ABOUT BAPUJI

Bapuji (full name: Bapuji Dashrathbhai Patel, also lovingly addressed as ‘Dadaji’ by the younger generation) was born in 1956 in the small village of Akhaj in the Mehsana district of Gujarat. He spent his childhood in another village named Ambasan, in the same district.

In the earlier phase of his life he was a highly successful lawyer. Later he devoted his life to realising the supreme spiritual truth and bringing this divine knowledge forward for the welfare of humanity. Today this supreme knowledge serves as a guiding light for true seekers, guiding souls on Earth to return to their original source.

At the age of six he questioned the Divine repeatedly, asking why the suffering of humanity was met with silence. This intense longing to end human suffering led him to attain the highest level of spirituality later in life. As a child he would often encounter subtle world entities on his way home from the fields, and this sparked his interest in communicating with subtle world souls.

In 1997 he established a spiritual institution called Vishwa Parivartak Ishwariya Vidhyalay in Chenpur, Ahmedabad, with the mission of transforming this mortal world into an eternal divine world of immortality. Smt. Sushma Tandon, lovingly known as Maa, worked alongside Bapuji in this divine mission. To accomplish it, he would deliver continuous spiritual discourses for up to eighteen hours without rest.

ABOUT ANANT PATEL

Anant Patel is a spiritual guide, meditation teacher, and an Advocate (Income Tax) by profession, as well as a dedicated medium of the divine knowledge revealed by his father, Bapuji Dashrathbhai Patel. He has devoted his life to making profound spiritual wisdom accessible in a simple, practical, and experiential way for all seekers.

Through his daily live meditation sessions he has guided thousands towards self-realisation, mental stability, and inner peace, having conducted over 1500 live meditation episodes to date. His teachings are rooted in consistent practice, self-discipline, and the direct application of knowledge in everyday life. His words are not merely teachings — they are reminders. Reminders to return to oneself, to reconnect with the soul, and to experience that Param Shanti which is the true nature of the self.

— by Bapuji Dashrathbhai Patel

This book carries one conversation — between an eleven-year-old boy named Nachiketa and Yamraj, the devta of death. It is preserved in the Kathopanishad, an ancient Adhyatmik Granth belonging to the Yajurveda.

The boy asked what almost nobody asks. What happens after death? Does the atma continue, or does it end? Yamraj offered him gold, kingdoms and long life so that he would drop the question. The boy refused all of it. He wanted only the truth.

These pages carry that dialogue in full, and also what is rarely told — the three years Nachiketa spent afterwards in the ashram of the Yamacharya, and the discipline through which his mann was purified until it became atma. The closing chapters add Bapuji’s Behad Gyan, which shows what the atma actually is and how Behad ka Yog can be practised today.

Nothing has been added from outside. Every teaching here comes from the discourses of Anant Patel and the knowledge of Bapuji Dashrathbhai Patel. Our work has been only to arrange it and keep the language simple, so that a reader meeting this knowledge for the first time can follow every page in one reading.

CHAPTER ONE

The Granth That Holds the Secret of Death

Every human being carries one question. What happens after death?

The answer is preserved in the Kathopanishad. It is an Upanishad — an ancient Adhyatmik Granth — Spiritual scriptures — that carries the highest spiritual knowledge. It sits inside the Yajurveda, one of the four Vedas.

Its main portion is a conversation. On one side is a boy named Nachiketa. On the other side is Yamraj, the devta of death. This is the Yam–Nachiketa Samvad. Samvad means dialogue.

The Samvad stays on three subjects. The mystery of death. The true nature of the atma, the soul. And the path to moksha, freedom from the wheel of birth and death.

This knowledge is very old. These events belong to the first and second parardh of Brahma. A parardh is half of Brahma's lifespan. The first parardh has already passed. We are inside the second, and one hundred and ninety-eight crore years of it have passed.

Every line of it is param satya — the supreme truth. Our capacity to understand may be small. The truth itself does not shrink.

ANANT PATEL INSIGHT

सत्य हमेशा प्रासंगिक ही होता है।

Satya hamesha prasangik hi hota hai.

Truth is always relevant.

IN SIMPLE WORDS

- The Kathopanishad is a sacred Granth inside the Yajurveda.
- It holds the dialogue of Nachiketa and Yamraj.
- Its subjects are death, the atma, and moksha.

CHAPTER TWO

A Yajna and a Boy's Question

In ancient times the Vedas were studied aloud. Rishis lived in ashrams and taught many students there.

A great maharishi named Vajashrava lived in those days. He knew the Vedas. He was learned and of fine character. He had one son, Nachiketa.

The maharishi performed the Vishvajit yajna, a sacred fire offering. He took a vow. In this yajna he would give away everything he owned.

At the end he gave away all his cows as dakshina, the offering made to those who perform the rites. He felt satisfied.

His son did not. The cows were old and weak. To the boy, giving weak cows brought no benefit to anyone. He thought plainly — Father is making a mistake, and as his son I must correct it.

Nachiketa went to him and spoke. The old cows you have given are in no condition to be given to anyone.

The maharishi answered, I vowed to give away all my wealth. The cows are also my wealth. If I do not give them, my yajna stays incomplete.

The boy replied with his own principle. In daan one should give what is useful to the one who receives it.

Then he asked, I am also your son. To whom will you give me?

The maharishi stayed silent. Nachiketa repeated the question again and again. At last the maharishi grew angry and said, go — I give you to Yamraj.

In that age, once a word left the mouth it could not be taken back. Nachiketa decided he must make his father's word true. He thought further — if I do not do this, my father's honour will not remain.

He asked permission and left. The maharishi thought long, hardened his heart, and allowed him to go. The boy set out towards Yamlok, which lies above the earth realm.

IN SIMPLE WORDS

— Nachiketa's father gave away old, weak cows in his yajna.

- The boy said a gift must be useful to the one who receives it.
- His father, in anger, gave him to Yamraj — and he went.

CHAPTER THREE

Three Days at the Door of Death

A living boy reached the realm of death. His lifespan was not over, so the yamdoots paid him no attention. Yamraj himself was away.

Nachiketa sat at the door for three days and three nights. He took no food and no water.

When Yamraj returned he was troubled. A guest had come whose time of death had not arrived. That guest had waited three days without food or water.

Yamraj said to him, you have stayed three days without food and performed tap for me. Tap is deep spiritual effort held with discipline. Therefore ask me for three boons. Whatever you ask, I shall give.

Nachiketa was only eleven years old. But he had already reached the state of atma-gyan in earlier births, and he carried those sanskars with him. Sanskars are the deep impressions a soul carries from birth to birth. That is why, in this birth too, he moved straight towards atma-gyan and Brahm-gyan.

For the first boon he asked that his father's anger be finished. On his return, his father should see him and receive peace. Yamraj accepted and gave his word.

For the second boon he asked for the Agni Vidya. It is the knowledge of the sacred fire by which swarga is attained. He asked for it so that he could do good for people.

