorance (Tamo Pradhan), will, in one moment, be changed into peace and power.

The Transformation of the Soul Through Knowledge

Bapuji says again and again that it is knowledge alone that changes the soul. This journey of the soul is gradual: jeev → Shiva → Mahashiva → Param Mahashiva → infinite consciousness. And the final journey of every soul depends upon its deeds, its desires, its knowledge, its spiritual power, and its final thoughts at the time of death.

This is the essence of this book: we stand upon the lowest step of this vast, living Multiverse, in –100 Kala. But this is not our final destiny. The path leads inward — towards the soul’s power, knowledge, and spirituality. And at the end of that path awaits a transformed, divine, new world of 100 Kala.

♦ Bapuji’s Amrit Vachan :- The journey of return is true. Mukti and Jeevan Mukti are a reality. You will see that in a very short time this world will change.

Bapuji's Amrit Vachan

- ★ At present we are in the –100 Kala of this Multiverse but this is not our final destiny.
- ★ What is visible in the camera is only the gross part of creation ; every solar system has fourteen lokas.
- ★ What science calls a black hole is Mahashiva; it appears black because its Param light does not come within the grasp of instruments.
- ★ Everything is alive & the whole Multiverse is living; to experience it, one must become one with one's own self.
- ★ Power is the foundation. Upon power rests knowledge, upon knowledge rests desire, and through desire the soul travels wherever it wishes.
- ★ No soul can bring about its own end , only its creator can end its journey.
- ★ The journey of return is true. Mukti and Jeevan Mukti are a reality. In a very short time this world will change.

Glossary

The meanings of the special words appearing in this book are given below. The meaning of all of these is given solely on the basis of Bapuji's own interpretation.

Term	Meaning
Multiverse	The ocean of Brahmands; the largest unit of the entire creation. Our Multiverse has the Param Maha Brahmand-chain from G1 to G17. Science's "Multiverse" is only a single point of this.
Kala	The measure of the soul's power and its qualities. 100 Kala = the original, highest state; -100 Kala = the present fallen state.
light	The soul's original form, which is at its centre. Bapuji refers to it by the English word 'light' itself; it is not translated.
might	The field of power around the light; it is made of the Maha element and means power.
Solar system	The smallest unit of the Multiverse (one sun); it contains 14 lokas. Creator: Shiva.
14 lokas	The fourteen lokas situated in each solar system, in which souls of differing powers dwell.
Nirakari • Akari • Sakari	Three kinds of world — the formless, the subtle-form, and the gross/physical.
Bhuhvarlok • Swarglok • Maharlok • Janlok • Taplok	The subtle lokas above the Earth, made of three elements.
Brahmlok /	The abode of Brahma; a loka made of three elements

Term	Meaning
Brahmapuri	and some Param element.
Vishnupuri	The loka above Brahmlok; also called the causal world (karan jagat).
Shivpuri	A world made of 100% Param element, where Shiva-Shakti, in their with-form aspect, rule over the entire solar system.
Paramdham	The highest dimension of the solar system, where the formless Shiva resides.
Shiva	The creator of the solar system; Brahma, Vishnu, and Shankar are his expressions.
Mahashiva	The creator of the galaxy; formless, at the central point. Science's "black hole" is in fact Mahashiva. Power: 8–12 Kala.
Param Mahashiva	The creator of the Param Maha Brahmand; himself Param light; the father of infinite Mahashivas. Power: 16–20 Kala.
Param¹⁰⁰ Mahashiva	The creator of this Multiverse. Meaning of the name: 'Param' a hundredfold - a name given only for the sake of explanation.
Akari Mahashakti	The with-form aspect manifested by Mahashiva; it created 108 and 16,000 other Mahashaktis.
Galaxy / Maha Brahmand	A galaxy; the unit which contains countless solar systems (~800 billion stars). Behad-Gyan name: Maha Brahmand. Creator: Mahashiva.
Param Maha Brahmand	The unit which contains infinite galaxies (Universe). Creator: Param Mahashiva.
Param Param Maha	The unit which contains infinite Param Maha

Term	Meaning
Brahmand (Great Universe = G1)	Brahmands (universes); this is the first level of the chain, G1. Creator: Param Param Mahashiva.
G1 to G17	The ascending Brahmand-levels of our Multiverse: G1 = Great Universe, G2 = Great Great Universe, G3 = Great Great Great Universe, and onwards in the same order; from G5 to G17 they are written only by code (G5, G6 ... G17).
3 Murtis · 9 Ratnas · 27 souls	The initial souls of creation; the 27 souls set the boundary of the Multiverse and sealed it.
Param¹⁰⁰ Purush	The 330 million withform souls formed up to 60 Kala.
Moolvatan	The world between 90 and 80 Kala (20 million souls); here the process of taking form began.
Sukshma Vatan	That dimension of creation (about 60 Kala) where souls take a distinct subtle form; here 330 million Param Purush come into being.
Param Purush / Adi-Anadi Mahadev	The Mahashiva-souls formed between 14 and 9 Kala in the creation of the universe, who, together with their Mahashaktis, created trillions of galaxies.
Generation	Generation refers to the purity of the Param elements. As the generation increases, so too do the purity and power of the Param elements increase. The power of 101 Kala is called 1 generation, in which the purity and power of the elements are greater than at 100 Kala. As the level of the higher dimensions rises, the generations too keep increasing, and along with them the purity and power of the Param elements keep increasing continuously.
Maha element ·	Respectively, the supreme-most element (might), the

Term	Meaning
Param element · Gross element	elements connected with Param light, and the gross elements found below zero Kala.
Farishta (angel)	A soul of the causal world, whose body is made of Param element and Param light.
Devi-Devta (gods and goddesses)	Souls of the subtle world, made of three elements.
Adi-Anadi	That which has neither beginning nor end; the most ancient.
Bhav Sagar	The cycle of eighty-four lakh (8.4 million) births of birth and death.
Kaal Agni · Mahakaal Pralay	Kaalagni — that is, such a fierce fire as ends even Kaal (time) itself. “Mahashiva, becoming Mahakaal, produces fire and draws infinite-crore (countless) Brahmands into his every pore.”
Mukti	The soul merging completely into the Param light (the loss of separate identity) — the drop merging into the ocean.
Jeevan-Mukti	Liberation while living; the soul becomes the controller of many Multiverses.
Moksha	In the path of devotion, considered the same as mukti; in the path of knowledge, the dissolution of attachment (moh).
Almighty Authority	The supreme controller of millions and billions of Multiverses; neither Shiva, nor Mahashiva, nor Param Mahashiva. Descended upon Earth in this age.
Divine Vision (Divya Drishti)	That spiritual vision of Bapuji by which he saw the entire Multiverse.

Term	Meaning
Behad souls	Highly evolved seekers, who will play a role in changing this mortal world into a divine world.