Yamraj gave him that knowledge, and with it a blessing. A fire would carry the boy's own name. It is called the Nachiketa Agni. The one who knows this fire attains a place in swarga lok.

Two boons were given easily. The third was different.

IN SIMPLE WORDS

- Nachiketa waited three days without food or water.
- Yamraj saw this as tap and offered him three boons.
- The first two were peace for his father and the Agni Vidya.

CHAPTER FOUR

The Question Yamraj Did Not Want to Answer

Now the boy asked what the whole world still asks.

He said, I have heard that the atma is ajar amar — never ageing, never dying. The wheel of birth and death keeps turning, but the atma is never born and never dies. What is the secret of this death and this birth? Is there a way to come out of this wheel?

He put it more directly. What happens after death? Does the atma stay alive, or does it finish? Some say a person continues. Some say existence is over. You are the devta of death, so I ask you.

This is the question inside every one of us. A person leaves the body — where does he go? What is the energy that departs, so that what remains is called a dead body? Everything is still there, and yet something has gone. In the Gita, Bhagavan Krishna called it the atma. In the shastras it is also called chetna, the light of Brahm, the divya jyoti.

Yamraj did not want to answer. He told the boy why. This knowledge is not even with the devtas. So I cannot give it to you.

Then he made his offer. In place of this, take gold. Take elephants and chariots and every pleasure of the earth. Take long life. Take sons who will live a hundred years. Take the rule of the whole earth. Take the kingship of swarga. Only do not ask this question.

Nachiketa did not move. He answered, all these pleasures are temporary. They cannot take me towards moksha. I want only the truth.

He explained further. You may give me a hundred years of life. You may give me the rule of this earth for one kalp. One day it still ends. I do not want temporary things. I want to become amar — immortal. Amar means amrit, the nectar. And amrit means Brahm-gyan.

ANANT PATEL INSIGHT

ये सभी सुख अस्थायी है और मुझे मोक्ष की ओर नहीं ले जा सकते।

Ye sabhi sukh asthai hai aur mujhe moksh ki or nahi le ja sakte.

All these pleasures are temporary. They cannot take me towards moksha.

IN SIMPLE WORDS

- The third boon was the secret of death itself.
- Yamraj offered wealth, long life and kingdoms instead.
- Nachiketa refused. All of it ends. He wanted only Brahm-gyan.

CHAPTER FIVE

Why Most People Never Ask

Why does almost nobody ask what this boy asked? The reason is Maya — the covering of illusion spread over this world.

Bhagavan Vishnu, who sustains this earth, spread Maya here. It was spread so that souls of asuric nature would not reach this knowledge. Those who fall deep into Maya are the asurs, and they will have no interest in gyan at all.

The devtas stand differently. When they come to earth as human beings they turn towards this knowledge, because they have taken amrit. This knowledge is meant for them.

So Maya works as a filter. When Maya sits in the buddhi, the intellect, knowledge does not enter. A person who lives only to eat, drink and enjoy cannot sit for even half an hour of bhajan. He cannot listen to gyan.

This is why Yamraj first offered a kingdom. He was testing whether Maya had any hold on the boy.

The warning for us is direct. If we keep gripping worldly pleasures, the buddhi keeps returning to them. Then the path of truth slips out of sight. To enter adhyatm, the spiritual life, Maya must be released and the buddhi made steady. We have to move continuously in one direction.

And this life is lived practically. It is not that one takes out half an hour on one day and becomes spiritual. It depends on daily practice — how much time is given to dhyan, to yog, to the contemplation of gyan.

ANANT PATEL INSIGHT

जब माया बुद्धि में होती है तो ज्ञान समझ में नहीं आता है।

Jab Maya buddhi mein hoti hai to gyan samajh mein nahi aata hai.

When Maya sits in the intellect, knowledge is not understood.

IN SIMPLE WORDS

- Maya was spread so that asuric souls would not reach this knowledge.
- When Maya fills the buddhi, gyan cannot enter.
- Spiritual life is built by daily practice, not by one half-hour.

CHAPTER SIX

The Atma Is Never Born and Never Dies

Yamraj was moved by the boy's firmness. Then he gave the answer.

He said a shlok, and its meaning is this. The atma is never born and never dies. It is eternal, unborn and indestructible.

This teaching came before Bhagavan Krishna gave the Gita gyan on earth. Yamraj gave it because he knew it directly.

Then he placed the atma beyond the senses. It cannot be seen. It cannot be touched. But through dhyan and atma-gyan it can be experienced.

And he answered the question about death. Death is only the end of the body. It is not the end of the atma. The atma leaves one body and enters another. This continues until it attains moksha.

Nachiketa then asked what the atma is in itself. Yamraj answered — with the destruction of the body, the jeevatma is not destroyed. The jeevatma is the soul while it is joined to a body.

The atma has nothing to do with enjoyment. It has nothing to do with the perishable, changing, inert body. The atma is anant, endless. It is anadi, without beginning. It is free from every defect. It has no cause and no effect — that is, it is neither born nor does it die.

Body and atma are separate. The jeevatma that runs after enjoyment stays tied to the inert body. It remains in a bhog yoni — a birth of consumption. The moment it comes out of that, the atma stands in its pure state.

ANANT PATEL INSIGHT

आत्मा ना कभी जन्म लेती है ना मरती है।

Aatma na kabhi janm leti hai na marti hai.

The atma is never born and never dies.

ANANT PATEL INSIGHT

मृत्यु केवल शरीर का अंत है आत्मा का नहीं।

Mrityu keval sharir ka ant hai, atma ka nahi.

Death is only the end of the body, not of the atma.

Nachiketa asked whether the atma dies, or whether it kills. Yamraj answered without softening it.

Those who believe that the atma dies, or that the atma kills, do not know the atma. They are wandering. Their words should be set aside. The atma neither dies, nor can it kill anyone.

We hear the opposite claim often. Some people announce that they will kill a soul, or finish a soul, or free a soul this very moment. Understand it clearly. No soul can be killed in this way. And no soul can kill another soul. Nobody has that power.

This is not opinion. It is the direct answer of Yamraj in the Kathopanishad.

ANANT PATEL INSIGHT

ना आत्मा को मारा जा सकता है, ना ही आत्मा दूसरी आत्मा को मार सकती है।

Na atma ko mara ja sakta hai, na hi atma dusri atma ko mar sakti hai.

The atma cannot be killed, and one atma cannot kill another atma.

IN SIMPLE WORDS

- The atma is eternal, unborn and indestructible.
- Death ends only the body. The atma moves to another body.
- The atma does not die, and it cannot kill.
- Nobody can destroy a soul or force its liberation.

CHAPTER SEVEN

The City of Eleven Gates

Nachiketa asked how Brahm is known and seen through this very body. Yamraj answered with a picture.

The human body is like a city with eleven gates. Two eyes. Two ears. Two nostrils. The mouth. The two lower openings. The navel. And the brahmarandhra at the crown of the head.

That city is the city of Brahm. And the one who lives there dwells in the heart of the human being.

Then he gave the fruit of this understanding. The one who understands this secret, and who does dhyan and chintan upon it, has no sorrow of any kind. Chintan is steady, focused reflection. Such people, after death, become free even from the bondage of birth and death.

One point must be made clear here. What is described as living in the heart is the atma, the chetna. The word atma is not used in that line — perhaps it was not in use at that time. But the subject is the atma.

Nachiketa then asked how Paramatma is said to live in the heart. Yamraj said the human heart is the place for attaining Brahm. The human being is considered eligible to attain Paramatma. The heart is of the measure of a thumb. Following that measure, Brahm too is spoken of as thumb-sized. Here again, in reality the atma is being spoken of.

Then came the instruction that must be lived. The person who accepts that the Divine dwells in his own heart accepts one thing more. Brahm is seated in the same way in the hearts of others. Therefore one should stay away from ill-will towards others, and from fault-finding.

IN SIMPLE WORDS

- The body is a city of eleven gates, and it is the city of Brahm.
- The one who dwells in the heart is the atma.
- The Divine is equally in every other heart — so drop ill-will.

CHAPTER EIGHT

One Rain, Many Streams

Nachiketa asked what happens to a person who does not know the knowledge of atma and Paramatma. Yamraj answered with a picture from nature.

Rain water is one. But when it falls on high mountains it does not stay in one place. It flows downward. On the way it changes into many colours, many forms, many smells.

In the same way, devs, asurs and human beings are all born from one Paramatma. Yet they hold the Divine to be different, and worship differently, each according to his own idea. And like that rain water, sur and asur keep wandering through many yonis. A yonis is a category of birth.

Where did the difference come from? When Shiv made this creation, He did not make anyone an asur. All the souls were equal at the source.

The change came from the souls themselves. They moved into different yonis by their own buddhi and their own karma. Their thoughts and their different desires took them there.

The devtas and the danavs show this. Both were the children of rishis — the sons of one rishi, born through Diti and Aditi. As time passed, their lines went further apart. Their thoughts changed. Their feelings changed. And so their destinations changed.

Nachiketa asked why the atma receives its next birth, and which births it receives. The answer is the law of karma, stated plainly.

Paap and punya are formed from good and bad actions. They are also formed from what a person sees and hears. This comes through the shastras and the company of a guru. It also comes through education, and through his dealings in the world. Paap means wrongdoing. Punya means merit.

On the basis of these, the atma receives a new birth as a human being or as an animal.

Those who commit very great paap take birth in other yonis as well. They are born beyond human and animal forms. They become trees and plants, mountains and rivers.

This is exactly so. The shastras carry the examples. The father of Parvati Mata is known by the name of the Himalaya mountain. And many devtas appeared in the form of trees and plants.

IN SIMPLE WORDS

- One rain splits into many streams of different colour and form.
- All souls came from one source, but their own karma took them apart.
- Paap and punya decide whether the next birth is human or animal.
- Very heavy paap leads to birth as trees, mountains or rivers.

CHAPTER NINE

Where Brahm Appears, and What Remains

Nachiketa asked what Brahm is like, and where and how He appears.

Yamraj said that Brahm is entirely apart from the qualities of nature. He is the devta who manifests by Himself. His name is Vasu. He is the one who comes to our homes as a guest. In the yajna, the sacred fire is He, and the one who offers into it is also the Vasu devta.

All human beings are established in the great devtas and the pitras. They are established in akash and in satya. Pitras are the ancestor souls. Akash is the ether element. Satya is truth.

And He appears everywhere. In water, as the fish and the conch. On the earth, as trees and plants. As the sprout, the grain and the healing herb. In the mountains, as the rivers and the waterfalls. And as the very fruit of the yajna. In this way Brahm is the pratyaksha dev — the Divine directly present before the eyes.

Here Brahm means Shiv. Shiv Himself is held to be Brahm. The same teaching stands in the Gita, where Krishna said that He Himself is present everywhere.

Nachiketa then asked what is left in the body after the atma has gone. Yamraj answered — when the atma leaves, the pran and the knowledge of the senses leave along with it. Pran is the life-force.

Then what remains in the dead body? To the eye, nothing. But that Parabrahm remains in that body — the one who is present in every conscious and every inert being.

So the atma goes, and the body of the five great elements stays behind. Paramatma is everywhere — here, there, in every place — and so a portion of Parabrahm remains present even there. But of the atma itself, nothing is left in that body.

IN SIMPLE WORDS

- Brahm manifests by Himself and appears throughout all of nature.
- Here Brahm means Shiv.
- When the atma leaves, the pran and sense-knowledge leave with it.

CHAPTER TEN

Aham Brahmasmi and the Pranava

Now Yamraj came to the highest point of the Samvad. He told the boy who he actually is.

Yamraj said, Aham Brahmasmi. It means: I am Brahm. The atma and Brahm are one and the same. There is no difference between them. The final goal of the atma is to attain oneness with Brahm.

Then he gave the path. Moksha is reached through dhyan, through sanyam, and through atma-sakshatkar. Sanyam is self-restraint. Atma-sakshatkar is direct realisation of the self. This is what frees the atma from the wheel of birth and death.

Nachiketa asked one thing more. What is atma-gyan, and what is the nature of Paramatma? He asked about the Paramatma-tattva. It stands free of dharma and adharma. It is apart from cause and effect, and apart from nature. It is beyond past, future and present.

Yamraj gave him the Pranava as the symbol-form of Parabrahm.

He said this. The imperishable Pranava is the very form of Paramatma. Among all the supports for reaching Paramatma, the Pranava is the highest and the final one. All the Vedas, in many kinds of verses and mantras, reveal this same secret. In this world, to take shelter in this name and this form of Paramatma is the best means of all.

Bapuji explains what the Pranava stands for. It is A, U and M — Brahma, Vishnu and Shankar. It is their symbol, spoken in symbolic language. And the same Pranava is the form of Parabrahm, and the form of Shiv.

Why does a name carry such weight? Because a name gives the mann something to hold. On the support of a name, the mann becomes one-pointed.

Knowing this vidya, Nachiketa became free of bondage and attained moksha. Yamraj blessed him that he would attain moksha within that very life.

ANANT PATEL INSIGHT

आत्म स्वरूप और ब्रह्म स्वरूप एक ही है।

Atma-swaroop aur Brahm-swaroop ek hi hai.

The form of the self and the form of Brahm are one and the same.

This is a practice, not a theory. In ancient times the Pranava was used widely to go deep into meditation. By sounding it, a person can become nirsankalp — free of all thought-waves.

When it is sounded, a vibration rises from within. A tone comes out. An energy comes out. That vibration stops all the waves of the mann.

The method is bhramari pranayam. Close the ears with the thumbs. Place three fingers of each hand over the eyes, resting above the eyebrows. Then sound the Pranava inwardly. Do this more than ten times. The mann will begin to become steady.

It is needed most by those whose yog does not set. It is for those who are made unhappy by their own thoughts. It is for those whose thoughts do not stop, and whose mann does not become quiet.

Students who sit down to study should begin with this sound. The mann becomes one-pointed, and the same benefit comes that follows rising at four in the morning to practise.

One instruction must be followed. Do it with the eyes closed, never open. With open eyes, energy increases in whatever is being seen.

Use it whenever the mann is low, or a mood must be changed. Use it whenever thoughts must be stopped. Use it whenever you wish to turn yourself in a different direction.

ANANT PATEL INSIGHT

प्रणव की ध्वनि करते करते मनुष्य निरसंकल्प बन सकता है।

Pranava ki dhwani karte karte manushya nirsankalp ban sakta hai.

By sounding the Pranava again and again, a person can become free of all thought-waves.

IN SIMPLE WORDS

- Aham Brahmasmi — I am Brahm. The atma and Brahm are one.
- The path is dhyan, self-restraint and realisation of the self.
- The Pranava is the final support for reaching Paramatma.

— Sound it inwardly, more than ten times, with the eyes closed.

CHAPTER ELEVEN

The Three Years with the Yamacharya

Most people know only the first half of this katha. What followed is rarely told.

Nachiketa stayed three days in Yamlok. Time does not run the same way there. Those three days were three years of earth time. He stayed there to learn Brahm-gyan, and he had to struggle greatly. He lived a disciplined life that brought purity of body and of mann. Only then did the Yamacharya, his guru, give him the secret knowledge.

The first year was about food. The guru's wife could not bear it. She said, Nachiketa is only a boy. Months have gone by, and he has eaten nothing but curd and dry barley rotis. Other students eat food with taste. Even our own children do. Why this hardness only with him?

The Yamacharya answered, Devi, you do not know. This itself is the means of attaining the atma, of attaining Brahm. Sadhana is called a war. In a war even your own life can be in danger. It is not necessary that victory will be obtained.

He explained the reason. Brahm is virat — vast. Brahm is extremely pure. Brahm is of the nature of fire. If the body is not capable, how will Nachiketa hold it?

Then he gave his comparison. A small piece of wood cannot lift a load of ten man. It breaks. But an iron rod of the same size — heated, pressed and beaten — lifts fifty man.

The food discipline had one exact purpose. The annamaya kosh is the outermost layer of a human being, built from food. This anna sanskar removes impure matter, disease and foreign substances from it. Cleaning it makes a person fit for atma-sakshatkar. It is as hard as walking on the edge of a blade. Only a brave seeker of the self can do it.

The anna sanskar ran for one full year.

Then came pranayam — pranakarshan, lom-vilom, surya bhedan, ujjayi, nadi shodhan, agnisar, bhastrika. Pranayam is the disciplined control of the breath. The boy's face gained brightness, but his food kept reducing.

Guru Mata objected again. The Yamacharya answered, a disciple is greater than one's own son. Nachiketa carries an intense hunger for the self. He can bear every difficulty of the sadhanas of self-welfare. That is why we are teaching him the Panchagni Vidya. The coming generations must not become fearful and weak. And this atma-vidya must not be lost.

Then he answered about the shrinking food. Yes, his food has become less. But pran itself is food. The atma is of the nature of fire. It is pran, and it is full of light. It is strengthened by pranayam, and from this itself he receives every nourishment.

And he gave the rule. The manomaya kosha is the layer of the mann. For its control, this refinement of the pran layer is not merely necessary. It is compulsory.

One full year passed in this pran sadhana. The line to hold from it is this — the pran is inside the atma itself. That pran shakti is in our own atma.

ANANT PATEL INSIGHT

साधना को समर कहते हैं।

Sadhana ko samar kahate hain.

Sadhana is called a war.

ANANT PATEL INSIGHT

प्राण स्वयं ही आहार है।

Pran swayam hi aahar hai.

Pran itself is food.

IN SIMPLE WORDS

- Three days in Yamlok were three years on earth.
- One year of simple food purified the outermost layer.
- One year of pranayam refined the pran layer — and pran itself is food.

CHAPTER TWELVE

The Death of the Mann

The third stage was the hardest. It was not about the body at all.

The Yamacharya now gave Nachiketa the practice of completing every sankalp of the mann. Sankalp is a thought-intention that the mann generates.

When Nachiketa slept, the memories of past births rose by themselves. They came from the subconscious mann onto the screen of his dreams. Among them were acts of paap — acts that bring atma-glani, deep self-remorse, when they surface. He had to tell his guru every one of them.

The Yamacharya said, atma-glani is nothing else. It is only the sanskars of the paaps of past births. Then he asked the question that explains the whole discipline. Atma-vedhan means piercing through to the atma. Until the mann becomes completely pure, from where will the strength for it come?

Do not hold only the dream part of this. In dreams these memories certainly come. But a person carries them into waking life too. When he acts in his conscious mind, the sanskars and actions of past births remind him of themselves. If somebody was a beggar in a past birth, that sanskar will not simply leave him in this birth.

So these memories come in sleep and in waking, at any time, in any way. You cannot run from them. We know only three states — waking, deep sleep, and samadhi. And very few reach samadhi.

For the purification of the manomaya kosh, Nachiketa had to perform all the prayaschit sadhanas of that age. Prayaschit means atonement. The hardness increased step after step. The Yamacharya did not waver. He knew the cost of breaking the knots of the atma and bringing it into the open.

Three years passed. Nachiketa knew no pleasure of life. He purified the body, and the body became weak. He learned the vidya of controlling the prans, and through it the mann became weak. The mann almost died. He conquered the manomaya kosh.

Now he was free of sankalp and vikalp — free of thought-intentions and of the doubts that follow them. In this state he could send his mann into the brahmarandhra. He could search the secrets of the subtle world, and reach the atma to awaken it.

Pressing the mann downward, he began to pierce the agya chakra, the centre between the eyebrows. A faint glimpse would come of the vast form of vidya-rupini Mahakali — knowledge itself in living form. Seeing it, his mann would tremble. But the next moment a call would rise from his antahkaran, his innermost being. Mann, even if these pleasures are obtained, how long can the senses taste them? You — choose that imperishable, beginningless atma.

ANANT PATEL INSIGHT

जब तक मन नितांत शुद्ध नहीं हो जाता, तब तक आत्म वेधन का मनोबल कहां से आएगा?

Jab tak mann nitant shuddh nahi ho jata, tab tak atma-vedhan ka manobal kahan se aayega?

Until the mann becomes completely pure, from where will the strength come to pierce through to the atma?

ANANT PATEL INSIGHT

आत्मग्लानी और कुछ नहीं, पूर्व जन्मों के पापों के संस्कार मात्र है।

Atma-glani aur kuchh nahi, purva janmon ke paapon ke sanskar matra hai.

Self-remorse is nothing else — it is only the sanskars of the paaps of past births.

In the fourth year came the day that everything had been preparing for.

It was the spring season. Four years of fierce tap had left the body thin. That day was the appointed day to awaken the Kundalini seated at the Muladhar. The Muladhar is the base centre of the body. The Kundalini is the coiled power sleeping there.

Gathering one pran into another, Nachiketa reached the Muladhar. He struck the blow of his sankalp upon that adi shakti, lying merged in long sleep. There was no effect. So he struck again, harder. Then harder still.

Then that power rose. It rose with a hiss, and it burnt away the gross state of Nachiketa's mann.

That day his mann remained no longer. It became atma. His worldly desires burnt completely. He became a rishi.

Now he stood close to Brahm-prapti. He could meet Brahm at any moment. Yet he did not stop there. He took a sankalp for the uplift of his country, his dharma and his culture, and set out. He spread the Panchagni Vidya through the world and earned the credit of an immortal sadhana.

This is the teaching to hold. Only after the mann was finished did his atma-swaroop awaken.

ANANT PATEL INSIGHT

नचिकेता का आज मन न रहकर आत्मा हो गया।

Nachiketa ka aaj mann na rahkar atma ho gaya.

That day Nachiketa's mann remained no longer — it became atma.

IN SIMPLE WORDS

- Past-birth memories rose in his dreams as acts of paap.
- The mann must become completely pure before the atma can be reached.
- The Kundalini rose and burnt the gross state of his mann.
- Only after the mann was finished did his true form awaken.

CHAPTER THIRTEEN

The Layers Over Your Bhagya

Now to our own life. Imagine one object in your hand, with cover after cover placed over it, layer upon layer.

The object underneath is your bhagya — your destiny. The layers on top are made of your karma and your thoughts.

As time passes, one layer at a time comes off. Each time a layer lifts, the fruit of that karma comes in front of you.

Here is where you enter. New layers keep forming and old sanskars keep surfacing. Using your free will, you place new power and new light on top of them. You keep building pure chetna. A day comes when every layer has come off. Then you stand as param prakash, supreme light.

This is not something new. It is what you already are. Your bhagya is the account-book of your karma. Once every layer comes off that account-book, your original form remains — sat-chit-anand swaroop, truth and bliss. That is your real bhagya.

The Divine gave that same bhagya to everyone. Everyone was made Param Purush. After that, some became purush, some jeev, some Shiv, some atma, some Paramatma, some dev, some danav. But your bhagya is in your own hand. What you must remember is this — you are that same supreme truth.

Five things decide most of what happens in a human life. Kaam, krodh, lobh, moh, ahankar — desire, anger, greed, attachment and pride. These five vikars are the enemies of a human being. A vikar is a defect that pulls the soul downward.

Sanskars will emerge. Feelings will rise in the mann. That much will happen. But controlling that feeling is your work, and that work is exactly what purusharth means.

So as the layers of karma keep lifting, stay in the state of dhyan and yog. Face what comes. Do not react. Do not provoke. Then the fruit of karma comes and finishes, and through atma-gyan your bhagya awakens.

ANANT PATEL INSIGHT

भाग्य तुम्हारे कर्म का लेखाजोखा है।

Bhagya tumhare karm ka lekha-jokha hai.

Your destiny is the account-book of your karma.

IN SIMPLE WORDS

- Your bhagya lies under layers made of karma and thought.
- With free will you place new light and new sanskar on top.
- Face karma without reaction, and it comes and finishes.

CHAPTER FOURTEEN

The Voice Inside You

Nachiketa was pulled back again and again by a voice inside him. That same voice is inside you.

The antahkaran is the voice of the atma. But your antahkaran is whatever you have filled into it.

A wrong desire rises in the mann, and the mann says — do only this, this alone is the truth. Why does it speak that way? Because the chitt is impure. You yourself have filled untruth inside it. So your own antahkaran pushes you towards paap.

Now the other side. Suppose the antahkaran has been filled with gyan and has awakened. Then, when the thought of doing wrong rises, that same voice says — stop. This morning we stood before the Divine. How will we now do this?

So the work is clear. Purify what goes in. Then the voice that comes out will be the voice of the atma.

And what purifies? Pranayam purifies the manomaya kosh, the layer of the mann. For the purification of the chitt, the deeper store of impressions, the food is gyan.

Gyan does real work. By listening to gyan, our paaps are destroyed. By listening to gyan, the sanskars of our past births are destroyed. By experiencing gyan and holding the atma-swaroop, the bondage of karma comes to an end. Day after day we become jeevan mukt — liberated while still living.

ANANT PATEL INSIGHT

अंतःकरण आत्मा की आवाज है।

Antahkaran atma ki awaaz hai.

The antahkaran is the voice of the atma.

ANANT PATEL INSIGHT

ज्ञान एक खोराक है।

Gyan ek khorak hai.

Gyan is food.

There is one method for sorrow, and it comes from the way a dream ends.

A person is dreaming. In the dream, men are chasing him to strike him. He is in great distress, running and running. How will he get out of this sorrow? There is only one way. Break the dream at once and come out.

The moment the dream ends, we are awake. Then we see it — these were only things of the mann. We had taken a dream seriously and started to believe the sorrow.

Now apply it to waking life. The sorrows that come to us in the waking state rise from past births, from past memories, from past paaps. They come in front of us moment after moment. Treat them like a dream and come out of them.

What breaks it? Atma-gyan. When atma-gyan awakens, the memories arriving from the conscious and subconscious mann lose their grip. The sanskars that make you unhappy, and the pulls of attraction, all stand on those memories. And you have free choice.

Most people do not live in the present. They live in the future or in the past. They compare themselves with others, and fear things that will never happen. This is habit, and it comes from the knots of ignorance. We cannot see the karma of past births, nor when they will arrive. But the choice we do have today, we are not even using.

This is the cause of sorrow. The cause of a human being's sorrow is ignorance.

One objection must be answered. In the Gita, Arjun said he did not wish to fight and wanted to go away and become a rishi. Bhagavan Krishna answered him — do you not perform actions? Do you not eat food? This is the dharma of the body. Every person performs karma. The real question is which karma, and with how much awareness.

ANANT PATEL INSIGHT

सपना तोड़ो और बाहर निकलो।

Sapna todo aur bahar niklo.

Break the dream and come out.

ANANT PATEL INSIGHT

मनुष्य के दुख का कारण अज्ञान।

Manushya ke dukh ka karan agyan.

The cause of a human being's sorrow is ignorance.

IN SIMPLE WORDS

- The antahkaran speaks with whatever you have filled inside it.
- Pranayam purifies the mann; gyan purifies the chitt.
- Waking sorrows rise from past memories and sanskars.
- Break them like a dream. Ignorance is the cause of sorrow.

CHAPTER FIFTEEN

Who You Really Are

Yamraj told Nachiketa that the atma is eternal and beyond the senses. Bapuji's Behad Gyan shows what that atma actually is. Behad means limitless.

In this knowledge, the atma is a point of pure white light. It is seated at the bbrikuti, the centre of the forehead. In yog it is seen shining like a sun, lit with param prakash, supreme light.

From that point the light spreads. The whole body becomes pure white light. The entire aura becomes made of that supreme light. A mist of param light forms three feet from the body. The whole house becomes a light house.

A soul carries five bodies. The sthoor is the gross body. The sukshma is the subtle body. The karan is the causal body. Above these stand the mahakaran and the param mahakaran bodies. In this state all five become full of param prakash.

Now the practice itself, Behad ka Yog. Close the eyes. Move towards nirsankalpta, the state where no thought-wave rises. Forget the body and every relation of the body. Become stable in atma-swaroop.

At the centre of the forehead, the atma is lit with param prakash like a sun. The whole body has become pure white light. The vibrations of Param Maha Shanti are spreading from the atma into every single cell.

Then let it spread outward. It spreads over the whole earth. Up to two hundred kilometres above, the aura of the earth is filled with Param Maha Shanti. The tattvas themselves change.

From the Behad ki Kala ka Paramdham, Bapuji gives param prakash and Param Maha Shanti to all. The power of behad ki kala enters the atma. Keep drawing that power into the soul and stay stable in the divine form.

This is why the practice matters. Our avyakt form will change our vyakt form — the unseen will change the visible. It will change the body of five elements. It will change the mann, the buddhi and the sanskar. It will change every bondage of karma. It will change the cycle of birth and death.

So practise staying in the avyakt form. Moment by moment, hold the divine form of param light while carrying out your fixed duties.

ANANT PATEL INSIGHT

हमारा मूल स्वरूप ही परम प्रकाश परम लाइट है।

Hamara mool swaroop hi param prakash, param light hai.

Our original form itself is param prakash — supreme light.

IN SIMPLE WORDS

- The atma is a point of pure white light at the centre of the forehead.
- In yog, its light fills the body and the aura, and spreads over the earth.
- The unseen form changes the visible form and the bondage of karma.

CHAPTER SIXTEEN

What Nachiketa Teaches Us

We have walked the whole Samvad. This is what it leaves in our hands.

The atma is immortal. It is never born and it never dies. It is eternal and indestructible.

The atma is understood through dhyan and through atma-sakshatkar — not through argument, and not through the senses.

Death is not the end of the atma. It is only one state, in which the atma changes its body.

The search for truth asks for two things. Firm sankalp, and the release of worldly pleasures. If we keep holding on, the buddhi keeps returning there, and the path of truth slips out of sight.

The atma and Brahm are not two. The final goal of the atma is oneness with Brahm.

This portion of the Kathopanishad is still a source of inspiration today. It presents the deep secret of the soul, of death and of moksha. It does so in a way that is simple. It teaches that the main purpose of life is to know the atma and to attain moksha.

All of us should move forward on this path. By this path many souls have attained Param Shanti and reached moksha. Again and again our Upanishads, the Gita and the Puranas give us these accounts. Divine souls came to this earth and completed their lesson. They attained Param Shanti and became stable in their own Brahm-swaroop.

An eleven-year-old boy asked one question and would not let it go. That is all it took.

ANANT PATEL INSIGHT

मन की शुद्धि के बाद ही आत्म जागृति होने वाली है।

Mann ki shuddhi ke baad hi atma-jagruti hone wali hai.

Only after the purification of the mann will the awakening of the self happen.

IN SIMPLE WORDS

— The atma is immortal, and death is only a change of body.

- The search for truth needs firm sankalp and release from pleasures.
- The atma and Brahman are one — that is the final goal.

INSIGHTS

These are the exact lines spoken by Anant Patel in his discourses. Each is given first in Hindi, then in Hinglish, then in simple English.

ANANT PATEL INSIGHT

सत्य हमेशा प्रासंगिक ही होता है।

Satya hamesha prasangik hi hota hai.

Truth is always relevant.

ANANT PATEL INSIGHT

GLOSSARY

The terms listed here are drawn from the spiritual vocabulary preserved across the books of this series. Definitions are kept simple, so that any reader, however new to this knowledge, can follow every page with clarity.

Adharma — What goes against dharma.

Adhyatm — The spiritual life; the inner path.

Adhyatmik Granth — A sacred text that carries spiritual knowledge.

Adi Shakti — The Primordial Mother — the original, eternal divine feminine power who has presided over the cosmos since the dawn of creation, and who shall continue to govern it until the moment of cosmic dissolution.. Here it means the Kundalini sleeping at the base centre.

Agni — Sacred fire.

Agni Vidya — The knowledge of the sacred fire, given to Nachiketa as his second boon. The fire came to carry his own name.

Agya Chakra — The centre between the eyebrows. Piercing it opens inner vision.

Aham Brahmasmi — “I am Brahm.” The declaration that the atma and Brahm are one.

Ahankar — Pride. One of the five vikars.

Ajar Amar Avinashi — Never ageing, never dying, indestructible. The three-fold quality of the eternal soul.

Akash — The ether element; space itself.

Amar — Immortal.

Amrit — Nectar. In this teaching, amrit means Brahm Gyan — the knowledge that makes a soul immortal.

Anadi — Without beginning.

Anant — Endless.

Anna Sanskar — The purification of the annamaya kosha through disciplined, simple food.

Annamaya Kosh — The outermost layer of a human being, built from food. Nachiketa purified it through one year of simple food.

Antahkaran — The innermost being; the voice of the atma. It speaks according to whatever a person has filled into it.

Ashram — The residence of a rishi, where students live and learn.

Asur — A soul of demonic tendency. No soul was created as an asur; the tendency was formed by its own karma and desires.

Atma — The conscious, eternal being within everybody - distinct from the body, the senses, and the mind. It is the true self. The soul is the source of all life and all awareness.

Atma Glani — Deep self-remorse. It is the surfacing of the sanskars of past-birth paap.

Atma Gyan — Knowledge of the soul's true identity.

Atma Sakshatkar — Direct realisation of the self.

Atma Swaroop — The state of dwelling in the soul's original nature - identifying fully with the soul, not the body. This is the foundation of spiritual practise/ knowledge. When a seeker attains Atma Swaroop, the soul's original light, peace, and power are fully activated. Brahm Swaroop is the cosmic expression of this same state: the soul dwelling in its full cosmic identity.

Atma Vedhan — Piercing through to the atma.

Atma Vidya — The knowledge of the self.

Aura — The field of light and energy around a soul and its body.

Avyakt — Unmanifest. Not expressed in gross material form. Avyakt refers to realms, energies, consciousness, or beings that exist beyond ordinary physical visibility. In Bapuji's teachings, it especially refers to higher spiritual consciousness, subtle existence, and realities beyond the gross material world.

Behad — Infinite - beyond all limits, without boundary. In Bapuji's knowledge, Behad names the boundless, infinite dimensions of all creation. From this comes a family of terms: Behad ki Atma - the limitless soul. Behad Gyan - knowledge of infinite, boundless creation. Behad Seva - service rendered for the infinite creation. Behad ka Karma - action performed for eternity.

Behad Gyan — The supreme knowledge of the Almighty Authority and His vast, limitless, infinite creation. This is the supreme truth revealed through Bapuji - realised directly by him through divine vision, the Third Eye. It cannot be found in any scripture. It is the knowledge of the highest, most primordial dimension of creation - far beyond the multiverse.

Behad ka Yog — The practice of stabilising in the soul form of param prakash and spreading Param Maha Shanti outward.

Behad ki Kala ka Paramdham — This is the supreme abode of highest dimension of creation whose power is inestimable or infinite. This is the abode of Almighty Authority, who is the supreme master creator of this vast creation.

Bhagya — Destiny. It is the account-book of a soul's karma.

Bhajan — Devotional singing and remembrance of the Divine.

Bhog Yoni — A birth of consumption and enjoyment, in which the soul stays tied to the body.

Bhramari Pranayam — A breathing practice in which the ears are closed and an inner sound is made, steadying the man.

Bhrikuti — The centre of the forehead, the seat of the atma.

Brahm — The supreme power that brings creation into existence. Brahm is incorporeal and primordial - a form of supreme light. It holds infinite creative intelligence, the very power from which all creation arises. In this Samvad, Brahm is identified with Shiv.

Brahm Gyan — The complete knowledge of the cosmos - from its origin to its dissolution. It is the knowledge of how creation began, by whom, the laws that govern its entire cosmic span, and how it finally dissolves. This is supreme knowledge - the highest spiritual understanding of ultimate reality.

Brahm Prapti — The attainment of Brahm.

Brahm Swaroop — The form of Brahm; the state of abiding as Brahm. It is one with the atma swaroop.

Brahmarandhra — The opening at the crown of the head; one of the eleven gates of the body.

Buddhi — The intellect.

Chetna — Consciousness. The living awareness that is the atma.

Chintan — Steady, focused reflection on a truth.

Chitt — The deeper store of impressions within a person. It is purified by gyan.

Daan — Charitable giving.

Dakshina — The offering given at the completion of a yajna.

Danav — A being of demonic nature.

Dev — A divine being.

Devta — A divine being of the higher realms.

Dharma — Righteousness; the spiritual law of right conduct.

Dhyan — Meditation; focused inner attention.

Divya Jyoti — Divine light — one of the names used in the shastras for the atma.

Granth — A scripture; a sacred text.

Guru — A spiritual instructor who shows the soul the path from darkness to light.

Gyan — Knowledge; specifically, divine or transcendental knowledge.

Jeev — The forgotten soul. A divine soul that falls into physical existence through uncontrolled desire, living without awareness of its true origin — bound to instinct, cut off from its own divinity. Simply put: soul + desire = Jeev.

Jeevan Mukti — Jivanmukti is the state where the soul frees itself completely from all karmic accounts. Every covering that hid its true nature falls away, and the soul comes to know its Creator fully — not as an idea, but as direct realization. Liberation, here and now.

Jeevatma — The soul while it is joined to a body.

Kaam — Desire. One of the five vikars.

Kalp — One day of Brahma; a vast cycle of cosmic time.

Karan Sharir — A Causal Body. A human being has many bodies even though we can see only physical body but there are subtle bodies inside this physical outline which holds the energy of soul and operates the physical body. So gross physical body is only a medium to carry out work of soul. Physical body gets power from subtle body which comprises of ether element, air element and fire element. Subtle body gets power from causal body which comprises of ether element only. This is also called karan sharir which is the store house of the details of karmic accounts of a soul.

Karma — Karma means action. But it is more than the act itself — it is the energetic imprint left behind by every act, whether done through thought, word, or the organs of action and perception. Every thought, every word, every bodily action leaves its trace. These traces bind the soul to repeated experience — pulling it back, again and again, into the cycle of cause and effect until the imprint is resolved.

Katha — A sacred account handed down through the shastras.

Kathopanishad — The Upanishad within the Yajurveda that preserves the dialogue of Nachiketa and Yamraj.

Krodh — Anger. One of the five vikars.

Kundalini — The coiled power sleeping at the base centre of the body.

Lobh — Greed. One of the five vikars.

Mahakaran Sharir — The great causal Body; a dimension subtler than the causal body.

Maharishi — A great rishi.

Man — An old Indian measure of weight.

Mann — The mind. In the koshas, the manomaya kosha.

Manomaya Kosh — The layer of the mann. Nachiketa conquered it through three years of tap.

Mantra — A sacred sound or verse held in repetition.

Maya — The covering of illusion spread over this world.

Moh — Attachment. One of the five vikars.

Moksha — Liberation; the complete dissolution of the soul's individual existence.

Muladhara — The base centre of the body, where the Kundalini rests.

Nirsankalp — Free of all thought-waves; the still state of the mann.

Paap — Wrongdoing, and the burden it leaves on the soul.

Panchagni Vidya — The knowledge of the five fires, taught to Nachiketa and later spread by him through the world.

Parabrahm — The supreme formless absolute, present in every conscious and inert being.

Param Light — Supreme light; the same as param prakash. The Supreme Divine Light described in the Sanatan scriptures as the power of Brahma, or Brahma itself. It is pure, silent, and beyond all thoughts (Sankalp) and disturbance. As the highest and most powerful divine radiance, it is the source and foundation of all creation.

Param Maha Shanti — Supreme great peace. It is the supreme state of peace where the soul abides only in its own pure nature as chetna (pure consciousness), light, and bliss.

Param Mahakaran Sharir — This is the Supreme Great-Causal Body — the most luminous of all the soul's energy bodies. It is the deepest layer at which the soul still carries the imprints of karma like subtle thoughts. When the soul becomes free at this level, something wonderful happens — it emerges into its full, undimmed nature. Nothing is left covering it. The soul shines exactly as it truly is.

Param Prakash — The Supreme Divine Light described in the Sanatan scriptures as the power of Brahma, or Brahma itself. It is pure, silent, and beyond all thoughts (Sankalp) and disturbance. As the highest and most powerful divine radiance, it is the source and foundation of all creation.

Param Purush — The supreme, primordial male energy. He is the first to arise in creation, appearing immediately after Nirakari Brahma, the incorporeal Supreme Soul. When a desire stirs within Nirakari Brahma, Param Purush comes into being — the first Sankalp for creation itself. He is Akari Shiv, or Maha-Dev, dwelling in Shiv Puri in his supreme, subtle form, eternally accompanied by his Shakti. Together they govern the whole of creation. His power expands and pervades all of existence. Param Purush holds the highest subtle form and the greatest energy of anyone in creation, second only to Nirakari Brahma. For this reason, he is rightly termed the Supreme Male Energy.

Param Satya — The supreme truth.

Param Shanti — The Supreme Peace — the original state of the soul when it unites with the Supreme Soul through Yog. In this state, the soul is completely free of desire, utterly silent, without a single affirmation stirring within it. Even the causal body of the soul dissolves, or becomes wholly inactive. Param Shanti is not merely the absence of noise or conflict. It is something far deeper: the soul's original state, established firmly in its pure, divine form of light, in constant remembrance of the Supreme Father. This is why every pure and powerful soul ultimately seeks Param Shanti — it is not a state to be attained from outside, but a return to what the soul already, originally is.

Paramatma — The Supreme Father—the highest and ultimate Divine Being. He is unique, eternal, and without equal. As the Master Creator, He is self-manifested (Swayambhu), owing His existence to no one. He is the Supreme Truth and the highest reality, beyond whom nothing exists.

Paramdham — The Supreme Abode — the original home of souls. Paramdham is the highest dimension within a solar system, a realm of pure divine light where the Creator resides in formless state. Souls in Paramdham exist in complete peace and bliss. It is the original home from which every soul comes, yet the return journey is not easy — it demands sustained and sincere spiritual effort. Paramdham is also known as Amarloka, the immortal realm. This pattern extends beyond a single solar system: every Creator — of a solar system, a galaxy, a universe, or a multiverse — has their own corresponding Supreme Abode in incorporeal form.

Parardh — A unit of cosmic time within the lifespan of Lord Brahma. One Parardh (50 Brahma years) of the present Brahma has been completed; we are presently within the second.

Pitras — The ancestor souls.

Pran — The life-force. It leaves the body along with the atma.

Pran Shakti — The power of pran, which lies within the atma itself.

Pranava — The imperishable sound-symbol of Parabrahm, given by Yamraj as the final support for reaching Paramatma. Bapuji explains it as A, U and M — Brahma, Vishnu and Shankar.

Pranayam — Disciplined control of the breath.

Pratyaksha Dev — The Divine directly present before the eyes, seen in all of nature.

Prayaschit — Atonement; a discipline undertaken to cleanse past wrongdoing.

Punya — Merit earned through good action.

Puranas — A part of Hindu literature describing the ancient wisdom of divinity through stories of creation.

Purush — A being. In Behad Gyan, a stage below Param Purush.

Purusharth — The effort and discipline undertaken by a seeker of truth to realize the Supreme Truth and escape the cycle of birth and death. Under the guidance of a master, and through sustained effort, the seeker moves steadily — from the illusion of this gross world of five elements toward the supreme reality of the divine, incorporeal world. This is the spiritual effort of self-enquiry and meditation, undertaken to understand the science of creation of soul also known as Brahm Gyan.

Rishi — A realised sage of the ancient tradition.

Sadhana — Disciplined spiritual practice. The Yamacharya called it a war.

Samadhi — A state of deep meditative absorption in which the soul experiences its true self that is its Origin.

Samvad — A dialogue.

Sankalp — A divine intention or resolution of soul. Sankalp is not an ordinary wish — it is an intention charged with power of soul. As the soul's aura grows through knowledge and Yog, the sankalpa it offers for betterment of world gradually and definitely come to fruition. When soul resolves something to do, this is called as affirmation or Sankalp. Sankalp works through Mind power which is the power of soul. So higher the kala, higher the power of affirmation.

Sanskar — Deep inner impressions or tendencies carried by the soul across lifetimes. In the pure Nirakari stage there are no Sanskars; they accumulate as the soul takes on form and acts within the realms of creation. This is character of soul which is recorded in its causal body. The mind of a soul works according to its sanskar.

Sanyam — Self-restraint.

Sat chit Anand Swaroop — The original form of a soul — truth and bliss.

Satya — Truth.

Shashtra — This is a Hindu scripture where matters pertaining to soul and creations are discussed. There are six shastras : sankhya, nyay, yog, vaisheshik, Mimansa and Vedanta.

Shlok — A verse of scripture.

Sthool Sharir — The gross physical body of five elements.

Sukshma Sharir — The subtle body, in which the soul moves through the subtle worlds.

Sur — A being of divine nature.

Swarga — The Heavenly Realm—a higher dimension of creation within the fourteen realms of the universe. It lies above the physical world and is the third level above the Earth.

Tap — Deep spiritual effort undertaken with discipline.

Tattva — Element. The fundamental building blocks of creation. The visible world is composed of five elements: earth, water, air, fire, and ether. Tattva in spiritual language is finer than element in the scientific sense. Water, earth, fire elements are visible but air and ether are invisible. Air can be felt by body but ether cannot be felt by physical body. Water, earth are heavier atoms representing heavier elements whereas air, fire and ether are very lighter atoms representing lighter elements.

Upanishad — An ancient Adhyatmik Granth carrying the highest spiritual knowledge, placed within the Vedas.

Vedas — The four foundational scriptures of Sanatan Dharm.

Vidya — Knowledge, or the science of a subject.

Vikalp — Doubt or alternative thought that follows a sankalp.

Vikar — A defect that pulls the soul downward. The five vikars are kaam, krodh, lobh, moh and ahankar.

Virat — Vast; immense.

Vyakt — The visible world of five gross elements.

Yajna — A sacred ritual or offering; sometimes performed for the welfare of departed souls.

Yajurveda — One of the four Vedas. The Kathopanishad belongs to it.

Yamacharya — The guru in whose ashram Nachiketa spent three years and attained Brahm Gyan.

Yamdoot — A messenger of Yamraj.

Yamlok — The realm of Yamraj, above the earth realm.

Yamraj — The devta of death, who oversees the departure of souls from the body.

Yog — Conscious connection between soul and supreme souls or with Almighty Authority through which power is drawn into the soul's being via knowledge and meditation. (Note: Bapuji corrects it as yog not yoga)

Yoni — A category of birth; a life-form.

“Gyan Daan Maha Daan”

Sharing Knowledge is the Highest Charity

— Bapuji Dashrathbhai Patel

WHAT HAPPENS AFTER DEATH?

AN ELEVEN YEAR OLD BOY NAMED NACHIKETA STOOD AT THE DOOR OF YAMLOK FOR THREE DAYS WITHOUT FOOD OR WATER.
YAMRAJ OFFERED HIM GOLD, CHARIOTS, KINGDOMS AND A HUNDRED YEARS OF LIFE, IF ONLY HE WOULD WITHDRAW HIS QUESTION.
THE BOY REFUSED EVERY GIFT. HE WANTED ONLY THE TRUTH.
WHAT YAMRAJ FINALLY REVEALED IS PRESERVED IN THE KATHOPANISHAD:

THE ATMA IS NEVER BORN AND NEVER DIES.

THIS BOOK CARRIES THAT ENTIRE DIALOGUE, THE THREE YEARS
NACHIKETA SPENT WITH THE YAMACHARYA, AND THE BEHAD GYAN
THAT SHOWS HOW THIS PATH CAN BE WALKED TODAY.

“Death is only the end of the body, not of the atma.”
